Andy denies U.S. 'sex slave' claims

Buckingham Palace has denied "any suggestion of impropriety with underage minors" by Prince Andrew, after he was named in US court papers this week.

A woman named him in documents she filed in a Florida court over how prosecutors handled a case against financier Jeffrey Epstein.

She claims that between 1999 and 2002 she was forced by Epstein to have sex with the prince when she was a minor.

The palace said it would not comment in detail on the legal proceedings.

But a Buckingham Palace spokeswoman said: "This relates to long-standing and ongoing civil proceedings in the United States, to which the Duke of York is not a party.

'categorically untrue'

"As such we would not comment on the detail. However, for the avoidance of doubt, any suggestion of impropriety with underage minors is categorically untrue".

The woman says she was forced to have sexual relations with the prince in London, New York and on a private Caribbean island owned by Epstein.

She also claims she was forced to have sex, when a minor, with prominent lawyer and former Harvard Law professor Alan Dershowitz, who told the BBC: "My only feeling is if she's lied about me, which I know she has, she should not be believed about anyone else.

"We know she's lied about other public figures including a former prime minister and others who she claims to have participated in sexual activities with, so I think it must be presumed all her allegations against Prince Andrew were false as well."

The woman has issued a statement through her lawyers, saying she was "looking forward to vindicating my rights as an innocent victim and pursuing all available recourse", adding that she was "not going to be bullied back into silence".

Her accusations are contained in a motion filed in a Florida court this week, which is part of a legal case over how federal prosecutors handled the case of Epstein.

The court document, first reported on by Politico Magazine, alleges: "Epstein also sexually trafficked the then-minor Jane Doe (a name used in US legal proceedings for people with anonymity), making her available for sex to politically connected and financially powerful people.

Friendship criticised

"Epstein's purposes in 'lending' Jane Doe (along with other young girls) to such powerful people were to ingratiate himself with them for business, personal, political, and financial gain, as well as to obtain potential blackmail information."

STRANGE BEDFELLOWS: Prince Andrew has previously come under fire for his friendship with US financier Jeffrey Epstein, who is accused of trafficking minors for sex

Prince Andrew and Mr Dershowitz are two of three well-known men named in the court document who it alleges had sexual relations with the woman.

The prince has previously been criticised for his former friendship with Epstein, who was convicted of sex offences in 2008.

The pair were photographed meeting in December 2010, after the tycoon had served an 18-month prison sentence for soliciting a minor for prostitution, and the prince had also visited Epstein at his Florida home over the years.

The prince stepped down as the UK special representative for trade and investment in July 2011 after 10 years in the role.

British nurse receives experimental treatment to battle deadly Ebola virus

BRITAIN'S first confirmed Ebola patient Pauline Cafferkey is receiving an experimental anti-viral drug and blood from survivors of the disease, doctors in London have said.

Specialists at the Royal Free Hospital in Hampstead, where the nurse is being treated, did not name the drug.

Dr Michael Jacobs said Ms Cafferkey was in isolation and was sitting up in bed, talking and reading.

As the disease has no known cure and is unpredictable, Dr Jacobs said they would know more in a week's time.

He said Ms Cafferkey had agreed to all the treatments and her family had been to see her.

'difficult time'

"She's a nurse, a fellow professional, so we have been able to discuss things in great detail," he said.

"She's as well as we can hope for at this stage of the illness. She's had the treatment, it's gone very smoothly, no side-effects at all."

The drug and the convalescent plasma are part of a tranche of experimental treatments, he said.

"We simply don't know what the best treatment strategies are," he added.

This is a difficult time for doctors. Potential Ebola drugs exist yet there is hardly a scrap of evidence that any of them work.

Two of the most promising are brincidofovir and favipiravir.

Tests in tissue samples suggest the anti-virals have the potential to stop Ebola replicating once it infects cells.

uncertain

Brincidofovir has been tried on some patients in the US and both drugs have entered clinical trials in West Africa.

However, the results are not expected until February.

The effectiveness of using the blood of survivors is equally uncertain until the results of trials come through.

Ebola therapies and vaccines are now being tested at unprecedented speed during this outbreak.

But for patients infected today, doctors simply do not know if these experimental options will make a difference.

Ms Cafferkey, a public health nurse at Blantyre Health Centre in South Lanarkshire, is receiving treatment via a quarantine tent after returning to Glasgow from Sierra Leone on Sunday.

She was working in the West African country as part of a Save the Children team. She travelled home via Casablanca, Morocco, and London's Heathrow Airport.

Ms Cafferkey was screened for the disease at Heathrow and told officials she believed a fever might be developing.

'very low risk'

Her temperature was taken seven times in total and was normal each time, so she was allowed to fly home to Scotland.

She was placed in an isolation unit at Gartnavel Hospital in Glasgow after becoming feverish on Monday.

Ms Cafferkey was transferred by RAF

GOOD SAMARITAN: Pauline Cafferkey returned to Glasgow from Sierra Leone last weekend after working with the Save the Children charity

Hercules plane to London and on to the Royal Free's specialist treatment centre on Tuesday.

Ebola is transmitted by direct contact with the bodily fluids of an infected person, such as blood, vomit or faeces.

The virus has killed more than 7,800 people, mostly in West Africa, since it broke out a year ago.

The World Health Organization says the number of people infected by the disease in Sierra Leone, Liberia and Guinea has now passed 20,000.

Screening protocols

Ms Cafferkey's case has raised questions about the screening process in place for passengers leaving West Africa and arriving at Heathrow.

The chief medical officer for England, Dame Sally Davies, said Ms Cafferkey had been in the early phase of the disease when she made the journey back to the UK and her fellow passengers were at "very low risk" of being infected.

She told the BBC: "The public health risk is negligible - Ebola's very difficult to catch."

While the correct protocols had been followed, she said, the precautions were always under review.

A Department of Health spokesman said it would review the screening protocols.

Arise Dames Esther and Joan...plus Sir John Hurt

■ Kristen Scott Thomas, James Corden and Paddy Ashdown among other honorees in New Year list

SHOWBUSINESS personalities Joan Collins, John Hurt and Esther Rantzen were among the biggest names listed in the New Year's Honour's List.

Collins and Rantzen were both made Dames, while the veteran actor receives a knighthood.

Other prominent winners include the creators of the hugely successful World War One ceramic poppy display at the Tower of London, ceramic artist Paul Cummins and theatre designer Tom Piper - both made MBEs in recognition of the Blood Swept Lands and Seas of Red installation which attracted five million visitors.

split equally

Four Weddings and a Funeral star Kristin Scott Thomas was also named a dame and there is an OBE for Emily Watson, as well as for James Corden and Sheridan Smith, who appeared together in TV sitcom Gavin & Stacey.

A total of 1,164 people are honoured by the Queen on the New Year list, three-quarters of whom have been recognised for work in their communities. The awards are split equally between men and women. And a further 87 recipients are named on the Foreign Office list which recognises service overseas.

Dame Joan, who was made an OBE in 1997 for her contribution to the dramatic arts, is recognised this time for services to charity. She said she was "thrilled and truly grateful". Dame Kristin, who is shortly to play the Queen on stage in The Audience, said she was "thrilled, astonished and worried that I might suddenly wake up".

Among the other new dames are fashion designer Mary Quant; and Poet Laureate Carol Ann Duffy.

Trevor Hicks and Margaret Aspinall, who campaigned for a quarter of a century for the families of the 96 football fans who died in the Hillsborough disaster, are made CBEs. A new inquest into the deaths is still going on.

Women's Rugby World Cup winners Sarah Hunter and Rochelle Clark are among the sports stars recognised with MBEs.

Athlete Steve Cram, a former 1500m world champion, becomes a CBE in recognition of his recent work as chair of the English Institute of Sport.

The same honour goes to novelist Ali Smith.

Meanwhile, an inquiry is to be carried out into the apparent leaking of a string of names from the list before they were officially announced. Sir Bob Kerslake, the outgoing head of the Civil Service, said he was "concerned", describing the situation as "highly regrettable".

Corden, whose career has taken in a series of theatre and film roles, said he was "thrilled". He added that his mother was "already fretting about what to wear"

Games success

Among the political honours, former Liberal Democrat leader Lord Paddy Ashdown is appointed a member of the elite Companions of Honour. Stirling MP Anne McGuire becomes a dame and Southend West MP David Amess is knighted.

Baroness Ashton, the former EU foreign policy chief, and former MI6 head Sir John Sawers have both been promoted to the highest class of the Order of St Michael and St George.

Dame Mary Peters, who won a gold medal in the women's pentathlon at the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich, also joins the Companion of Honour.

The honours for sport acknowledge the work of ex-West Bromwich Albion footballer and racial equality campaigner Brendon Batson, who becomes an OBE.

Great Britain hockey captain Kathrin Richardson-Walsh, as well as Northern Ireland boxer Patrick Barnes and Scotland judo player Euan Burton, who both won gold at the 2014 Commonwealth Games in Glasgow, all get MBEs.

The success of the Games itself is recognised, with a CBE for Glasgow City Council leader Gordon Matheson and an OBE for Commonwealth Games Scotland chief executive Jon Doig.

‘Hero’ pilot who landed stricken Virgin Atlantic plane with wheel fault: ‘I was just doing my job’

A pilot who safely returned a Virgin Atlantic jumbo jet at Gatwick Airport in “an out of the ordinary landing” with 450 passengers after the landing gear failed this week has told reporters: “I was just doing my job”.

David Williams, 47, a senior pilot for the airline, was hailed as a hero for returning the Las Vegas-bound plane that had reached Bristol before circling southern England, but said in a statement that any of the other of his colleagues would have done the same in a similar situation.

He said: “Clearly this was an out of the ordinary landing, but I was just doing my job and any one of our pilots would have taken the same actions.

“I’m really proud of my colleagues on the ground and in the air and the support they gave me during this event - everyone worked really hard in a difficult situation and we are delighted that our customers were able to travel to Las Vegas the next day for their New Year’s Eve celebrations.”

Back at Gatwick, the plane flew low over the airport so the undercarriage could be visually inspected with binoculars. It was found that a set of wheels had failed to extend out of the body of the aircraft.

Passenger Dan Crane, 24, from Bromsgrove, Worcestershire, said that his fellow travellers were “anxious, a lot were worried, some crying. The mood was quiet and (we were) just waiting for the captain’s next announcement.”

“Once it was over everyone burst into spontaneous applause.

There was just palpable relief,” he added.

Williams, a father-of-three, has 20 years flying experience and was praised on BBC Radio 5 Live by passenger Nick Hughes who said: “The actual landing was one of the softest landings I’d ever had. The crew were exemplary.”

Footage from inside the plane showed a flight attendant demonstrating the safety brace position in the case of an emergency landing with another crew member stating that they should be ready to evacuate quickly.

The passengers that were on the flight were put on a specially scheduled journey on New Year’s Day at 11:15am and landed almost 10 hours later at McCarran International Airport Las Vegas.

A spokeswoman for Virgin Atlantic said that around 13 passengers who had flown as crew companions did not fly yesterday as it is a standard procedure for a new crew to operate a flight if there is an incident or delay on board.

#EpicFail: Drink-driver arrested after crashing car into a police station

A suspected drink-driver was arrested on New Year’s Eve after crashing his car into a police station.

Officers did not have to go far to find the suspect, whose car was left nose-end resting on the outside wall of Frodsham police station in Cheshire (pictured, above right).

The suspect is believed to have lost control of his vehicle which “rolled” off a car park next door and into the station at around 12.20am on Friday.

The driver was then arrested for drink-driving.

Cheshire Police released two tweets about the incident: “Man arrested for #drinkdrive after losing control on a car park and crashing into Frodsham police station. #epicfail”, and: “Male in Frodsham kindly handed himself in for drink driving #drivenintostationwall”.

Six stabbed in shocking night at the Belfry

THE HALLOWED surroundings of the Belfry golf club were looking a little less civilized this weekend after six people were stabbed at a New Year's Eve function held at the world famous resort.

Police were called to the Bel Air Nightclub, which is based at the Sutton Coldfield resort, shortly after midnight following reports that a 21-year-old man had been stabbed in the chest.

As officers were dealing with the incident further violence erupted and five other people received stab wounds.

One 28-year-old man was in a critical condition while four others, aged between 20 and 27, were released from hospital after treatment.

A 26-year-old man from Birmingham was arrested on suspicion of causing grievous bodily harm, a 22-year-old was detained on suspicion of assault and a third man, aged 20, was arrested on suspicion of violent disorder.

The Belfry has hosted the Ryder Cup no fewer than four times. Most recently it was the site of a famous win for the European team in 2002.

Superintendent Adrian McGee, of Warwickshire Police, said: "This is the early stages of the investigation and at this time officers are still in the process of piecing together what has happened."

"This was a very challenging disorder for our officers to control on what was a very busy night for the force, and I am grateful for the work they conducted and bravery they showed last night in bringing order to this incident."

Bono 'may never play guitar again'

■ U2 frontman facing long recovery from 'freak' bike accident

U2 frontman Bono says he fears that he may never play guitar again following a bike accident last November.

He made the comment in his A to Z of 2014, published on the band's website.

Bono broke his arm in six places and fractured his eye socket, hand and shoulder blade in what he called a "freak accident" in New York.

In the letter to his fans, he said he was unable to move around physically and would have to "concentrate hard" to be fit for U2's next tour.

At the time, the hospital where Bono was being treated said he had been involved in "a high-energy bicycle accident when he attempted to avoid another rider".

The Irish rocker spoke this week about being on painkillers for weeks and said he had a "massive injury, I can't blame on anyone but myself".

The 54-year-old Dubliner revealed he now had a titanium elbow.

'all elbows'

Bono said he "blanked out on impact and have no memory of how I ended up in New York Presbyterian with my humerus bone sticking through my leather jacket. Very punk rock as injuries go".

Bono continued: "Recovery has been more difficult than I thought. As I write this, it is not clear that I will ever play guitar again. The band have reminded me that neither they nor western civilization are depending on this."

"I personally would very much miss

TITANIUM ELBOW: Bono's 'high-energy bicycle accident' happened one day after the recording of the Band Aid single in London fingering the frets of my green Irish falcon or my (red) Gretsch. Just for the pleasure, aside from writing tunes.

"But then does the Edge, or Jimmy Page, or any guitarist you know have a titanium elbow, as I do now? I'm all elbows, I am."

The wide-ranging, s o m e t i m e s tongue-in-cheek, A-Z letter covers topics ranging from the iTunes release of the Songs of Innocence album, to an update on his family.

He talked about learning from his mistakes adding "the first of which is the discovery that I am not an armoured vehicle".

Bono says the letter will be his only communication for the first part of this year.

"The consequences of this freak accident are significant enough that I will have to concentrate hard to be ready for the U2 tour in fitness terms," he said.

"As a result I have cancelled every public appearance and decided this missive is all the communication I can manage for the first half of 2015, beyond muttering and singing to myself of course."

Priceless hoard of ancient coins discovered in Buckinghamshire

Metal detector enthusiasts in Buckinghamshire have uncovered what is thought to be one of biggest hoards of ancient coins ever found in Britain.

Paul Coleman from the Weekend Wanderers Detecting Club discovered more than 5,000 coins buried inside a lead bucket two feet under a field near Aylesbury.

The hoard contains specimens dating back to the 11th Century - the late Anglo Saxon, early Norman period.

The coins will now be examined by the British Museum.

Mr Coleman, from

Southampton, was taking part in a dig in the Padbury area on 21 December when he found the 5,251 coins depicting the heads of kings Ethelred the Unready and Canute.

A spokesman for the national club said those on the dig had "agreed this was the most exciting day of their detecting lives".

"Without a doubt this is the best find ever made in the Weekend Wanderers Detecting Club's 25-year history," he said.

'Dream' find

Peter Welch, who was at the dig, said Mr Coleman had seen some fragments of lead, picked off the top

IN THE MONEY: The heads of Ethelred the Unready and Canute can be seen on the coins one and saw the "layers of coins".

"He didn't touch them, he knew it was important," he said.

Mr Welch, who was immediately notified, said he was "shellshocked" when he realised "it was real".

"There was general silence and a sharp intake of breath of the people watching," he said.

"This is something you dream of witnessing, let alone digging up."

"They looked almost uncirculated, like they were straight from a mint."

Heartbroken owner spends £300 on life-saving surgery for CONSTIPATED GOLDFISH

A PET owner heartbroken at the prospect of losing his pet goldfish has spent £300 to save its life.

The man took the constipated fish to the vets to ease its discomfort after noticing it was struggling to pass any solids.

He hoped after a simple procedure the fish would be back happily swimming in his office tank.

But the company boss was in for a shock when staff at the Toll Barn Veterinary Centre told him the delicate surgery would cost £300.

He turned down the treatment and left his fish to its fate - but had a change of mind ten minutes later and went back to give the go-ahead.

Vet Faye Bethell, 29, was then tasked with carefully administering anesthetic before using tiny instruments to remove a lump close to the fish's anus.

A second lump was removed from his dorsal fin before the pet was returned to water and handed back to his grateful owner.

Faye said the three inch fish made a full recovery after the 50-minute operation and it would have died if it was left untreated.

She said: "I have never done a procedure like that on a goldfish, although I have done it before on more valuable fish like a carp.

"The actual surgery is quite straightforward but administering the anesthetic is quite complicated.

"The issue was the fish couldn't poo and it would have eventually become toxic and it would have died.

"There was nothing special about the fish. He just liked it a lot. People love their pets - but that was an expensive little goldfish."

The delicate procedure involved introducing a carefully-measured anaesthetising agent into the fish's water at the practice in North Walsham, Norfolk.

It was then removed from its tank and placed

EXPENSIVE LITTLE GOLDFISH: the fish couldn't defecate and it would have eventually become toxic and died, said vet Faye Bethell at the Norfolk clinic on a waterproof drape before anaesthetic water was introduced into its mouth via a tube and bubbled over its gills.

Faye then used a miniature heart-rate monitor to check that the fish was properly "under" before using a mini scalpel to remove the lumps.

She then sewed each cut with three stitches before using a special "glue" to cover and waterproof the fish's scales before it was gradually re-awakened.

Goldfish can live up to 10 years and this ailing pet was two years and 10 months old at the time of its operation.

The Toll Barn practice opened a year ago and specialises in exotic animals as well as the more usual pets.

Faye revealed that in the past year she has carried out a string of bizarre ops including the removal of a skin tumour from a two-inch long hognose snake.

She has also successfully taken out a stone from the 5mm-wide ureter of a guinea pig and last week castrated a skunk.

Bristol bus timetable hacked by terrorists - who thought they would cause travel chaos in 'the West'

Muslim extremists hoping to disrupt international travel across the Western world fell a little short of their goal when they hacked into a Bristol bus timetable instead.

A group calling itself, Darkshadow - an Arab Security Team - mistakenly hijacked TravelWest's journey planner website and replaced it with a sinister Islamic State-style black page.

It is thought the cyberterrorists, who claim to be based in Tunisia and the Ivory Coast, believed that by hacking TravelWest, they were infiltrating a major international travel website for Europe and the United States.

West Country locals, who logged onto the site expecting to find the usual bus and train timetables, cycle routes and traffic updates, were taken aback to discover that all information had been replaced by Arabic text and the stark message: "Hacked by Darkshadow".

Backed by Arabic music, the website also carried an advert plugging the extremists' Facebook page and boasting of other hacks they had carried out.

But doubts were cast on the authenticity of those behind the hack after they misspelt the word Muslim on their homepage.

And their latest hacking efforts drew derision from many of those logging on to the TravelWest site in the hope of using the journey planner.

One person wrote: "Oh dear, can't tell the difference between a local bus company and travel site. Pathetic. What price education huh?"

HIT! Paintball tester advert attracts 10,000 applications

An unusual job advert for someone to have paintballs shot at them to test their impact has attracted more than 10,000 applications from across the world.

UKPaintball said it was overwhelmed at the scale of the response to its bid to employ a Human Bullet Impact Tester.

The firm, which operates at 60 locations across the UK, said it had received expressions of interest for the £40,000-a-year job from as far away as India, the United States, Canada and Croatia.

Comments in the applications included: "I'm a rugby player and I used to play airsoft without protection so I know physical pain. I can also break watermelon with my head.

"I always dreamed of UKPaintball says it is overwhelmed at the scale of the response to its bid to employ a £40,000-a-year pro rata Human Bullet Impact Tester being face-covered by paint while screaming so I think I can be the perfect tester."

Another hopeful candidate said he was fat - so easier to aim at.

Justin Toohig, owner of UKPaintball.co.uk, said: "This incredible response is the last thing we expected when we posted the advert.

"We couldn't have predicted that so many people in the UK and beyond would want to get shot for a living.

"It's going to be a real struggle attempting to whittle down the thousands of applicants to just one. We have been so incredibly inundated with amazing candidates wanting the job that we are now considering an X Factor-style bootcamp for the a final 10, to see just who can handle being shot for a living," added Mr. Toohig.

NICE LITTLE EARNER: British expats who retired to sunny climates including Greece, Spain and Malta have been claiming the winter fuel allowance for years, says the Work and Pensions department Winter fuel allowance finally axed for expats retired in the Med...

THERE WAS BAD NEWS this week for older Brits who have retired to Europe's sunspots – as the government announced they are to lose the winter fuel allowance.

A new temperature test will axe the handout, worth up to £300, for expats living in Portugal, Greece, Spain, Cyprus, France and Malta.

From September, payments will no longer be made to those aged over 62 in countries where the average annual temperature is higher than the warmest region of the UK.

'absurd and offensive'

The average temperature in Spain in December and January is 13C, almost double the average in the south-west of England.

But even under the new rules, expats in 25 countries, including Romania, Italy and Poland, will still be eligible for the cash.

Last winter's payments to 135,285 people in 30 countries cost UK taxpayers £133million.

Work and Pensions Secretary Iain Duncan Smith said earlier this week: "Winter fuel payments exist to help Britain's pensioners keep themselves warm."

"It's absurd and offensive that taxpayers are funding these payments for people who have retired to the Mediterranean and enjoy warmer weather."

'genuine link'

Winter fuel payments were introduced in 1997 and are now worth at least £200 for over-62s, rising to £300 for over-80s.

The temperature test will comply with a European Union ruling that anyone who can show a "genuine link with the UK" is entitled to the money.

In 2002/3, a total of 8,000 people in 16 countries claimed the benefit, costing taxpayers £1million.

But the figure has rocketed since the EU's expansion. Now 50,000 people in Spain, 30,000 in France, 3,300 in Portugal, 8,000 in Cyprus and 2,000 in Greece get the benefit.

Formula One ace Button slowly weds his long term love

JENSEN BUTTON rounded off 2014 in fine style by marrying longtime girlfriend Jessica Michibata in a Hawaiian ceremony on New Year's Eve.

The Formula One ace may be quick around the track but he's certainly not allowed himself to be hurried to the altar. The couple have been dating since 2008 but their relationship hasn't been smooth running, with them having broken up in 2010 before getting back together again.

But it was all sunshine and rainbows Wednesday night as the couple finally tied the knot in front of friends and family in a lavish ceremony in Maui.

Instagram snap

Lingerie model Jessica had hinted that she had exchanged vows with her 34-year-old fiance after posting an Instagram snap of her in what looked like a bridal gown on Christmas Day.

And the 34-year-old confirmed their happy news on Twitter on New Year's Eve, writing: 'Happy New Year from Mr & Mrs Button!! We're excited to see in the New year with family and loved ones, we hope you're too!'

Jessica wowed guests at her big day in a traditional white strapless wedding gown with a huge flowing veil, which had to be kept under control by her trusty bridesmaids.

The McLaren star had a reputation as a playboy before meeting Jessica, dating a string of beautiful women including Prince Harry's ex – 29-year-old model

And befitting a man who intimately involved with classic cars, after the ceremony the pair were driven off into the sunset in a convertible classic Pontiac GTO draped with ribbon.

The wedding, however, was bound to be somewhat bittersweet for Jensen, who lost his beloved father John last January.

The proud patriarch had attended all of his son's races since he was 14.

Meet A Member: Catherine Scott

This week's Meet a Member is Catherine Lyn Scott who divides her time between LA and London.

What made you make the move to LA?

As I am a publicist and a director at London Flair PR, we have offices in London and LA, so I spend my time between both amazing cities. I first moved to LA 12 years ago after a background in corporate PR and acting, I retrained at UCLA as an entertainment publicist before setting up the company. I am lucky enough to enjoy London's culture and the beautiful sunshine in Southern California.

How would you describe LA to those who haven't visited yet?

LA is a fun and beautiful city, it is great to visit, live and perfect for those in the entertainment industry. Brits in LA are a great part of my wonderful LA experience, they have enabled me to live in the city of Angels without losing my culture and British identity. I love to join the Brits Breakfast to catch up with people and meet new friends as well as network, this weekly meet is great for people who live in LA and those who are just visiting.

Do you think you could ever see yourself moving to LA full time, if not tell us what keeps you in London?

After living in LA solidly for 10 years, I am loving spending time in both cities. I love the vibrance of London, the pubs and culture and I love the glamour of Los Angeles, waking up every day to the sunshine and seeing stunning palm trees dotted around the landscape.

Do you have a hidden gem in LA?

Absolutely. La Descarga is a beautifully designed bar by the Houston brothers. You step into a time warp, back into old world Cuba through a wardrobe and it really has an unusual and special feel.

Why would you recommend other overseas readers joining Brits in LA?

Certainly, Brits in LA really make me feel at home living in LA. They hold one of a kind events like The Toscars, an award ceremony which parodies Oscar nominated films and members can participate

BEST OF BOTH WORLDS? Catherine Scott divides her time between London and Los Angeles

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Start the year off as you mean to continue by being kind to another who may be feeling sorry for themselves this week. This person is really not having a good experience in life and needs your support, not your judgment.

TAURUS: You need to look long and hard this week ahead at where you are heading. Do you think it is the right direction or do you need to make a detour? Only you can figure this out and you will now that Venus your boss is going forward.

GEMINI: What you can achieve this year is up to how willing you are to make the right moves. Holding back for the right time is wasting time and you can always be relied on to think too much.....so don't!

CANCER: It's a new year and a month of makeover...expect big changes within or without – possibly both. It's the right time to let the winds of change move swiftly through the old and worn out.

LEO: As this month begins you could find yourself stretched beyond your limits, both in time and cash flow. It's going to get easier before the end of the month, but in the meantime knuckle down to work and prioritize your spending.

VIRGO: Use that New Year energy to take on any task and clear out the dead wood. Outstanding new ideas and opportunities will come up next month, be ready to take advantage.

LIBRA: Travel is much on your mind and this can make you stressed or feel limited. Don't make any quick decisions, but plan carefully and delay any trips until Easter or after.

SCORPIO: The festive season has left you feeling centered and peace-filled. Try to remain calm and positive for the rest of the month (and year!), but don't forget any regular deadlines or obligations you may have.

SAGITTARIUS: You could be feeling a bit moody or out of sorts due to the holidays ending, but instead remember that the New Year is a gift to start over and really take stock of what matters to you.

CAPRICORN: Your financial situation is still not what you want, however in order to achieve a positive cash flow you have to assume it is already here. This means to not act or think in lack of anything in life.

AQUARIUS: A family member will likely ask for help these next few days. How you handle this situation will decide if they come back for more. It's your decision if you decide to help them out.

PISCES: Stop that feeling sorry for yourself as this will not change anytime soon and if you waste time. What is gone is gone and is not coming back. Be forgiving of another who has caused you pain and you can expect many Karmic rewards.

Book Corner: The Shock of the Fall

Exclusive interview with author Nathan Filer about his novel exploring how a young man deals with his schizophrenic life

Rating: ★★★

“I gave him a name straight away,” says The Shock of the Fall author Nathan Filer.

“Matthew Homes, 19 years old with a chipped front tooth, a tentative diagnosis of schizophrenia and a dead big brother who refuses to stay dead. I first began thinking of this novel ten years ago. I was a student mental health nurse at this time. I remember walking home from a shift one day when the beginnings of a story came to me. What came to me were a couple of lines, long since discarded, and a sense of a character who might have uttered them.”

The Shock of the Fall is the story of a young man with schizophrenia and his struggle to understand what happened the night his brother died. It's a character portrait of Matthew. The family dynamic and his sense of guilt are explored. Due to his mental illness, Matthew uses a typewriter to try to understand what happened. Filer uses drawings and font changes within the book to show when the typewriter is being used.

While on vacation with their parents, Matthew Homes and his older brother Simon sneak out in the middle of the night. Only Matthew comes home safely. His older brother Simon, who suffers from Down Syndrome, were camping with their parents. The two boys go out at night and only Mathew comes back. Matthew is diagnosed with schizophrenia who writes out his life story, or what he thinks is his story.

“This was such a challenging story to write,” says Filer. “A search in the dark, when often I wasn't even sure what I was looking for. I have drawn so much from my own childhood. Most of my research was simply accessing memories.

Although that can be harder than it sounds. Of course I needed to know other things too.”

“At one point in my novel Matthew Homes is locked up in a police cell overnight,” says Filer, who visited a local police station and asked to look around the cells. “I was too embarrassed to say it was research for a novel in case I never got published, so I just said something vague about being interested in such things. They were very accommodating, the police, not the cells, but doubtless thought I was a bit odd.”

The Shock of the Fall is Filer's first novel. Filer says he was shocked when it won the Costa First Novel award and went on to win the Costa Book of the Year. “The Costa Book of the Year is a very big deal in the UK. Aside from the Booker Prize it doesn't really get any bigger in terms of media interest. I certainly wasn't the bookies' favorite. At the ceremony, immediately following the announcement, I was whisked away into a pressroom to face a bank of journalists, photographers and TV cameras. There is a generous cash prize and one of the journalists asked me what I planned to spend it on. I said that I hadn't thought about it, and at this the journalist turned to the back of the room where my wife was sitting. He asked if she had any plans for it. She answered, ‘I was 100% sure he wouldn't win.’ The next day her quote appeared in several national newspapers.”

“It's funny,” says Filer. “Only published authors get asked what inspired them. If you had peered into my bedroom, office, entire world, three years ago, I reckon you'd have gone with possessed. Perhaps compelled is the right word. I felt compelled to tell his story.”

Filer was born and still lives in Bristol.

Filer will be in at the Rancho Mirage Writers Festival in Palm Springs, California, from January 21st to 24th.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!!

2015 has got off to a great start for the entertainment industry! It looks like Hollywood is coming back to LA - there is a new tax incentive that will go in effect this year. It will be increased from $100 million to $330 million. Hooray for Hollywood!

Over in the UK a new record has been achieved...for the first time EVER the Top Ten best selling albums of the year are all by British artists! Here's the details:

1. Ed Sheeran - x
2. Sam Smith - In The Lonely Hour
3. George Ezra - Wanted On Voyage
4. Paolo Nutini - Caustic Love
5. Coldplay - Ghost Stories
6. Paloma Faith - A Perfect Contradiction
7. One Direction - Four
8. Olly Murs - Never Been Better
9. Pink Floyd - The Endless River
10. Take That - III

I am ashamed to say I don't own a single one of them! Make sure to check out our blog The Anglo Files (britsinla.blogspot.com) for gig listings - Number two, Sam Smith is playing at the end of the month.

Resolutions

I've been known to make outlandish resolutions in the past, (jumping out of planes, a series of colonics, learn to ski and joining in on flash mobs, to name but a few!) so this year I decided to keep it simple but perhaps a little more challenging.... I have narrowed it down to the following four...

1. Take My Vitamins Every Day
2. Make My Bed Every Morning
3. Wash All My Dishes Before Bed
4. Visit 'home' more often

If I can't stick to those extremely simple vows then I think I may have to just admit that resolutions, like rules, are made to be broken. Although the great discounts Air New Zealand are offering for their New Year Seven Day Sale has made number 4 a lot easier to keep!

Check out these good deals to be had: SAVE up to $200 on flights from Los Angeles to London using promo code NY200. Or SAVE up to $300 on flights from the U.S. to the South Pacific (NZ, Australia & Pacific Islands) with promo code NY300. For more details visit: www.

airnewzealand.com when you too want to book your next trip home.

I would love to hear what your resolutions are, I am sure you will all put me to shame but hopefully inspire me too. Tweet me, either at @BritsinLA or @Eileenies

If you fancy being part of a flashmob, the "No Pants Metro Ride" is coming up on January 11th - (British translation is 'Go Trouserless on the Tube'; we would hate for you to turn up commando and then wonder what all the fuss was about!). Full details can be found on our Facebook page or aimproveverywhere.com (it is a nationwide thing!)

Toscar Time...

Our annual short film competition The Toscars is imminent! For those of you who don't know, this is where about 100 of our members get together then are divided into randomly selected groups of 10. They then have three weeks to make five-minute parodies of the current Oscar nominated films, including composing the original score!

This is our 8th year and

RESOLUTION #1: Enjoy the breakfast of champions more regularly...

we have moved from our usual home of the Egyptian Theatre to the The Avalon in Hollywood. Selection night is January 15th. Visit our Facebook page The Toscars for all the details. You can watch the winning Toscar of 2014, Terminate Her on our website: www.TheToscars.com, plus all nominees from the very start.

The Toscars is one of my favorite times of year, as it really shows how fabulous and talented all the Brits in LA members are. It makes me feel so very proud of everyone in the community. If you aren't able to participate in the movie-making process then try to join us for the screening and awards ceremony on February 17th. Dig out your fancy frocks and tuxedos as it is an elegant, red carpet affair. It is a great chance to be a part of Oscar/Toscar fever which is certainly a unique Los Angeles experience.

Happy New Year and may 2015 be your best one yet!!

Cheers!
Eileen

Case No. BP158272
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ERIC GRANT BECHELY-CRUNDALL.
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Philip Crundall in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.
THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that

Philip Crundall be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on January 14, 2015 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 29 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER AND ALL OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 714-573-1965 or visit this Internet Web site: www.priorityposting.com using the file number assigned to this case F09-01251. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. California Municipal Finance Authority
PACE Program

THE CALIFORNIA MUNICIPAL FINANCE
AUTHORITY GIVES NOTICE that:

1. Intention to Form a Contractual Assessment Program; Proposed Boundaries. Pursuant to a resolution entitled "A Resolution Declaring Intention to Finance or Refinance the Installation of Distributed Generation Renewable Energy Sources, Energy Efficiency Improvements, Water Efficiency Improvements, Seismic Strengthening Improvements, Electric Vehicle Charging Infrastructure and Other Work, Infrastructure or Improvements Authorized by Law," adopted on December 12, 2014 (the "Resolution of Intention"), the Board of Directors (the "Board of Directors") of the California Municipal Finance Authority (the "Authority") has determined that it would be convenient, advantageous, and in the public interest to designate an area, which shall encompass the entire geographic territory within the boundaries of every California county and city that is a member of the Authority (collectively, the "Covered Jurisdictions"), within which the Authority and property owners within the Covered Jurisdictions may enter into contractual assessments to finance or refinance the installation of distributed generation renewable energy sources, energy efficiency improvements, water efficiency improvements, seismic strengthening improvements, electric vehicle charging infrastructure and such other work, infrastructure or improvements as may be authorized by law from time to time that are permanently fixed to real property, all in accordance with Chapter 29 of Part 3 of Division 7 of the Streets & Highways Code of the State of California, as amended ("Chapter 29") (the "Authorized Improvements").

The Authority will not enter into contractual assessments to finance or refinance the installation of Authorized Improvements with the owner of any property in a Covered Jurisdiction until such Covered Jurisdiction has provided consent as set forth in the Resolution of Intention.

The Resolution of Intention, including the exhibits thereto, is on file with the Secretary of the Board of Directors and reference is made thereto for the particular provisions thereof.

2. Report. Pursuant to the Resolution of Intention, the Board of Directors ordered preparation of a report (the "Report") at or before the time of the public hearing that contains all of the matters described in Sections 5898.22 and 5898.23.

3. Contract. Chapter 29 authorizes the Authority and property owners within the Covered Jurisdictions to enter into contractual assessments to finance or refinance the installation of Authorized Improvements. The Report will contain a draft contract (the "Contract") specifying the terms and conditions that would be agreed to by the Authority and property owners within each Covered Jurisdiction.

4. Financing Provisions. The Board of Directors determined in the Resolution of Intention that it is in the public interest for the Authority to finance or refinance the installation of Authorized Improvements in each Covered Jurisdiction. Under Chapter 29 and the Improvement Bond Act of 1915, the Authority may issue bonds that are payable by contractual assessments and the Authority may advance its own funds to finance work to be repaid through contractual assessments, and may from time to time sell bonds to reimburse itself for such advances.

5. Public Hearing. A public hearing will be held at 11:00 a.m. on January 16, 2015, at City Hall, 200 S. Anaheim Blvd., 6th Floor, Anaheim, California 92805, for the purposes of allowing interested persons to object to or inquire about the proposed contractual assessment program or any of its particulars. The public hearing may be continued from time to time as determined by the Board of Directors for a time not exceeding a total of 180 days.

At the time of the hearing, the Report will be summarized and the Board of Directors will afford all persons who are present an opportunity to comment upon, object to, or present evidence with regard to the proposed contractual assessment program, the extent of the area proposed to be included within the program, the terms and conditions of the draft Contract, or the proposed financing provisions.

Tony Pulis: 'West Brom safety not guaranteed by my record'

New head coach Tony Pulis says his record of never being relegated as a manager does not guarantee West Brom's survival in the Premier League.

Pulis took over on Thursday, following Alan Irvine's sacking, and was in the stands on New Year's Day as the Baggies drew 1-1 with West Ham.

"Irrespective of my record, everyone is fighting to stay in the Premier League," said Pulis.

"Just because I've walked in, it does not mean the club will stay up."

West Brom are 17th in the Premier League, one point clear of the drop zone with 18 games remaining.

Pulis, with 22 years of managerial experience under his belt, proved last season that he can turn the fortunes of a struggling club around.

The 56-year-old joined Crystal Palace in November 2013 with the Eagles in the bottom three. A strong second half of the campaign saw them finish 11th and survive a season in the Premier League for the first time.

"There is a lot of work to be done," said Pulis. "To do that, we need the support of everybody. The Hawthorns rocks when the support is behind the team so we need to get that going again.

"You have to find a way to win games with what you have and work on a system that will suit the players.

"I hope we can use the transfer window to our advantage and bring a few players in, which we need to. Then we go from there."

Pulis added that he will be in the stands for West Brom's FA Cup third-round match against Gateshead on Saturday, but will head down to speak to the players at half-time.

halfway line, Christian Eriksen fed Chadli, who hit the post before Rose followed up.

With Chelsea rattled, Cahill was sluggish as he caught Kane in the box, allowing Townsend to make it 3-1 at the break.

When Kane neatly turned Nemanja Matic to finish inside the far post, Spurs looked capable of handing out a humiliation.

Hazard stopped the rot with a low finish after a one-two with Fabregas, but any suggestion of a Chelsea fightback was snuffed out when Chadli deservedly got on the scoresheet after being played in by Kane.

Terry rounded off a hugely entertaining game when faced with an empty net at the far post - a goal to complete the only scoreline that could have left Chelsea and City level at the top.

No nobody's great surprise Jose Mourinho was unable to publicly congratulate Spurs on their victory after the match, instead blaming bad refereeing decisions and ensuring that at least some of the headlines the next day would not focus on Chelsea's shortcomings.

His criticism of the referee Phil Dowd's performance included a suggestion he was "40 yards" off the pace when Federico Fazio challenged Hazard late on, a tackle the Belgian subsequently acknowledged had been legitimate and did not prompt sanction. Yet his frustration merely mirrored that from after the draw at Southampton on Sunday when Cesc Fàbregas had been booked for simulation having been clipped by Matt Targett in the penalty area. "In the 20 league matches we have played we have been the most offensive team, the team with more creative players in attacking areas," he said, "and we have had two penalties in those games.

"If people are in love with football in this country then they must be in love with Eden Hazard. But the way, match to match, he's being punished by opponents and not protected by referees ... maybe one day we won't have Eden Hazard. It's one, two, three, four, five, 10 aggressive fouls against him. They kick and kick and kick, and the kid resists. He's a very honest guy in the way he plays but that's another problem."

For his part Tottenham manager Mauricio Pochettino also remained calm after the final whistle, playing down the importance of the result.

"The most important thing today is to congratulate my players. It was a great day for us. "There was a great atmosphere out on the pitch, and for our supporters to. It was a great victory.

"We deserved the victory and we were better than Chelsea."

Asked where the win ranked in his career, the Spurs boss said: "For me, it's only three points.

"I think it is a good victory against Chelsea, who I think are one of the best teams in the world. "But this is nothing - in the end it's only three points."

Pardew out of Toon, into Palace

Crystal Palace have appointed Newcastle boss Alan Pardew as their new manager.

Pardew (above) was given permission by the Magpies to speak with the London side after the two clubs agreed compensation on Monday.

The 53-year-old replaces Neil Warnock, who was sacked on Saturday, four months into his second spell in charge.

Palace have yet to officially confirm the deal but reports suggest Pardew signed his contract with the Eagles on Friday evening.

Pardew was in the stands as Palace claimed a goalless draw at Aston Villa on New Year's Day, a result that kept the Selhurst Park club in the relegation zone.

He leaves Newcastle with the Tyneside club sitting 10th in the Premier League. The compensation package demanded by Newcastle owner Mike Ashley has not been disclosed.

After becoming Magpies manager in December 2010, former Reading, West Ham, Southampton and Charlton boss Pardew guided United to a fifth-placed finish in the Premier League in 2012.

But supporters on Tyneside called for Pardew - who was under contract until 2020 - to be sacked earlier this season when Newcastle were in the bottom three.

Pardew has strong links with Palace having spent four years playing in their midfield from 1987, and he scored the winning goal as the Eagles beat Liverpool 4-3 after extra time in the 1990 FA Cup last four.

Palace caretaker boss Keith Millen says Pardew has been helping to prepare the team for Sunday's FA Cup third-round tie against Conference side Dover Athletic.

"Alan has held a staff meeting when he spoke about a number of things," Millen said on Friday. "He spoke to the players and then we had training.

"We're preparing for the game on Sunday and I'm sure Alan will be taking the game. He'll be taking training on Saturday."

Millen has been in charge of Palace since the sacking of Warnock a week ago.

because he is such a leader of our group, such a figurehead, and has been for many years," added Henderson. "We just have to try and deal with it the best we can."

Former Reds striker John Aldridge, who scored 63 goals in 104 games for the club, says Liverpool will not be able to find a direct replacement.

"It's a day I have been dreading for a long time," Aldridge told BBC Sport. "He will be hanging up his boots for someone so inspirational leave - they should be offering him a contract for life. He should be the manager in three or four years' time."

Gerard Houllier managed Gerrard at Liverpool from 1998 to 2004 and made the midfielder captain at the age of 22.

The 67-year-old Frenchman believes Gerrard has the qualities to return to Anfield as manager.

Houllier said: "Whether he will come back to Liverpool, only the future will tell. After a break, maybe he will go through training and take his badge to become manager."

"He's got all the ingredients about him to start a career. He was always thinking about the team. He's a star player because he's a team star player. He thinks about the team, the club and the development of others."

Houllier is head of global soccer at the New York Red Bulls and predicted Gerrard would be "extremely successful" if he moved to the US.

Houllier said: "Put it this way, MLS are very lucky to get him."

BLUES GET A KANEING!

■ Kane scores twice as five-star Spurs leave Mourinho fuming

TOTTENHAM produced a stunning performance to beat Chelsea 5-3 on New Year's Day, allowing Manchester City to start the New Year dead level with Jose Mourinho's men.

White Hart Lane has long been known as 'three points lane' among Chelsea fans, and normal service looked like being resumed when Diego Costa's tap in put the visitors ahead early.

But then Kane's 20-yard drive leveled matters and then Danny Rose followed up a rebound to give the hosts a shock lead.

Moments later Kane was tripped by Gary Cahill for an Andros Townsend penalty, leaving Spurs with an unlikely two goal cushion at the break.

Kane's turn and shot gave Spurs a fourth after the restart. Eden Hazard's low shot gave Chelsea hope, but Nacer Chadli's deflected effort meant John Terry's late close-range goal was only a consolation.

The Terry goal does, however, mean Chelsea are equal with Manchester City in terms of points, goal difference and goals scored, so the pair are officially classed as joint top of the table.

If that situation remains at the end of the season, they would play-off for the title.

Meanwhile, Spurs go fifth after extending their unbeaten run to six games and becoming only the second team to score five goals past a side managed by Mourinho.

Spurs made the better start but fell behind when Hazard's mazy run ended in a shot against a post, with Oscar firing the loose ball back towards Costa, who had the simple task of turning it in.

From there, Chelsea looked set to dominate - Cesc Fabregas provided the service for Costa to run into the channels with support arriving from Hazard and Oscar - and they could have been given a penalty when Jan Vertonghen handled as he fell in the box. Referee Phil Dowd waved play on - a decision Mourinho would later claim had been key in determining the result.

Kane, with the help of the excellent Chadli, first reversed the momentum then pulled Spurs out of sight in the space of 22 minutes either side of half-time.

Out of nothing, the 21-year-old cut in from the left, evaded three challenges and fired past Courtois low from outside the penalty area.

Then, when Cesar Azpilicueta was dispossessed on the Gerrard: Liverpool players 'shocked' at news of exit

Liverpool captain Steven Gerrard's decision to quit the club at the end of the season was "a big shock", according to Reds midfielder Jordan Henderson.

Gerrard, 34, has been at Liverpool for 25 years, but will leave on a free transfer when his contract expires.

"We've seen stuff in the newspapers on whether he will renew his contract but everyone thought it would be done," Henderson, 24, told reporters.

"But it was a big shock to see that he will be leaving. No one had a clue."

Midfielder Gerrard has scored 180 goals in 695 games for the Reds and helped them win the Champions League, the Uefa Cup, two FA Cups, three League Cups, one Community Shield and two Uefa Super Cups.

However, he has not started all of his side's matches this season, notably the vital Champions League tie away at Real Madrid in November.

Gerrard, who won 114 caps with England, says he will not sign for another Premier League side, but has been linked with a move to Major League Soccer in the US - with the LA Galaxy and New York Red Bulls considered the most likely clubs to sign him.

Henderson said Liverpool will miss Gerrard's strengths on and off the field.

"It will be difficult
