TV STARS IN SEX TRIALS SENSATION

BILL ROACHE

DAVE LEE TRAVIS

ROLF HARRIS

Three top celebrities appear in court to deny sexual assaults on children

Three showbusiness stars appeared in court this week accused of sex attacks on women and young girls.

In separate cases, Coronation Street's Bill Roache, entertainer Rolf Harris and ex Top of the Pops host and DJ Dave Lee Travis denied all the charges against them.

Roache, 81 – Ken Barlow in the enduring ITV soap – faced five counts of indecent assault and two of rape involving give girls aged between 11 or 12 and 16. The offences are said to have taken place between 1965 and 1971.

Opening the prosecution's case at Preston Crown Court, Anny Whyte

QC told the jury: Favour or condemn him on the evidence, not because he plays Ken Barlow."

At London's Southwark Crown Court, former Radio One DJ Travis, 68, was accused of sex assaults on 10 young women and a 15-year old girl between 1976 and 2008. One fan, 19, was allegedly molested during a Top of the Pops recording.

Harris, 83, who arrived at the same court with his wheelchair-bound wife Alwen, denies 12 counts of indecent assault on four girls aged 7 to 19, between 1968 and 1986. He is due to stand trial on April 30.

'Petrified' girl feared Dave Lee Travis would rape her, court told

■ DJ put his hand up teenager's skirt and tried to take off her clothes in VIP trailer at Showaddywaddy concert, jury hears

A petrified 15-year-old girl feared she was going to be raped when former BBC Radio 1 DJ Dave Lee Travis lunged at her backstage at a Showaddywaddy concert, a court has heard.

The starstruck teenager was attacked by Travis after he invited her into his VIP trailer at the pop concert in Gloucestershire in June 1978, the jury was told.

In a video interview with detectives, which was played on screens in court, the woman said she felt awkward and scared and was crying and screaming as Travis pinned her down before shoving his hand up her skirt and pulling off her top.

'disgusting old man'

"I was petrified. I thought he was going to rape me. I was crying, I was shouting at him to stop then he all of a sudden did stop," the woman told police officers, halting only to apologise for sounding nervous.

The girl fled from the trailer, the court heard, before hitch-hiking home and deciding not to tell anyone about what had happened because her parents had told her not to get tickets for the concert.

Describing why she did not tell anyone about her ordeal until November 2012, the woman said she thought the attack was "what I got for lying" to her parents about going to the gig.

She described Travis as a "disgusting old man" and a "pervert" as she gave evidence from behind a white curtain in the witness box of Southwark crown court in London.

Listening to proceedings from the dock, Travis later burst out laughing as the Showaddywaddy frontman, David Bartram, told the jury he recalled the concert because the former DJ "came on stage with the band and proceeded to make a nuisance of himself". Travis, who listened to the evidence through earphones, winked and smiled at Bartram as the witness left the courtroom.

'rigid with fear'

Travis denies assaulting 11 women, including the 15-year-old girl, in a series of incidents between January 1976 and November 2008.

Earlier, a woman told the jury she was left "absolutely rigid with fear" when, in 1983, Travis pinned her against the wall of his campervan and tried to stick his tongue in her mouth. The former Top of the Pops host invited the then 19-year-old student into his "very very posh" campervan after he had played a DJ set at Nottingham's Trent Polytechnic, the court heard.

The woman, who is now a head teacher, told jurors that Travis was showing her around his vehicle when he suddenly turned and pressed her against the wall. "I turned and he was on to me and his demeanour changed," she said. "I'd been absolutely rigid with fear and I realised it was that moment thinking: 'Oh my goodness, something was going to happen.'"

The jury was told that the first time she met Travis he had taken hold of a security pass pinned to her top and said: "Securi-titties".

A third woman who gave evidence in the trial told how she was left in tears when Travis "deliberately" groped her breasts in the middle of a busy office in early 2000.

The former local radio journalist, who was 21 at the time of the alleged assault, told jurors she was "gutted" by the incident because she saw Travis as a "friendly granddad" who had been "very tactile" with her since her first day at the station in Buckinghamshire.

The trial continues.

GDP Growth higher than expected

The UK economy is growing faster than previously estimated, according to the latest official figures.

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) said gross domestic product was up 0.8% in the July-to-September period compared with the previous quarter, confirming its previous estimate.

But it revised its growth figures for earlier quarters.

This means the estimated annual growth rate has now risen from 1.5% to 1.9%, a revision that has surprised economists.

A Treasury spokesman said: "Today's data show that the recovery has been stronger than previously thought and that the government's long-term economic plan is working."

"But risks remain and the job is not done, so the government will go on taking the difficult decisions needed to deliver a responsible recovery for all."

William Roache 'raped girl in his Lancashire homes', jury hears

Coronation Street stalwart denies five counts of indecent assault and two counts of rape

A woman this week told a Preston Jury that Coronation Street star William Roache "pushed her on to a bed" and was "cold and calculated" as he raped her.

The woman, now 62, said the alleged rapes took place in his two homes in Haslingden, Lancashire, Preston Crown Court heard.

Mr Roache, 81, from Wilmslow, Cheshire, denies two counts of raping a 15-year-old girl in 1967.

He also denies five counts of indecent assault involving four girls.

Those alleged offences involve girls aged 16 or under in Manchester between 1965 and 1971, the court heard.

'Panic stricken'

The jury was shown a video of the alleged rape victim's police interview from March 2013.

In it she told police the actor took her into a bedroom of a bungalow he owned when she was a teenager.

She said: "I was shocked. There was no warning... I didn't know what to do.

"I can just remember thinking 'God, I just want to get out of here. I didn't know what to make of it, I was just so scared'."

William Roache was allowed to leave the dock and sit next to his lawyer so he could watch the recording

She described the first alleged rape as "cold and calculated".

The woman said: "I didn't fight, but I couldn't push him off.

"He was too heavy for me... It was very uncomfortable but at the time I was just panic stricken.

"I just wanted to get up. I just wanted to go home... It was very painful. He was lying on top of me he was a lot bigger than me.. I just thought I was never going to get out.

"I thought it was never going to finish," she added.

Mr Roache was given permission to leave the dock and sit next to his lawyer while the recording was played in court so he could view it.

The woman said: "I thought it must be my fault. I didn't know why it had happened. I'd gone round there in all innocence."

'Gullible'

She went on to describe a second rape "a few months" after the first, which she alleges took place at a different cottage in Haslingden owned by Mr Roache.

The woman said the actor had invited her into his home.

"Before I knew it I had been grabbed again," she said.

She said the television star pushed her up against a wall as she

ROACHE: the actor's alleged offences took place between 1965 and 1971 thought: "Oh God, I can't believe this."

The court heard her say she should not have gone to his home on the second occasion.

"I thought I was to blame, especially the second time," she said.

"I was gullible, I was a kid. I would never have repeated it to anyone."

When asked by the police officer to describe her allegations, the woman said: "I don't know if you called it rape in them days because I was not pinned down. I was sexually abused."

The woman came forward in the wake of a number of celebrity sex scandals, the jury heard.

She said: "It has started to bother me because there might be other people that this has happened to."

'eaten away at me'

The woman told the female officer she had spoken to her son about the now disgraced Jimmy Savile and later revelations about Sir Cyril Smith.

She told her son "in those days you didn't talk about things like that.. I know things like this happen because I have been in a position like this."

When asked by the police interviewer why she had not told anyone about the alleged abuse, she replied: "I didn't think I'd be believed."

Later in the recording, she said: "It has eaten away at me. It is on the media all the time.

"I now realise what happened to me was not an isolated incident.

"I thought it had to be my fault ... I was ashamed, frightened and disgusted, to be quite honest."

Harry and Cressy enjoy a cozy burger date...

Prince Harry and girlfriend Cressida Bonas haven't been spotted out together in weeks, but the pair put recent rumours of a split to rest by enjoying a low key date night on Monday.

The royal and his long-term girlfriend were spotted at a branch of popular eatery Byron on Monday night. Harry and Cressida visited the Kensington branch of the burger chain, a regular haunt for Harry as it's just a short distance from his Kensington Palace home.

"They were having a good time," said a source at the eatery.

The date night is the first sighting of the pair for awhile with Harry busy with his South Pole trek in the run up to Christmas. The couple then spent the holidays apart with Harry joining the traditional royal Christmas festivities at Sandringham while Cressida celebrated with her own family.

New Year also saw the two apart with the socialite partying in the Caribbean while her royal boyfriend enjoyed a low key dinner with friends at a pub near Reading.

Last year the couple were unable to spend the holidays together because the prince was serving in Afghanistan, but it's not clear why they decided to ring in the New Year separately this time around.

According to The Mirror, Cressida joined her half sister Isabella Branson on father-in-law, Richard Branson's Necker Island in the Caribbean.

Rather than join his girlfriend of 18 months on the break Harry instead was spotted at The Crooked Billet in Henley, where he enjoyed lunch with friends.

According to local reports the cheerful prince ate roast chicken before wishing staff at the pub a very Happy New Year.

Stones guitarist lights up with a different 'Kief'

■ Actor Kiefer Sutherland catches up with old pal Ronnie Wood after relocating to London to film 24

He has temporarily relocated to London to shoot the highly-anticipated new series of 24.

And Kiefer Sutherland has wasted no time in catching up with his celebrity friends in the capital, as he was seen enjoying a cigarette break with Rolling Stones rocker Ronnie Wood on Wednesday night.

The pair were seen chatting as they puffed away in between courses at Scott's restaurant in the capital.

Kiefer and Ronnie have long been pals, having first been seen out together back in 2010.

'terrified'

But it is believed that the pair just happened to run into each other while both dining at the same eatery, where Simply Red frontman Mick Hucknall joined Ronnie and his wife Sally Hopkins for a bite to eat.

Kiefer is certainly making the most of a few days off before filming begins on 24: Live Another Day.

After his dinner, the 47-year-old actor, who was born in London before moving to America, continued his evening at members' club Soho House, before calling it a night at 3.30am on Thursday morning.

It was confirmed earlier this week that there is to be a new series of 24, which will shoot in London.

But Kiefer, who will reprise his role as CTU agent turned fugitive Jack Bauer in the new series, admitted to being more than a little anxious about the project.

He said: 'I'm terrified. I won't lie to you. Until we start shooting, I'm about as anxious and wound up as I've been in a long time.'

24 ran for eight seasons before it ended in 2010, and Kiefer admitted that he suffered from 'terrifying' nerves in between each series.

He said: 'I'm very nervous. Without patting ourselves on the back too hard, we made eight very strong years. We always would look back every season and wish something had been better, but I was very proud.

'So to make 12 more episodes and not make them the best 12 we've ever made, I'm terrified.'

Shooting is set to start on the hour-long episodes in the UK in London in a couple of weeks with a special two-hour helping due to launch the drama on Fox on May 5. It will air on Sky1 in the UK.

At least the city of London is familiar to Kiefer, who was born there.

'I've spent big chunks of my life there, but I'm anxious,' Kiefer said. 'We plan to be shooting outside. I'm sure we'll be hated by a large portion of London for snarling up their traffic, and for that I apologize in advance.'

The action starts four years after the drama's final season and will play out, as usual, in real time. However, unlike previous seasons, there will only be 12 episodes, instead of 24.

I paid nothing for the NHS... It was amazing'

■ 'Shameless' star waxes lyrical about British healthcare

American actress suffered food poisoning in London

She may be a highly-paid actress, but she still enjoys saving a few dollars - or, in this case, pounds.

Emmy Rossum, the star of Showtime's Shameless, has marvelled at the 'amazing' and 'free health care' she received in Britain.

Speaking as a guest on Wednesday night's

Rossum: giving the NHS some love on Jimmy Kimmel Live this week

Jimmy Kimmel Live, the 27-year-old told how on a recent visit to the UK she suffered a nasty bout of food poisoning.

She exclaimed: 'The hospitals are amazing there.'

She added: 'They don't even ask you for your I.D. You give your name, you give your symptoms, they hook you up to a bunch of fluids. They say just leave when you feel like it. You pay nothing!'

Rossum repeated: 'I paid nothing. They treated me for hours, I paid nothing. Amazing... It was amazing.'

Vintage Kate: turn 40, have a big party

■ Supermodel celebrates another milestone with star-studded lunch at top Mayfair eaterie

Kate Moss was joined by some of the fashion world's biggest names as she threw a star-studded lunch to celebrate her 40th birthday this week.

The iconic supermodel was joined by her husband Jamie Hince who kept a protective arm around his wife as they made their way into Mayfair's 34 Restaurant.

Wearing a little black dress with matching lace-up heels and a leopard print coat, Kate looked effortlessly cool in her laid-back style.

She wore her blonde hair down in a trademark shaggy style and completed her look with a baby pink clutch bag.

Prior to the birthday girl's arrival, celebrity guest upon celebrity guest was seen arriving at the bash to help mark the special occasion.

Kate's close friends Stella McCartney, Sadie Frost and Jo Wood led the way, both wearing long coats over their dark outfits.

The Croydon-born babe was also joined by her mother Linda who was escorted into the restaurant by Topshop owner Sir Philip Green.

Other famous faces lucky enough to score an invite included designer John Galiano, famed photographer Mario Testino, hairdresser James Brown and Shanghai Tang founder Sir David Tang.

Earlier in the day Moss was spoiled for choice as a number of presents were delivered to her home from friends and fashion houses.

She received a large barrel of red roses, as well as numerous other bouquets from various florists.

She was also sent gift bags from Hermès, Givenchy and Mulberry, and a number of bags from other fashion and beauty houses.

Stars also took to social media to wish the veteran model a very happy birthday, with 'Kate Moss' even trending on Twitter.

Fellow model Lara Stone tweeted, 'happy birthday Kate' accompanied by a photo of herself and Kate wrapped up in bed with another model.

The veteran clotheshorse is believed to have just returned to London after enjoying a pre-birthday celebration on Sir Richard Branson's Necker Island with a select group of pals including Frost and Fran Cutler.

Princess Diana's 'Squidgygate' lover marries for the first time

PRINCESS Diana's former lover James Gilbey who was at the centre of the "Squidgygate" phone scandal has married for the first time.

Gilbey, one of a small number of Diana's suitors who never discussed their romance, wed 51-year-old divorcee Lavinia Hadsley-Chaplin, his partner for the last decade, in London on Tuesday.

His new bride, a mother-of-five who has campaigned to raise money for cancer research, once said he would probably never marry. She added: "He is very kind, extremely charming, and a lovely person."

Gilbey, who dated Diana

James Gilbey with wife Lavinia was the former lover of Princess Diana before her marriage to Charles, was embroiled in scandal in 1992 after a tape recording of his phone conversation with Diana on New Year's Eve 1989 was picked up by radio hams and leaked to the press.

Spies at Britain's GCHQ communications centre denied claims they had deliberately leaked the conversation to embarrass the Princess, who died in a 1997 Paris car crash. Gilbey, then an upmarket car salesman, called her "darling" 14 times and "Squidge" or "Squidgy" 53 times, talking about wrapping his arms around her and holding her close.

They blew kisses down the line and arranged a meeting, while Diana complained Charles "makes my life real, real torture".

After the tapes became public, Gilbey's then girlfriend Lady Alethea Savile descended into a drink and drug-fuelled depression and died of an overdose in 1994.

Alexandra Bastedo, EastEnders actress, dies aged 67

Alexandra Bastedo, the veteran British actress, has died aged 67.

Bastedo, who was known for her role in Sixties Sci-fi television series The Champions and more recent parts in EastEnders and Batman Begins, died after suffering from cancer.

Born in Hove, Sussex, in 1946, Bastedo attended Brighton School of Drama and made her acting debut in Cold War spy film 13 Frightened Girls. She later appeared in the original Casino Royale, alongside Peter Sellers, but her breakthrough role came in 1968 as secret agent Sharron Macready in the cult British science fiction adventure series The Champions. This role helped her to attain sex symbol status in the Sixties and Seventies.

In a 57 year-long acting career, Bastedo also appeared in Absolutely Fabulous and the Agatha Christie Hour. Her most recent role was as Cynthia Marshall in EastEnders. Bastedo married writer,

Why boozy Britain is the gout capital of Europe

- One in 40 diagnosed with condition
- Recent research suggests 21st century diets are fuelling a surge in sufferers

THE BRITISH love of alcohol and reliance on junk food has turned the UK into the country worst affected by gout in Europe, researchers claim.

A record one in 40 people in the UK have been diagnosed with the painful arthritic disorder that famously afflicted Henry VIII – bringing the total number of patients with the condition to around 1.5million.

Historically known as 'the disease of kings', gout is a form of inflammatory arthritis which has long been thought to be caused by an overindulgent lifestyle.

A new study, published in the Annals of the Rheumatic Diseases, suggests 21st century diets are fuelling a surge in cases, with the UK ahead of Germany and Italy.

However two-thirds of sufferers are still not being prescribed drugs for the condition – a statistic that has remained unchanged since the late 1990s, according to scientists.

Lead researcher Dr Weiya Zhang, from Nottingham City Hospital, said 'We are eating too much junk food.

'We are also drinking a lot of alcohol. All these things cause gout.

'The prevalence of gout has risen in the past 16 years and is now the highest reported within Europe.'

'But it is curable, with the right drugs, and that is also something we are not doing very well at because gout is extremely painful if left untreated.

GOUT: the condition commonly causes swelling and pain to the big toe but can also bring ulcers and severe deformation of joints

Gout is a form of joint in the big toe. It is caused by the deposition of monosodium urate crystals, which is related to high uric acid in the blood, and can be alleviated with urate-lowering treatment (ULT).

The condition used to be rare among young people, but research suggests it is becoming more common with the obese getting it a decade earlier than healthy weight people.

'Despite being the commonest inflammatory arthritis the management of gout continues unchanged with just a minority of patients receiving ULT and new patients not being treated in a timely fashion,' Dr Zhang added.

The study found wide variation in both the number of existing and new cases with the most occurring in Wales and the North East of England.

McQueen, Dench and Bale lead British tilt at the Oscars

THERE WAS a strong British showing at the Oscar nominations, which were announced by actor Chris Hemsworth in Hollywood on Thursday, with Christian Bale, Steve Coogan, Dame Judi Dench and Steve McQueen all flying the flag for British talent at the movies.

McQueen's was nominated for Best Director for the harrowing

12 Years A Slave, a movie that garnered a whopping 9 nominations, (second only to Gravity and American Hustle), with Londoner Chiwetel Ejiofor nominated for Best Actor. Chiwetel faces some stiff competition, with veteran Bruce Dern up for Nebraska and Leonardo DiCaprio for Wolf of Wall Street.

Coogan – best known for his comic creation Alan Partridge – is up for two awards for Philomena, the true story of an Irish woman hunting for the child she gave up for adoption in Fifties Ireland. The comic and actor is nominated in both the Best Picture (as producer) and screenwriting categories, while Dame Judi Dench is up for Best Actress for the same film. Veteran nominee and previous winner Dench faces a tough battle with (among others) Amy Adams and Meryl Streep in the same category.

Christian Bale, who was born in Pembrokeshire and spent most of his childhood in Devon, - and who still speaks with a pronounced English accent - is nominated for Best Actor for his remarkable turn as the paunchy conman at the heart of American Hustle. Bale previously won for Best Supporting Actor in the Boxer in 2011.

Sally Hawkins has also landed a nod for Best Supporting Actress for her role opposite Cate Blanchett in Woody Allen's Blue Jasmine. The actress picked up a Golden Globe for the 2008 film Happy Go Lucky and

CHRISTIAN BALE: nomination for American Hustle

BEST OF BRITISH: Dench and Coogan are both nominated for Philomena

STEVE MCQUEEN: nominated for Best Director for 12 Years A Slave

gave a famously endearing acceptance speech, so it will sure to be an emotional moment if she turns her first Oscar nomination into a win.

Rivals in Sally's category also include Academy favourite Meryl Streep for August: Osage County, but another Brit was bumped off the list, with Emma Thompson's performance in Saving Mr Banks out of the running.

Sally is the daughter of Jacqui and Colin Hawkins, authors and illustrators of children's books. She was born in Dulwich, and brought up in Blackheath, in southeast London. She graduated from the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in 1998.

And finally, a British cinematographer who may not be a household name but is certainly revered in Hollywood this week received his twelfth Oscar nomination – although he has yet to win. Cinematographer (and Santa Monica resident) Roger Deakins, best known for his work with the Cohen Brothers, received another nomination for his work on Prisoners. Deakins' work behind the camera can be seen on some of the most celebrated films of the past three decades, including Barton Fink, The Shawshank Redemption, Fargo, The Big Lebowski, O Brother, Where Art Thou?, True Grit, Revolutionary Road and No Country for Old Men.

The winners will be announced on Sunday, March 2nd.

Sherlock returns to PBS this Sunday

FANS OF great British TV have another reason to stay home on Sunday night.

In addition to Downton Abbey, as of this Sunday (January 19th), we'll also have Sherlock Holmes to keep us company, as Benedict Cumberbatch and Martin Freeman return in the third season of Sherlock, the reimagined and updated adventures of the world's most famous fictional sleuth, on PBS' Masterpiece Mystery.

Apart from their delight at seeing their hero's return, Sherlock viewers will also be anxious to see how the the master detective survived his rooftop leap at the end of the last series.

Fans tuning in to the last series saw Benedict

Cumberbatch's character seemingly lying dead on the pavement after tumbling from the top of a building, before resurfacing very much alive and watching over his own grave.

Ahead of the first episode of the new series fans have gone online with their own solutions filling internet forums with ingenious and often unlikely theories.

Some of the most popular include Sherlock diving into a passing laundry truck or fooling doctors by placing a squash ball under his armpit that made it seem as if his pulse stopped.

The show's co-creator, Steven Moffat, said making up theories was "much more fun than being told" and his partner on the show, Mark Gatiss, admitted the hype from fans put pressure on them to come up with a suitable solution.

Moffat said he had been surprised by the fans' response to the show and its stars, Benedict Cumberbatch and Martin Freeman.

He said: "The response was huge. It almost instantly became a sort of national institution and Benedict went from being that bloke with a funny name that people looked blank about when you mentioned him.

"He went from that to star more quickly than anything I've ever witnessed. He was a star in one day."

Sherlock airs at 10pm on Masterpiece Mystery. Check local listings.

lots of friends and feel very at home here.

What one thing do you miss from home?

My family and being able to visit them. I would love to be able to pop around to my Dad's for a cup of tea once in a while. When I was at the Cannes Film Festival last year it was easier to do that.

What do you find the biggest difference is living here versus the UK?

There are a bunch of cultural and language differences that are subtle and make me laugh - in fact I made a YouTube video with some of my British Actor friends about them: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=F1Ybm2xhoaQ>. Also I love the landscapes here and taking road trips on the long open roads. I just finished filming in the desert and it was such a beautiful expanse of space out there. Do you have a hidden gem in LA that you want to share with us?

I love the Griffith Observatory - I have been there countless times and it has a really great vibe. Their planetarium shows are excellent and the monthly star parties where amateur astronomers bring their telescopes and set them up on the front lawn for people to look at the night sky are fun too.

It's also linked with Hollywood history as it was featured in the classic film Rebel Without a Cause.

What would you suggest to others who are thinking about making the move here?

Research, plan and contact anyone you know who is already here. Most people are happy to meet for a coffee and chat about their experiences.

LA Opera's Billy Budd opens Feb. 22nd

ON February 22, the year-long Britten 100/LA celebration of the centenary of Benjamin Britten's birth culminates with the opening of Billy Budd at the LA Opera. This powerful tale of innocence and betrayal on the high seas, based on Herman Melville's classic American novella, features baritone Liam Bonner leading an all-male cast, including tenor Richard Croft as Captain Vere and bass Greer Grimsley making his LA Opera debut as Claggart, the m a s t e r - a t - a r m s maddened by Billy's goodness and beauty. In a production which first debuted at the Royal Opera House in Covent Garden, James Conlon conducts with an u n f o r g e t t a b l e production staged by Francesca Zambello, one of the most dynamic directors on the international opera scene. Parental discretion advised. For tickets and details, visit www.laopera.org

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: If life is not all it could be look at the positive side of things; as we move into the end of the month the planet of luck Jupiter will open new doors for you to charge through.

TAURUS: Your emotions are probably in a mess regarding some area of life. It is more than likely a past situation that has brought things up but this will be resolved for your highest good come February

GEMINI: Some of your life is in order but there are some areas that need some attention.

The sun moving into Aquarius this week will help you to straighten up your life. Start being kinder to others than you normally are.

CANCER: Just when you thought all was in order the past can up and bite you when you least expect and more importantly, it could be someone you least expected to bite. A possible lucrative job offer is in the wind.

LEO: You may be involved in a family drama that has you wanting to tear out your hair. Stop! Look at what the problems are causing you health-wise and then decide to carry on or let go.

VIRGO: Everything in life is a lesson and at this time you may need a teacher who can guide you through a trying period. Look at someone who has stood firm themselves in difficult situations and you won't go far wrong.

LIBRA: When Librans feel pressured they tend to move faster and then stuff gets complicated. This week try to take life as it comes, sometimes that's all you can do.

SCORPIO: Your finances are due for a long-awaited boost, however don't blow your extra cash as you have always got bills to pay. Some important decision pending are soon ready for lift-off and people are coming back from who knows where!

SAGITTARIUS: Just watch that temper if things don't always go the way you want. Remember that when your boss Jupiter moves into the fast lane soon it will provide you with a very nice boost.

CAPRICORN: Listening to your inner voice is the clue to your next move, whatever area this may be, remember this is your best indicator of stop and go. The yellow lights in between are for pausing before making any big decisions.

AQUARIUS: You will always get back what you put out and just be careful you don't say too much to another that can set you back a mile or two. Keep your thoughts or judgments to yourself and you will see that nothing is as bad as it could be!! Happy Birthday.

PISCES: Situations pertaining to your home life are about to start demanding more attention than expected. Nothing stays the same forever so change in your case will be for the best. If you are feeling down or blue, take a deep breath...it is only temporary.

The Rise of the Tudors: The Family That Changed English History

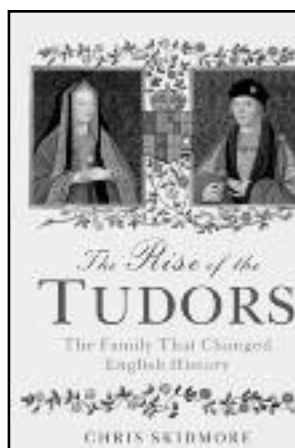

Exclusive interview with author Chris Skidmore and a review of his novel on the rise of the first Tudor king

RATING: ★★★

"Just as I was finishing the book, archaeologists discovered the bones of Richard III in a car park in Leicester," says The Rise of the Tudors author Chris Skidmore. "Initially I was unamused. It meant I had to rewrite the ending of the book."

Skidmore, a British historian and a current member of Parliament, uses newly discovered manuscripts with eyewitness reports and the latest archaeological evidence, to write a story that shows Richard III as a schemer and a man who doesn't shy away from a battle.

On August 22, 1485, Richard III's large army faces Henry Tudor's rag-tag forces in a battle that will determine who rules England.

Richard's larger army should have won, but Henry was just 28, young and strong and he won the day. Richard III was the last English king to die on the battlefield. Thus ended the War of the Roses, and Henry became King Henry VII in 1485.

How the Tudors rose from obscure Welsh gentry to the throne of England is quite a tale. Catherine of Valois, Henry V's widow, had an affair with her Welsh servant Owen Tudor, he being descended from a daughter of the Welsh prince Rhys ap Gruffudd, also known as Lord Rhys. He was a Welsh soldier and courtier. Owen and Catherine marry in secret. She had a child, Edmund Tudor, the father of Henry VII. This book traces the Tudor side of the battle. It shows what life was like in hiding for Henry and the help he received from the French king.

Henry's claim to the English throne came through his mother's family - the House of Beaufort. Lady Margaret Beaufort's great grandfather was John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, fourth son of Edward III, and his third wife Katherine Swynford. For 25 years Katherine was Gaunt's mistress and when they were finally able to marry in 1396 they already had four children. Henry's great-grandfather John Beaufort was one of them.

"I saw that they had rediscovered the site of the battle of Bosworth, where the Tudors won the crown off Richard III in 1485," says Skidmore, "and thought, no one has really written about how the Henry Tudor came from nowhere to become king of England."

"Making new discoveries in the archives is what every historian dreams of," says Skidmore. While researching his previous book, he found a coroner's report that had been lost for centuries. "With Bosworth, I've found new details about who fought in the battle," says Skidmore.

Skidmore traveled to archives across the UK and Europe. In London he visited The National Archives. In France he visited archives in Paris, Nantes and also Vannes, where Henry Tudor was exiled.

Skidmore's last book, The Virgin Queen's Fatal affair, was turned into a documentary for National Geographic. It won a Royal Television Award in the UK.

Other books by Skidmore include a biography of Edward VI, who was Henry VIII's son and the last Tudor king. His book about Elizabeth I and her relationship with her courtier Robert Dudley was commended for the Jonathan Rhys Llewellyn Prize.

For Skidmore, a book usually takes three years of research and one year to write. Charlie Spicer is Skidmore's editor at St Martin's Press. Georgina Capel is Skidmore's agent at Capel and Land.

Skidmore is currently writing a biography of Richard III.

As a Member of Parliament, Skidmore divides his time between London and Bristol

Supermodel Kate Moss turns 40, and still top of her game!

It's been 26 years since the legendary skinny girl from Croydon, south London, was spotted at JFK airport, but Kate Moss, who celebrated her 40th birthday last Thursday, is still on top of her game!

The British supermodel greeted the landmark birthday in typically rocking style by posing as a bunny girl for Playboy magazine in black stilettos and rabbit ears.

Moss has recently fronted campaigns by Versace and Rimmel and although catwalk appearances are now rare, barely a month goes by where her image is not on the front pages.

Kate is ranked the fourth highest-paid model in the world, according to Forbes, earning $US 5.7 million between June 2012 and June 2013.

Behind the cameras Moss has a busy few months coming up as she makes her debut as contributing fashion editor at British Vogue, and in April launches an eagerly anticipated new collaboration with high-street fashion powerhouse Topshop.

KISS ME, KATE? the British supermodel dons a bunny outfit to celebrate turning 40, while (inset) Kate at 14, shortly after she was 'discovered' at JFK airport

She is rumoured to be planning an epic birthday party on Necker Island, tycoon Richard Branson's private retreat in the Caribbean – possibly with a Playboy theme.

The Virgin boss offered his friend the use of the idyllic island for the week to have a wild, week-long party – something that would usually cost around – £280,000.

Moss's birthday has been marked by a London exhibition of pictures taken from photographs throughout her career, and a biopic on French television titled Looking for Kate.

The daughter of a barmaid and a travel agent from Croydon, a famously drab suburb of south London, Moss has always lived on the edge of scandal.

Early in her career the pale young model became the face of 1990s "heroin chic", a fashion trend blamed for glamorizing drugs and anorexia.

Every few years, a model comes along who is touted as the new Kate Moss, currently it's Cara Delevingne.

Whether she's celebrating with a responsible glass of wine, or organizing another week of debauchery, we wish Kate a happy birthday – here's to another 40 years of mayhem, Ms. Moss!

RHW Sizzles in Sexy Lingerie for M&S!

And still on the subject of sexy underwear, my "other" fav' model Miss Rosie Huntington-Whiteley unveiled her latest collection for M&S, accompanied by a series of sexy to-die-for shots in lingerie modelled by herself (of course... Who else!)

Her vintage-inspired collection for the same store launched in August 2012 and quickly became one of the store's bestselling lingerie line – ever... So of course the public wanted more!

Of her design process, Devon-born Rosie said: "I send a lot of photographs of inspirations, I pick up things from flea markets and vintage fairs.

"I like to try everything on before it goes to production to really feel the products, see how they sit on the body, make sure that I want to wear them and really understand the cuts and fabrics,' she explains.

"We wanted to create a luxurious collection of lingerie that would be perfect for Valentine's Day and embraces a woman's femininity making her feel utterly beautiful, whether she is treating herself or receiving a gift from her partner."

I think you've done exactly that, Rosie!!

Leilani: still driving fans crazy with sexy selfies!

Leilani Dowding puts two fingers up to preconceived ideas of beauty as she posts sexy selfies of her fit figure while on set of her new Leiluna underwear campaign shoot.

The petite and perfectly formed babe also insists in tweets that she'll never go under the knife as a big chest "won't suit me", and proves sexy can be achieved without any help from silicone-enhanced friends.

Modelling her latest designs for the already successful fashion range Leiluna Collection, the LA resident can be seen rocking various feminine lace chic two-piece creations.

On the subject of her fab figure, Leilani told us: "I did put on a few pounds over the Christmas period, but actually I feel great for it.

"People have been telling me recently that I had lost too much weight, but I reminded them that back in my Page Three days I was never the girl with the big boobs and curvy figure.

"My body has always been like this."

Leilani continued: "I wasn't everyone's traditional big-boobed

Page Three type. Nor did I want to be.

"I do work out a lot, so sometimes I have to remind myself not to over do it.

"I was perhaps a little too thin at times last year. I had considered boobs jobs in the past, but to be honest, I don't think having a big chest would suit me."

I couldn't agree more, Leilani, stay just as you are!

Who says guys can't get pampered?

IT'S A New Year and time for a fresh new look – at least in the Young household.

There's nothing wrong with a bit of manscaping, a fresh hair-cut, an old-fashioned shave and a facial...right? – I don't know if the credit goes the always perfectly-groomed David Beckham or the Metrosexual trend, but beauty for men is getting more and more popular. Ladies stand back, because the guys are taking over your chairs and your appointments!

However I've happened upon a few men-only boutiques where us guys don't have to feel embarrassed getting our nails clipped and our feet scraped. Add a hot towel on the face and a cold beer to hand and you've got a recipe for a nice little escape....

First up my new favourite barbers is BOLT BARBERS (8209 Melrose Avenue in West Hollywood. Tel: 213/ 596-9110). You can't miss it – look for the neon 'mancave' sign inviting you in. BOLT offer a membership where you get complimentary beer after 7pm, a pool table and a shoe shine. A haircut is very affordable at $30 and a close razor shave starts at $15 for a beard trim. If you've a son under 15 they do a father & son special for $55. Other similar places are BAXTERS, RUDY'S AND FLOYD'S ...and all take walk-ins.

I recently happened upon a nail salon just for guys called HAMMER & NAILS (masculine right? Located at 8257 Melrose Ave, Los Angeles. (323) 302-5435) This place looks like an old workshop garage when you walk in, but not when you kick back in a king-size black leather chair, throw on your supplied BOSE headset and flick through the channels on your own personal flatscreen TV. The girls working here are extremely pretty and friendly and will be happy to bring you a complimentary whiskey or beer (We're not in Kansas anymore, Toto). In fact if FHM magazine were a place...this would be it. If you are looking for a place to chit-chat, watch a game in peace, or catch up with your friends, this could be it. It's almost as if these treatments are an afterthought! However this place is somewhat pricier than your average strip-mall spa. Expect to pay $25 for a manicure and $60 for a mani-pedi all the way up to a paraffin-soaked repair treatment with massages etc, which will set you back $110....But the perks make it worth the splurge.

And finally I'll share one last gem with you - Brooks Massage (7619 Beverly Blvd, Los Angeles. (323) 937-8781) This is a little hole in the wall so don't expect Burke-Williams, complimentary booze and headsets. What you get instead is a real massage. If you like a good pummeling, this is the place. After a hard week when your back is tied in knots there is nothing like getting manhandled by a 350-lb Russian (oo-er missus!). The massage therapists at Brooks are mainly Eastern European men who don't mess about. After one hour you will feel like jelly with all your knots gone. Ask for Sergei, Andre or Sebastian. The cost for a one-hour massage is $105 although they also offer 30 minute sessions if you're pressed for time. They also have a dry sauna and a natural rock steam for afterwards to heat away all the pains.

Theatre, darling

People often say LA has no good theatre. This simply isn't true. It has a bad rap, mainly I think because there are so many terrible, run-down places and LA tends to be much more of a movie-going crowd than say New York, London or Chicago. But I've seen some wonderful productions and there are so many good things on right now. I recommend The Book Of Mormon by Trey Stone and Matt Parker (the South Park guys) at the Pantages. It is pee-your-pants funny and although I think it's sold out but you can always check at the box office for returns.

Last week I saw a marvelous performance by Barry McGovern in I'll Go On by Samuel Beckett at the Kirk Douglas Theatre - McGovern delivers a tour de force performance and if you love acting this is a master class, - he is perfection. I was riveted and hung on to every word.

Toscar time...

Which brings us neatly to the Oscars. We've mentioned this several times in these pages so here is the lowdown: Is it a film competition? Is it

TWO THUMBS UP? our annual short film competition
The Oscars is with us again an award-show? Is it an excuse for celebrities to let their hair down during a very serious awards week? Well it's all three and much, much more. Brits in LA members gather on the evening the Oscar nominations are announced and individuals are chosen randomly to be a part of a team to make a spoof movie of one of the films up for best picture. When these movies are made we have a huge night to celebrate these wonderful achievements where a panel of celebrity judges decide on a myriad of crazy categories including Best Whactors, Best Choons and Best Hair to name a few. Our awards are quite controversial due to the fact they are shaped like fists.

But seriously, it's all about fun, team building, allowing your creative juices to flow and who knows what might happen after you've wrapped your mini-masterpieces? The winning film last year - Miserable Lesbians - was turned into a stage show and traveled the world including New York and London's West End. We do make tickets available to the general public and I hope you will join us for a night of lights, camera....whaction! Watch this space!

Cheers!

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF JASON ERIK MEIQJAS CASE NO. BP148091

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of JASON ERIK MEIQJAS. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by JOHN MEIQJAS in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that JOHN MEIQJAS be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 01/30/14 at 8:30AM in Dept. 9 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner NANCY REINHARDT, ESQ. SBH 148520 LAW OFFICES OF NANCY REINHARDT 21700 OXNARD ST. 7TH FLR. # Defoe retains World Cup hope after MLS move

England striker Jermain Defoe does not believe that his move from Tottenham to Major League Soccer side Toronto will harm his World Cup chances.

The 31-year-old will stay at Spurs until moving to join the Canadian side on 28 February ahead of this summer's football showpiece in Brazil.

"The most important thing for me is just playing football, scoring and doing well for the team," said Defoe.

"Hopefully, then I can be on a plane [to Brazil]."

Defoe said this season has been "stop-start" for him, having made just three Premier League starts for Spurs and 10 appearances as a substitute.

However, he has been first pick in most of the cup competitions, making eight starts in the Europa League and Capital One Cup.

He has scored seven goals in the Europa League, two in the Capital One Cup and one in the league - which came last Saturday in a win over Crystal Palace.

"I have to be honest, I did think about the chances of going to the World Cup," said Defoe.

"It's always important to play well for your club, and having played in a World Cup before, it's just the greatest thing in the world. It's a dream come true.

"And yes, it did cross my mind, but at the same time I believe the MLS is going to be fantastic for me, and it's important to be playing.

"To get into any World Cup squad or any European Championship squad for your country, it's based on merit, which means you've got to play well, you've got to be fit and ready.

"I'm just looking forward to playing football."

He added: "I have played in the Premier League my whole career, scored at lot of goals.

"At the age of 31, I would like to think that the England manager [Roy Hodgson] and everyone in England knows what I can do, what I bring to the team. If selected I'll be ready."

Defoe was speaking as he was presented to the media, along with Toronto's fellow new signing Michael Bradley.

United States international midfielder Bradley, 26, was signed from Italian side Roma for £6m.

Former Aston Villa player Bradley has made 11 league appearances for Roma this season as they sit second in Serie A.

Defoe has agreed a four-year deal worth £68,000 per week and potentially rising to

DEFOE: "I'm just looking forward to playing football."

£90,000, while Bradley is believed to signed a six-year deal worth up to £22m.

The pair are two of Toronto's three designated players, who the club are permitted to sign outside of the £1.8m ($3m) salary cap the MLS impose on each franchise.

Toronto finished second from bottom in the MLS Eastern Conference last season and have also signed Brazilian striker Gilberto ahead of the start of the campaign on 15 March.

Tim Leiweke, president of Toronto owners Maple Leaf Sports and Entertainment (MLSE), said: "To do one DP (designated player) is a smart move, to do two DP's is not the smartest thing ever done and to do three is financial suicide.

"We don't have enough seats to make economic sense out of this and we have raised our ticket prices.

Southampton: Pochettino to stay as manager

Southampton manager Mauricio Pochettino has confirmed he will remain at the club despite the surprise departure of chairman Nicola Cortese.

Cortese, 45, left Saints on Wednesday, with owner Katharina Liebherr becoming non-executive chairman.

Pochettino said last season he would leave St Mary's if the Italian did.

"I am staying as manager," Pochettino told BBC Radio Solent. "I have a professional responsibility to everyone at the club and the fans."

Pochettino, 41, has been in charge of the Premier League club for just under a year, taking over from the sacked Nigel Adkins on 18 January 2013, having been brought to England by Cortese.

He admitted to being "shocked" by Cortese's departure but added his decision to stay was backed by the former chairman.

"It's been a great shock for all of us, it all happened so quickly," said Pochettino. "It's a sad situation. We all had a special relationship with him.

"I spoke with Nicola. I told him I have a responsibility to the club and informed him of my decision to stay and he agreed.

"My terms and role will not change and my commitment will not change."

Pochettino said the circumstances were now different to when he initially suggested he would leave in the summer if Cortese did, saying it "would make no sense to quit in the middle of our project".

The former Espanyol coach met with Liebherr prior to Saints' routine pre-match news conference to seek assurances about the future direction of the club.

"She transmitted her full trust and support to me and my staff and people working at this club," said Pochettino of that meeting.

The club travel to Sunderland on Saturday and the Argentine says his squad must focus on the challenge awaiting them at the Stadium of Light and not the off-the-field uncertainty.

Pochettino also revealed that Cortese had urged him to ensure their form was not affected by the news.

"He asked me to do one thing and that was win on Saturday," said Pochettino.

"When he offered my contract he said one thing: 'Be 100% professional always, regardless of the situation'. That makes him a stand-out guy."

• Striker Robin van Persie has given his backing to David Moyes as the Manchester United boss looks to address the club's stop-start season.

Moyes, in his first season in charge, has guided the Premier League champions to the last 16 of the Champions League as well as the League Cup semi-finals.

But they lie seventh in the league and are out of

"My terms and role will not change and my commitment will not change," - Mauricio Pochettino

the FA Cup.

"Moyes needs time, he's new," said Van Persie. "The manager is our leading man and he will change things around."

Van Persie, who has been sidelined for a month with a thigh problem, is confident United's fortunes will improve "sooner rather than later".

"We lost too many points this year, but we are doing everything we can to change that," said the 30-year-old Dutchman.

Van Persie, a £24m signing from Arsenal in August 2012, was a key figure for United last season, scoring 30 goals in all competitions as they claimed a 13th Premier League title.

It was the last of 38 trophies for Sir Alex Ferguson as United manager before stepping down at the end of the season.

certain to take all three points up until the final 25 minutes.

But Villa then rallied after the introduction of forward Andreas Weimann, with the visitors having to withstand heavy pressure after Benteke headed home, the Belgian's first goal since September.

Wenger, whose side sit one point above Manchester City and two in front of Chelsea, said: "We had to have a strong response because everyone was looking at us to see if we would drop points after everyone else had won over the weekend.

"You are under a bit more pressure when you play last because you know you are not allowed to drop any points.

"The only way you can give an answer to that is to win the games and we have here."

Wenger added that he believes Wilshere is now getting back to his best after playing a key role in the victory.

The England midfielder has seen his career interrupted by injuries, but he scored Arsenal's opener on 34 minutes and set up Giroud for a second at Villa Park less than a minute later.

Wenger said: "He has got his change of pace back. He is not only a passer but he gives us an incision with the ball and for that you need to be at the top of your game physically.

"When you know the players well you can see that, and in his last games he is coming back to his best."

Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain returned as a late Arsenal substitute for the first time since the opening day defeat by Villa.

He replaced Tomas Rosicky, who sustained a broken nose in an aerial challenge with Gabriel Agbonlahor.

Nemanja Matic completes £21m Chelsea return

Chelsea have completed the £21m signing of Benfica midfielder Nemanja Matic on a five-and-a-half-year deal.

The 25-year-old (above, right) left Stamford Bridge for Portugal three years ago.

"I am very happy for this opportunity. I just want to say I will give my best to help the team and make the Chelsea fans happy," said Matic.

Chelsea boss Jose Mourinho said: "He has grown as a player in Portugal and has become a fantastic all-round midfielder."

The Serbia international was valued at less than £5m in January 2011 when he left Stamford Bridge as a makeweight in the deal that saw defender David Luiz join Chelsea from Benfica.

Mourinho quickly identified the defensive midfielder as a key target on his return to Stamford Bridge and the club had no issue with re-signing a player they previously let go.

Chelsea will offset the cost of signing Matic with the £16m they will receive from the proposed sale of Kevin De Bruyne to Wolfsburg.

Matic joined Chelsea from Slovakian club MFK Kosice on a four-year deal for £1.5m in 2009.

He made two substitute appearances in the Premier League and was an unused substitute in Chelsea's 1-0 win over Portsmouth in the FA Cup final in 2010.

Matic joined Vitesse Arnhem on loan for the season in August 2010 before moving to Portugal as part of the Luiz transfer in February 2011.

We want four - Pellegrini

■ Ambitious boss targets record trophy haul for City

Manchester City manager Manuel Pellegrini says he wants to mark his debut season in England by securing all four trophies they are competing in.

City are second in the Premier League table, lead West Ham 6-0 in the Capital One Cup semi-final and face Barcelona in the Champions League last 16.

"It's difficult [to win all four] but we'll try," Pellegrini said ahead of Wednesday's FA Cup third round replay at home to Blackburn Rovers, which City won 5-0.

No club has won the Premier League, Champions League, FA Cup and League Cup in one season.

City's neighbours Manchester United secured the Premier League, Champions League and FA Cup treble in 1998-99.

But they failed to win the League Cup, losing to Tottenham in the quarter-finals.

"We know that during the season, with injuries and the amount of games you have to play, it is very difficult," added Pellegrini, whose side are one point behind Premier League leaders Arsenal with 17 games remaining.

"That's why nobody has done it before. But I think we must have the mentality to try to do it.

"There are going to be five or six teams fighting for the Premier League until the end."

P e l l e g r i n i was confirmed as City manager after signing a three-year contract in June 2013.

The 60-year-old Chilean arrived from Malaga to replace Roberto Mancini, who was sacked the previous month after City failed to win a major trophy during the 2012-13 campaign.

Pellegrini insists he is taking the FA Cup seriously.

"It's a very important cup because it is a very traditional cup," said Pellegrini.

"The most important thing for this team is to try and have the mentality that it doesn't matter what competition you are playing, it's important to play well and to try to win."

We have the fight to win title, says Wenger

Arsene Wenger has warned Arsenal's title rivals that his side have the fight to win the Premier League after the Gunners went back to the top of the table with victory at Aston Villa on Monday night.

Jack Wilshere and Olivier Giroud gave Arsenal a two-goal lead at

"It is a big win for us", Wenger said following Arsenal's 2-1 win at Villa Park Monday night half-time but they had to dig in after Christian Benteke pulled a goal back.

"It is a big win for us," said Wenger. "The first half was about playing our game with passing and control, the second was more about fighting."

He added: "Our defenders kept us in the game. It was an anxious finish and we had to fight right to the end and we were committed to every ball."
