Pregnant Duchess visits new sailing center

Wrapped in white, a visibly pregnant Kate Middleton stepped out on Thursday to visit the Portsmouth-based headquarters of Ben Ainslie Racing and the 1851 Trust, which aims to get young people involved in sailing.

Bundled up against the 40-degree weather on the south coast, the Duchess of Cambridge, 33, donned a Max Mara "Villar" coat, cinched at the waist with a skinny belt, making her blooming baby bump all the more apparent.

Beneath the coat the mom to Prince George, 19 months, wore an Alice Temperley shift dress that boasted an adorably on-theme sailboat print, adding a navy blue clutch by British leather goods firm LK Bennett paired with Jimmy Choo shoes.

An avid sailor herself the Duchess spent her gap year between high school and college sailing the globe - Middleton was on hand to see how the progression of the America's Cup-bound Ben Ainslie Racing team's practice area. Ainslie is Britain's most successful Olympic sailor ever, winning Gold in five consecutive Games from 1996-2012 in the Laser and Finn class. His new project is to make a competitive British team for the next America's Cup, the sports highest-profile – and most expensive – event.

Middleton also contributed to a giant sailing-themed mural at the new HQ, which prompted her to open up about playtime with her young son. "[George] loves painting," she told local art teacher James Waterfield, who later told the press that "[Kate] told me she was painting yesterday with baby George and that she should have brought him down because he loves doing all of this."

Blonde high-flier killed herself 'after worrying that she was about to turn 30 with no husband or children'

Family said her greatest wish was to 'settle down and have a family'

A high-flying health service administrator killed herself because she could not come to terms with the fact she was about to turn 30 without marrying or starting a family, an inquest heard this week.

Graduate Rachel Gow, who was also struggling to recover from the death of her mother, wanted to walk up the aisle and have children.

She became troubled that her siblings were 'doing better than her', the hearing was told. Two months before her 30th birthday, she texted her engineer boyfriend, Anton Tsvarev, 30. wishing him 'all the best for the future'.

He found her body on the floor when he returned to the house they shared. Her family and boyfriend told the hearing of their devastation that the 'kind and generous' cont. on page 3, col. 1

'dizzy self-confessed blonde' hadn't lived to see her dreams fulfilled. After doing well at where school, she enjoyed dancing and playing the violin, Miss Gow studied at Lancaster University where she graduated with a 2:1 in history, the hearing was told. She then secured a job as an administrator at Royal Bolton Hospital.

'extremely happy'

In a statement read to the hearing, her brother Stephen Best and sister Sarah Davidson said: 'Her greatest wish was to settle down and get married.'

She had been through three break-ups before meeting Mr Tsvarev in May 2012, they said, and had been very badly affected by the death of her mother Connie, a primary school teacher, from cancer at the age of 66.

The couple moved into a house in Haslingden, Lancashire in 2013, and according to family and friends seemed content. 'Following the death of her mother, Rachel had a period of independence,' her siblings' statement continued.

'She met Anton and they were both extremely happy. He moved in. They had lots in common. But she could overcome not her previous sadness and felt Anton would leave her. Anton told the court that his girlfriend felt that she should be married with children by now and that her siblings were doing better than her. 'This was something she struggled with,' he said.

She had also talked about suicide techniques but he had regarded the comments as being 'in the heat of the moment,' he added.

Steve Strange dead at 55

■ Visage singer was leader of New Romantic movement

New Romantic pioneer Steve Strange has died of a heart attack in Egypt at the age of 55, his record label announced on Thursday.

The Welsh pop singer found fame in the 1980s as frontman for Visage whose best known hit was Fade To Grey.

Strange also managed the Blitz Club in London's Soho, a focal point for the New Romantic movement where acts such as Duran Duran, Spandau Ballet and Boy George started.

Several 80s icons have tweeted tributes to Strange, who is widely seen as a leading figure of the New Romantic movement.

Duran Duran frontman Simon Le Bon wrote: 'I'm very sad to announce that our friend Steve Strange has died in Egypt today. He was the leading edge of New Romantic. God Bless him.

'extremely saddened'

Billy Idol tweeted: 'Very sad to hear of my friend Steve Strange @Stevevisstrange passing, RIP mate...'

Marc Green, label manager at August Day Recordings, said: 'We are extremely saddened to announce that Steve Strange died at 11.15 local time on Thursday February 12 in Sharm el-Sheikh International Hospital, Egypt.

'Steve died in his sleep of heart failure. Steve's family, band members and friends are all distraught at this sudden news of his untimely death. Steve's family request privacy at this extremely difficult time.' Strange's agent, Pete Bassett, said: 'He will be remembered as a hard-working, very amusing and lovable individual who always was at the forefront of fashion trends.

'Up until last year he was putting together a book of fashion styles based on the New Romantic movement and it comes as a great shock.

'We understood that he had certain health problems but nothing we knew was life threatening.

'His friends and family are totally shocked, we had no idea anything like this was likely to happen.'

'classic style'

Born Steven John Harrington in Newbridge, Monmouthshire, Strange got involved in music after seeing the Sex Pistols in concert at the Castle Cinema in Caerphilly in 1976.

At the age of 15 he went to London to work for Pistols' manager Malcolm McClaren before setting up Blitz, which employed a yet undiscovered Boy George in the cloakroom.

Spandau Ballet and Boy George's Culture Club all got their start there before going on to super-stardom.

The club also counted David Bowie among its fans, who according to Strange went there 'because he had heard how bizarre it was'.

Dubbed the Peacock Prince, Strange said of the New Romantic style he helped create: 'It was about showing your creative side, and about showing that you'd taken time and effort in what you had created.

'It was about classic style and being outrageous, but done with an element of taste."

Is this Britain's rudest OAP? Foul-mouthed pensioner is behind bars AGAIN for breaching ASBO

■ John O'Neill, 71, has clocked up 235 offences since 1968 and was hauled back to court last Friday after an incident in a bakery in his home city, Manchester

An elderly man dubbed dubbed Britain's rudest OAP who has been behind bars more than 50 times - has been jailed again after breaching his ASBO.

John O'Neill was handed an anti-social behaviour order in 2009 after repeatedly causing public nuisance in Manchester.

The 71-year-old, who has clocked up 235 offences since 1968, was hauled back to court last Friday after an incident in a bakery in his home city.

A police community support officer who found him slumped on a park bench was told by the OAP: "F you, I will put bullets in your fing head. "Are you bomb proof? Because I will fing bomb you."

At Manchester Crown Court, O'Neill admitted breaching his ASBO and was locked away for three months, reported the Daily Record.

The court heard the old man had а "voluminous criminal record" and was once described by a judge as a "thorough nuisance" who was "foul mouthed, aggressive and had no respect for authority or for police, shop keepers and members of the public".

'Neill's ASBO bans him from stealing, defecating or urinating public, in using offensive or intimidating language in public.

He is also barred from Manchester Airport without a ticket to fly, entering and from Wilmslow Road, stretching from Didsbury to Rusholme.

Last year, O'Neill breached his ASBO after hurling abuse at a young mum at Costa coffee in Chorlton, claiming afterwards that her 'hoity' attitude set him off.

The woman was breaking a biscuit to feed her son when O'Neill turned to the two-year-old and said "she'll break you into pieces next".

He then told the boy: "Don't take any of that bull*, you will be taking that your whole life."

When the mother confronted him about his language, O'Neill began screaming, calling her a "*ing balloon" and a "s mum", said David Lees, prosecuting.

Earlier this year, he breached the ASBO by flying into a violent rage on a bus, and pushing a worker at a Chorlton shop.

'plethora of convictions"

Prosecuting, Justin Hayhoe said: "Staff at the bakery in Crumpsall saw the defendant, who was highly intoxicated and being abusive.

"They tried to eject him and a PCSO attended and saw the defendant slumped in a seat.

"They engaged him and he was abusive towards them.

"He has a voluminous antecedent record, with a plethora of convictions for dishonesty, some violent, several involving alcohol.

"He has received a variety of sentences including discharges, fines, community orders and custody.

"He has habitually and repeatedly breached ASBOs."

In mitigation, Robert said: Smith "The defendant accepts he had consumed whiskey and cannabis and has no memory of what has happened. Perhaps his biggest mitigation is he has pleaded guilty at the first opportunity."

From multiple Grammy winner to being 'papped' in Whole Foods....it's been quite a week for Sam Smith

■ Latest British singing sensation takes it all in his stride after astonishing night in LA

SAM SMITH might only have been a showbiz sensation for a moment or two, but he's taken to his role as а newly-minted superstar like a duck to water, getting snapped by the paparazzi West in Hollywood this week while shopping at Whole Foods.

The soul singer was the man of the night at Sunday's Grammys, scooping four awards including the prestigious prizes for record and song of the year and best new artist.

And in good British fashion the 22-year old celebrated by going on the lash in impressive style, partying till 4am Monday

Sam took to his Instagram account on Monday to share his pain after knocking back a large amount of booze in celebration of his big night.

Alongside а photograph of him in bed, he wrote: 'I am on another level of hungover right now. Literally feel like I'm dying haha.'

The 22-year-old singer also admitted the effects of the alcohol from Sunday night's after-party had made him emotional as he slowly recalled the antics from the ceremony.

He said that his father tried to encourage him to lead a more healthy active lifestyle.

'We did loads of running,' Sam said. 'All the stuff you hate, he tried to make me do. He took out all the fizzy drinks, all the chocolate, all the bad foods in the house, which was unfair on my two sisters because they have a different body type to me.'

For the Grammys, Sam certainly looked lean and fresh after reportedly embarking on a strict diet featuring fresh juice sprinkled with cayenne pepper, which is supposed to take the edge off hunger and speed up metabolism by 15 per cent.

In the press room after the telecast concluded, Smith effortlessly fielded questions from the media.

"I do not know what I'm looking for," he said on a more serious note. "I think the minute I start looking, it's not going to come my way."

In addition to winning aforementioned the categories, Smith also took home hardware for Best New Artist" and "Best Pop Vocal Album" thanks to his debut LP, "In The Lonely Hour."

Speaking with the press, Smith confirmed he is already working on the follow-up.

Support KartForce: British charity seeks to bring wounded veterans for marathon New Orleans race

WORTH-VERY Α WHILE British charity called KartForce is reaching out to expat Brits to help raise funds to bring wounded British veterans to the USA to take part in the 24 hours of America Go Kart Race in March, 2016.

KartForce is a team of serving and ex-serving injured troops that race in karting events around the country and abroad. The drivers were all wounded during their service but that hasn't stopped them jumping back into the saddle and the adrenaline-filled world of motorsport - hence their slogan is "Your don't need all your limbs to race... just British Bulldog Balls!"

The charity was set-up by Dave Player, an Ex-Royal Engineer and wheelchair user from a spinal injury. Because the lads have so many different injuries, including missing fingers and thumbs, KartForce had to design a new set of hand control that give the lads full performance from the karts and allows them to race on a totally level playing in mainstream races.

Since their inception two years ago they have now built a team of almost 30 drivers who consistently challenge in series such as the Inter Services Karting Championships against 44 teams from the Army, RAF and Navy.

'good racing'

Thev have also competed in the European Prokart Endurance Championships, which include 3 x 24hr race – the Isle of Man 24hr, the Eindhoven 24hr and the British 24hr. They have also competed in the Le Mans 24hr and Majorca 12hr.

Dave Player told the British Weekly: "We're supported by The Royal British Legion in the UK, as well as other organisations such as Team Army, but these funds are required to support our running costs in the UK "To race abroad we need to raise our own funds, so we're asking the British ex-pat community in America if they can help with donations.

As we have a year's notice, we're really keen to see if we can raise the funds to make it to the race in New Orleans in 2016.

We'd like to enter 2 teams and bring the lads over for a week or more so we can show them a bit of America, especially New Orleans....We want to give these young lads an experience they'll never forget – and then some good racing and show everyone what they can do on track."

Meet A Member: Kelly Wallace Smith

Meet Kelly Wallace Smith from Dubai, who moved to LA six months ago to pursue photography.

Was there a particular reason you chose LA?

My husband's company Smith & Ken Estate Agents opened an office in Sherman Oaks so we relocated to be here during the crucial first few years of the business growing. We are both from Norfolk, England but we relocated to Dubai in 2006, which is where we both opened our businesses.

What one thing do you miss from home?

My family! I am one of seven so I miss my sisters and brother so much.

What do you find the biggest difference is living here?

The obvious answer is the weather! But we have been expatriates for nearly ten years and having spent nine years in Dubai so we have been fortunate to have sunshine all year round for some time now. I the think biggest difference between here and the UK is the nature of the people - Los Angeles has a wonderful warmth to it, people location to live in – such really go out of their way as West Hollywood – to make you feel because it's so central welcome and settled. and there is always

Do you have a hidden gem in LA that you want to share with us?

We live in Beverly Hills so we love all the usual hotspots, however my husband's office is in Sherman Oaks and there is a fantastic ramen called house called Tamashii on Ventura Boulevard across street. And I the love Sweet Butter Kitchen, also on Ventura.

What would you suggest to others who are thinking about making the move here? I would certainly advise them to find a key as West Hollywood – because it's so central and there is always something going on. It's the perfect place to reside if you are new here and getting to know LA. A lot of people underestimate the size of LA and end up renting a place miles away from civilization!

If your life was a TV show what song would be the theme tune?

I want to say something like The Rolling Stones "Let it Loose", but actually it would probably be a chaotic, overemotional Miley Cyrus number... haha!

Lastly, how can we find out more about you? Are you on the Internet?

Solution to Puzzle #151

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Impulsive is often your middle name but you must be aware of this tendency which will be activated for the next three weeks. Take note that next week is the time to keep things low key in all areas of life.

TAURUS: You need to look long and hard this week ahead at where you are heading, perhaps you need a little help in this direction. The good news comes next week and Venus your boss will help you with this.

GEMINI: What you can achieve this week is up to how willing you are to make the right moves. Holding back for the right time is wasting time and you can be sure with your boss Mercury going forward the time is now.

CANCER: It's a month of makeovers, either for you or your home or (if you can afford it) both. Either way get moving as it's the right time to let the winds of change move along with your help. You will get a boost of sorts later in the week.

LEO: As this week begins you could find yourself stretched beyond your limits, maybe in a couple of areas of life, one is work or the lack of cash flow. It's going to get easier before the month's end so keep calm.

VIRGO: Any task you take on will be difficult at first to deal with and as this will last until the end of this month make allowances. Your priority now is to stay calm and take as many breaks as possible.

LIBRA: Venus your boss planet is visiting a very sensitive area for a few weeks and will bring up past unfinished business and people you have not seen for a while. Keep cool and let others come to you for whatever reason. SCORPIO: You are determined to achieve a good outcome in all areas this month so let nothing stop you. It will be easier as Mercury is moving now in a positive direction and Mars your Boss is in the lover's sign of Pisces. Time for a new Valentine.

SAGITTARIUS: You could be feeling a bit out of sorts due to Jupiter moving in opposition to you and affecting your subconscious mind. Know that what you reap is what you sow and this would be a good time to start thinking positively in all aspects of life.

CAPRICORN: Your financial situation is still not what you want, however in order to achieve a positive cashflow you have to assume it is already here. This is not an area you like to be concerned about so put it out to the Universe and expect success.

AQUARIUS: How you handle the situation you may have found yourself involved in will affect the rest of this month, also how you handle the issue is the issue. Either way have a Happy Birthday!

PISCES: There are several planets sitting beside you and although most of them are positive Saturn the teacher, who is also involved will make you sit up and listen. However this affects you most is open to change now.

The Eterna Files: the story lives on....

Exclusive interview with author Leanna Renee Hieber and a review of her novel about immortality

Rating: ★★★

"The early draft of The Eterna Files was inspired by binge-watching the many seasons of MI-6 and really falling in love with the character dynamics," says Eterna Files author Leanna Renee Hieber. "All of my books thus far are set in the late 19th century, between the 1860s and 1880s, and all of them are full of ghosts and paranormal activity, so I wanted to play with the idea of what would happen to a pre-MI-6 office dealing with the paranormal. This pulled in my love of The X-files as well. All my hard work in carving out a cross-genre niche in Gothic Victorian Urban Fantasy, a forerunner among modern Gaslamp Fantasy authors, is all coming together in The Eterna Files."

The Eterna Files is a race between the Americans and the British to find a way to achieve immortality. In 1882 London, Queen Victoria appoints Harold Spire of the Metropolitan Police to head Special Branch Division Omega, created to secretly investigate paranormal and supernatural events. The group's first mission is to find the Eterna Compound, created in a lab in New York, where American Clara Templeton also is searching for Eterna. As a child she had visions and dreams of future events. Clara invented Eterna. and blames herself for those who died making the compound. Among them her was love. а relationship so secret she can tell no one about her loss

Heiber's descriptions of New York and London are vivid. The book is dialog heavy, and there are instances of repetition. Meeting Clara as a child you expect she will be strong, but her character becomes weaker as she gets older, the opposite of character growth. A ghostly woman appears to Clara when something is about to go wrong, but doesn't help Clara stop bad things from happening. The book ends on a cliffhanger, but there are unanswered questions. "My work as a Gothic novelist is focused on telling stories of empowered women and unconventional men facing otherworldly danger and rising to brave challenges," says Hieber. "My characters are quirky and unique, often disenfranchised from society due to their conditions, viewpoints or paranormal status in the world. I love bringing the past to life in a very psychically charged way. I hope my readers will connect to my characters on a mental, psychic and emotional level. My process remains a bit mysterious to me. It's full of magic and unexpected turns. I wouldn't have it any other way."

The Eterna Files is the third book in Hieber's Gaslamp Fantasy series. It features characters from the prior books. Her first novel, The Strangely Beautiful Tale of Miss Percy Parker began her acclaimed Strangely Beautiful saga. Darker Still began her Magic Most Foul saga for Young Adults.

Hieber has won four Prism Awards for excellence in the genre of Fantasy Romance. Darker Still was named an American Bookseller's Association Indie Next List title and a Scholastic edition Christmas in February? It's elementary for busy Cumberbatch...

THERE MIGHT BE more than 300 days to wait Sherlock but star Benedict Cumberbatch and the rest of the Baker Street gang were already getting in the spirit this week as they were spotted looking dapper in Victorian era costumes on set together for the stand-alone Sherlock Christmas Special set to air on Christmas Day.

The show will be filmed at Coston Hall in Bristol and several other locations as the talented cast and crew bring the script to life.

The upcoming series of the popular show, which was created by Steven Moffatt and Mark Gatiss, is set to be 'the most shocking and surprising series of Sherlock yet' according to the BBC. "Of course, it's far too early to say what's coming, but we're reasonably confident that the very next thing to happen to Sherlock and John, is the very last thing you'd expect," Moffat revealed last year.

He is also quoted saying: "I suspect it's going to be end of year-ish, and as everyone has seen, it's Victorian".

During the episode Sherlock will likely use his deductive skills to finally learn if the treacherous Moriarty is, in fact, dead.

Moriarty's "death" during the Season Three finale rang false to many viewers. And Gatiss assured the public during his recent interview with The Radio Times that the special episode would "completely" solve the riddle of Moriarty's reemergence.

Meanhwhile the show's star, Cumberbatch, is not only newly wed but also preparing to be a new dad; he's also wrapping up his stint filming Marvel's "Doctor AND he's Strange" dealing with the recent slew of award shows that look to honor him for his role as Alan Turing in the film "The Imitation Game," which centers on the brilliant mathemetician's vital work in cracking the Nazi Enigma Code in World War II.

I mean, could he be any HOTTER?

Enthusiasts (including myself) are already abuzz at the prospect of seeing Cumberbatch don the signature coat, cape and deerstalker that are the hallmarks of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's iconic sleuth.

And let's not forget Martin Freeman, who fans will see wearing a king-sized mustache, a bowler hat and a cozy scarf as he portrays Dr. Watson.

Oo-er.....Roll on Christmas!

Bond fans get a sneak peek at Spectre...!

BOND IS back in business and schussing down the Alps!

Filming for Spectre, the latest 007 blockbuster and once again starring hunky British star Daniel Craig, has been taking place in snowy Austria. Associate producer Gregg Wilson said this week: "We have to deliver an amazing sequence and this is going to be one of the major action sequences of the movie. "A jewel in the crown

so to speak. "It's going to be spectacular and Austria seemed to offer everything that we needed to pull it off."

Director Sam Mendes and his team face a battle to improve on the massive success of Skyfall, but p r o d u c t i o n designer Dennis Gassner believes they are up to the task.

He said: "The thing that Sam and I talked about was how we are going to top Skyfall, it's going to be Spectre and so far it's a great start.

"I think that we are going to continue the history of the Bond films, making things that are exciting for the audience to look at and what could be more exciting than to be on top of the world?"

The plot centers on a cryptic message from Bond's past which sends him on a trail to uncover a sinister organization. While M battles political forces to keep the secret service alive, Bond peels back the layers of deceit to reveal the terrible truth behind Spectre! Also returning in are Skyfall stars Naomi Harris, Ben Whishaw and Ralph Fiennes as Bond's boss M.

Italian beauty Monica Bellucci has joined the cast and the 50-year-old will make history as the oldest ever Bond girl.

Oo-er!

Spectre is scheduled for release on November 7...

My excitement cannot be contained!

Welcome to the rollercoaster....

Hello Everyone!

I don't know about the rest of you but for me at least, if the first six weeks of 2015 are anything to go by it is going to be a very slow and arduous year; it seems everyone I have spoken to has been on a rollercoaster ride of some sort or another. A bit of a contradiction but that is certainly reflective of my year so far! I just read my horoscope courtesy of resident astrologer Anne Shaw and it looks like things are going to be on the up...phew!

Good for Amy

I do actually have some fantastic news to share. As you know we have been helping raise money for Brits in LA member Amy Watts - the target was £100,000 to cover the costs of operations to help Amy fight her battle with Stage Four colon cancer; and thanks to her amazing friends and family, as well as lots of you, the full amount was raised in just 15 days!! Obviously, the money is just the first hurdle and there is still a way to go, but will certainly be one less thing to worry about - make sure to visit the website HoldAmysHand.com to keep up to date on Amy's progress - special thanks to Barbara Windsor aka Peggy Mitchell, whose generous donation was the push needed to reach the goal!

According to a Time Out Global Dating Survey (just in time for Valentine's Day), the British accent has been voted the most attractive in the world.

The British magazine polled over 11,000 people worldwide and us Brits (with 27% of the vote) beat out the Americans with the Irish coming third. The Aussies came in fourth and the French – who are supposed to speak the language of love - were left languishing in fifth. C'est la vie!

Love is in the air – a tip for the new arrivals amongst you; be warned that you may receive Valentine's cards from people who have no romantic interest in you whatsoever! There are so many great shows, plays and concerts coming up - I am particularly excited for the Turner exhibition at the Getty (opens February 23rd) - I recently watched the film Mr Turner (starring Timothy Spall) and learnt that he had 'bequeathed much of his art to the British nation', sadly his request wasn't completely fulfilled, although the fact that the Tate have brought some of his work for us to see at the Getty, at no charge to including their the public, means that they are at least trying! Dame Edna is in town and as bold and brazen as ever! I always enjoyed her as a child but I love her even more after seeing the live show. Her witty banter with the audience members and extremely topical remarks remain as shocking as ever. She barely stops to take a breath throughout the evening, and at one point even appears to channel a Ziegfeld Follies girl during a costume change on stage behind some giant ostrich feathers! It is so off the cuff

"£800m will be given away by the Premier League [over the current three-year term]," Mr Scudamore said. "Be it to clubs in lower leagues, to charities. We do more than anybody in this country to redistribute our income."

The sports minister Helen Grant said: "This deal will bring increased benefits to clubs lower down the football pyramid, the grassroots of the game, through further investment in facilities, and supporters."

Sky Sports will show 126 matches live, on Saturday and Sunday lunchtimes, Sunday afternoons, Monday nights and in a new slot on Friday nights, and is paying £1.4bn a year for the privilege.

BT Sport will show 42 matches, on Saturday evenings, as well as a handful of Sunday and midweek slots.

But Tom Mockridge, Virgin Media's chief executive, said: "A 70 per cent increase shows the TV rights auction is a licence for the Premier League to print money. You can't blame the Premier League - it is simply exploiting the sales process. But this is hurting fans and does warrant not an exemption from normal competition law rules."

FA charge for Everton and Chelsea

Chelsea and Everton have been charged by the Football Association after players from both teams were involved in an on-pitch incident.

The clubs are charged with failing to ensure their conducted players themselves properly.

Chelsea defender Branislav Ivanovic will not face any further action after he clashed with Everton midfielder James McCarthy in the 86th minute.

Jose Mourinho's side won 1-0 in Wednesday's Premier League game.

But there was controversy late on as Everton had Gareth Barry sent off for a second bookable offence after he tripped Willian.

That foul sparked a melee during which Ivanovic locked his arm around McCarthy's neck and then pushed his head towards the midfielder.

OPR caretaker boss Chris Ramsey has been given the manager's job until the end of the season. Ramsey, 52, had been in temporary charge at Loftus Road with director of football Les Ferdinand after Harry Redknapp quit to have knee surgery.

Lambert: I was warned!

Sacked Aston Villa boss Paul Lambert says managing the struggling West Midlands club turned out to be "the toughest challenge" of his career.

Lambert, 45, left Villa on Wednesday after the club slipped into the Premier League relegation zone.

In 25 top-flight games this season, they have managed just 12 goals.

"The club's owner, Randy Lerner, warned me that I was embarking on the toughest challenge of my working life and he was not wrong," said Lambert.

In a statement, the former Norwich City boss added: "But I have never stepped away from hard work and I put my heart and soul into the job from my first day until my last."

Lerner said in a statement of his own on Villa's website that Lambert had "arrived with a fresh view and a proven style and track record" and he had hoped the club "would find its footing and strengthen" during the Scot's tenure. The American added: "It is our hope that given the quality, leadership and team spirit that we can rise to the occasion for the remainder of the season."

Tuesday's 2-0 defeat at fellow strugglers Hull City marked the end for Lambert's 31-month tenure at Villa Park.

First-team coach Scott Marshall and goalkeeping coach Andy Marshall are now in temporary charge with 13 league matches remaining.

Former Spurs boss Tim Sherwood and United States coach Jurgen Klinsmann have been linked with the job on a full-time basis.

"Someone needs to go in there with a bit of freshness, mix things up a little bit and just try something new," said out-of-favour Villa striker Darren Bent, now on loan at Derby.

"They are in a tough position. If someone comes in with fresh ideas, new tactics, it might just give the whole place a lift, including the supporters, the staff, everyone associated with the club." Bent fell out with Lambert and has been on loan to a series of clubs.

"Me going back to Aston Villa is out of my hands," added Bent. "I am a Derby County player at the moment and I am enjoying my time here."

How much!? Premier League in £5bn TV rights bonanza

The Premier League has sold the right to broadcast its matches from 2016 to 2019 to Sky Sports and BT Sport for a record-shattering £5.136bn – leading to calls for England's leading clubs to drop their ticket prices, amid claims from rivals that the deal was "hurting fans".

The deal makes the English Premier League the world's second-most lucrative sports league, behind only the NFL, which generates £4.5bn each season.

The sum – more than 70 per cent higher than the £3bn that was raised for the rights auction for 2013 to 2016 - means that showing Premier League matches will cost the broadcasters more than £10m per match. BT Sport's total expenditure is £960m. Sky's outlay is almost double the £2.3bn it paid last time round, while BT Sport's has risen by around £200m. The amount Sky will pay per match has risen by 70 per cent, compared with 18 per cent for BT Sport. Yet the figure doesn't include the international broadcast rights, which the Premier League will sell next year – which could generate a further £3bn or more. The chief executive of the Premier League Richard Scudamore said the huge amount was testament to the clubs, which "put on a magnificent show".

But the huge numbers will attract criticism from those who see football as a bloated monster, driven by greed, and undoubtedly a huge chunk of this money will immediately cont. on page 19, col. 1
