I'm innocent, insists Andy

The Duke of York has denied claims by a US woman that she was forced to have sex with him when she was 17 and says he wants to focus on his work.

In his first public appearance since the claims were made, Prince Andrew said he wanted to "reiterate" the denials issued by Buckingham Palace.

He was speaking at a World Economic Forum reception in Davos, Switzerland on Thursday.

Buckingham Palace has previously said the claims against Prince Andrew are "categorically untrue" and lack "any foundation".

Prince Andrew said: "Firstly I think I must, and want, for the record, to refer to events that have taken place in the last few weeks.

"I just wish to reiterate and to reaffirm the statements that have already been made on my behalf by Buckingham Palace.

"My focus is on my work and this evening's reception allows me to tell you about just a couple of the initiatives that I have founded and am passionate about."

The Prince then went on to discuss economic initiatives with the audience.

But the denial is unlikely to dampen speculation over the affair, as the woman's lawyer's ratcheted up the pressure on the Prince. A letter addressed to Andrew at Buckingham Palace asking him to take part in a two-hour interview was filed on Wednesday in a Florida court by lawyers acting on behalf of Virginia Roberts.

'Prompt reply'

Ms Roberts – who is referred to in court as Jane Doe No 3 – claims she was forced to have sex with the Duke of York when she was 17 by his financier friend Jeffrey Epstein, a convicted sex offender.

It said: "This letter is a formal request ... to interview you, under oath, regarding interactions that you had with Jane Doe No 3 beginning in approximately early 2001. Jane Doe No 3 was then 17 years old."

It goes on to say: "The interview could be conducted at a time and place of your choosing, and with your co-operation, I believe the interview could be completed in two hours or less."

Prince Andrew is also asked "the favour of a prompt reply by no later than January 19".

It was part of a legal submission containing new details about Ms Roberts' alleged encounters with the Prince.

In a sworn affidavit, Ms Roberts, who is now 31, said: "I have seen Buckingham Palace's recent 'emphatic' denial

FIRM DENIAL: Buckingham Palace has strenuously denied any suggestion of impropriety with underage minors by Prince Andrew that Prince Andrew had sexual contact with me.

"That denial is false and hurtful to me. I did have sexual contact with him as I have described here – under oath.

'without foundation'

"Given what he knows and has seen, I was hoping that he would simply voluntarily tell the truth about everything.

"I hope my attorneys can interview Prince Andrew under oath about the contacts and that he will tell the truth."

Federal prosecutors in the US said on Tuesday that Ms Roberts and another woman claiming to be a victim of Epstein, known as Jane Doe No 4, should not be allowed to join a lawsuit seeking to reopen a plea agreement he reached in 2008.

Epstein pleaded guilty to state under-age sex and prostitution solicitation charges but escaped federal prosecution.

But prosecutors say that Ms Roberts and the other woman who sought late last year to take part in the case already brought by two other women should be barred by time limitations.

After Ms Roberts' papers were filed in Florida on Wednesday, a spokeswoman said Buckingham Palace had nothing to add to its previous comments.

The Palace has stated the claims are "false and without foundation".

Tory heavyweight Leon Brittan dies at 75

■ “dedicated and fiercely intelligent public servant” was mainstay of Thatcher’s cabinet

Former Home Secretary Leon Brittan has died aged 75 after a long battle with cancer, his family announced this week.

The former Conservative MP was a key figure in Margaret Thatcher’s government in the 1980s and later became a European Commissioner.

Prime Minister David Cameron said he had been a “dedicated and fiercely intelligent public servant”.

Lord Brittan recently faced questions over his handling of child abuse allegations during his time in office.

The controversy

centred on a dossier on alleged high-profile paedophiles handed to the then home secretary by former Conservative MP Geoffrey Dickens. Lord Brittan insisted the proper procedures had been followed.

‘Meteoric rise’

First elected in 1974, Lord Brittan was home secretary in Margaret Thatcher’s government from 1983 to 1985. He later became trade and industry secretary, resigning in 1986 during the row over control of British helicopter manufacturer Westland, which became known as the Westland affair.

He quit when he was revealed as having authorised the leaking of a letter from the solicitor general criticising former Defence Secretary Michael Heseltine, who had also resigned a few weeks earlier.

‘brilliant man’

As an MP, Lord Brittan represented the constituencies of Cleveland and Whitby and Richmond in Yorkshire. He stood down from the Commons when he became a European commissioner in 1989.

Commons Leader William Hague, the current Richmond MP, said he had been a “kind, assiduous and brilliant man”, while former Chancellor Lord Lamont said he “would have risen to the top of whatever profession he had chosen”.

His family said he was a beloved husband, stepfather and step-grandfather.

They added: “We also salute his extraordinary commitment to British public life as a member of Parliament, minister, Andrew stepped down as the UK’s trade envoy in July 2011 following controversy over his friendship with hedge fund tycoon Epstein.

In the legal papers, Ms Roberts says she has instructed her lawyers to “pursue all reasonable and legitimate means” to have criminal charges brought against “powerful people” whom she claims Epstein made her have sex with.

Signed “under penalty of perjury”, the affidavit adds: “Since I filed my motion in this case, my credibility has been attacked.

“These powerful people seem to think that they don’t have to follow the same rules as everyone else. That is wrong.”

Stars lead tributes to Anne Kirkbride, Corrie's beloved Deirdre Barlow

■ Actor Bill Roache, (aka Ken Barlow): "It's going to be bleak without Anne"

The cast of Coronation Street have led tributes to actress Anne Kirkbride, who played one of the soap's best-loved characters Deirdre Barlow for 42 years.

William Roache, who played on-off husband Ken Barlow, said she was "a loving and vibrant person" who would be "greatly missed".

Former Street star Johnny Briggs, who played Deirdre's one-time lover Mike Baldwin, called her "a lovely girl".

ITV said Kirkbride, 60, died peacefully following a short illness.

Julie Goodyear, who played the Street's former pub landlady Bet Lynch, also paid tribute, calling her "one of the nicest and most professional actors I ever worked with".

"She had a wonderful gift of a completely photographic memory," the actress recalled. "She could read an entire script just once and be word perfect."

'Impeccable performer'

Kate Ford, who played daughter Tracy, tweeted: "Heartbroken at the loss of my friend and beautiful on screen mummy."

She said Kirkbride was "the most crazy, funny 100 per cent human. My life was enriched by her."

Coronation Street cast members were sent home on Tuesday as filming was suspended.

Roache, whose character Ken was married to Deirdre twice, said Coronation Street had lost one of its "iconic characters".

"I feel Anne's loss so personally having worked closely with her for over 40 years. You always knew she was there because her laugh was never far away.

"She was an impeccable performer with superb comedy timing and an immense gift for really heightened drama," he went on.

"We had some rows over the years as Ken and Deirdre and it was wonderful to play those scenes opposite her."

'deeply saddened'

TV revealed on Monday evening with "great sadness" that Kirkbride's husband David Beckett had confirmed the actress died peacefully in a Manchester hospital.

The broadcaster said the programme's cast and crew were all "deeply saddened" by the news.

In the 1980s, one of the soap's most famous storylines hinged on whether she would stay with Ken Barlow. She was married four times in the programme, twice to Ken.

'Free Deirdre'

The popularity of her character was demonstrated when a real-life campaign was launched to "free Deirdre" when a storyline saw the character jailed in 1998.

The campaign - the result of her character being duped into a mortgage fraud by fiancé Jon Lindsay - was even backed by Prime Minister Tony Blair.

"I remember being astonished that the prime minister had time to think about things like that," said Coronation Street scriptwriter John Stevenson, who first met Kirkbride when she was 10.

"She loved it. She

"You forget how much people get involved in the stories,"

Actor Nigel Havers remembers kissing Kirkbride when he played Lewis Archer in the soap. "It was like kissing an old friend," he said. "It was great to do Coronation Street with her.

"When you're in a show like Coronation Street, you're in everyone's sitting room four times a week. When they suddenly die, it's like losing a friend, for everybody.

"She was a totally lovely person, she really was. The whole thing is really sad."

"There are no words to describe the sense of grief we feel at Anne's passing," said Kieran Roberts earlier.

New nightmare for Gordon as he loses High Court battle as he loses High Court battle

■ Ramsay on the hook for £640k annual rent

Celebrity chef Gordon Ramsay has lost a High Court battle over being held personally liable for the rent on a London pub he bought.

The pub deal took place when his father-in-law Christopher Hutcheson was working with him to build his restaurant empire.

The chef said his signature had been forged on a document which made him the personal guarantor for the pub's rent.

He had accused Mr Hutcheson of using a ghost writer machine to do this.

The machines are frequently used by authors to sign books and photographs automatically.

Mr Ramsay said the document made him liable for £640,000 annually for the York & Albany pub near Regent's Park, north London.

However, Mr Justice Morgan dismissed as "entirely implausible" Mr Ramsay's claim he did not know the full extent of the use of the ghost machine.

'Performing monkey'

The judge said: "Accordingly, I find that Mr Ramsay knew, long before the entry into the agreement for lease and the lease of the premises, that the machine was routinely used to place his signature on legal documents.

"I do not accept his evidence to the contrary."

He refused to grant a declaration that the rental guarantee was not

Page 3 not dead - The Sun

The Sun has printed a topless model on Page 3, ending days of speculation that the feature was dead.

The newspaper has tweeted out a picture of Thursday's Page 3 which features a blonde-haired model, under the headline 'clarifications and corrections', winking and baring her breasts.

A notice underneath the picture reads: "Further to recent reports in all other media outlets, we would like to clarify that this is Page 3 and this is a picture of Nicole, 22, from Bournemouth.

'writing about us'

"We would like to apologise on behalf of the print and broadcast journalists who have spent the last two days talking and writing about us."

The campaign group No More Page 3, which began in 2012 and attracted 217,000 signatures to a petition calling for a ban, acknowledged that "the fight might be back on".

Over the past three days, there have been no topless models on Page 3, fuelling speculation the feature was on its way out. This appeared to be confirmed by a report in The Times on Tuesday. Both papers are owned by Rupert Murdoch's News International.

Growing criticism

Topless models were first introduced by the Sun in 1970, less than a year after Murdoch bought the title.

In recent years, the paper has faced growing criticism from campaigners who said the feature was out of binding because Mr Ramsay's signature "was not lawfully authorised" when the 25 year lease was signed in 2007.

"I find that when Mr Hutcheson committed Mr Ramsay to the guarantee in the lease of the premises, Mr Hutcheson was acting within the wide general authority conferred on him by Mr Ramsay at all times until Mr Hutcheson's dismissal in October 2010," the judge added.

Mr Ramsay, the star of several food programmes including Ramsay's Kitchen Nightmares, had told the judge he felt "like a performing monkey" while building his multimillion-pound culinary empire, with Mr Hutcheson managing his business.

His wife, Tana, said what had happened had been "extremely distressing". The couple married in 1996 and have four children.

Mr Hutcheson acted as business manager for the Ramsay group of companies until he was sacked in 2010.

- Quaint £38-a-night Yorkshire guesthouse beats competition from across the globe to win TripAdvisor award
- UK is home to more of the world's best-rated properties than any other country, according to popular website

A quaint bed and breakfast in Yorkshire and a £74-a-night hotel in North Wales have been named as the best holiday guesthouses in the world after receiving top ratings from TripAdvisor travellers.

Millgate Bed and Breakfast in Masham, North Yorkshire, and Lawton Court Hotel in Llandudno, North Wales, fought off competition from around the globe to come out on top in the 2015 Travellers' Choice awards.

The awards were based on millions of reviews left over the past year by holidaymakers on travel website TripAdvisor and took into account quality, service, staff, food and location.

The idyllic grade II listed Millgate B&B in North Yorkshire, where rooms start at just £38 per person per night, scooped top place in the World's Top 10 B&Bs category.

It has received more than 350 excellent reviews on TripAdvisor, with one reviewer describing it as the 'best B&B we have ever been to'.

The lowest rating the B&B received was by a sole traveller who described it as 'average', three said it was 'very good', while no one rated it as 'poor' or 'terrible'. The other 355 reviewers all rated the guesthouse as 'excellent'.

'wonderful owners'

Sue Burrell, who owns Millgate B&B with her husband Andrew, said: 'We're thrilled to be named the number one B&B in the world.'

'The fact that this award stems from our guests' feedback makes it even more special, because the reviews we've received on TripAdvisor have really helped our business thrive.'

A recent TripAdvisor traveller review about the guesthouse said: 'Wonderful owners who couldn't help us enough, fresh scones on arrival, beautifully decorated, the breakfast was delicious (especially the specials!), perfect location, wonderful experience!!'

'We will definitely be going back again in the future.'

Guests staying in the B&B's three bedrooms have praised the warm welcome extended to them by the Burrells, and special touches such as the chocolates on the pillows, flowers in the bedrooms 'outstanding' cooked breakfasts and freshly-baked scones.

Visitors also enjoy fresh milk in their rooms, flat screen televisions and free internet access, as well as the B&B's picturesque location in the centre of the historic market town.

The UK is also home to the second best B&B in the world - Shola Coach House in Portrush, County Antrim, Northern Ireland - and boasts a total of ten of the world's 25 best accommodation finds - more than any other destinations.

All of the 187 visitors to Shola Coach House, which is just a short drive from the Giant's Causeway and the Royal Portrush Golf Club, who reviewed the B&B on TripAdvisor gave it an 'excellent' rating, and hailed the traditional Irish breakfasts, comfortable rooms and being welcomed in by owners Sharon and David Schindler with tea and cake.

'icing on the cake'

Elsewhere, Lawton Court Hotel in North Wales bagged first place in the World's Top 10 Bargain Hotels category, with reviews praising everything from the owners and the staff to the food and its seafront location views.

It also received second place in the World's Top 10 Small Hotels category and came fourth in the world for service.

The hotel, which provides rooms from £74 per person per night, was opened last year and is run by Scott and Hannah Lawton-Jones.

'What a great end to an already fantastic first year as owners of Lawton Court Hotel,' the couple said.

'To be recognised by TripAdvisor as a 2015 Travellers' Choice Hotels award-winner across three different categories really is the icing on the cake.

'We'd like to take this opportunity to thank all of our guests from the past year for helping us to win this award. It's the valuable reviews from them that help drive the business.'

The Haymarket Hotel in London was ranked as the UK's best hotel, while Gili Lankanfushi Maldives, on the North Male Atoll of the Maldives, took the title of the World's Top Hotel for 2015.

“Fox of Folkestone’ jailed for two years

■ Young conman modelled himself on Leonardo DiCaprio character
 ■ Social media image helped him bilk investors of £80,000

A conman who posted photos on Facebook of him enjoying the high life - drinking champagne and posing with wads of cash and a Rolex watch - has been jailed for two years.

Daniel Burgoyne posed as a “man with a Midas touch”, claiming he could make a fortune for clients by trading in diamonds, wine and carbon credits, tradeable certificates in rights to emit carbon dioxide.

The 24-year-old compared himself to Jordan Belfort, the character played by Leonardo DiCaprio in The Wolf of Wall Street, prompting one British tabloid to dub him “The Fox of Folkestone”.

He posted photos of flash cars, casino chips, holidays, a Rolex watch, wads of cash and of himself smoking cigars while enjoying champagne.

Burgoyne claimed to operate from an office in central London to lure clients into his scheme, but in reality lived with his mother in Folkestone, Kent, and was a former trainee butcher.

Canterbury Crown Court heard on Tuesday how Burgoyne conned 18 friends and clients out of £80,000, including one victim who lost £33,000.

Burgoyne told his “clients” that he could make handsome profits through his firms Elite Broker Company and Elite Commodity Markets.

The court heard how Burgoyne had been “living the high life”, going on foreign holidays, splashing out on flash watches and cars - as well as enjoying a champagne lifestyle.

Prosecutor Jim Harvey told how his victims were conned into thinking they were investing in wine or in diamonds or the carbon credit market, but that Burgoyne paid himself nearly £60,000, while investing just £10,000.

Anthony Abell, defending, told the court: “He never went to university but has one NVQ (National Vocational Qualification) in business studies and he has been living with his mother as a lodger.

“As a teenager he began working at a butchers and intended to make his way in that trade.

“He was a rather ambitious young man who was dazzled by all the glamour he saw around him. But he is genuinely sorry for all his lies which he made to close deals”, the Kent

Messenger reported

Judge Simon James, in jailing Burgoyne for two years after he was found guilty of 18 fraud charges, pointed to photos on Burgoyne’s Facebook page showing him “enjoying a champagne lifestyle”.

He told him: “Clearly this was indicative of him having spent considerable amounts on a lavish lifestyle.

“This was a sophisticated deception in which just £10,000 of the £80,000 you received was actually invested... and even then not in anything which would produce proper returns for the investors.”

Party invoice: Boy sent bill for birthday no-show

■ Parents stunned to receive £15.95 bill after their son missed a classmate’s big day

A five-year-old has been billed for failing to attend a friend’s birthday party and his parents threatened with legal action if they don’t pay.

Alex Nash, from Cornwall, was invited to the party at Plymouth Ski and Snowboard Centre just before Christmas and said he would be coming.

But his parents, Tanya and Derek Nash, noticed that Alex was scheduled to visit his grandparents the same day - and claimed they had no way to reach the birthday boy’s parents to let them know they couldn’t make it.

So they were stunned a few days later, when Alex came home from school with an invoice in his book bag for the £15.95 ski slope ticket, sent by his schoolfriend’s mother Julie Lawrence, who said Alex’s non-attendance left her out of pocket and his parents had her details to tell her he was not going.

Alex’s father Derek said he had been told he would be taken to the small claims court for refusing to pay.

Mr Nash said: “It was a proper invoice with full official details and even her bank details on it.

“I can understand that she’s upset about losing money. The money isn’t the issue, it’s the way she went about trying to get the money from me.

“She didn’t treat me like a human being, she treated me like a child and that I should do what she says.”

In a short statement, Ms Lawrence said: “All details were on the party invite. They had every detail needed to contact me.”

‘not the first time’

Mr Nash said he had been told he was being taken to the small claims court because he was refusing to pay.

As is so often the case with these kind of

GOBSMACKED: Derek Nash with his son Alex, 5, and the invoice disputes, the combatants quickly took to social media to promote their cases, with an increasingly hostile conversation developing between the two boys’ mothers.

Ms. Lawrence told Tanya Nash: “I confirmed that with all parents on the Thursday before the party that they were going as I had to pay that day, and Derek told me Alex was looking forward to it and would see us there, to me that is confirmation.

“My phone number was on the invitation that was sent out to Alex...”

“This is not the first time Alex has not turned up to a party that he has been invited to, either. The amicable way round this I believe would be to pay me the money and let a lesson be learnt, I hope this is agreeable?”

Tanya was not pleased with the response, explaining that she wasn’t aware of another party he hadn’t turned up to. She added that the school wasn’t happy that the envelope had been placed in her son’s bag.

Tanya then explained that taking the matter to a small claims court would cost £60 just to start a claim, adding that she wasn’t prepared to pay ‘for something we didn’t use’.

She wrote: “I don’t know why you are out for our blood and slandering us....”

“Maybe if you actually spoke to me rather than making your own mind up about what happened then none of this would be happening right now.”

date in the modern world.

After reports the paper had decided to quietly drop the feature, Education Secretary Nicky Morgan and Liberal Democrat women's and equalities minister Jo Swinson were among those to express their delight at the apparent change.

Rather than bare breasts, it was thought that the pictures would now show scantily-clad women wearing bras and pants.

'wild speculation'

In Monday's issue of The Sun, the model Rosie Huntington-Whiteley was shown wearing Marks & Spencer underwear.

Tuesday's first edition had a photograph of two bikini-wearing actresses running on a beach, which was later replaced by four pages on Anne Kirkbride, the Coronation Street actress who had died the previous evening.

Pages 2 and 3 of Wednesday's paper were taken up by a Sainsbury's advert, but Page 5 ran a comparison of cosmetic surgery undertaken by two Celebrity Big Brother contestants, featuring Katie Price and Alicia Douvall wearing garments which left little to the imagination.

The Sun's head of public relations Dylan Sharpe had refused to confirm that topless Page 3 models were being axed, saying it "is all just speculation, it is all wild speculation".

Former Page 3 pin-up turned bodybuilder Jodie Marsh, 36 said on Wednesday night said she was "happy" that the feature had seemingly been reinstated.

Gary Glitter trial: Girl 'given champagne before assault'

Singer Gary Glitter gave a 12-year-old girl champagne after a concert before inviting her to a hotel and having sex with her, a jury has heard.

The alleged victim told Southwark Crown Court the assault happened in Leicester in 1977 after one of his performances.

The woman, now aged 50, claims a similar incident took place in Birmingham when she was 13 years old.

The 70-year-old former glam rock star - whose real name is Paul Gadd - denies 10 charges relating to three girls.

The woman told the court she went to the concert with her mother, who was a bigger fan of the star than her. They were both invited to Mr Gadd's dressing room and he suggested they return the following evening.

Describing the next day's events, the woman told the court: "We had gold jackets and he signed his autograph on the jackets.

"I had a few glasses of champagne.... he said to my mum it was quite busy but if we wanted to go back to the hotel with him, we could chat more."

At his hotel suite, her mother appeared to be getting drunk and was persuaded to leave her alone with the singer, she added.

'Hair phobia'

She said after her mother left with a man, Mr Gadd picked up a bottle of champagne and led her to a bedroom.

Jurors were told he tried to kiss the girl, prompting her to lift her hands to his head to push him away.

She said the singer became angry, saying "he has got a phobia about people touching his hair".

The woman alleged Mr Gadd told her to undress, before pushing her on to the bed.

"My mum is gone, I don't know what she wants me to do," she told the jury.

financial difficulties

"She really loved this guy, so I am thinking I can't upset her. I was trying to be really grown up because I had been drinking and I had been smoking."

Her mother came to collect her the next morning, she said.

She told the court: "She stepped out of the room again and he [Mr Gadd] grabbed my hand, bought me over to him, gave me a kiss. Then he said 'You are a really clever girl, you got dressed before your mum came in.'"

The jury heard the woman did not report the matter to police until 2013, a year after her mother's death.

"I couldn't talk about it with my mum, and I knew deep down she knew - over the years, I know she did," she said.

In cross examination, the woman agreed she had financial difficulties but denied inventing the accusations to gain compensation.

Public image

Defence barrister Sallie Bennett-Jenkins QC also challenged photographs the woman had produced to the court showing her and her mother with Mr Gadd

Ms Bennett-Jenkins suggested the pictures must have been taken before the singer performed.

She said Mr Gadd did not use showers backstage "because, at that time, it was not known that he had lost his hair - he was pretty bald. And to have disclosed that would be to damage his public image."

She added: "After the show, hot and sweaty, he would always get out of the club quickly, to go and repair the wigs that he wore."

He is also accused of two counts of indecent assault of a 13-year-old fan. She is said to have been assaulted in his dressing room after a concert in Watford between 1979 and 1980.

The case continues.

Meet A Member: Erika Bokamper

Meet Erika from Vancouver, British Columbia who moved to LA 12 years ago to pursue opportunities in clinical skin care.

How did you hear about Brits in LA?

I've had the pleasure of knowing Craig and Eileen for many years!

What one thing do you miss from home?

The simple day to day with friends and family....and Rodney's Oyster House in Gas Town.

What do you find the biggest difference is living here versus Vancouver?

I would have to say priorities and opportunities.

Do you have a hidden gem in LA that you want to share with us?

Every day I help people achieve their very best skin, a big part of that is diet, supplementation and self-care. I love Santa Monica Homeopathic Pharmacy - they are full of great, free information. I point my clients in their direction if I feel they have a condition that can be balanced between clinical skin care and integrated home care.

What does community mean to you?

Community is something special and diverse. Something we all create together- I am excited to be a part of this one!

What would you suggest to others who are thinking about making the move here?

A) Do it! Follow your dream!

B) Get a hybrid, you'll save a lot on gas! 12 years later I am still really shocked at how crazy our LA traffic is .

Lastly , how can we find out more about you?

I am a resident skin therapist at Francesca Paige Skin. If you are interested, you can find out more about our customized approach to skin care by emailing me directly at erika@francescapaige.com

Not for the faint hearted: Clown Bar brings the dark to Pasadena

It's January 2015, the year is but a foetus, and what better way to start the year then with a show that will shake you out of your post-holiday-turkey-scoffing-wine-indulging daze, and make you sit up and say 'WTF??'

Folks, if you've not seen a cabaret before, this is the perfect show with which to loose your cabaret cherry, and boy will it go with a B - A - N - G . redwhite+blue Art Productions is bringing to The Pasadena Playhouse venue Adam Szymkowicz's off-Broadway hit, Clown Bar, an anarchic show featuring a cast of hyper 'colorful' clowns. This show would not be out of place in a venue during the Weimar era - it's dark, it's lascivious, and not for the fainted hearted. I wouldn't recommend bringing your church-going mother.

broken souls

disconcerting though delightful to watch. Apart from the bubbly nympho Angelina clown, Petunia (Erin Holt), the rest wouldn't be out of place in One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest. Underneath the beautifully colored costumes and artful makeup lie demons and broken souls, who have perfected the art of gallows humour and intimidation.

At 8pm you are invited into the restaurant and seated for a three-course dinner, with choice of entrée (beef, fish or vegetarian risotto) and the first half of the evenings entertainment, a musical cornucopia of songs that will have you choking on your salad and short rib before your plate is clean. The Master of Ceremonies for the evening is a vocally gifted sad sack clown called Dusty (Amir Levi), who greets the audience, or "beige people" as we non-clowns are known, with very dark stand-up (his suggestions for population control are so close to the bone they made the audience wince), and singing "You're Not Welcome" to make us feel right at home.

deliciously psychotic

Accompanied at the piano by Keys (Richard Levinson), Dusty, with Shotgun McGhee (Esteban Andres Cruz), Giggles (Chairman Barnes), Blinky (Emily Goss), Twinkles (Rafael Goldstein), and Petunia (Erin Holt) entertain us with songs that are hilarious, very blue and full of black humor. There is even a show-stopping musical advert break for a sofa retail store, sung by Richard Levinson, who is also the shows Musical Director, a deliciously psychotic balloon blowing mime Popo (Mandi Moss), and burlesque striptease a la Blinky.

Once dinner is dispatched, and after a short intermission, you are transported into the seedy world of Clown Bar, the after hours dive where clowns go to wipe the smile off their faces with a drink or several. Like the noir novels of Raymond Chandler, this bar is full of gangsters and dames, except this crowd are wearing face paint, romper suits and big shoes. Our hero, ex-clown turned tough-as-nails cop, Happy Mahoney (Shawn Parsons) has come to Clown Bar to find out who killed his brother, Timmy (Joe Fria), a pierrot clown who just couldn't escape his destiny for tragedy, and too sensitive for the comedy circuit turned to chemistry to get his funny fix. Happy is looking for answers from the boss, Bobo the Clown (Bruno Oliver).

Happy also must face the greater challenge of seeing his ex-girl girl Blinky, the femme fatale who broke his heart with a bump and a grind.

Director Jaime Robledo and the cast have been imaginative in bringing this world to life in their use of physical comedy, visual gags, tricks, song and dance numbers, props and staging. The dialogue is wise cracking and fast, and the cast really pull out all the stops. The performances are all top-notch and you can see the cast is having

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: If life at work is not all it could be look at the positive side of things. As we move into the end of the month the planet of luck Jupiter will open new doors which you will enjoy opening. This week Mars your boss is in watery Pisces, so emotions could be somewhat tempestuous.

TAURUS: Your emotions are probably in a mess in regards to some area of life. It is more than likely a past situation that has brought things up and this will be resolved for your highest good come February.

GEMINI: Take time out (maybe with a trusted friend) and figure out what direction you need to follow. Some of your life is in order but the big picture needs to be straightened out. Your boss Mercury is moving backwards the next three weeks and will rake up the past.

CANCER: Just when you thought all was in order the past can up and bite you when you least expect and more importantly by someone you least expected to bite. With this in mind make sure you don't burn any bridges you may need in the future.

LEO: You may be involved in a family drama that has you tearing around in anger or hurt. Stop! Look at what the problems are causing you to feel health wise and then decide if it is worth carrying forwards.

VIRGO: Because everything in life is a lesson you may need to recognize the teacher who can guide you through this period. Look at some one who has stood firm themselves in difficult situations and you won't go far wrong.

LIBRA: Your lovely boss Venus is moving in a sentimental area for you. So if you feel a little nostalgic do not assume that what is happening is set in stone. The fact is that you probably are wishing for an outcome which may not be for your overall best.

SCORPIO: A person of interest to you romantically could come forward - possibly from the past. This should not stop you pursuing an important career situation which is pending and ready for lift off. The fact is they will be there for you regardless if they really care for you.

SAGITTARIUS: Just watch that temper if things don't always go the way you planned this month ahead. You need to remember this while your boss Jupiter is currently resting in Leo. You will find a lot of areas will be up for transformation in your life as Saturn has arrives now for a two year visit.

CAPRICORN: Listening to your inner voice is the clue to your next move...whatever area this may be. Remember this as your best indicator of stop and go. Oh and the yellow lights in between are to remind you to be patient as Pluto in your life will bring it all to fruition in time.

AQUARIUS: You will always get back what you put out and just be careful you don't say too much to another that can set you back a mile or two. Keep your thoughts or judgments to yourself and you will see that nothing is as bad as it could be!

PISCES: Mars sitting in your life for only a couple of weeks will make you very lucky, so go out and buy that special high-end item for yourself or go for the new job or relationship. Life is acting for your best and highest good this week.

heaps of fun. Some clowns may die violently but they don't go quickly, they don't go quietly, and always with a gag. Let me put it this way, if Roger Rabbit and cast of Goodfellas had a lovechild, this show would be it.

Hats off to the costume designer Linda Muggeridge, actress and professional clown, Mandi Moss, for the fantastic costume and makeup design. The production team has succeeded in utilizing an awkward space to good effect, although the seating does make it hard for some to watch the cabaret while they eat.

Playing Thursdays for the month of January at red white + blue z z @Pasadena Playhouse, Clown Bar will start 2015 for you with a good dose of alternative fun.

SOPHIE, Countess of Wessex, celebrated her 50th birthday this week with the release of a special portrait (right).

The former Sophie Rhys-Jones celebrated her birthday quietly on Tuesday night with her husband, Prince Edward, but continued her official engagements in London, meeting staff and supporters from Tomorrow's People, a national employment charity that has Sophie as its patron and which works in local communities to help disadvantaged adults and young people get and keep a job.

The couple also visited the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine to see demonstrations of the Avoidable Blindness Programme supported by Gordon Ramsay Gets (a little) sensitive on 'MasterChef Junior'!

Gordon Ramsay is usually seen on shows like "Hells Kitchen" and "Kitchen Nightmares" hurling expletives and ranting in a rage, but on "MasterChef Junior," the fiery cook extraordinaire finds himself being just a big old softie.

On the Fox cooking show, Ramsay tones down his temper to work with young cooks that range in age from 8 to 13.

He said his experience as a father has shaped how he relates to the contestants.

"It's easier being a dad, and also having three girls. I think sometimes I am a little more sensitive," Ramsay admitted to FOX411.

"It's about helping them through those doldrums, those little areas where they feel like it's not going well for them."

On the series, the tiny chefs take center stage and create enviable cooking concoctions, but their creations aren't flawless. When they make a mistake and get upset, it tugs at Ramsay's heartstrings.

"For me, it's hard to watch them get upset about [their culinary] mistakes," he said. "I didn't start cooking until I was 19... Eight, nine, 10 years of age, even by the time [the contestants] get to 18 they would have been cooking for 10 years. I need to help them realize their potential."

Still, Ramsay is OK with the fact that the kids on "MasterChef Junior" often end up in tears.

"I think crying is important. Not crying, not showing that emotion, bottling it up could lead to more dangerous things," Ramsay told the crowd at TCA Winter Press Tour last Saturday.

He said the show purposely doesn't focus on the kids after their elimination.

"We're not interested in showing the reaction when they see their parents and they are even more upset," he insisted, but he added, "I think crying is healthy."

Ramsay said the kids learn important life skills on the show that benefit them in the long run.

"I think English and math are pivotal but I think cooking is equally important because... three times a day you need to eat," the notoriously tough judge said.

"MasterChef Junior" airs Tuesdays on Fox.

Straight outta Belfast: Everyone's talking about Jamie Dornan!

Jamie Dornan can act! Seriously folks...he can! I have just discovered that the good-looking actor and model from Belfast is so much more than a pretty face.

After binging on the Netflix original drama series "The Fall" starring Gillian Anderson and the very lovely Mr. Dornan I became gripped by its intensity, I couldn't stop watching it.

Not just because Jamie has drop dead gorgeous looks, but because he is real actor, and I never knew it... The boy in all those sexy Calvin Klein underwear shots actually pulled it off!

Now every casting director in Hollywood is banging on this bloke's door... Or kicking it down, just to get to him!

The Northern Irish star made his feature debut in Sofia Coppola's Marie Antoinette, and played Sheriff Graham/The Huntsman in ABC's Once Upon a Time. However, unlike his roles as Christian Grey in Fifty Shades of Grey and a serial killer in The Fall, Dornan, in his new role he plays a heroic idealist and outlaw in Acorn TV's new miniseries, New Worlds.

Set in the turbulent aftermath of the English Civil War, King Charles II's tyrannical rule has led to a climate of violence and fear in England and the American colonies. Amid the chaos, four young, courageous idealists fall in love as they commit to forging a fairer future with blood, passion and urgency. But to achieve this, they must be prepared to pay the ultimate price.

New Worlds was created and written by Peter

Flannery and Martine Brandt ("The Devils Whore") and co-produced by Company Pictures and Power.

As for Dornan, I reckon he is going be around for a very long time indeed. I wasn't, but now I am actually looking forward to seeing "Fifty Shades of Grey"

... Bring it on!

Living in the moment; honoring the departed

Greetings Breeps!

It has been quite a busy start to the year for me. Currently filming on TNT's "The Last Ship" with fellow Brits in LA member Mark 'Rhino' Smith (that's us, below) and an indie film called "Kiss Me, Kill Me." It's true what they say, when it rains it pours. I feel very fortunate to be doing what I love and savor every moment and don't take any of it for granted...

On a darker note I was very saddened to hear the news that one of our members lost his life last week. Darren Shahlavi was a British action star on the brink of stardom and poised to star in the remake of 'Kickboxer'. Originally from Stockport, Darren was best known for his role in Mortal Combat and was just 42. My heart goes out to his family at this time, especially his sister Liz who has been a regular at Brits in LA events through out the years.

For me, this was a sudden reminder that life can be short and what we have can be taken away from us all at any given moment.

This got me thinking about what a strange place LA can be at times. It really is a character that plays a role in all of our lives. It's very easy to get sucked up in all the glitz and glamour, the celebrity, the parties, the luxury. This town can take a hold of you like no other and through all of it's sunshine it can still get very dark. After 15 years here, I've definitely had those moments. Being here alone and away from your family can also take its toll. However over the years I've seen so many broken people, who have been romanced by LA only to go back home depleted with their tail between their legs. Now I'm not going to get all preachy, because everyone has their own journey, but I would say when moving to LA to remind yourself that it's a destination only, a place for you to create, a place for you to nest.

Our Condolences

RIP: Brits in LA member Darren Shahlavi passed away on January 14

Remember the reason you travelled so far as it's very easy to become distracted and forget what is most important to you.

Community is such an important thing for me and so grateful for you all being a part of it. Last week was a prime example of this... As most of you know we cancelled our 8th annual Toscars Award show due to conflicts and sponsorships, but thanks to Nadia Wit and other voices, we realized that it is still needed and a lot of people didn't care about the glitz and glamour, but just wanted to be creative and a keep a sense of community. It's the taking part that counts, right?

Well, yes in this instance. I'm so proud of Nadia for continuing the filmmaking aspect of it all with 'The Spirit of Toscars' taking it back to its grass roots. Teams were selected at random last Thursday at one of Brits in LA's favorite bar "The Churchill" and teams are now underway making their parody films. For some members this truly is the highlight of their year.

Watch out for all the parodies online after Feb 17th and see all the fun, love and joy these creative members had.

Well, I truly hope you guys have a great week and that life treats you kind and you take a moment to stop, breath and savor the moments....

Craig Young

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF TINA STEMPEL aka TAMARA STEMPEL aka TAMARA FINKELSTEIN

Case No. BP158930
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of TINA STEMPEL aka TAMARA STEMPEL aka TAMARA FINKELSTEIN
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Marc Finkelstein in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Marc Finkelstein be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Feb. 11, 2015 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 29 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.STOXPOSTING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 012267-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

Murray-Lendl split was 'a mistake', says Ivanisevic

Andy Murray made a mistake splitting from coach Ivan Lendl, former Wimbledon champion Goran Ivanisevic says.

The Briton is now coached by Amelie Mauresmo after ending his partnership with Lendl in March last year and is currently playing in the Australian Open.

"Last year was up and down for him, he changed the coaches. For me that's maybe his biggest mistake, letting Ivan go," Ivanisevic said.

"Because it was a perfect match. They did everything well together. They won two Grand Slams, he played the best tennis under Ivan, they were similar tennis players."

Murray, 27, won the US Open, Wimbledon and Olympic gold under

GOOD TEAM: Murray enjoyed the best spell of his career under the tutelage of Ivan Lendl

Lendl, but they went their separate ways after a little over two years together when the Czech-born American could not commit to enough weeks on tour. Murray began working with Mauresmo in June and picked up three ATP titles at the end of a season in which he returned from back surgery.

The Scot has not reached a Grand Slam final since beating Novak Djokovic at Wimbledon two years ago, although Murray is optimistic he is now back to his best.

Ivanisevic, who coaches US Open champion Marin Cilic, believes Murray will add to his two major titles.

"Andy is a great tennis player, a great competitor, he's going to be back and he's going to win more Grand Slams. If not this year, next year," said the Croat, who won Wimbledon in 2001.

Police probe Morgan blackmail plot

CRICKET: England one-day captain Eoin Morgan was the victim of a five-figure blackmail attempt after an alleged relationship with an Australian woman five years ago, cricket chiefs have revealed.

Police were contacted by the England and Wales Cricket Board, which says the matter has now been resolved.

The ECB will not seek further action "at this stage" against the Australian man involved, who has since apologised.

He had emailed the ECB, threatening to contact media in the UK and Australia.

"I am pleased this issue has now been brought to a swift conclusion," said ECB managing director Paul Downton.

The incident related to a brief relationship Morgan was said to have had with the Australian woman five years ago, the ECB said in a statement.

It added that the Australian man is the current partner of the woman, and had blamed "jealousy" when confronted by police.

Dublin-born Morgan, 28, was appointed England one-day captain after Alastair Cook was removed from his ODI position last month.

Morgan is currently in Australia with the England team, participating in a triangular series with Australia and India, a prelude to the World Cup in Australia and New Zealand starting on 14 February.

WENGER: Defensive display at Etihad answered the doubters

Arsenal boss Arsene Wenger says victory over Manchester City has answered doubts about their defence and ability to beat top clubs away from home.

Goals from Santi Cazorla and Olivier Giroud gave Arsenal a 2-0 win at City in contrast to last season's 6-3 loss.

"I am very pleased because our defence have been questioned a lot," Wenger, 65, said after the game.

"The target was to put it right, and to win a big game away in the league which we've not done this season."

The win lifted Arsenal to fifth in the table, a point off the Champions League places, but damaged Manchester City's title push and they now sit five points behind leaders Chelsea, who they meet at Stamford Bridge on 31 January.

Wenger praised a "great unity, solidarity, togetherness and compactness in our team", as Arsenal recorded a seventh clean sheet in 22 league outings this season.

Chelsea by comparison have shut out opponents 11 times but Wenger was pleased with his side's defensive display after calling his backline too soft following defeat at Stoke in December.

"People are very quick on their judgement and forget that we had many defenders out all season," added Wenger, who used Per Mertesacker and Laurent Koscielny at central defenders.

"As you saw the centre-backs are a good partnership and it takes time to get back to that level. To come out of a game like that without conceding a goal is important."

Arsenal had just 35% of the ball at the Etihad but inspired by the impressive Cazorla - who has now played every minute of the last 10 league games - punished City.

Cazorla, 30, created Giroud's goal after his penalty and completed 92% of his passes.

"Since Cazorla plays centrally, he is at a level of his career where he can have more influence," added Wenger.

"He is fantastic because he gets you out of pressure in tight situations. He shows you how important it is to be two-footed in the middle of the park. He passionately loves the game."

Manchester United are preparing Za late bid to sign Villarreal defender Gabriel Paulista, 24, who is already in talks with Arsenal.

Chelsea are working on a deal to sign 24-year-old Shakhtar Donetsk midfielder Douglas Costa.

West Brom boss Tony Pulis has confirmed his interest in signing 23-year-old Wigan winger Callum McManaman and Manchester United midfielder Darren Fletcher, 30.

QPR have been offered Corinthians' former AC Milan striker Alexandre Pato, 25.

Manchester United striker Javier Hernandez, 26, looks unlikely to turn his loan deal at Real Madrid into a permanent move and could return to Old Trafford in the summer.

Arsenal goalkeeper Wojciech Szczesny's position has been cast into further doubt after it emerged the club are monitoring Fiorentina goalkeeper Norberto Neto, 25.

Roma are trying to persuade Chelsea to accept just £380,000 to take 22-year-old winger Mohamed Salah on loan until the end of next season.

Hull City are tracking Tottenham and England winger Aaron Lennon, 27, who is set to leave White Hart Lane this month.

Rodgers: We can make final

■ Liverpool boss upbeat as semi final first leg ends with honors even

Liverpool boss Brendan Rodgers says his side can reach the Capital One Cup final after being held by Chelsea in the semi-final first leg at Anfield on Tuesday night.

Eden Hazard put Chelsea ahead from the penalty spot before Raheem Sterling equalised with superb solo effort.

"I felt the performance here was a good benchmark of how we are working right now," Rodgers said.

"This has reinforced my feeling that we can go to Stamford Bridge to give the performance to get the result we need."

The Reds are now unbeaten in nine games in all competitions since their 3-0 defeat away to Manchester United in mid-December.

Rodgers recently said Liverpool have "regained their identity" and he thinks that the way Chelsea will approach the second leg of this tie could benefit his side.

"You'd expect Chelsea to open up a little more in the second leg," Rodgers added.

"That will help us because of the pace and invention we have in the team.

"They have got a good record at home but we haven't conceded in our last three games away from home."

Rodgers felt Sterling's performance warranted specific praise and says the 20-year-old forward was refreshed after a week-long break in Jamaica to recharge his batteries.

Rodgers added: "The rest has done him the world of good. I thought he was outstanding in his movement. He's got a great ability to run in behind defenders but also to run at them into the box.

"His speed was frightening to get in and finish off his goal and he certainly deserved that for his performance."

Chelsea goalkeeper Thibaut Courtois, who Rodgers felt should have been punished for handling the ball outside the penalty area, impressed for the visitors.

And Chelsea manager Jose Mourinho now rates

RED HOT: Raheem Sterling was a constant threat for Liverpool on Tuesday night, scoring their equalizer the 22-year-old Belgium international in the top three keepers in the world.

"The Premier League is full of top goalkeepers but we have the best two in Thibaut and Petr Cech," Mourinho said.

"I think the three best goalkeepers in the world are Petr, Courtois and Manuel Neuer."

Townsend gives Spurs slight edge

Andros Townsend's penalty ensured Tottenham will go into the second leg of the Capital One Cup semi-final with an advantage over Sheffield United.

Spurs had been frustrated by the League One side before Jay McEveley's needless handball in the 74th minute gave them a spot-kick, which Townsend converted.

Emmanuel Adebayor shot over, Townsend fired wide and Eric Dier also had a header saved for Premier League Spurs. United created little and must win the second leg at Bramall Lane to advance.

Nigel Clough's side - seventh in the third tier of English football - had defeated West Ham and Southampton in earlier rounds of this season's competition but they never looked like beating Spurs.

However, the Blades had produced a resolute performance to restrict the hosts' opportunities and looked on course to head to the second leg at Bramall Lane on 28 January with a hard-earned goalless draw.

But their hopes were wrecked when defender McEveley, under pressure from substitute Roberto Soldado, raised his arms and handled in the area for a clear-cut penalty.

Tottenham have not won a trophy in the last six seasons and manager Mauricio Pochettino will be relieved with the victory, but annoyed by his side's lack of creativity.
