Obama to Charles: we're really quite fond of you!

IT WAS ALL SMILES in the Oval Office as the Prince of Wales met US President Barack Obama at the White House on Thursday.

Prince Charles and the Duchess of Cornwall met Mr Obama and vice-president Joe Biden in an affirmation of the continued close relationship between the USA and Great Britain.

Mr Obama and the prince last met four years ago when he flew to the US a few days after the wedding of the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge.

The president told the prince that the Royal Family was fondly regarded by the American people.

Mr Obama told the prince it was "fair to say that the American people are quite fond of the Royal Family".

The prince replied: "That's awfully nice to know."

The president continued with the light-hearted comment: "They like them much better than they like their own politicians."

On Thursday Prince
Charles also visited the Carlos Rosario
International Public
Charter School in Washington DC, which provides education and training for the capital's adult immigrant population.

He also played 10-pin bowling during his tour of the city's US Armed Forces Retirement Home. The six-lane bowling alley is designed to provide exercise for the veterans who live at the home.

Bill Bowen, an 80-year-old former staff sergeant from the US Air Force, spoke to the prince during the visit.

Mr Bowen said: "I told him I was the worst bowler in this alley and he said, 'No, I am.'"

Earlier in their tour the pair visited monuments to Abraham Lincoln and Martin Luther King Jr and were joined by figures from the American civil rights movement, Jesse Jackson and Congressman John Lewis

The royals are to join the commemorating of several important milestones.

These include the 150th anniversaries of the end of the American Civil War and the death of President Lincoln, and the 800th anniversary of Magna

STILL SPECIAL? Charles and President Obama enjoy a laugh in the Oval Office

Prince Charles is also expected to receive an award for exceptional leadership in conservation from the International Conservation Caucus Foundation.

Despite what started as a troubled relationship back in the 1700s, the royal family seems to today love America right back.

This trip is Prince Charles's 19th to the United States. Speaking to the president, he also praised his "nice" trip to Mount Vernon Tuesday.

"Because, you know, I went there 45 years ago - in 1970," the prince said, "so it was fantastic. It is very special there."

Osborne's budget for savers and workers

■ Chancellor hails Britain 'the comeback country'

George Osborne has announced tax cuts for first-time buyers, workers and savers in his final Budget before May's general election.

The chancellor claimed Britain was "walking tall again" after five years of austerity.

He also cut 1p from beer duty, 2% from cider and whisky and froze fuel and wine duty. Cigarettes will go up by 16p a pack as earlier planned.

Labour leader Ed Miliband said Mr Osborne had "failed working families".

"This a Budget that people won't believe from a government that is not on their side," Mr Miliband told MPs.

In his final set-piece pitch to voters before May's election, Mr Osborne announced that if the Conservatives win power the first £1,000 of savings interest would be tax free - meaning 95% of savers would pay no tax.

He also said savings put aside for a deposit by first-time buyers would be topped up by the government - to the tune of £50 for every £200 saved - in a move that will come into force this Autumn.

The new Help to Buy ISA accounts will be made available through banks and building societies.

Other measures include:

- Relaxing pension rules from April 2016 to allow up to five million existing pensioners to swap their fixed annual payments for cash
- Annual tax returns to be scrapped and replaced with "digital tax accounts"
- A fresh crackdown on tax avoidance and evasion, which he said would raise £3.1bn
- Raising the rate of the bank levy to 0.21% to bring in an additional £900m a year
- A further boost for regional growth, including extending enterprise and housing zones and plans for a tidal lagoon to generate green electricity in Swansea Bay. Severn Crossing toll rates will be reduced from 2018
- £1.3bn in tax cuts for North Sea oil exploration and continued production in older fields
- The price of 20 cigarettes will go up by 16p as part of a the long-standing formula that the price rises by 2% above inflation but there will be no change to that formula

'hard work'

Mr Osborne hailed slightly better than expected growth figures, which suggest the economy will expand by 2.5% this year, rather than 2.4% and described his economic package as a "Budget for Britain - a comeback country".

He said the government had met its 2010 target to end this Parliament with Britain's national debt falling as a share of GDP, meaning the "the hard work and sacrifice of the British people has paid off".

Setting out his plans in the Commons, Mr Osborne said: "We took difficult decisions in the teeth of opposition and it worked. Britain is walking tall again.

"Five years ago, our economy had suffered a collapse greater than almost any country.

"Today, I can confirm: in the last year we have grown faster than any other major advanced economy in the world."

'rollercoaster'

UPBEAT: The chancellor claimed Britain was "walking tall again"

He said he would use a boost in the public finances caused by lower inflation and welfare payments to pay off some of the national debt and end the squeeze on public spending a year earlier than planned.

In 2019/20 spending will grow in line with the growth of the economy - bringing state spending as a share of national income to the same level as in 2000, the chancellor told MPs.

This was seen by observers as a move aimed at neutralising Labour's claim that the Conservatives would cut spending to 1930s levels.

But Shadow Chancellor

Ed Balls said the Treasury's own figures showed spending at the "lowest level since 1938" in 2018/19 while the independent Office for Budget Responsibility, in its analysis, said Mr Osborne's plans implied a "rollercoaster profile" for expenditure over the next five years.

A SUPERFIT soldier was kicked out of the Army on his 61st birthday after being told he is too old.

Kevin Fulthorpe was given his marching orders despite being in better shape than some squaddies half his age.

The fitness instructor, from Cardiff, spent 25 years in the army reserve, where he was a sergeant.

He said: "How dare the Army tell me I'm too old to do my job?

"The Army does not exempt people on gender, ethnicity or religion but it discriminates against age."

The usual age for the Army to retire non-commissioned officers is 55.

A spokesman said: "Decisions to extend service beyond 60 are taken in exceptional circumstances and on a case by case basis."

My mistake killed 96, admits Hillsborough cop

The Hillsborough police match commander has agreed his failure to close a tunnel "was the direct cause of the deaths of 96 people".

David Duckenfield also accepted he "froze" during the afternoon of the 1989 football disaster.

Mr Duckenfield was giving evidence for a sixth day at the new Hillsborough inquests in Warrington, Cheshire.

He was being questioned by Paul Greaney QC on behalf of the Police Federation of England and Wales.

Mr Duckenfield, now 70, had earlier denied claims he "bottled it" and "panicked" as the disaster unfolded.

The jury was told the former chief superintendent had at least three minutes to "consider the consequences" of opening an exit gate at the stadium, as a crowd of fans built up outside.

Mr Greaney suggested a child of "average intelligence" could have realised what would happen when the gate, which allowed up to 2,000 fans to enter, was opened.

'no idea'

But Mr Duckenfield said he did "not think of it on the day" because of the pressure he was under.

He had "no idea" Liverpool fans would head through the gate for a tunnel which led to the already-packed terraces, he told the jury.

When asked by Mr Greaney if his failure to take steps to close the tunnel entrance was the direct cause of the deaths of 96 people, Mr Duckenfield replied "yes sir".

Ninety-six Liverpool fans died after crushing

DAVID DUCKENFIELD: told the inquest he was in a 'state of shock' as events unfolded at Hillsborough at the FA Cup semi final match between Liverpool and Nottingham Forest held at Hillsborough.

Mr Greaney asked Mr Duckenfield if he had been incompetent in his role on the day of the disaster.

The retired officer answered: "I think it is a view some would agree with sir."

When asked by the barrister if he "simply froze", Mr Duckenfield said he thought it would be "fair to say that we were all in a state of shock."

It was the match commander's job to "get past any feelings of shock", Mr Greaney said.

"Yes, sir, but I am human," Mr Duckenfield replied.

Earlier in the inquests, he admitted he had lied about fans forcing an exit gate open to enter the ground.

He issued a long apology to the families of the victims, who have been campaigning for 26 years to establish more detail about what happened during the disaster.

John Beggs QC, representing Mr Duckenfield, said: "I think you understand, don't you, why the delay in providing a more gracious and more full apology has caused to many both offence and distress? You understand that?"

"I fully understand that sir," Mr Duckenfield said.

Lovely Lily shines at Cinderella premiere

RISING STAR Lily James cut an intentionally icy figure on Thursday at the UK premiere of Cinderella.

The actress – best known until now for her role as Lady Rose in Downton Abbey – took to the blue carpet at London's Odeon Leicester Square, in a sparkly silver bandeau gown which featured a thigh high split.

Wearing her hair loose and straight, Lily looked completely different from both of her on-screen characters, as she tried out some edgy make-up for the big night.

Her appearance came after she dismissed claims her waist is too slim in the film as "irrelevant".

Questioned over criticisms of the waistline at a press conference ahead of the film's UK premiere, Lily said: "Why on earth are we focusing on something so irrelevant?"

Heather makes the news again after latest attack on Macca

■ If he didn't work with Rihanna and Kanye, nobody would know who he is, claims ex-wife

Heather Mills claims Sir Paul McCartney only worked with Rihanna and Kanye West so people would 'remember who he is'.

The 47-year-old charity campaigner and Alpine skier launched a stinging attack on her ex-husband - who collaborated with the stars on a new single FourFiveSeconds - and insisted people are not interested in him because the Beatles legend isn't relevant anymore.

After initially claiming it was 'boring' to talk about Paul - who she divorced in 2006 after four years of marriage - Heather went on to claim that Paul has to work with current artists so 'people remember who he is'.

Speaking on Ireland's Late, Late Show, she said: "I go down the street and all I get is kids coming up to me and half of them don't even know who he is. That's why he's got to do songs with Rihanna and Kanye West, so people remember.

But most of the time I have people coming to me on the street saying 'Oh my god you're a ski-racer' or 'you help the animals', or you know, I own the biggest vegan company in the world."

She also said: "This is just someone I fell in love with, who to me was a normal guy, who happened to write a few cool songs in the 60s and a few in the 70s".

Macca fans have taken to Twitter to vent their anger against Mills.

OFF HER ROCKER? Paul and Heather on their wedding day in 2002

Rob Shiers tweeted: "Is Heather Mills really suggesting that she's more famous than Paul McCartney? Member of the most famous band there's ever been."

Rory Kelly said: "Why's Heather Mills trying to say that's she's more famous than Paul McCartney when she's only famous for marrying him and having one leg?"

Welshman charged for treatment in English hospital as he was 'classed as foreigner'

 \blacksquare Nicholas White shocked to receive £1,775 bill for tests at Hinchingbrooke Hospital after falling ill while visiting relatives in Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire

A man from Wales was charged £1,775 for treatment in an English hospital - because he was a "foreigner".

Nicholas White, 64, was shocked when the bill arrived after he was taken ill while visiting relatives in Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire, just before Christmas.

"I was told that because I was Welsh I counted as a foreigner and would therefore have to pay," said Mr White, a retired teacher from Dyffryn Ardudwy, Gwynedd, Wales.

He spent three days undergoing tests at the Hinchingbrooke Hospital and was released with suspected gallstones.

Several weeks later, Mr White was offered an appointment for a follow-up procedure in the form of a gastroscopy to investigate what was causing his pain.

He decided to travel back to Hinchingbrooke Hospital but, moments before he was due to have the medical procedure, Mr White said he was ushered into a side room by an administrator and told he would have to pay for the examination and the previous three-day stay because he was "technically a foreigner".

Mr White said: "I was dressed up ready for the op - I had the printed wristbands already on when they ushered me in. I was told that because I was Welsh I counted as a foreigner and would therefore have to pay."

After recovering from the procedure, which discovered a hiatus hernia that does not need surgery, Mr White was "shocked" to see a letter posted through his door with "IMPORTANT" handwritten in red pen.

INSULT TO INJURY: Nicholas White with his NHS bill

It was a bill from Hinchingbrooke Health Care NHS Trust, claiming he owed £1,775 for his procedures, which was followed by a letter saying the payment was overdue.

The NHS trust has now admitted that the bill should have gone direct to Mr White's local NHS trust and not to him directly.

Cop alleges ANOTHER Cyril Smith cover-up

- Late politician was caught abusing boy and sex-offender policeman hid the truth, claims retired cop
 - Rochdale MP used his position to repeatedly escape police and court action for decades

Explosive revelations of a police establishment cover-up over Cyril Smith's paedophile past emerged this week.

A retired police officer said the 29-stone Liberal MP was protected by a sex-offender sergeant after he was caught at a sex party with two boys.

Smith walked free and the retired officer – then a probationary beat bobby was threatened with the Official Secrets Act and told to stay silent by colleague Don Mackintosh, who himself turned out to be a paedophile.

But on Monday after 27 years, the former Greater Manchester officer broke cover to reveal his anger amid growing fury over how repeatedly escaped prosecution during four decades of appalling abuse.

His revelations mean Smith escaped possible prosecution at least eight times after orders were made at the highest level to cover up his crimes.

Last year's publication of the Simon Danczuk's book. Smile For The Camera: The Double Life Of Cyril Smith, blew the lid off Smith's sordid activities, sexual detailing how the Rochdale had repeatedly escaped police and court action for decades despite leaving a trail of young victims in his wake.

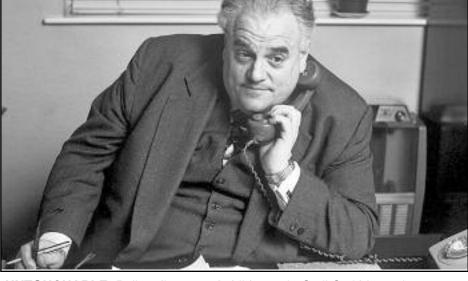

The strong suggestion has always been that the establishment conspired - via the police and security services - to protect the MP who was seen as a useful bulwark against the hard Left.

On Tuesday night Greater Manchester Police announced a new inquiry into the claims.

'prolific abuser'

They were made just days after it was revealed that Smith had been arrested at a similarly sordid event in London but was let off.

And this week another police force, Northamptonshire, disclosed that it, too, was probing suggestions that it let Smith off the hook in the 1980s when it discovered child pornography in his car.

UNTOUCHABLE: Police discovered child porn in Cyril Smith's car in 1980s

MP Labour Mr Danczuk said last night: 'More police officers are now coming forward to share their anger and disgust at how there was simply no appetite to prosecute Cyril for child

'Cyril Smith was a prolific abuser of children and I've no doubt that he was on the radar of a number of police forces.'

Earlier this week the independent watchdog revealed it is overseeing 14 separate claims of cover-ups and corruption in historic sex abuse case by Scotland Yard.

Prime Minister David Cameron has already guaranteed that police whistle-blowers will not be prosecuted under the Official Secrets Act if they come forward.

'criminal investigation'

The retired Greater Manchester officer was threatened with the Official Secrets Act after he discovered Smith at the party with a prolific sex offender and two drunk teenage boys in

The officer said: 'I had been in the force about six months. The occupier was about 70 and seemed an old granddad type.

In the house was Cyril Smith and a police sergeant in civilian clothes. The young lads there. Smith and the officer left. The boys, aged about 14 to 15, were drunk.

'One was missing from a children's home. I called for a van and took him back. The other lad walked off.

'The old man was arrested and I took him to the main police station in Stockport.'

The following day, the officer says, he was called to a meeting by a senior officer and his mentoring officer, Sergeant Mackintosh, who was later exposed as a prolific child abuser and who was found hanged in his home last year.

The officer said: 'I was told I would break the Official Secrets Act if I told anyone. In no uncertain terms I was told to say nothing. They knew Smith was there and knew who he was.'

Greater Manchester Assistant Chief Constable Ian Wiggett 'These said: fresh allegations will now be examined by Operation Clifton, a criminal investigation into how previous reports of child sexual abuse were or allegedly handled covered These allegations are concerning and will be treated seriously.'

British beaches fouled by invasion of wet wipes

Britain's beaches are becoming clogged up with wet wipes as people increasingly flush them down the lavatory.

M a r i n e conservationists have said the number of wet wipes found on beaches has risen by around 50% over the past year as people use them instead of toilet paper, in baby changing, to remove make-up and to apply fake tan.

The Marine Conservation Society 's latest annual "Great British Beach Clean" survey of more than 300 beaches showed a 6.4% rise in beach litter in general between 21013 and 2014.

The charity revealed 2,457 pieces of litter were collected from each kilometre (0.6 mile) of coastline cleaned, up from an average of 2,309 in 2013.

Within that, average of 35 wet wipes were retrieved, up from 23 on the previous year.

Many people do not realise that what goes through the sewers may end up in the sea.

Gill Bell from MCS told Sky News: "You don't want to put anything down your toilet other than the three Ps - pee, poo and

'Nothing else needs to go down the toilet. A lot of those other things contain plastics and plastics can remain in the environment for years.

"Not only do they environment, they break down into smaller and smaller pieces so they affect animals from the bottom to the top of the food chain."

The plastic in wet wipes, which stops them disintegrating like toilet paper, also causes blockages in the sewage system - and once those blockages happen everything else flushed down the toilet can back up into people's homes or overflow into rivers and seas.

Other strange objects found on the beaches during the survey included a colostomy bag, a plastic hand, a piping gun nozzle, a bra strap and, on one particular beach, nine pairs of shoes of various

The charity's call for a national marine litter action plan comes as the Prince of Wales attended one-day conference in the US and called for action to halt the dumping of plastics - by far the greatest source of pollution in the sea.

Prince Charles said: "I was horrified to learn that, according to recent research, we collectively allow as much as eight million tonnes of plastic to enter the oceans every

"Today, almost half of all marine mammals now have plastic in their gut and I know I am not the only person haunted by the tragic images of seabirds, particularly albatrosses, that have been found dead washed up on beaches after mistaking a piece of plastic for a meal.

Jeremy Clarkson Top Gear 'fracas' report due next week

JEREMY CLARKSON'S career as a BBC presenter is hanging in the balance with the Corporation's report into his recent shoving match with a producer due to be handed over to the director general next week.

The internal investigation into Clarkson's suspension, following a "fracas" with Oisin Tymon, will be considered by Tony Hall.

Director of BBC Scotland, Ken MacQuarrie, who is leading the investigation, "is now considering the evidence", BBC а spokesperson said.

"Once this has been considered, we will set out any further steps."

"The BBC will not be further commentary until then," spokesperson concluded.

Clarkson was suspended from the global smash hit show Top Gear on 10 March, following an alleged altercation with Tymon catering arrangements following a long day's shooting.

Online petition

Mr Tymon did not file a formal complaint and it is understood Clarkson reported the incident

A lawyer for Mr Tymon said his client "intends to await the outcome of the BBC investigation and will make no comment until that investigation is complete".

All remaining shows in the current series were pulled following the incident.

Top Gear is one of the BBC's most popular and profitable TV shows, with estimated global audience of 350 million.

Its success is largely attributed to contentious host, who has appeared on the show since 1988.

An online petition calling for the star's reinstatement - set up by political blogger Guido Fawkes - has accrued more than 975,000 signatures since the presenter's suspension.

Clarkson expressed regret over the incident, which his co-presenter James May labelled "a bit of a dust-up".

The host has long been controversial and has a history of making comments which many consider offensive, with more than one TV critic observing that he would have been fired long ago if it were not for the phenomenal revenue the show brings the BBC.

Clarkson was given what he called his "final warning" by bosses at the corporation last May after claims he used a racist word during filming.

And it later emerged that the show could have Clarkson - but his co-hosts reportedly refused to present the show without him.

James May Richard Hammond were offered the chance to front Top Gearduring Clarkson's suspension, according to a BBC executive.

Discussions were held about broadcasting the last three episodes with recorded segments while the two co-stars filmed the studio

However the BBC insider said that May and Hammond rejected the offer and refused to go on air without their long-time colleague.

The source said: "They didn't want to do it without Jeremy so the talks didn't get off the ground."

Veteran British rocker Andy Fraser dies in Temecula

■ Bassist found fame in his teens as member of Free, penning the enduring rock anthem 'All Right Now'

Andy Fraser, who co-wrote the rousing rock anthem "All Right Now" when he was the teenage bassist for the British rock band Free, has died in California at age 62 from HIV-related causes.

Fraser had been living in the desert community of Temecula, where he died Monday, the Riverside County coroner said in a statement.

Fraser was born to a single mother London's Paddington in 1952 and showed an aptitude for music at a young age, begging his mother to buy him a piano when he was just five. At twelve he switched to electric guitar, before moving to the bass three years later, quickly becoming one of the brightest young talents on London's vibrant underground music scene.

STILL AT IT: Andy Fraser kept playing music for most of his life

Fraser was just 15 when he formed Free in 1967 with three other London teenagers (Paul Rodgers, Paul Kossoff and Simon Kirke). Almost at once the band won critical acclaim and a contract with Island Records, although their debut album (Tons Of Sobs) and its eponymous follow-up managed few sales

Then, in May 1970, Free

released the album Fire And Water and the single All Right Now. The former topped the UK album charts, while All Right Now went to No 2 and made No 1 in 20 other countries. The song, co-written by Fraser and Rodgers, has since enjoyed huge exposure not only through airplay but also in films, television series and advertising campaigns.

The song is also a staple of football stadiums. The Stanford University and University of Southern California marching bands each play it at virtually every game.

Fraser kept playing music for most of his life, but he would never equal the success he had as a teen with Free, which broke up in 1972.

CASE NO. BP160327

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of RICHARD HORIOV.

APETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by JOANNE LEVY in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that JOANNE LEVY be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act . (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 03/26/15 at 8:30AM in Dept. 9 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: In any relationship situation please keep a handle on that famous Ram temper as it will cause more problems especially since your boss Mars is in your own sign and it will rebound on you if you don't! Happy Birthday

TAURUS: Your priority should be taking care of you in any area that requires attention and start with what you know is well overdue. On the upside you can expect a call from a past love or work interest so be ready.

GEMINI: The sun in Aries can bring out a very creative side of you and it also favors getting a handle on any unfinished business that is outstanding. If you feel you need to make a move in this direction, it will be easier as the week proceeds.

CANCER: This week beware of speaking out of turn or harshly to anyone. The consequences are long reaching for you especially if it's a close friend or family. If in doubt, keep your own counsel.

LEO: This is a time for the inner crank to show itself for some of you who are not participating in life as you know you can. The sun in your cousin sign of Aries added with unpredictable Uranus can set things in motion.

VIRGO: It's time for a trip as you benefit from the change of scenery. Just when you think you are about over something up it pops again. This is called unfinished business and it won't leave until it is done.

LIBRA: The sun in your opposite sign of Aries will be ready to help you spring clean this next couple of weeks. Also affecting you is Uranus. He is in a feisty mood and along with Mars can set your temper off. Best to get to the spring-cleaning to use up that energy!

SCORPIO: Life is about to heat up as the Sun and Mars your boss in Aries start the spring off in a cheeky way looking in your general direction. If you are looking for love it's nearer to you than you think so don't be seen out looking less than your best.

SAGITTARIUS: Your boss Jupiter is sitting in your cousin sign of Leo, so be good as he will be watching you and hoping you won't let that impulse regarding spending take over. However all is not totally lost as the sun in your cousin sign Aries smiles at you this week.

CAPRICORN: Mercury moving in a positive way will assist you to get the job done. This month there is a great opportunity to decide on a long-overdue decision in any area. In the meantime be seen out and about looking tip top.

AQUARIUS: You are probably feeling like a break away, but even though it seems impossible at this busy time remember that even a quiet walk on the beach or out in nature can even out your mood. Someone close to you needs some kind of assistance.

PISCES: Your recent birthday has made you more aware of what is not accomplished or remains unfinished in your life. Therefore if you are feeling blue be ready and willing to reach out to someone who needs your help .This is a good time for you to stop and smell the roses!

Of Irish Blood: delving into a very green past...

Exclusive interview with author Mary Pat Kelly and a review of her new novel about an Irish American war photographer who gets caught up in the Irish Rebellion

"I was very surprised when I discovered the Irish College of Paris in 1985," says Of Irish Blood author Mary Pat Kelly. "In the 17th Century when Ireland was under English rule Catholicism was outlawed. forbidden for Catholics to go to school, own land or vote. Priests in Ireland were hunted and killed. At this time 38 colleges were set up across Europe to educate priests and laypeople. The Irish College started still exists and is now the Irish Cultural Center. Of Irish Blood was inspired by the life of my great aunt Nora Kelly, who according to family lore worked in Paris for year as a buyer for Marshall Fields department store. I imagined here finding the Irish College and meeting Ireland's revolutionary women as well as famous American expatriates such as Gertrude Stein."

Kelly weaves real people throughout the story. So much is covered in the book you may wish it had been two books, one on Nora's life in the States before and during WWI, the second about the Irish Rebellion and Nora returning home. Nora is feisty and very creative.

It's 1903. Nora Kelly is 24 and lives in Chicago. She works as switchboard operator, gets promoted, and starts designing clothing for women. She advances by moving to Boston, but becomes involved there with the gangster Tim McShane. She goes to Paris and learns how to use a camera. She meets artists and many well known people Gertrude Stein and Sylvia Beach. It's now 1914. Europe is about to enter the First World War. Nora can't go home so stays in Europe where becomes а war photographer. Being Irish, she becomes embroiled in the Irish rebellion.

"I researched Galway Bay and Of Irish Blood for 40 years," says Kelley. "My Ph.D dissertation was entitled, The Sovereign, Woman: Her Image in the Literature of Ireland. I learned a lot about the myths and sagas of Ireland. And through my documentaries I studied more recent history as well as researching my own family. I viewed 14th century manuscripts in the Royal Irish Academy on Dublin including The Book of the Kelly's which is important in Of Irish Blood. When a fragment is discovered in the Irish college it becomes kind of talisman for the gathering revolutionaries.

While researching Galway Bay, Kelley found the grave of her great great grandmother in Chicago. "There was no headstone.

It was an unmarked grave. So put out a call to her descendants . Now I knew my first cousins and some of my second cousins but the Kelly Clan in Chicago is a mighty group and we found each other and came together to dedicate a Honora's headstone in Calvary cemetery in Chicago. Her grandson Ed Kelly, who became Mayor of Chicago is buried nearby."

"Galway Bay was my way of telling the story of Irish America through my family own history, especially the devastation caused by the Great Starvation of the 1840's and how Honora saved her children and escaped to Chicago," says Kelley. Of Irish Blood is the sequel to Galway Bay. It follows the Kelly family through the next-generation those born in America."

Kelley is currently

writing the book called Irish Above All. That follows the Kelly family through the rise of Ed Kelly as he becomes mayor of Chicago in 1933 and his influence in FDR's administration during the Second World War.

Kelley has lived in New York since 1970. She was born in Chicago.

Spring in Los Angeles and the joys of family visits...

Hi Breeps!

Spring as definitely sprung and so have my allergies - in this germaphobe city of angels it's important to let people know, "it's not a cold, it's just allergies."

I'm thinking of doing one of the full-on allergy tests, just to find out once and for all what exactly I am allergic to. Stay tuned to find out how it goes!

Get fit quick...

This great Spring weather has reminded me to get back into shape and with the help of this week's Meet A Member – ex-Royal Navy trainer Ricky Parcell, I'm well on course. His specific training style is great for those of you who don't have a lot of time available to be in the gym and with access to so many great parks and hiking trails here, there's simply no excuse to be unfit. We have some of LA's best hiking and recreational spots within easy reach, whether you are in Santa Monica or Venice Beach, Griffith Park (which boasts at least three trails), Bronson Canyon, Fryman Canyon or Runyon Canyon.

Family matters

My Mum and Auntie Sue were here again this month for their annual visit - they have thoroughly enjoyed themselves and the unusual hot weather, and thanks to so many of you for making them feel welcome and taking them under your wings. They have enjoyed meeting Bernard and Lynn at a very busy Breakfast Club, not to mention last week's Meet a Member subject, The Postlethwaite Twins. Our tireless BiLA photographer Kerstin Alm took them to Olvera Street downtown and to the top of City Hall to catch a breathtaking 360-degree view of the city I know call home. To top it all off, Irish

Conneely invited us for a meal in Manhattan

Beach for a good 'ol jig at

his home.

Since one of the highlights of visiting LA is to spot someone famous, I managed to blag some tickets for us to see the latest British transplant, James Cordon tape a trial episodes of The Late, Late Show on CBS. His guests were comedienne Whitney Cummings and from NCIS:LA, Eric Christian Olsen. James was very funny and entertaining and I'm sure he's going to be a huge success as he takes over from another Great Brit Craig Ferguson. We wish James and his family a smooth transition to Los Angeles and our Breakfast Club door is always open! Readers who want to snag tickets to see the show - visit liota.com and sign up for tickets. They also have tickets for lots of other shows too, which is a great way to entertain visitors.

Mum and Sue planned to celebrate their final day in Tinseltown by seeing artifacts from the Titanic and a having a nice meal at Soho

House...where perhaps they'll have another celebrity sighting. Regardless, they've made some great friends here and even greater memories... Thanks all...Until next year...bon

Cheers! Craig

ON THE RISE: James Corden's tenure at The Late, Late Show begins Monday night

England recall troubled Trott

Jonathan Trott has been recalled to the full England squad for the first time since leaving the 2013-14 Ashes tour because of stress-related condition.

BW Sport: Rugby/Cricket

Warwickshire batsman, 33, was named in a 16-man party for the three-Test tour of West Indies in April and May.

All-rounders Chris Woakes and Moeen Ali are both ruled out due to injuries suffered during the World Cup.

Yorkshire opener Adam Lyth, Durham seamer Mark Wood and Yorkshire leg-spinner Adil Rashid are all included

The trio are the only players yet to be capped

TROTT: impressive performance with the bat during this winter's England Lions tour in South Africa at Test level in a squad captained by Alastair Cook.

Middlesex opener Sam Robson has been left out despite playing England's last seven Tests, with fast bowler Steven Finn also omitted following a

World disappointing

Trott scored 3,763 runs in 49 England Tests leaving Australia after the first Test in Brisbane in November 2013 due to a long-standing anxiety condition.

Having started the 2014

Warwickshire, his county campaign interrupted when he took another break from the game in April.

But, following sessions with psychiatrist Dr Steve Peters, he returned to the Bears side in May, ending the summer with 628 first-class runs.

He made a triumphant return to international colours in January, scoring double a hundred as captain of England Lions in South Africa.

National selector James Whitaker said: "Jonathan Trott is a player of proven international pedigree and we are delighted to welcome him back into the squad."

SIX NATIONS: England team talk delayed until task is clear

England will hold their talk team half-an-hour before Saturday's 5pm kick-off of the Six Nations decider against France at Twickenham.

Stuart Coach Lancaster will inform the players of the required winning margin after the other two matches finish.

Wales play Italy in Rome (12:30 GMT), before Ireland face Scotland at Murrayfield (14:30 GMT).

"It's unusual situation, but we'll for prepare eventualities," lock Parling Geoff reporters.

England, last won the Six Nations in 2011 and have finished runners-up for the last three seasons, go into the final round of matches top of the table but level on points with Ireland and Wales.

They hold a points difference of +37 to Ireland's +33 and Wales's +12.

England players will be told to focus on their preparations for the match rather than be distracted by score updates from the other

British and Irish Lion Parling is the only change to the side which beat Scotland 25-13 in their last outing, coming in for Dave Attwood.

Parling added: "It is better that he (Lancaster) does it and says 'this is the craic' rather than Chinese whispers from the lads."

Lancaster will wait until half-an-hour before the 17:00 GMT kick-off before issuing instructions players.

He said: "We firstly have to understand will be the challenge. The Ireland match in Scotland will finish at about 4.25pm and we kick off at five.

"We will have to make sure the players understand objectives. It might be just to win the game, or it could be to win it by 10 or 20 points.

"It is certainly a unique situation where end of Championship decided with staggered times, with the teams playing last knowing there is a certain points differential to score."

Arsene Wenger: Monaco did not deserve last-eight place

Arsenal boss Arsene Wenger says Monaco did not deserve their place in the Champions League quarter-finals after failing to register a shot on target in the second leg of their tie.

The Ligue 1 side advanced on away goals after beating Arsenal 3-1 at Emirates Stadium before losing 2-0 in Monaco.

Asked if Monaco deserved to progress, Wenger said: "I don't believe so.

"If you look at the number of shots on target they had you will be surprised. Every defeat hurts but we didn't lose."

contrasted with those of captain Per Mertesacker.

The German World Cup winner said: "The best team went through. Monaco deserved it because they played much better in the first

"We came here and absolutely everything. We could have scored more than two. We regret the first

Needing to score at least three unanswered away goals, the Gunners went ahead through Olivier Giroud's close-range finish.

Aaron Ramsey came

Wenger's comments off the bench to score late on, but Monaco held on.

> It is the fifth straight year Arsenal have exited at the last-16 stage.

> While the previous four defeats have been at the hands of Bayern Munich (twice), AC Milan and Barcelona, Wenger said this one was the most disappointing.

> "I would take it separately from the other years," he said. "The overall situation is very disappointing but if you look at the game tonight it is very positive. This game is in line with what we have done recently."

> Arsenal's victory was their eighth in nine games and Monaco their first home defeat in 17 matches.

But Wenger, a former Monaco coach, blamed the overall result on "impatience" in the first

The Gunners had made it 2-1 at the Emirates with a goal in the 90th minute only for Monaco to score a third in added time.

"We paid for not producing performance we wanted in the first game but this time Monaco played at home, had zero shots on target and go through to the quarter-finals," he

United will be my last job, says Van Gaal

Manchester United manager Louis van Gaal says he will retire from football when his spell with the club ends.

The 63-year-old, who is contracted to United until 2017 after joining the club last summer, wants to spend more time with his family.

Dutchman Van Gaal has coached some of Europe's biggest clubs, including Barcelona, Bayern Munich and Ajax, in his career.

He told the Daily

Telegraph: "I am old. This is my last job. For

He added: "I have to pay attention to my kids, my grandchildren but also to my wife. They deserve it.

"Now I cannot pay that attention. I was not at the birthday of my grandson, for example. I don't like

Van Gaal said he planned to retire to Portugal with wife Truus and "play golf, eat fantastic food".

Dynamo halt Everton's forward progress

England's last remaining team exited European competition as Everton were soundly beaten in their last-16 Europa League tie against Dynamo Kiev Thursday.

In a week where Manchester City and Arsenal exited the Champions League, poor defending cost Everton in Ukraine, as they lost 6-4 on aggregate.

Lukaku's Romelu strike cancelled out Andriy Yarmolenko's wonderful opener.

But Lukasz Teodorczyk, Miguel Veloso, Oleg Gusev and Antunes scored, before Phil Jagielka's headed consolation.

Everton's resounding defeat ends a dismal month for English sides in Europe, with Chelsea, Liverpool and Tottenham also knocked out.

The collective failings mean the country does not have a side in the last eight of the Europa League or Champions League for the first time since 1995.

It will pose further questions on the strength of the domestic game and Martinez will likely be quizzed about his team's defensive generosity as they surrendered a 2-1 first-leg lead in their first European away loss of the season.

England call-up for Harry Kane

Tottenham striker Harry Kane has earned a first senior England call-up for the games against Lithuania and Italy at the end of the month.

The 21-year-old, who has scored 26 goals in 42 games this season, is part of a 24-man squad named by Roy Hodgson. "I think the whole country is excited about Harry," said the England manager. "It would have been a surprise if he wasn't selected."

Kane said: "It's something I'd always dreamed of as a kid."

The forward's Tottenham team-mate. defender Kyle Walker, also returns to the national squad for the first time since November 2013.

England meet Lithuania at Wembley on 27 March in their latest Group E Euro 2016 qualifier before friendly in Turin against Italy on 31 March.

Aston Villa midfielder Fabian Delph is back missing games November's against Slovenia and Scotland with injury.

Only two goalkeepers are named after West Brom's Ben Foster was ruled for 011t month with a knee injury.

regard "We Iack Butland as the third Hodgson keeper," added. "But our under-21s have a game on Friday, so we would prefer him to stay and play in that game.

He will be our third goalkeeper and will come with us if anything happens to the other two keepers in training or during the first game."

Under-21 manager Gareth Southgate will have to contend without his top scorer Kane, who has netted eight times in 10 appearances, for the matches against Czech Republic and Germany.

Touré heading for the exit as City flop again

■ Clichy, Zabaleta, Navas, Fernando, Jovetic and Džeko all tipped to leave in huge summer clear-out

YAYA TOURE is likely to lead a Manchester City exodus this summer after the team again fell short in the Champions League.

Despite the narrow 1-0 scoreline at the Nou Camp on Wednesday night City were completely outclassed by their hosts, who were again orchestrated by the dazzling Lionel Messi. But for the heroics of Joe Hart, City could have lost by half a dozen goals.

According to reports from inside the club, this latest disappointment on Europe's biggest stage will prompt City's deep-pocketed owners to dispense with many of their highest-paid but under-performing stars.

Top of the list is Touré, who still has two years remaining on his contract and as the club's best-paid player, earns at least £220,000 a week but is still coveted by several of the biggest clubs in Europe.

Bacary Sagna, Martín Demichelis, Aleksandar Kolarov, Samir Nasri and James Milner are also said to be on the chopping bock after the team were outclassed by Barcelona over two legs.

Of those players who did not start in Wednesday's loss in Catalonia, Gaël Clichy, Pablo Zabaleta, Jesús Navas, Fernando, Stevan Jovetic and Edin Džeko may also be expendable. Frank Lampard is finally leaving to join New York City FC.

Touré is wanted by his former City manager Roberto Mancini, who is in charge of Internazionale. The City executive are aware of Mancini's interest in taking the Ivorian but whether the Italian club have the finance to buy Touré and match his considerable salary is in the balance.

Last week Mancini said: "Yaya has played in every top league, apart from Germany and Italy. If, as it seems, he wants to have an experience in Italy, then there is this possibility he could come here. It won't be easy but he's a player with incredible technique and character. Would Inter be his first choice? That's certain."

City are keen on De Bruyne, a former Chelsea midfielder who was sold to Wolfsburg for £18m. He has scored nine goals in 25 Bundesliga appearances for a Wolfsburg side nine points clear in second place. At 23 and as an established Belgium international, De Bruyne fits the profile wanted by City in their drive to lower the age of the squad.

Ayoze Pérez, the 21-year-old Newcastle United striker, is also on

GETTING A BIT MESSI: Yaya Touré (and the rest of Manchester City) simply had no answer to Barcelona's little magician on Wednesday night at the Nou Camp

City's radar. At the weekend John Carver, the Newcastle manager, claimed he had "a good chat with Brian Kidd [assistant manager] at Man City about him".

With Džeko having disappointed since signing a new deal last year and Jovetic unhappy at being left out of the Champions League squad for the knockout phase, the hope if either of these were to leave would be that if Pérez were acquired his potential could complement Agüero and Wilfried Bony, the established strikers.

Mourinho eyes £40m FFP windfall

Jose Mourinho has been given the green light to spend big as Chelsea will have access to over £40million in extra Financial Fair Play cash this summer.

The money is likely to fund the pursuit of a superstar who can bring the West London team closer to the Champions League glory craved by owner Roman Abramovich.

And top of the shopping list is thought to be French midfielder Paul Pogba, the former Manchester United prospect who has blossomed into a superstar with Italian outfit Juventus.

Mourinho is free to throw off some of the shackles of the 'one in, one out' policy he has operated under since returning to Stamford Bridge thanks to a whopping £200m Yokohama shirt sponsorship deal, the fact Fernando Torres will no longer be a financial burden on the club and Eden Hazard's new contract.

While £40m may not seem like a huge figure in comparison to what clubs pay on transfer fees, it is extremely significant in terms of FFP costs.

Torres has hit Chelsea for just over £18m-a-year in FFP costs and this summer is the first in which the Blues can budget for not having the Spaniard on the books.

The permanent move to AC Milan that allowed Torres to join Atletico Madrid on loan saw Chelsea accept an £18.72m Financial Fair Play hit on the striker this season in order for him to be wiped off next season's books.

Financial Fair Play accounting dictates that players are valued annually, which is calculated by adding the amortised transfer fee to the annual wage.

And Chelsea have also saved themselves money on FFP by handing Eden Hazard a new contract, even though they have increased his wages to £200,000-a-week.
