Harry and Meghan welcome the New Year in Monaco

■ Economy flight just fine for Prince as he whisks bride-to-be away for romantic break

Prince Harry enjoyed a romantic New Year's Eve celebration with Meghan Markle on the French Riviera after flying to Nice in ECONOMY class, it has emerged.

The pair took a scheduled British Airways flight to Nice and in a bid to avoid being spotted by other passengers, they boarded first and headed straight to the back of the plane, next to the rear toilets.

They also took up three rows of economy seats, either side of the aisle, even though there were only themselves and three "edgy and nervous" bodyguards in their party, according to the Daily Mail.

Prince Harry, 33, sat next to the window with a baseball cap pulled over his face, while Ms Markle, 36, sat next to him in a black beanie hat.

The pair are said to have been met by armed officers from the French border police and are being protected during their stay by members of France's elite Service de la Protection, the police unit responsible for the protection of foreign dignitaries.

One told the newspaper: "It would have been offered and would have been non-negotiable.

"After what happened to his mother in this country and the issue of terrorism, it would be insisted on even for a private trip such as this."

The couple reportedly saw in 2018 in Monaco 'somewhere very private and expensive' and were thought to have shared the moment with a small group of close friends including Prince Albert and his wife, Princess Charlene, who are the head Royals in the independent city-state in the South of France.

Prince Albert, 59, has reportedly already given relationship advice to Harry, 33, and Meghan, 36, following their engagement.

The couple, who are due to wed in May, are said to have hired catering firm Table Talk for their big day, which was also used by the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge for their 2011 wedding and by Pippa Middleton when she married last year. And it was also reported that Meghan will be walked down the aisle by her mother Doria, with whom she remains very close.

"Meghan is determined to keep her family close on her special day," said a source close the actress. "This will not be a 'by the numbers' royal wedding."

Duke at it again
PRINCE Philip added to his long list of verbal howlers on Sunday when he stunned a crowd of onlookers at Sandringham by pointing at a man with a long beard and asking: "Is that a terrorist?"

Philip cracked the edgy joke as he led a procession of Royals and guests to morning service at St Mary Magdalene Church. The 96-year-old was chatting to Princess Anne when he spotted the tall man in his 30s with a hipsterstyle long ginger beard. An onlooker in the crowd said: "Philip was wishing lots of people a Happy New Year and then he spotted this guy with his distinctive beard.

ROMANTIC GETAWAY: Harry and Meghan are thought to have spent New Year's Eve with Prince Albert and Princess Caroline

"He pointed at him in a funny way and turned to one of his royal bodyguards, saying: 'Is that a terrorist?' He was obviously having a little joke, but he said it within earshot of the man who burst out laughing and appeared to find the whole thing hilarious.

"I'm sure Philip didn't mean any harm. His grandson Prince Harry has a ginger beard, so perhaps Philip had been cracking jokes about that over Christmas."

Philip walked to the church beside Anne who was wearing a green coat and two-tone scarf. The pair were followed by Anne's husband Sir Timothy Laurence, Prince Edward and his 14-year-old daughter Lady Louise, and other guests staying at Sandringham.

News from Britain

Serial killer released early to murder third lover, court hears

A garage worker who was freed to murder despite having thrown his wife to her death from a balcony before strangling another partner has become Britain's latest serial killer.

Theodore Johnson, 64, faces life in prison after admitting his third killing on Monday, having served less than seven years in total for the killing of two previous partners.

Johnson beat his former partner, Angela Best, 51, over the head six times with a clawhammer and strangled her with a dressing gown cord in Dartmouth Park, north London, in December 2016.

He had previously been convicted of manslaughter twice - once for throwing his wife to her death from a balcony in 1981, and again in 1993 for strangling his former girlfriend with a belt. Johnson was released from his first sentence within five years after arguing in court that he had been provoked, and the second within two years after claiming diminished responsibility.

Hours after murdering Ms Best, a mother of four who has grandchildren,

Mark Heywood, for the prosecution, said: "This is a man who is controlling and violent to the women in his life and who, when crossed, will kill."

Johnson, who was born in Jamaica and moved to Britain in 1980, started a relationship with Ms Best in 1995 soon after he was released from his sentence for the second killing. She had been unaware of his past but left him after learning of it in letters she found.

manslaughter

Ms Best's children described Johnson as abusive and controlling and said he had punched her when she confronted him about cheating on her. Johnson tried to get her back and stalked her near her home in Tottenham.

On December 14, the day she was last seen alive, she told her daughter that she was going to see Johnson the next day to accompany him to an appointment at the Jamaican high commission.

When police searched his home they found Ms Best's body with a dressing gown belt around her neck and a bloodstained clawhammer near by. A post-mortem examination revealed she had been hit at least six times over the head.

Mr Heywood said that Ms Best had recently met a new man. "The defendant is someone who would rather that she did not live, if that life was to be with anyone but him. And so, quite simply, he killed her."

Johnson was first convicted of manslaughter after a murder trial at Stafford crown court in 1981. He had hit his wife, Yvonne Johnson, 23, with a vase and pushed her off the balcony of a ninth-floor flat. The couple had two children and lived in Wolverhampton.

He was freed after five years and in 1986 moved to London with his second victim, Yvonne Bennett, 31. Ms Bennett, who worked at an old people's home, ended the relationship in 1992 after he became violent. She had started seeing another man when Johnson strangled her with a belt during a row at her flat. The killer then tried to hang himself from a tree but failed after the string he used snapped.

Theodore Johnson beat Angela Best with a hammer and then strangled her

After that killing he spent time in a psychiatric unit, the court was told.

Suzanne Jacob, chief executive of the domestic abuse charity Safe Lives, said she feared that not enough information had been shared between police and mental health services to determine what kind of risk Johnson posed.

"Our hearts go out to Angela's family but also to the families of the other two women," she said. "After two such serious convictions, how was it possible that this was allowed to happen again? Multiple agencies are going to have to look at what they did and didn't do."

Johnson, of Dartmouth Park Hill, Islington, north London, will be sentenced on Friday.

WATER HAZARD: Storm Eleanor first came ashore near Salthill, Co. Galway

Storm Eleanor batters Britain

2018 got off to a frigid start for most Britons, with Storm Eleanor battering much of the country and claiming at least one life.

The victim was found floating off Seaford, East Sussex, on Tuesday and at press time the body's identity had not been released. At least another four people were injured by falling trees as the storm ravaged Britain. In Christchurch, Dorset, two people were airlifted to hospital after a tree hit their car during strong winds. A man suffered leg injuries after being hit by a tree in Ashton under Hill, Worcs, while another man suffered minor injuries in Hensol, south Wales, when a tree fell on his car.

A family in Cornwall was forced to flee their home after a stretch of the harbour wall at Portreath washed away. Thousands of homes across the UK were plunged into darkness and left without electricity as winds of up to 100mph knocked out power supplies. Torrential downpours and high tides sparked coastal flooding, while trees and debris strewn over railway lines brought travel chaos. Temperatures in rural areas plunged to -10C (14F). Flights into and out of major airports, including Heathrow, Manchester, London City and Southampton, were delayed or cancelled.

The storm unleashed the worst of its fury on Tuesday night, with gusts of 100mph reported by the Met Office in Cumbria. Winds of between 70mph and 80mph were recorded widely through the early hours of Wednesday, with unsettled conditions lasting throughout the day. About 1,000 homes in Yorkshire were left without electricity.

Five Brits dead in Sydney seaplane crash

■ Daughter and granddaughter of former Tory MP among the victims

FIVE Britons were killed at the weekend when a seaplane crashed into a river while on a sight-seeing trip in Australia.

Emma Bowden, 42, and her daughter Heather, 11, along with Ms. Bowden's fiancée, Richard Cousins, CEO of leading British catering firm Compass, and his two adult sons, William and Edward, died as the plane crashed into Hawkesbury River off Jerusalem Bay just north of the city. The plane was returning to Sydney Harbour after a lavish lunch at the locally renowned Cottage Point Inn.

Ms Bowden was the daughter of Gerry Bowden, a former Conservative MP who served for nine years in Margaret Thatcher's government in the 1980s and into the early 1990s.

All six people on board including the pilot were killed in the tragedy.

The DHC-2 Beaver Seaplane was operated by sight-seeing tour operator Sydney Seaplanes. The same aircraft flew the Duchess of Cambridge's sister Pippa and her husband James Matthews to an exclusive restaurant on their honeymoon last May. It is understood the British tourists were on the same "wine and dine" flight to the Cottage Point Inn at lunchtime Sunday.

'nose-dived'

An eyewitness in a boat filmed the last seconds of the flight as the pilot flew over wooded upland by the bay. Moments later, the seaplane plunged into the water and sank rapidly. Myles Baptiste described how he saw the plane flying towards him from about 1,500 feet away when it hit the water. He said: "It made a tight right-hand turn and as it actually turned around, the wings dipped and it nose-dived straight into the water."

It is understood the plane had just taken off for the 20-minute flight back to Sydney when it crashed. The five passengers are believed to have been on a £300-a-head package deal including a three-course lunch at the award-winning venue. The trip, which lasts around four hours, is topped off by a flight over the Sydney Harbour Bridge and Opera House.

A police spokesman said: "For reasons that are not known at this stage, the plane has hit the water and it has subsequently sunk."

Mr Bowden, 82, released a statement to the British newspaper The Telegraph on behalf of himself and his other children Kate, Rebecca and Oliver, on the loss of his daughter and granddaughter.

"Gerry Bowden and all his family are devastated by the loss of dear Emma and dear Heather who spread happiness and joy among all they met throughout their lives," the statement said.

"We deeply feel their loss but their memory will shine brightly forever. We were looking forward to the wedding in the summer.

"We were all utterly delighted Emma and Richard were so obviously in love and looking forward to a life together. As a family we would appreciate peace and privacy at this sad time."

'devastated'

Emma, the art editor of OK! Magazine, met Mr Cousins in a London pub about a year after his wife died of cancer.

The two families had been thrilled Mr Cousins and Ms Bowden were so happy together. They had sent out invitations just before Christmas for a planned June wedding.

It was also revealed that Ms Bowden had named her daughter Heather in honour of her mother, also called Heather who had died at the age of 44.

Ms Bowden's friends have taken to social media to pay tribute.

"A b s o l u t e l y devastated having found out about the sad loss of Emma Bowden and her beautiful daughter Heather," Natalie Posner wrote.

"I was luckily enough to have worked with Emma for 10 years at OK! Her smile lit up the room

... she was one of the kindest, warmest people I've ever met. Sending love and prayers to her family. Xoxox"

Several visiting celebrities have flown on the company's sightseeing planes, including singers Ed Sheeran, Sam Smith, billionaire Bill Gates and actor Cuba Gooding Jr. Sydney Seaplanes have suspended flights until further notice.

Managing director Aaron Shaw said: "All at Sydney Seaplanes are deeply shocked by this incident and the resulting loss of life. "We wish to pass on our heartfelt condolences to the family and friends of the passengers and pilot who were tragically killed."

Households in Somerset, Devon and Cornwall were also hit by power cuts. Major bridges and roads were closed amid high winds as drivers faced chaos on the M25, the M6 and the M5.

The Thames Barrier in London was also closed mid-morning to protect the capital from flooding while the Environment Agency issued nationwide alerts. National Rail reported disruption to railway services across the country. Speed restrictions were brought in during the morning, before the high winds died down later in the day, allowing services to return to normal.

Police on the Isle of Man said roads were closed due to fallen trees, flooding and debris from damaged buildings. The Severn Crossing, between Gloucestershire and Monmouthshire, and the Orwell Bridge, near Ipswich, were both closed on Tuesday night. And gusts of 60mph sent a trampoline bouncing down a road in Thamesmead, south London, Tuesday morning. Northern Ireland took the first hit on Tuesday, as Storm Eleanor ripped in from the Atlantic, leaving 20,000 homes and businesses without power.

Vegans go bananas after chef boasts of 'spiking' meals at Shropshire eaterie

A chef who boasted that she had "spiked a vegan" has offered to resign from the chain of restaurants that she co-founded in the wake of death threats over her remarks.

Laura Goodman, 47, is the co-owner and head chef for Carlini, which has two restaurants in Shropshire. She provoked a storm on social media after she wrote in a Facebook post: "Pious, judgmental vegan (who I spent all day cooking for) has gone to bed, still believing she's a vegan", adding: "Spiked a vegan a few hours ago."

Miserly assortment takes the biscuit

Cadbury has been criticized for selling a variety box product which contains just EIGHT biscuits.

A disgruntled customer, who posted a video of him opening the Cadbury Biscuit Assortment on social media, said the confectionery company was "quite literally taking the biscuit".

The customer's wife, who works as a teacher, was given the box by one of her pupils before Christmas.

The husband said: "It was a box given to my wife from one of her pupils at Christmas which was a lovely gesture.

"We saved the biscuits until after Christmas and we sat down with a glass of red wine and thought we'd open it up and tuck in.

"I saw eight biscuits and thought they would be double-stacked. To my amazement it was just one biscuit in each compartment.

"Looking at the depth of the box, a customer would think there were lots of biscuits in there. It's not just a waste of packaging but quite misleading to the customer."

The comments sparked a furious response, with some Facebook users describing it as "disgusting" that a chef would brag about serving non-vegan food to vegan diners. The Shifnal restaurant's rating on Google has since fallen to one star, with comments from reviewers including: "She laughs at vegans on the internet by not serving vegan food."

Her fiancé and the restaurants' co-owner, Mike Gale, said she had received threats of violence and legal action over the remarks.

"She recognises she needs some time away from the business to clear her head and think about what happened," Mr Gale told the BBC.

A spokesman for the restaurant, which has another branch in Albrighton, Shropshire, said: "Laura Goodman has today tendered her resignation from Carlini and the board of directors are currently considering their options."

After the initial response to Ms Goodman's remarks, Mr Gale explained that his fiancée had been upset that a group of vegan diners had decided not to order any of the vegan-friendly meals that she had prepared specially on their request.

He said she had not added meat to any dish and said she had posted the "flippant" remark on Facebook after she saw that one of the diners had ordered a pizza with mozzarella, which is not vegan-friendly. He said she made the comments in the early hours of the morning after she had "probably had too much to drink", posting the remarks on a Facebook group used by people to "show off" about things they had done.

The restaurant chain apologised in a statement, explaining that Ms Goodman's comments had been "ill judged", but the restaurant's rating on Google has suffered, with comments from reviewers including: "She laughs at vegans on the internet by not serving vegan food."

Shropshire Council has said it is investigating after receiving complaints.

Ms Goodman has since reportedly said she is "deeply sorry" for her remarks and has been "deeply distressed" by the response.

Both restaurants were due to reopen this weekend. The couple opened the first Carlini restaurant in Shifnal last February, spending £200,000 on opening a second in nearby Albrighton two months ago.

Sir Elton hails 'perfect' send off for late mother

■ After a long estrangement, singer reconciled with Sheila Farebrother shortly before her death

SIR Elton John paid tribute to his late mother on Monday after the "perfect" private funeral at the weekend.

Sheila Farebrother died, aged 92, in December – just months after she and Sir Elton, 70, healed a nine-year rift. The singer told fans how he had used the family's chapel in Old Windsor for the service and revealed it was attended by some of Mrs Farebrother's closest relatives.

Sir Elton posted a picture on social media site Instagram, saying: "Dear Mum, today's funeral was perfect. "Having the service in the family chapel and attended by your brother and sister brought us all comfort. Having the service where Nan lived out her final days brought you and your mother back together again.

Elton John with Sheila Farebrother, who died in December. The singer's mother blamed their nine-year estrangement on David Furnish (far right), whom the star married in 2014

"Thank you for bringing me into the world and for all that you have done for me. Love, Elton."

Sir Elton said he had been left in a state of shock after his mother's death on December 4. Mrs Farebrother previously told how her relationship with Sir Elton fell apart after he asked her to break off ties with Bob Halley, his former PA, and John Reid, his former manager and lover.

She said: "I told him, 'I'm not about to drop them.' Then, to my utter amazement he told me he hated me. Imagine, to me, his mother."

Mrs Farebrother laid the blame for the breakdown with David Furnish, who married Sir Elton in December 2014. She feared Mr Furnish had taken over all aspects of her son's life at the expense of his old friends and family. She said at the time: "Everyone who used to be invited to the parties doesn't get invited any more and we know who is behind that. It appears all they are interested in these days are people with wealth and fame."

Sir Elton was inundated with support from fans after breaking the news of her passing online, which included the touching parting message: "Travel safe, Mum. Thank you for everything."

Hard Day's Knight for Ringo...and it's about time, says Yoko

■ Drummer will receive a knighthood after gaining an MBE with The Beatles in 1965

Yoko Ono has responded to the news that Ringo Starr will be receiving a knighthood.

Starr was made an MBE (Member of the British Empire) as part of The Beatles back in 1965 but it was announced on December 29 that he will now be awarded a knighthood. Paul McCartney was awarded a knighthood in 1997.

Writing on Twitter, Ono said: Dear Sir Ringo, I am very happy that you have received this honour from the Queen. It's about time! Huge congratulations! I am delighted for you and your family. It is an honour for everyone in The Beatles family and I love you very much.

McCartney also congratulated his former bandmate, sharing an image of the pair of them on Instagram and captioning it: "Huge congrats Sir Ringo! Sir Richard Starkey has a nice ring to it. Best drummer best pal! X Paul"

Meanwhile, Starr recently attracted controversy for his comments in support of Brexit. "The people voted and, you know, they have to get on with it," he said.

Suddenly, it's like, 'Oh, well, we don't like that vote. What do you mean you don't like that vote? You had the vote, this is what won, let's get on with it.'

He quipped, "but don't tell Bob Geldof" and added: "I think it's a great move. I think, you know, to be in control of your country is a good move."

Nigella and Angelina neck and neck in race for feminine ideal

AS she approaches her 58th birthday her ageless beauty is attracting as many fans as her cooking skills.

Britain's leading plastic surgeon has revealed that the looks of TV chef Nigella Lawson are among the most popular requested by women visiting his Harley Street Clinic.

Dr Fulvio Urso-Baiarda said while Hollywood beauty Angelina Jolie still tops the list, women who visit his Eterno clinic in London are increasingly asking for cheekbones like Nigella's, as well as striving to emulate her flawless skin.

He said: "Angelina Jolie is very popular because she has the perfect face in terms of features and proportions. But a less obvious but equally as popular celebrity people often tell me they want to look like is Nigella Lawson, saying they want her cheekbones or their skin to look like hers."

"She's also lost weight in recent years. But instead of looking gaunt her skin is glowing with health, so she obviously has great elasticity.

NIGELLA: 'great elasticity', apparently

ANGELINA: 'the perfect face'

"Women come in wanting their skin to look just as healthy."

He explained: "I study celebrities on the television because of my profession. In my opinion she's completely natural and doesn't appear to have had any work done."

When it comes to men, accounting for 10 per cent of his clientele, the most popular requests are Ashton Kutcher's lips, Johnny Depp's jawline and Ben Affleck's nose.

Dr Urso-Baiarda also said women are no longer having to "go under the knife" for a more youthful look. He said patients are increasingly opting for swifter non-surgical procedures, with a 300 per cent surge in lunchtime "tweakments" in the past year. For customers wanting Nigella's cheekbones one of his most popular choices is the 30-minute "Instant Cheeks" procedure.

He said: "Lunchtime procedures with minimum recovery time are increasingly popular with young, professional women in their twenties, thirties and forties."

COMPO AND CLEGG: Bill Owen and Peter Sallis are buried side by side in their beloved Yorkshire Dales

Old man's plot: Last of the Summer Wine stars are reunited in death

LAST of The Summer Wine stars Peter Sallis and Bill Owen have been reunited at a graveyard overlooking the town made famous by the show.

The pair became best friends during the 26 years they spent filming the sitcom before Compo star Owen died in 1999, aged 85. He had picked the spot where he wanted to be laid to rest 20 years earlier, while sitting on a hill overlooking the local church during a break in filming.

After the funeral Sallis – who played Clegg and later voiced Wallace in the Wallace And Gromit films – said he wanted to be buried alongside his friend. He passed away last July, aged 96, and the pair now lie side by side in the graveyard at St John's Church in picturesque Holmfirth in the Yorkshire Dales.

Local greengrocer Alan Bray, a lifelong friend of Owen's, said: "Peter wanted to be by the side of his friend even though they were both Londoners. "It is a very nice end and touching tribute [to the show] that they are together again at last in the beautiful countryside they loved."

Owen's gravestone bears the words "Here lies Wm J Owen Rowbotham. Actor, Playwright", while a temporary cross reads "Peter Sallis OBE 1921-2017."

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of THOMAS L. DUNN, JR. AKA THOMAS LERUE DUNN, JR., THOMAS L. DUNN, TOM LERUE DUNN, JR., TOM DUNN, TOM L. DUNN, T. DUNN, THOMAS LARUE DUNN, THOMAS DUNN.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act with limited authority. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 01/12/18 at 8:30AM in Dept. 5 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Brits in LA

Meet a Member: Earl Palmer

Meet Earl Palmer. Originally from Wales, he moved to LA several years ago to pursue an acting career.

Was there a particular reason you chose LA?

After finding a love of acting at the tender age of 30 and appearing in an independent feature film which was shot in Wales, I made the decision that I wanted to crack the acting world and not just treat it as a hobby. Sadly I wasn't in a financial position to go back to school and study, so I learnt on the job for a number of years working with some fantastically talented actors and directors who were generous with their time and helped me grow as an artist. I decided to attend a networking week here in LA a few years back once I was confident I was ready and to see if I had what it takes to make it in this town. Thankfully I received a lot of positive feedback, so moving to LA became one of my goals. I was able to obtain my O1 visa, sign with RPM talent agency in Burbank and found a rugby club (Eagle Rock Rugby Club, training Tuesday and Thursday 8pm John Francis Poly High School) that was willing to help me relocate. There is something special and iconic about being an actor in this city and seeing the Hollywood sign as you attend an audition. It is surreal, humbling and exciting and constantly keeps me enthused.

What one thing do you miss from home?

Fish and Chips....No.... Walking down the street and bumping into friends randomly all the time.... Nope....I am cheating here clearly haha I don't just want to give the obvious answer of family, friends and godchildren, so my one answer will be the rugby. Going to the games, singing the anthem, the atmosphere, seeing players I have played with and against in the stadium and pubs, everyone in Cardiff happy, Wales international days are like no other sporting event, they are magical. Pretty much everything about international day whether I go to the game or not I miss. Missing the games live here and staying off social media

EARL PALMER: He misses the rugby...and not much else to watch the game on youtube 24hrs later isn't the same.

What do you find the biggest difference in living here versus Wales?

People are so friendly here. A stranger will strike up a conversation with you randomly, and as a Brit, that takes some getting used to. BUTTTTT, once these wonderfully lovely, friendly people get into their cars, they turn into aggressive Nascar drivers. All pleasantries go out the window and it's get somewhere as fast as you can with little regard for anyone else driving. But as I say, out of cars, people here are awesome.

What would you suggest to others who are thinking about making the move here?

Do it. It really is a wonderful city. You have the ocean, the mountains, incredible food, lovely people, the weather is amazing when it isn't summer and it turns into hell's waiting room in the valley and there is so much to do here. You may never get used to the traffic, but it a huge city, it is to be expected. If you are thinking about it, do it, I don't think you will regret it.

Lastly, how can we find you on the internet?

I am all over instagram at the moment, it is definitely my favourite social media tool, so please find me @ earltheactor which is also my twitter account name and my acting facebook page, facebook.com/ earltheactor/ If you have a spare 15 minutes and would like to smile, please watch my award-winning short comedy/ superhero film Daipool on youtube..., just search Earl Palmer Actor. Thank you Brits in LA.

The English Wife: knocking off a knickerbocker...

■ Exclusive interview with author Lauren Willing discussing her murder mystery set in New York's deceptively beautiful Gilded Age

"Confession, this was not the book I was meant to be writing," says The English Wife author Lauren Willing.

"I was researching a family saga set in Belle Epoque France... an image crept into my head of a woman in a pompadour on a parapet, falling, falling, into the river below. I knew immediately, that woman on the parapet. I tried to go back to my beleaguered Frenchmen. They seemed flat in comparison to that woman on the parapet. She demanded her story be told. In a way, the real inspiration for this book was the way society treats women, the stories we tell about women, the slander we're so quick to believe."

In The English Wife, Annabelle grows up in a Tudor manor in England. She meets and marries the aristocratic American Bayard Van Duyvil and moves with him to New York where they take up residence in an estate on the banks of the Hudson. She gives birth to twins. But then rumors begin to swirl about an affair between Annabelle and the architect of the house. Bayard is found dead, a knife in his chest and Annabelle goes missing.

Bayard was a Knickerbocker – the term invented by Washington

Irving to label the old wealthy families of New York. Often of Dutch descent, the term overlaps with the group known as the Astor 400, New York's crème de la crème, who lives lives every bit as privileged as the British aristocracy. It's different for the Knickerbocker women. They were not allowed to go out without someone accompanying them. The men are free to frequent the nearby warehouses or take a mistress as long as they stay discreet. But if a wife is even rumored to have taken a love, she faces rejection and overt hostility from her society peers.

"I grew up convinced that New York was a semi-detached part of England, and that if I wandered just the right way through Central Park, I'd come upon a Norman castle and a band of knights returning from Crusade," says Willing. "My bookshelves were populated with Knights of the Round Table, the Scarlet Pimpernel twirling his quizzing glass and snatching aristos from the guillotine, Noel Streetfield heroines trying their luck on the London stage. It didn't help that I went to one of those tiny all-girls schools where the older teachers still spoke in fake British accents."

The English Wife moves from 1890s London to Belle Epoque Paris to Gilded Age Newport to the seedy and elegant bits of 1890s Manhattan to the mansions of the Hudson Valley. Willing did research through memoirs, diaries, letters, monographs, museum exhibits, glossy coffee table books, house tours, burlesque theatre in London, early photographic exhibitions in Paris, beach clubs in Newport, charitable organizations in New York, and refurbished mansions in the Hudson Valley. Willing says a decade ago she would spend her time in the British Library, the Public Records Office, and the basement of Harvard's Widener Library. With so much digital today, she does most of her research from the comfort of her home.

The English Wife is Willing's seventeenth novel. She's also co-written two novels with Karen White and Beatriz Williams. Willing has won a RITA Award for Best Regency Historical, Booksellers Best, Golden Leaf, and Reviewers' Choice awards for Best Historical, and named in the American Library Association's annual lists of the best genre fiction.

BOOK CORNER with Gabrielle Pantera

The English Wife has yet to be optioned for film or TV.

Willing is currently writing a book set in 19th century Barbados, spanning from the 1810s to the cholera epidemic of 1854.

Willing is based in New York, spent most of her life in a twenty block stretch of the Upper East Side. She studied at Cambridge and spent time in London for dissertation research. She was born in Philadelphia.

The English Wife: A Novel by Lauren Willig. Hardcover: 384 pages, Publisher: St. Martin's Press (January 9, 2018), Language: English. ISBN: 9781250056276, $26.99

BRITS IN LA

BERNARD SKIBBEN: the Mayor of Breakfast

Happy New Year Everyone!

2017 was quite an eventful one, wasn't it? The entire world seemed to be forced on to a giant roller coaster of crazy political shenanigans combined with multiple natural disasters. They couldn't even be overshadowed by the 'once in a lifetime' total solar eclipse back in August.

My one wish for 2018 is that the madness stops, or at least slows down. I think we could all do with a minute to recover our equilibrium. I like to use the occasion of a new year to take stock and remind myself to pay more attention to what is truly important. It's the perfect opportunity to clear out the cobwebs and if needs be, to turn over a new leaf.

So many Brits in LA members relocate here and start out their journey very focused, but over time get a bit distracted - Craig listed some great tips in last weeks column, including the very common mistake a lot of us make....."Don't get caught up in partying!"

With award season almost upon us, there will be so many 'important' events that you will be convinced you mustn't miss, but I totally agree with Craig on this one. That was one of the reasons why we launched our weekly Breakfast Club. It surfaced from an idea a friend of ours had. He would organize weekly breakfast gatherings for his friends. It was a great start to the day and meant you could still get some social time in but avoid late nights and possible hangovers. Sadly, over time it fizzled out, due to people moving on etc. However, Craig and I realized it would be something Brits in LA members could enjoy too, so here we are almost nine years on and we are still going strong at Cecconi's in West Hollywood - we still meet every Tuesday 9.30 a.m-11.30 a.m, and have even been featured on Blue Peter (and have the badges to prove it!). Next week will be a very special one, as our honorable 'Mayor of Breakfast' Bernard Skibben turns 90 on January 13th!

Bernard is the heart of our Breakfast Club and goes out of his way to make sure new members feel welcome - plus he keeps an eye on the rest of us too! I think many of you have had your special moments with Bernard over the years, so if you want us to pass on any birthday messages or cards, drop us a line at BritsinLA@gmail.com and we will make sure they all get to him. Make sure to put his name in the subject field to ensure we don't miss any.

And if you can attend next week week, even better! He claims his sprightly appearance and attitude is due to the huge amount of Cadburys he consumes (!), so if you want to get him a gift you obviously can't go wrong with a box or bar of 'eternal youth' chocolate.

Lastly, a big congratulations to Team "We are only here for Sandro" who won the first pub quiz of 2018. I was extra delighted, as I was part of this winning line-up! I also got a Guinness T-shirt for 'being funny', although with hindsight it might have been a bribe to stop me interrupting!

Do come along next Tuesday evening if you fancy your chances - it usually ends around 10pm so you can still get a fairly early night and perhaps go home with a cash prize too.

Visit us at www.britsinla.com for details on all our upcoming events - and watch this space for news on The Toscars 2018!

Cheers!

Sexy new role confirms Potter actor's 'magic' transformation

LOOKS like somebody's been drinking a polyjuice potion!

Harry Potter actor Matthew Lewis has clearly left the days of playing goofy teenager Neville Longbottom a long way behind him after making British viewers swoon in a topless scene in the UK TV hit Girlfriends...

Oo-er!

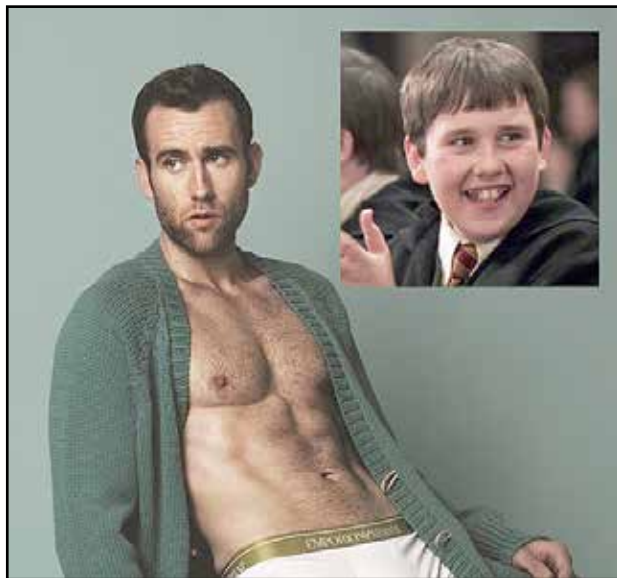

The 28-year-old, who returned to British screens this week, has clearly undergone a transformation, and his new manly image - displayed to full effect via a topless scene - helped send viewing figures through the roof.

His character Tom was seen posing in only his boxers, showing off his muscular physique.

The scene saw him opposite on-screen mum Zoe Wannamaker - who he also acted alongside in Harry Potter: The Philosopher's Stone.

It wasn't long before Twitter was awash with fans in a frenzy swooning over the star.

"Oh hello Neville Longbottom," one user said.

Another added: "That weird moment you realise you fancy Neville Longbottom."

A third disbelieving viewer commented: "I'm not sure Neville Longbottom looked like that in Harry Potter."

While one user was thankful for the cheeky scene, saying: "Big shout out to the gratuitous nudity of Matt Lewis on Girlfriends."

Girlfriends follows three friends (Wanamaker, Miranda Richardson and Phyllis Logan) as they struggle with the changes and responsibilities of being a modern woman of a certain age.

The six-part drama continues next Wednesday at 9pm. Can't wait to see this on U.S television!

Beckinsale set to knock 'em dead in 'The Widow'

Hit writers Harry Williams and Jack Williams have enticed sexy British actress Kate Beckinsale with an "ambitious" new script.

The Underworld and Love & Friendship star Beckinsale will take the lead in the new ITV/Amazon Prime Video production called The Widow.

Oo-er!

The daughter of the late Rising Damp and Porridge actor Richard Beckinsale will play Georgia Wells, who has her life turned upside-down with a telephone call in the middle of the night.

Her husband of more than 10 years, Will, is reported dead after a plane crash in the jungles of Africa.

Some three years later, Georgia learns something shocking about the disappearance of her spouse.

Believing he may now be alive, she heads to Kinshasa in the Democratic Republic of the Congo in an attempt to uncover the truth.

One of the industry's hottest writing duos, the Williams brothers said 44-year-old Kate was "perfect" for their gripping storyline, which starts filming later this year.

Jack added: "The Widow is our most ambitious and cinematic piece to date."

In a tribute to Kate, he said: "We could not imagine anyone more perfect for the role."

The London-based duo shot to fame after writing the gripping

British crime drama The Missing, and the hilarious Fleabag, which followed the dating misadventures of a single woman in London. (The Missing was seen on these shores on Starz, while Fleabag can be streamed on Amazon). Among their other UK TV hits are Liar, Relik and White Dragon.

The pair have a history of getting big names on board for their dramas.

They signed Downton Abbey's Joanne Froggatt for Liar, bagged James Nesbitt, Keeley Hawes and David Morrissey for The Missing and lured Game of Thrones' Richard Dormer for Relik.

This is a great start to the year for Kate, who is personally one of my favorites!

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF GILLIAN MARY NEUFELD aka GILLIAN M. NEUFELD aka GILLIAN NEUFELD
Case No. 17STPB11419
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of GILLIAN MARY NEUFELD aka GILLIAN M. NEUFELD aka GILLIAN NEUFELD

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Richard Norene in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Richard Norene be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on January 22, 2018 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 57 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. # BRITISH WEEKLY SPORT

England slips let Aussies off the hook

SYDNEY: the fifth and final Ashes test was finely poised at press time towards tea on the second day.

At 107-2 Australia trailed England's first innings total of 346 by 235 runs with 8 wickets remaining, but with Aussie captain Steve Smith at the crease that lead could look very slender indeed by Friday morning.

As so often in this series, Joe Root's men may have cause to regret a moment or two of carelessness that allowed Australia to get back into the match just when England seemed to be getting the upper hand. This time around it was the sight of England losing two wickets in the final two overs of the first day that will likely be the culprit.

winning the toss

With Root and Malan looking untroubled in the midst of a 133-run partnership that lifted the tourists from 95-3 to 228, they blotted their copybook as, in Mitchell Starc's first over with the second new ball, Root clipped to square leg to depart for 83.

The next man in, Jonny Bairstow, chose not to use a nightwatchman, only to edge Josh Hazlewood behind to leave England 233-5 at the close.

England earlier slipped to 95-3 after winning the toss following a delay of more than two hours because of rain.

Mark Stoneman, Alastair Cook and James Vince all wasted good starts, the latter pair falling in the space of seven runs after a stand of 60.

Following a drawn fourth Test in Melbourne that was played on a

NO NIGHTWATCHMAN: the dismissal of Bairstow with the last ball of the first day may cost England dearly lifeless pitch, Sydney has offered true bounce for the batsmen, a hint of seam for the pace bowlers and turn for off-spinner Nathan Lyon - encouraging for debutant Mason Crane, the youngest spinner to play for England in 90 years.

Australia, who have already secured the Ashes, gave little away and it was only towards the end of the day that England, chasing a first Test win down under in 10 attempts, looked to be on top of the game.

Starc's intervention first left the contest in the balance, before Hazlewood tipped it Australia's way.

slices of luck

The dramatic conclusion was the series in microcosm - Australia wresting back the initiative just as England seemed to be gaining control.

Root and Malan had steered England from trouble, Malan returning to his position as England's leading runscore in the series, and Root primed to improve on a conversion rate in which he has only reached three hundreds from his last 19 Test half-centuries.

Root made just 17 from the first 50 deliveries he faced but opened up after tea with his most regular methods of scoring - square on the off side and tucks off the pads.

Malan was even more circumspect, scoring 18 from his first 73 balls. His watchfulness outside off stump remained throughout, mixed with cover drives and jabs on the leg side.

They both had slices of luck - Malan could have been run out in a mix-up, then edged Lyon past home captain Steve Smith at slip when on 34. Meanwhile, Root top-edged Pat Cummins in between two fielders on the leg-side boundary when on 67.

On the plus side though the English tail did wag quite vigorously, with Moeen Ali, Curran and Broad all doing their bit to steer the total to an almost-respectable 346.

In reponse Australia got off to the worst possible start as Bancroft was bowled for a duck by Broad with just a single run on the board, before Warner and Khawaja got into their stride, adding another 87 runs before Warner, so often England's hate figure on this tour, edged a ball from Anderson behind for Bairstow to take a routine catch.

But with Smith at the crease and in ruthless form this winter, England may yet have cause to regret not piling up a higher total.

Conte opens door to Luiz exit

ANTONIO CONTE has opened the door for David Luiz to leave Chelsea this month - as long as a suitable replacement is coming the other way.

Luiz fears he may not get back into the first team when he returns from a knee injury, putting his place in Brazil's World Cup squad at risk. And Conte says he does not want unhappy players at the club spoiling dressing-room unity. But Luiz, who is back in training, will not be allowed to go unless the Blues can sign a replacement.

Conte said: "I was a player - I will understand if someone is worried for the World Cup. I will understand if someone is thinking in this way.

"I prefer to have players very happy to stay here than to have players that are unhappy. Because when you are unhappy you transfer this to the other players, to me and to my staff and I don't like this. I like to avoid this situation."

That has implications not just for Luiz, who missed the midweek clash with Arsenal but could return against Norwich in the FA Cup on Saturday, but also for Michy Batshuayi, who wants a loan move. The Belgium striker has started only three league games since he joined from Marseille for £33million in July 2016, and his World Cup hopes are also under threat.

Conte said: "Batshuayi has played much more than last season. My task is to try to improve every single player in my squad.

"And when there is the right moment and the club ask me something about the transfer market I give my opinion.

"My expectation is for all the players to stay here and try to continue to work. It is impossible to sell one player or send one on loan unless we take another player."

Arsene Wenger yesterday denied any interest in Luiz, who was benched by Conte amid rumours of a bust-up in November and has not been missed since Andreas Christensen replaced him, but Juventus are keeping tabs on his situation. West Ham have twice tried to sign Batshuayi and may come in again if Chelsea make him available. The Blues could still rival Manchester City for Arsenal's Alexis Sanchez and are looking for defenders after missing out on Virgil van Dijk.

Conte, who has ruled out a move for veteran Italy defender Giorgio Chiellini but remains interested his Juventus team-mate Alex Sandro, does not expect his mobile to be buzzing this month.

"My phone won't ring - I changed the number," he said. "But I am not involved in the transfer market. I am a coach. The transfer market is a task for the club. "It is right for the club to be involved 100 per cent in the market and try to do the best for the team. "I can give my opinion but the club decide on the players they want to buy, or invest in. I trust in my club."

Sir Alex pays tribute to Wenger as former rival eclipses his record

Former Manchester United manager Sir Alex Ferguson has congratulated his former bitter rival Arsene Wenger on breaking his record for most Premier League matches managed.

On New Year's Eve, the Frenchman oversaw a 1-1 draw away to West Brom to take his league tally in charge of Arsenal to 811 games - one more than Ferguson managed during his own 27-year spell at Old Trafford. For the historic moment was ruined for the Arsenal manager as the result didn't turn out to be the way they wanted as an 89th-minute penalty from Jay Rodriguez made sure they get nothing more than one point.

Sir Alex Ferguson was full of praise for his counterpart on surpassing his record and believes no-one will ever eclipse Wenger's new landmark. In a statement released by the League Managers Association (LMA), Ferguson said: "I applaud Arsene for surpassing my record of managing 810 Premier League games.

"It is a fantastic milestone which has required the highest standards of dedication and professional management to achieve.

I doubt his record, whatever it turns out to be, will ever be beaten.

"Congratulations on a truly remarkable career and great service to football and Arsenal FC," he added.

LMA chairman Howard Wilkinson added: "On behalf of the League Managers Association and all our members, I would like to congratulate Arsene on his record-breaking achievement."

Four clubs in race for Walcott

As many as four Premier League clubs are keen to sign Arsenal's Theo Walcott during this transfer window

The winger is out-of-favour in north London and his long-term prospects appear bleak, but Southampton, West Ham, Newcastle and Everton are all in the running to sign the player.

Walcott's former club Saints are considered the front runners but a stumbling block may be the 28-year-old's £110,000-a-week pay packet.

Once an England regular, Walcott has not featured for his country since coming on as a sub in the 2-2 friendly draw in Spain in November 2016.

He has also fallen way down the pecking order at the Gunners and it is understood he has accepted he needs to move away from the club he joined for £5m some 12 years ago.

Wenger has shown before he is willing to let an England international go out on loan, allowing Jack Wilshere to go to Bournemouth last season.

Arsenal are also lining up a £2.2m bid for 20-year-old Greek defender Konstantinos Mavropanos of PAS

Giannia. He is not seen as an immediate first-team addition and could even be loaned straight out to Werder Bremen.

Honors even as Hammers frustrate Tottenham

Son Heung-min and Pedro Obiang scored two stunning long-range strikes as Tottenham drew 1-1 with West Ham Thursday night.

Obiang's 35-yard drive into the top corner was the first shot for David Moyes' Hammers at Wembley, with Spurs having had 20 by that stage.

The hosts dominated the game - both sides' second Premier League match in 48 hours - but were denied by a series of last-ditch blocks and saves.

But Son broke West Ham's resistance with a 30-yard strike beyond Adrian.

West Ham were without the injured Andy Carroll - who was on the bench - and Marko Arnautovic, so Moyes set his side up not to lose, a target they accomplished and very nearly bettered.

By the 70th minute they still had not had a touch in Spurs' penalty area, but then suddenly and entirely against the run of play they found themselves in front thanks to a goal-of-the-season contender.

Manuel Lanzini gave the ball to Obiang, who came in from the left channel and unleashed a thunderous effort past the helpless Hugo Lloris to register only his third goal for the club.

After Spurs levelled through Son's equally sublime strike, West Ham's defensive resolve was summed up in injury time when Victor Wanyama, Dele Alli, Christian Eriksen and Son all had shots blocked in the space of 30 seconds.

Son said after the game that he thought "Obiang's goal was better".

"The strike was unbelievable," he added. "We have the best goalkeeper in the world and he can't do anything.

this campaign, is grateful to the club for helping him develop into a pedigreed performer, he cannot ignore the opportunity of becoming a long-term reference point for Barca.

Liverpool were definitive in their stance that Coutinho was not for sale at any price in the summer, but with their No.10 maintaining his intention to depart and Barca on the verge of tabling an acceptable bid for his services, it seems to now be a matter of when rather than if a deal is done.

There has been a noticeable erosion of the club's unwillingness to contemplate the virtuoso's exit, with Jurgen Klopp admitting last month that he had "no desire" to sit through an entire window of speculation again.

Having made 201 appearances and producing 54 goals for Liverpool after signing from Inter in January 2013 for just £8.5m, his departure looks all but inevitable.

It was a great strike."

Spurs boss Mauricio Pochettino will be disappointed with his side's failure to unlock the Hammers' defence and they now sit three points off fourth-placed Liverpool.

They had 31 shots - eight on target, 14 blocked - with their only successful effort bypassing West Ham's resolute back five, which at times felt like a back 10.

Erik Lamela fed in-form Son to score a goal not too dissimilar to Obiang's, the South Korean hitting a lovely effort that swerved and faded away from Adrian's grasp.

Harry Kane, fit to start after only being a substitute as they beat Swansea 2-0 on Tuesday, had a disappointing night in front of goal. He had seven shots, three on target, although he could have had a penalty when Pablo Zabaleta appeared to pull his arm in the area.

This season has seen plenty of defensive performances and one-sided games in the Premier League, and Pochettino's side will need to do better next time they face such a tactic.

The Spurs manager said after the game: "We only scored once - and the most difficult chance. I'm very pleased with the effort but very unhappy with the result. We deserved to win but football is like this and we have to accept that.

"We had to score and be effective in front of goal. To play and run like that after two games in 48 hours deserves credit.

"It was an amazing goal from Obiang, their first shot, it's difficult to accept.

Normally we would finish 3-1, 4-1, 5-1 but it wasn't like this."

Scholes and Mou clash over Pogba

JOSE MOURINHO's controversial tenure at Manchester United took a darker turn this week as the manager became embroiled in a war of words with club legend Paul Scholes.

The former United and England star has been scathing in his recent comments about Paul Pogba, the highly-priced midfielder who, Scholes believed, has not lived up to his enormous price tag.

Following United's disappointing draw with Southampton over the weekend, BT pundit Scholes said of the French midfielder: "Where's the Paul Pogba we saw at Juventus? The player they bought? He's just strolling through a game.

"Pogba doesn't look fit, I wonder whether he is training properly."

He went on to accuse the player of playing too many "Hollywood passes".

Not surprisingly Mourinho, whose future at the club has come into question following a series of lackluster performance and the team's inability to keep pace with bitter rivals Manchester City, responded by saying:

PROVOCATIVE PUNDIT: Scholes with Martin Keown in the BT Studios

"The only thing Scholes does is criticize.

"Scholes will be in history as a phenomenal player. Not as a pundit."

Neville weighs in

"I don't think he comments, he criticises, which is a different thing.

"If one day Paul decides to become a manager I wish he can be 25 per cent as successful as myself."

Mourinho also hinted Scholes's comments were in part motivated by jealousy at Pogba's huge wages at United.

He claimed: "It's not Paul's fault he made much more money than Paul Scholes. It's just the way football is."

The in-family row prompted fellow United great - and former Scholes team mate - Gary Neville to intervene.

"One thing we have seen a lot more of is managers and players responding to things out of their control and I actually find it quite funny," he told Sky Sports. "Everybody is a bit sensitive and touchy these days.

"When somebody pays £90m for you then you're going to be criticised.

"When you play for Manchester United you also get a lot of praise, fame and fortune, so for my part it is just part of the career of a footballer.

"You're going to have highs and lows and I have no idea why managers pay any attention to what is said on TV."

Neville has now offered his own advice to Pogba.

"The worst thing is being ignored," he said. "If you are being talked about it means you are doing something right.

"Pogba has the right character and personality to play for Manchester United.

"I liked him on the left against Everton and I liked him there against Burnley when he was putting balls into the box with his right foot and United had 24 shots.

"I think he's been good this season and he is a massive loss when he's out, so it is just about delivering in the big matches, which will come because he's still young."

knowledge over a year ago. But this week the German coach softened his stance a little in speaking to reporters - setting off a frenzy of speculation that the player could seal the switch during the current transfer window.

The two clubs were rumored to have agreed on a tentative deal for the player to move ahead of 2018-19, but reports from both Anfield and the Camp Nou suggest the 25-year-old has been agitating for an immediate transfer.

Coutinho - masterful for Liverpool after submitting a transfer request that was rejected in August - has been resolute on furthering his career at Camp Nou after five years of service on Merseyside, which has produced no trophies.

STADIUM BAN FOR WENGER

■ Frenchman set to miss first game as FA crack down on ref gripes

FURIOUS Arsene Wenger is resigned to missing his first game as Arsenal boss on Sunday after 1,207 matches in charge.

The Frenchman looks ready to accept a one-match stadium ban after being charged with misconduct.

And he wants to sit out the FA Cup trip to Nottingham Forest rather than Wednesday's Carabao Cup clash at Chelsea.

Wenger was charged over questioning the integrity of ref Mike Dean following Sunday's 1-1 draw at West Brom.

And he faces further punishment after being ordered to explain his suggestions this week that a series of controversial decisions against his team were more than a coincidence.

Wenger angrily vowed to contest the FA charge following another disputed penalty against his side during Wednesday's 2-2 draw with Chelsea.

He raged: "I am 35 years in football so I know what I say after the game and I stand up for what I said, no problem."

But Arsenal's legal team have convinced Wenger he has little chance of beating the FA rap.

Wenger had until 6pm Friday to answer the charge but indicated he would not fight it 24 hours earlier.

That will allow the independent three-man commission to rule on the case today and dish out any punishment before this weekend's third-round ties.

Wenger served a three-match touchline ban from Uefa in 2012 and a four-game FA touchline ban last January.

But he watched those games from the stands and has not missed any Arsenal game since taking charge in October 1996.

Yet a stadium ban will prohibit him entering any part of Forest's City Ground on Sunday — or having any contact with his players during the match or the build-up.

And he risked more trouble after the Chelsea match by claiming: "We got a farcical decision on the penalty again but we knew that before the game."

But comments to the media rather than directed at officials are punished by fines rather than a ban.

Coutinho edges closer to £133m Barca move

PHILIPPE Coutinho looked poised to move to Barcelona this week for a jaw-dropping £133m price tag.

The Catalan giants finalized an offer last this week to secure the Brazilian playmaker's switch from Liverpool, which would make him the third-most expensive footballer in the world and their record signing.

Only Neymar's £197m switch from La Liga's leaders to Paris Saint Germain, and his team-mate Kylian Mbappe's loan move from Monaco - which becomes permanent ahead of next season for £160m - surpass that figure.

It would also see Coutinho oust Ousmane Dembele - brought in from Borussia Dortmund last August for an initial fee of £93m that could rise to £129m - as the club's highest-cost recruit.

Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp has repeatedly insisted that the player is not for sale since Barca's interest in him became public cont. on page 19, col. 1
