Queen's Speech makes the case for respect and tolerance

■ Monarch seeks to ease tensions as public debate grows ever more toxic

THE Queen used her Christmas Day broadcast to speak about the need for respect and tolerance amid deeply held differences.

In her speech, broadcast to the nation and Commonwealth on Christmas Day, she said she draws strength from faith, family and friendship and believes the Christmas message of peace and goodwill can be heeded by all.

Her comments – after several months of press reports claiming rising tensions inside the Royal Family – were seen by some as a reference to the Duchess of Sussex, who is estranged from her father and the subject of stories suggesting she has not enjoyed an easy relationship with her new sister-in-law, the Duchess of Cambridge.

But it is understood that the 92-year-old monarch was really referring to the toxic mood of the public and politicians amid disagreements over Britain leaving the European Union and wider disputes between different groups in Commonwealth countries.

She said: "Even with the most deeply-held differences, treating the other person with respect and as a fellow human being is always a good first step towards greater understanding."

The Queen also reflected on the importance of the belief in God. "His message of peace on Earth and goodwill to all is never out of date. It can be heeded by everyone; it's needed as much as ever."

strong faith

As head of state, Her Majesty is officially politically neutral and does not express her views publicly. But over the years she and advisers have let it be known when she feared that politicians were damaging the social fabric of the country. This year's speech comes amid claims there could be rioting in the streets if a second referendum were called over leaving the EU.

The Christmas broadcast, recorded in the White Drawing Room at Buckingham Palace, saw Her Majesty sitting serenely amid family mementos, royal heirlooms and treasured possessions. The annual speech is written by Her Majesty and traditionally reflects her strong faith, while reflecting on current issues and drawing on her own experiences over the past year.

This year's was recorded on December 12, before Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn called Theresa May a "stupid woman" in a Commons clash over Brexit.

On Sunday the Queen attended church at Sandringham with Sophie, Countess of Wessex and was joined on Christmas Eve at Sandringham House by

Harry and Meghan, who is close to her mother Doria Ragland but has refused to speak to her father, Thomas Markle, 74, since he pulled out of attending the royal wedding in May, citing a medical condition.

End of an era: BBC brings down the curtain on Film...

The BBC has confirmed it will not broadcast its long-running Film... series next year.

The programme first aired in 1971 and has since been fronted by Barry Norman, Jonathan Ross and Claudia Winkleman.

"In 2019 we will be creating an enhanced offer for lovers of film both on television and online," the corporation told BBC News.

"We're still working through the details and will have more news about what this will look like soon."

"And why not?"

Film's title has changed annually since it launched, to reflect the year in which it was being broadcast.

It began in 1971, airing only in the South East area of the UK, with rotating guest presenters including Joan Bakewell.

The following year it expanded and was

Between them, Claudia Winkleman, Jonathan Ross and Barry Norman hosted the show for 44 years broadcast to the whole country, with Norman its first permanent host.

Winkleman, the show's most recent regular host, left the show in 2016, and the programme has since been fronted by various guest presenters including Edith Bowman, Clara Amfo and Charlie Brooker.

But its profile was at its highest in the 26 years when it was hosted by Norman, who was such a well-known TV presence that he was caricatured as a puppet on Spitting Image.

He also had a catchphrase - "And why not?" - invented for him by impressionist Rory Bremner.

It was a time when Norman combined his incisive reviews of the week's releases with on-set reports of future releases and interviews with Hollywood's biggest names.

In 2014, he named Jamie Lee Curtis, Martin Scorsese, Michelle Pfeiffer and George Clooney as four of his favourite interviewees during his time on the show.

Former Lib Dem leader Paddy Ashdown succumbs to cancer

■ Ex marine, known as the 'Action Man' of politics, was never quite able to shake "Paddy Pantsdown" moniker

The political world has paid tribute to Paddy Ashdown – the irrepressible former Liberal Democrat leader and ex-marine – who died aged 77 just two months after revealing that he was being treated for bladder cancer.

Lord Ashdown, who built the Lib Dems into a formidable third party at Westminster and a highly effective force in local government during his 11 years as leader between 1988 and 1999, died on Saturday evening, a party spokesman said.

After he stepped down from the helm of his party – having led it to its best general election result in more than 70 years in 1997 (when the number of Lib Dem MPs rose from 18 to 46) – he remained hugely active and in the forefront of public life, combining his political interests with writing.

Having left the House of Commons in 2001, Ashdown received a peerage and served for four years as the United Nations' high representative in Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Despite commanding great respect for his many areas of expertise, particularly in foreign affairs, he never managed fully to shake off the "Paddy Pantsdown" moniker planted on him by a famous front page of the Sun newspaper. It followed the disclosure of a five-month-long affair with Patricia Howard, his former secretary.

'hugely sad day'

An ardent pro-European, Ashdown styled himself as the "Action Man of politics" at the head of a party whose energetic and highly focused campaigning in by-elections and in local politics was the reason for much of its success. He disliked being confined to Westminster and preferred to project himself as a leader in the thick of things, jumping out of helicopters and making regular trips to the frontline of the Bosnia conflict, jacket slung over his shoulder.

Sir Nick Clegg, who led the party from 2007 to 2015, said that Ashdown was "the most heartfelt person I have known" and "the reason I entered politics. He was the reason I became a liberal. And he became a lifelong mentor, friend and guide."

Sir Vince Cable, the Lib Dems' current leader, said it was "a hugely sad day" for the party and everyone else across politics "who had immense affection and respect for Paddy".

He said: "Paddy was Described this week as 'a lifelong mentor, friend and guide,' Paddy Ashdown led the Liberal Democrats at Westminster from 1988 to 1999 famous for his politics, but his talents extended well beyond that arena. He was an accomplished author, and had spent many years serving the country before he got near the Commons. Few people know how hard he fought to get into politics following his service in the marines and diplomatic service."

After the 1997 election, in which Labour secured a landslide triumph, Ashdown and some of his colleagues were invited to join a cabinet sub-committee. Some saw this as the start of a coalition between the two parties, and Ashdown even spoke of the possibility.

But the outcry that followed this "feeler" caused the then-Liberal Democrat leader to intensify his attacks on Labour in the belief that people would assume he had dropped the idea. And although Ashdown always insisted that he was in politics to "do things, not to be things", there was no doubt that he had longings towards a cabinet post in Tony Blair's government.

Describing him as "excellent company, always fun to be around", Blair said: "He was one of the most talented politicians never to hold high office, but as leader of the Liberal Democrats he nonetheless had a major impact on British political life."

Ashdown disclosed in his diaries, published soon after he stood down as leader of the Lib Dems, that he and Blair had been involved in secret "coalition" talks before the 1997 general election.

In 2010, during talks that led to the formation of a coalition government, Ashdown had serious reservations about his party teaming up with David Cameron's Conservatives, but eventually reconciled himself to the need, seeing it as in the national interest.

In his final years, Ashdown continued to be a regular contributor to agenda-setting political shows. However, in November this year, he revealed he had cancer.

"We must see about the outcome, which as always with things like this, is unpredictable," he said. "I've fought a lot of battles in my life. This time I am lucky enough to have the magnificent help of our local hospital, and my friends and family, and that gives me great confidence."

Sister Wendy, TV's art nun, dead at 88

TV art historian and nun Sister Wendy Beckett has died at the age of 88, it has been announced.

In the 1990s she became one of the most unlikely television stars.

Emerging from her hermit-like existence in a caravan at a Carmelite monastery in Norfolk, she hosted unscripted BBC shows from galleries across the world.

Born in South Africa, Sister Wendy moved as a child to Edinburgh, where her father studied medicine, joining a convent when she was 16.

She died at 14:30 GMT at the Carmelite monastery in Quidenham.

'hugely popular'

BBC director of arts Jonty Claypole paid tribute, saying Sister Wendy had "a unique presentation style, a deep knowledge of and passion for the arts".

He added: "She was a hugely popular BBC presenter and will be fondly remembered by us all."

In 1950 Sister Wendy's order sent her to Oxford University, where she lodged in a convent, and was awarded a Congratulatory First Class degree in English literature.

She returned to South Africa in 1954 to teach, but in 1970, with her health deteriorating, the Vatican gave permission for her to pursue a life of solitude and prayer.

After obtaining permission to study art in the 1980s - largely through books and postcard reproductions of the great works obtained from galleries - Sister Wendy decided to write a book to earn money for her convent.

Contemporary Women Artists, published in 1988, was followed by more books and articles.

In 1991 the BBC commissioned her to present a television documentary on the National Gallery in London.

Dressed in black nun's habit, Sister Wendy stood in front of paintings, and without script or autocue discussed them to the camera.

Her programmes included Odyssey, Sister Wendy's Grand Tour and Sister Wendy's Story of Painting.

It's Official: Anne is hardest-working member of The Firm

PRINCESS Anne spent more days on official royal engagements than any other member of her family in 2018, according to analysis of the Court Circular.

The Princess Royal, who at 68 is well past retirement age, worked more than 180 days, while each of her brothers Princes Charles, Edward and Andrew were on duty on 160, 170, and 140 days respectively. With the Duke of Edinburgh retired and the Queen attending engagements on more than 120 days, their children are shouldering the bulk of duties, a Sunday newspaper found.

Her Majesty's grandchildren and their partners are still doing fewer engagements than the generation in the middle. The Court Circular, the monarchy's official record of duties, shows the Duke of Cambridge worked on about 120 days and the Duke of Sussex just over 90 days. Their wives managed to work for a combined total of 100 days, though it should be remembered that Kate was on maternity leave for about six months after the birth of Prince Louis in April and Meghan only joined the "Firm" in May.

In spite of retiring from an official programme of duties, Prince Philip did record six official engagements in 2018. There is no agreed measure of how hard each member of the Royal Family should work but public duties are only part of their load. The Queen deals with government papers in her red boxes every day of the year except for Christmas Day and Easter Sunday. Charles's sons have suggested that he is a workaholic who spends hours at his desk and has even been known to fall asleep on his paperwork.

A week on from Gatwick chaos, police no closer to finding 'drone' operator

POLICE this week were still hunting for the drone operator who brought Gatwick to a halt...while admitting there may never have been a drone at all.

The bizarre admission came as a couple arrested on Friday following a tip-off were freed without charge after 36 hours of questioning.

Despite 67 "sightings" at the airport last week, when asked whether there may never have been a drone that led to flights being grounded, Det Chief Supt Jason Tingley of Sussex Police said: "Of course, that's a possibility. We are working with human beings saying they have seen something. "Until we have got more clarity around what they have said, the detail – the time, place, direction of travel, all those types of things – and that's a big task."

The closure led to the grounding of 1,000 flights which ruined the Christmas travel plans of 140,000 passengers. But Mr Tingley insisted: "We are not back to square one. Whilst these two people have been in custody, we have a number of lines of inquiry and persons of interest." He also confirmed that a damaged drone found near the airport in Horley and possibly brought down by the military is undergoing forensic tests. He said one of the "working theories" was that it was responsible for the disruption. Other lines of inquiry include a disgruntled airport employee or environmental activists.

'no longer suspects'

Police have so far played down terrorism or state-sponsored hybrid warfare. But the search for the drone operators suffered a setback when former soldier and window fitter Paul Gait, 47, and his wife Elaine Kirk-Gait, 54, were released on Tuesday. They were interrogated for hours and their home in a quiet cul-de-sac in Crawley near the airport thoroughly searched after police swooped.

DCS Tingley said: "Both people have fully co-operated and I am satisfied that they are no longer suspects in the drone incidents at Gatwick."

Police insisted the arrests had been lawful but Mr Gait's boss John Allard said he had been working at the times the drones were flying. He rang the police but had to leave a message and no one called back. Mr Allard, from Crowborough, East Sussex, said: "The police could have handled it better just by asking the who, when and where. The police have handled this absolutely appallingly."

Mr Gait's ex-wife, Gemma Allard, 40, also confirmed his whereabouts at the height of the crisis on Thursday. She said: "Two employees are able to vouch for him and they have done. I was the main witness because I was with him in the morning."

As flights returned to normal, Gatwick airport offered a £50,000 reward through Crimestoppers to help catch the rogue operators who grounded flights on Wednesday night and all day Thursday. Transport Secretary Chris

EXONERATED: Paul Gait and wife Elaine Kirk Gait

Grayling came under fire for failing to act more swiftly, while Labour called for an independent inquiry. RAF experts with drone-hunters capable of bringing down the craft by jamming the wavelengths used by drone controllers are still at Gatwick and similar teams have been deployed to other airports around the country. In the wake of the attack, police at Britain's biggest airports are set to be armed with drone-killing bazookas. Met Police at Heathrow are testing the weapons which fire a mortar-like projectile containing a net to snare a flying drone within 130 yards. Senior government figures will approve the use of military warfare technologies in a bid to stop copycat attacks.

Three Brits dead in horror Iceland crash

Three British tourists, including a young child, have died after their vehicle crashed while crossing a bridge in Iceland.

The vehicle - a 4x4 - was carrying seven British people when the accident happened at around 9:30 GMT on Thursday, Icelandic Police said.

The other four passengers in the car were critically injured and airlifted to hospital, police said.

Two of those seriously injured are children aged between seven and nine.

The Toyota Land Cruiser crashed through a railing on a one-lane bridge in southern Iceland.

It then fell around eight metres onto a sandy river bank.

The accident happened in an area called Núpsvötn on Iceland's ring road between the town of Kirkjubæjarklaustur and area of Skaftafell, which is part of the Vatnajökull National Park beauty spot.

Sveinn Kristján Runarsson, Chief Superintendent of south Iceland Police said police have not yet been able to talk to the injured passengers - who are now in hospital in Iceland's capital Reykjavik - about what happened.

The group involved in the crash are from two British families.

Police said it is not thought the road was icy, but humidity could have made the bridge's surface - which is made of steel - slippery.

One of the first people on the scene was tour guide Adolf Erlingsson, who told BBC News he believed the driver had lost control.

Mr Erlingsson said the car "went through the railing and crashed down onto the bank".

"It's kind of sandy, there's no rivers so it wasn't submerged in water. It just landed there on a sandy bottom and flipped over and was totally destroyed," he said.

He added that he got out of his van and went to see if he could help.

"The car was a total wreck. When I got there four people were out of the car, one of them deceased. Then there were three people trapped in the car.

"The driver was alive and trapped more or less under the dashboard. We were trying to get the people out of the car and helping them, it was a very difficult situation."

He said he spoke to some passengers who were "semi-conscious", adding: "I tried to talk a bit to the driver to calm him down."

Local reports claimed the 4x4 has been recovered and was transported to the town of Selfoss where the bodies of two of the occupants will be taken out of the wrecked car.

The UK's Foreign and Commonwealth Office said: "We are supporting the family of several British nationals who were involved in a road traffic accident in Iceland and are in close contact with the Icelandic authorities."

US hunter draws Insta fire after posting Scottish hunting pix

AN AMERICAN woman TV host who sparked outrage after boasting online of shooting animals on a Scottish island could face criminal charges.

Larysa Switlyk, 33, from Sarasota, Florida, provoked anger in September after proudly posing for Instagram photos alongside her kills. She had been holidaying on Islay and images of her with a ram, goat and deer, meat from which was cooked by hotel chefs, were posted.

Many questioned the legality of her actions. Police Scotland has confirmed Ms Switlyk, who also posts hunting photos of boyfriend Jason, has been reported for firearms offences. So too has an American man, aged 41. Although hunting animals in season is not illegal on Islay, Ms Switlyk could face action under Section 11a of the Firearms Act, relating to how borrowed shotguns can be used. Police said in a statement: "Following several complaints of wild goat 'trophy' hunting on Islay in September, Police Scotland can now confirm that a 33-year-old woman and a 41-year-old man from the USA have been reported to the Procurator Fiscal for firearms offences."

MSP Michael Russell warned: "If this is actually happening on Islay and laid on by some sort of tour company, I would want to see it stopped immediately."

The Scottish Government has said it will review the law governing animal culling since the pictures. Famous names were also outraged by the images. Scottish tennis star Andy Murray's mother Judy tweeted: "Stop this please." While BBC radio host Nicky Campbell, also a Scot, tweeted: "Please don't take this the wrong way but you are a twisted sicko."

In Scotland, it is legal to hunt red stags between July 1 and October 20 provided hunters use firearms, have a license for their weapons and the permission of the landowner.

Wild goats and sheep are not protected by Scottish law and are often included by tour firms offering hunting parties. On her website, Ms Switlyk describes herself as "a mixture of a tomboy and model". Her TV show, Larysa Unleashed, aims to "enlighten and educate the general population about why people hunt and fish".

PEACE AND GOODWILL?: As if seeking to dispel talk of a royal feud, William, Kate, Meghan and Harry presented a smiling, united front as they followed Charles on their way to church at Sandringham on Christmas Day.

Edinburgh bash underlines European ties

Edinburgh's Hogmanay celebrations are set to deliver a firm riposte to the Brexit vote by underlining Scotland's cultural and historical connections with Europe.

The official events get under way on Sunday when pipe, drum and dance bands lead the annual Torchlight Procession.

Other highlights over the three days include the famous Street Party, the Concert in the Gardens and a ceilidh in the shadow of Edinburgh Castle.

Organisers said a handful of tickets were still available for the main events.

Scottish singer Stephanie Cheape will headline the finale of the Torchlight Procession, ahead of fireworks from Calton Hill at 21:00.

Sunday's event will also mark the end of Scotland's Year of the Young People, with 14 wicker sculptures created by young people forming apart of a flaming outline of Scotland created by torchbearers in Holyrood Park.

Franz Ferdinand will headline the Concert in the Gardens on Hogmanay while DJs The Mac Twins will host the Street Party event.

The annual Loony Dook

will see brave bathers charge into the Firth of Forth on New Year's Day.

The Message from the Skies event will also get under way on 1 January.

Six Scottish writers were asked to each write a love letter to Europe with these then projected onto iconic buildings and landmarks around Edinburgh animated by a range of different composers and projection artists.

Want to make LASTING change this New Year? The key is consistency!

Every New Year many of us fail miserably to keep to our resolutions or to change old habits even those which we know are injurious to our long term health....

Why is it that even though we know something is bad for us, -be it too much booze, too much junk food or not enough exercise, even if we get a warning from our doctor - we still can't follow through with lasting change?

Here at the Body Camp in Ibiza our staff talk to hundreds of guests, who before attending our retreat complain about how they never seem to be able to make their resolutions stick after the New Year. Many of us seem to share the same problem! Our guests find in normal life that they begin a new healthy habit but then motivation levels decrease. But at our camp they develop a new-found inner strength, realizing it is possible to begin a healthy habit and be able to keep it going for an extended period of time.

After leaving the Bodycamp in Majorca and Ibiza we coach our guests on daily habits that will soon become a lifestyle and a normal routine.

So are your ready for the simple one word answer? Is it will-power or something deeper? There is only one thing we all need to commit to after New Years Eve for anything to change in our lives - be bloody consistent! (that's three words!)

The Consistency rule" is easy to follow and over extended periods of time works with everything.

Here are 5 examples:

1. One can of soft drink or pop enjoyed on a daily basis for six months - end result on your waist/teeth is very damaging.

2.A salad or green smoothie everyday for lunch for six months - end result on your body fat levels would be very favorable.

3. Reading a self-improvement book for 10 minutes every day for six months - end result your emotional intelligence will be increased AND your self confidence.

4. Exercise daily for ten minutes for six months - end result on your resting heart rate and blood pressure would be a decrease in those levels and various other cardiovascular gains.

5. Mediate for 10 minues a day for six months - end result would be reduced stress levels and anxiety and improved

MEDITATION: a regular practice can have significant long term benefits cognitive function.

By adopting The Consistency Rule on New Years Day, scheduling it into your diary and making time for you on a daily basis, you will find that by performing the same positive action each day at the same time, you will eventually create a habit! This habit will become a neurological pathway wired into your brain for life. This will create automatic thinking within the unconscious mind and enable the conscious mind to be more selective about future habits and behaviors.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

HAPPY NEW YEAR 2019 TO ALL OF US. GOOD HEALTH /GOOD LUCK/GOOD LIVING.
LET THERE BE PEACE ON EARTH AND LET IT BEGIN WITH YOU.

ARIES: Take that powerful energy you have and move it in a positive area for you as you have your boss Mars visiting. This springtime will bring many opportunities for you and as you do not like taking a back seat in life, this will benefit you overall. Keep up a healthy diet and lifestyle and by mid-year life is looking mellow.

TAURUS : He who hesitates is lost rings true for the coming year overall. This is only if you waste time holding on to the past. The planets are forcing you out of that old comfort zone in early February. By June your life can be changing rapidly due to the presence of Uranus in your life. Take it as a positive sign.

GEMINI : The new year starts with more than expected restraint. This will not last past late January so take a deep breath and patience will be your best friend. Work will be front and center and by May you will feel much more in tune and ready to go with the flow of good energy. Saturn the teacher in your house of shared resources will be working overtime.

CANCER: Your year starts with a long visit from Saturn in your opposite sign Capricorn, bringing significant events, which includes all kinds of relationships. This will put the spotlight on this area as in what is not working or needs to change. Make it a priority to get this resolved. Jupiter in your house of fated relationships will be complimentary for you all year and can bring harmony by mid year.

LEO : This spring avoid involving yourself in a difficult dispute that involves close family members. As much as you care and want to help it could rebound on you by June. More important for you is your personal overall health. By making yourself a priority you will be in a much better place and as summer comes around your life will go in the right direction.

VIRGO: You have a busy life overall until May. This is due in part to Saturn the teacher in your cousin sign Capricorn. Jupiter is also around for a year, however he is much more easygoing and helps any communication. Another area to watch is career and finances which has Mars overseeing this area of your life up to September.

LIBRA : You will be more than popular in the love and creative areas of your life. This effect will last from May until August. This not to say you will be twiddling your thumbs until then. Indeed you have an overall busy year. You should get your ducks in a row and remember preparation is everything. By your next birthday you will look back and feel good about the year in general.

SCORPIO: The year begins with Jupiter firmly settled in your second area of finances and may already be bringing energy and some rewards. These last few years with Saturn in your money area has been difficult and likely had you struggling somewhat. You should make health your priority as Mars your boss is around to help in the areas that matter.

SAGITTARIUS: Jupiter your boss planet is moving in jaunty positive direction as your housemate. This can work much in your favor by mid-April onwards. With this in mind take a chance or two. Look to what is to come next as much more to your advantage. Saturn in your money house is visiting for some time ahead and is already preparing to help you make better financial decisions.

CAPRICORN: The big beginning to your year is the very recent arrival of your boss planet Saturn. He is with you until 2020 so get ready for changes. The first thing you will need to accept is that he is bringing your best and highest good. With this in mind make whatever is your priority top of your list. As March arrives some progress can be seen as a success. Do not procrastinate this is your time. Happy Birthday.

AQUARIUS: You can start your year by relaxing as the real work does not start until March. Uranus your power house boss is visiting Taurus for some time ahead and you can expect action stations all round. Your finances are highlighted, however anything of a high financial outlay should wait until March and April for successful outcomes. Sunny days are ahead in relationships by summer.

PISC ES: The fact that Neptune your boss will be in your money house for a long while ahead will be good for you and any investments. He is going to assist resolutions in some areas of your life. Take heart that he manifests positive outcomes. By April you will see his work in progress. Be patient and by June you see that it will be a better year so far than for several past. Positive thinking at all times is the key.

MEET A MEMBER: 2018's Hall of Fame

We want to thank all of you who have participated in our weekly Meet a Member feature. We really do enjoy getting to know you all and we know our readers like it too.

Here is a little recap for the new readers amongst you: Every week we feature a different Brits in LA member - not all of them are British or even live in LA. The uniting factor is that each one is a member of our ever-growing Brits in LA community. We started off the year with Olympic champion Tony Jeffries, and over the course of 2018 we have introduced you to quite a varied bunch, including a banker, a lawyer, a magician, an osteopath, a realtor, a 'super tutor' and a pub landlord. We even have a rocket scientist amongst us! Hopefully this dispels the rumor that all Brits in LA are either actors or filmmakers. (Although most of them are!)

As the year is coming to a close we thought it is a lovely opportunity to look back one more time before we move in to 2019.

If you would like to be a 'Meet A Member' drop us a line at BritsinLA@gmail.com.

BRITS IN LA

Christmas is done; ready for the New Year?

Well that's Christmas out of the way!

I hope you all had a lovely one? I decided to stay in LA this year, but judging by the lack of traffic it seems that the majority of you left town for the holidays. The roads have been an absolute delight and last Sunday afternoon I actually had a choice of parking spots at Whole Foods in West Hollywood. Parking at the upscale market is known to be a nightmare, so much so there's actually a rap music video about "Getting Real in the Whole Foods Parking Lot" – which has been viewed SIX MILLION times. Google it if you're curious? Or perhaps you've already seen it?

Anyway, enough of my showing off, let's get on with the news of the week. Lots of you have been asking about NYE - all of the British Pubs including The Cat & Fiddle, The Cock n Bull, Fox & Hounds and Ye Olde Kings Head will be open and start with celebrating 'British New Year' which happens at 4pm our time. They will continue on through the evening to ring in the New Year once again eight hours later. Kids are usually allowed to attend the earlier one as all the bars are classed as restaurants, but it is probably wise to call ahead to confirm. We will post all the details (as they come in) on our blog too (www.britsin.la).

Club together...

If you are looking for something more 'clubby' to do our top picks are both British DJs. Sasha (of Sasha & Digweed fame) is currently on tour and will be ringing in the New Year at The Belasco Theatre in DTLA. Tickets start at $65. Go to www.djsasha.com.

Fellow Brits in LA the EC Twins, are headlining at the legendary Hollywood Roosevelt - tickets include a five hour open bar. Visit www.ectwinsmusic.com.

Or if you want a proper disco, you can't go wrong with Giorgio's 5th Annual Masquerade Ball at the Standard Hollywood. Tickets start at $60 - Visit www.standardhotels.com for info.

staying safe....

Whatever you end up doing make sure to stay safe and please don't drink and drive. Take advantage of LA Metro free rides on NYE or if you find it's too late and already have your car with you call on AAA Roadside Assistance who are offering a free Topsy Tow, even if you are not a member. Available in the following counties: Imperial, Inyo, Kern, Los Angeles, Mono, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Tulare and Ventura. Local motorists must dial (1)800-400-4222 - save that number for just in case!

Are you making any New Years Resolutions? Last year I vowed to stop procrastinating or at least try to do it less. I think I only lasted a few days then completely forgot about it. I will try again in 2019, but no doubt I will put it off until the end of the year again!

let's see more of you!

I hope one of your resolutions is to come to Brits in LA events more often as we do enjoy getting to know you all and it's especially lovely to see everyone making new friends. Talking of which, make sure to check in on your family and friends over this holiday period, as it's easy to just assume every one is tied up and doing fun stuff. But it's actually quite surprising how many of us are alone. I know some people enjoy their own company, but if you aren't one of them, be brave and pluck up the courage to let others know that you are at a loose end or feeling a bit lonely. If you are new in town and don't really know anyone yet then definitely come along to one of our events. We have a weekly Breakfast Club as well as a pub quiz. Both resume in the New Year on January 8th. Everyone is welcome, including kids and non-Brits. Don't be afraid of coming alone as we have all been in your shoes at some point and have had to do the same. Details can be found at www.britsin.la. Or you can email us at info@britsin.la. Feel free to reach out to our Facebook community too. I often seen posts from newcomers who ask if anyone is around and fancies meeting up, and they always get a very warm and friendly reception. So why not do the same? I'm sure you will be welcomed with open arms.

Happy New Year!
Eileen

Bale transforms again in Vice!

Christian Bale is winning well-deserved plaudits worldwide for his latest celluloid transformation, starring as Dick Cheney in the movie Vice.

The Welsh-born star is well known for his method acting. The 44-year-old actor has continuously shown his dedication to his job by committing wholeheartedly to the weight restrictions of the various roles. One of his most dramatic moves was dropping a whopping 70lbs for his lead role in The Machinist in 2004, where he played an insomniac who suffered so severely from the sleeping disorder that it took a toll on his weight.

14 years later, he's at it again with a shocking weight change, only this time – he's put on the pounds, piling on an additional 42lbs to thoroughly look the part of the longtime Republican operative who wound up as George W. Bush's controversial Vice President.

The film explores Dick's role during the tumultuous Bush presidency and how he ended up becoming one of the most powerful men in the world.

At the time of his weight loss for 'The Machinist', Bale, who shot to fame as a schoolboy in Steven Spielberg's Empire of the Son, told The Guardian: "It's an amazing experience doing that."

After losing lots of weight for one role, only to put it on for another, he explained that the feeling of fully dedicating himself to a role is incredible.

"You've got to give everything to every role that you do," says the shape-shifting actor, who won a supporting actor Oscar after getting scary skinny to play drug-addicted trainer Dicky in "The Fighter."

For "Vice," Bale worked at thinking and speaking in Cheney's measured and thoughtful way, in case McKay called upon him to improvise. "I certainly did the research."

One thing Bale did not do, however, was sit down with Cheney himself.

"I was advised against (talking to Cheney) for all sorts of legal reasons," Bale says. "He's a tough cookie, very thick-skinned. I would have enjoyed meeting him, even if he just insulted me."

Actually, there won't be 'Love' sequel (thought wouldn't we all LOVE to see one!)

British actress, Martine McCutcheon has sent her fans a little surprise throwback earlier this week, when she shared a Love, Actually throwback.

Sharing an exclusive picture of herself and Hugh Grant from 2003, the star opened up on her time filming the classic movie. Addressing her 217,000 followers, the 42-year-old spoke about the picture and how she felt as though she was 'living a fairytale' while part of the cast.

She said: 'Me & Hugh at the French premiere of Love Actually... We were staying at the Ritz and we were treated like royalty. 'Even our dressing gowns and slippers had our names beautifully embroidered on them.'

She added: 'The cast had a wonderful dinner in Paris after the film was shown and we all talked and laughed into the wee small hours... I felt like I was living in a fairytale.'

In the picture Hugh can be seen gazing down at his co-star as she beams into the camera. Fans were besotted by the 58-year-old's look, and took to the comment section full of excitement.

One wrote: 'He looks like he's fallen in love with you,' while another swooned: 'That look! My names Natalie and always makes me blush when he calls her it.' Someone else said: 'One of my all time favourite films. You lucky girl getting to smooch Hugh Grant!'

The actress has recently spoken out about the movie, and revealed that she would be up for starring in a sequel, but thinks director Richard Curtis is done with the tale.

While appearing on This Morning, Martine was asked about the possibility of a sequel, to which she said: 'Of course as a jobbing actress I would love to do it, I'd love to be with that amazing cast again. 'But I think he kind of did it with the Comic Relief and the film together, that was Richard Curtis's dream come true I think. I can't speak for him, but I think.'

Last year, the "Love Actually" cast reunited with director Curtis for a Comic Relief special – creating a short sequel to update fans on what the much-loved characters are now up to.

Martine's Natalie was still happily in a relationship with David, who had recently regained his position as Prime Minister.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ADAM
MACKENZIE RICHARDS aka ADAM M.
RICHARDS

Case No. 18STPB11324
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ADAM MACKENZIE RICHARDS aka ADAM M. RICHARDS
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Mark B. Richards in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Mark B. Richards be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on January 14, 2019 at 8:30AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ROBERT SHREEVE WILSON aka BOB WILSON

Case No. 18STPB11416
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ROBERT SHREEVE WILSON aka BOB WILSON

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Robert Charles Wilson in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Robert Charles Wilson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on January 29, 2019 at 8:30AM in Dept. No. 99 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

Pep ‘worried’ as City slide

Manchester City coach Pep Guardiola admits he is ‘worried’ after his side conceded back-to-back Premier League defeats for the first time since December 2016.

City moved down to third on the log, seven points behind leaders Liverpool after succumbing to a 3-2 defeat at the hands of Crystal Palace on Saturday and followed up with a 2-1 to loss to Leicester City on Boxing Day.

“Now there will be doubts but we have to change the dynamic,” said Guardiola.

“Of course we are worried [about not keeping clean sheets], the result is what counts, we lost.

“We are together, we will work harder and we will come back with some good results. The season is very long and we have lots to fight for.”

City have already lost one more game in the first 19 matches of this season than in 38 last term. But the coach believes his team can still remain in the title race.

“We have made an incredible amount of points at this stage and if we can get the same, or more, in the second half of the season then we are fighting to win the championship,” added Guardiola.

“But at the moment, the reality is that two more teams are better than us.”

to play for the club.” Norwegian Solskjaer played for United for most of his career, from 1996 to 2007, and has returned from Molde to manage the side until the end of the season.

“It’s humbling knowing I’m leading this team out,” he told BBC Sport after his home debut in charge.

“Let’s see if I get used to it. I captained a couple of games but this was very different. They are the best fans in the world. I had such a great relationship with them.

“It was special hearing the crowd singing my song. It makes you really proud - and my family - and it’s a day I’ll never forget.

“I was surprisingly calm all day. The lads have

PAUL POGBA: the midfielder scored twice in Wednesday’s 3-1 home win over Huddersfield helped me settle in really quickly.”

Solskjaer says he has changed the mentality of United’s players. A style perceived as negative under Mourinho had been heavily criticised.

“You don’t change anything in one week but the mindset,” said Solskjaer.

“I want my team to play in a certain way and you give them little pointers and it’s a work in progress. It’s going to take time and I’ve done a little bit of a tweak but it will improve as time goes on.”

Forwards Alexis Sanchez, Romelu Lukaku and Anthony Martial could all return for Sunday’s game against Bournemouth.

Lukaku has been on compassionate leave, Martial was ill for the Terriers game and Sanchez has missed six matches with a hamstring problem.

“It’s not a bad front three to come in and knock on the door,” said Solskjaer. “It will be great to get them back. Maybe we’ll change the front three.

“Alexis has had two days of good fitness work. He is touch and go for Bournemouth, but will definitely be involved at Newcastle [next Wednesday].”

Poch plays down title talk as Spurs move into second

■ Liverpool and City are the real contenders insists Spurs boss after impressive recent run

Tottenham boss Mauricio Pochettino says Liverpool and Manchester City "are the real contenders" for the Premier League title, despite his side thrashing Bournemouth to go second in the table on Boxing Day.

A ruthless Spurs made it five league wins in a row and scored their 11th goal in four days to move above City, after the reigning champions were beaten at Leicester.

Pochettino's side remain six points behind leaders Liverpool, who host Arsenal before travelling to City in their next two games.

Reds:

it 2-0, when Salah and Dummett tangled and the referee pointed to the spot although the contact did not appear enough when the Egypt international hit the floor.

However, Newcastle have scored just 14 league goals this season and this was the eighth time in 19 top-flight games they have failed to find the net.

Joselu, one of six changes to the team, should have headed his side ahead when the game was goalless, while there will be questions as to why Salomon Rondon, leading scorer with five goals, was left on the bench and did not feature.

Newcastle have picked up lately after a poor start but they were distinctly second best at Anfield.

A response is required at Watford on Saturday, with matches against Manchester United, Manchester City, Chelsea and Tottenham on the horizon.

"It is one thing to be a point above them, but Manchester City are the reigning champions and Liverpool are doing fantastic," said Pochettino.

Right-back Kyle Walker-Peters put in a superb performance as he created all three of Spurs' first-half goals against Bournemouth at Wembley.

The 21-year-old teed up Christian Eriksen to open the scoring with a deflected effort, before Son Heung-min and Lucas Moura strikes put the hosts firmly in control.

Harry Kane added a fourth from a clever Eriksen pass and Son grabbed his second after a scramble in the Bournemouth box.

"We are in a very good position, but Liverpool and Manchester City are the real contenders," added Pochettino.

"We are between them and there is still a lot of work to do."

The hosts rode their luck moments before Eriksen's opener, with Ryan Fraser heading against team-mate Junior Stanislas on the line and David Brooks just unable to lift Jefferson Lerma's pass over goalkeeper Hugo Lloris.

But Spurs made the visitors pay with three goals in 22 minutes as Eriksen's drive struck Lerma to wrong-foot goalkeeper Asmir Begovic, before Son finished smartly from the edge of the box and Moura turned in Walker-Peters' clever pull-back.

Kane volleyed in just after the hour mark to effectively put the game beyond the Cherries, and Son continued his impressive run of form by adding his second 20 minutes from time.

Tottenham's campaign is gathering pace. This was their 12th victory in 14 games in all competitions and one that maintains their best start to a Premier League season.

Twenty-four days after a humbling defeat by north London rivals Arsenal that meant they started December by dropping out of the top four, Spurs are in the last 16 of the Champions League, the Carabao Cup semi-finals and now sit second in the Premier League.

On chairman Daniel Levy's Christmas wishlist will have no doubt have been moving into the club's new home, fending off interest in their sought-after boss and adding silverware to their trophy cabinet for the first time in more than a decade.

But Levy and manager Pochettino will surely be delighted at Spurs' festive period so far as they added to Sunday's 6-2 victory at Everton with another clinical attacking display.

Pochettino has suggested the club may go a second transfer window without making a signing in January, and he can be thankful for the performance of one of the club's academy products against Bournemouth.

Walker-Peters continuously got the better of Charlie Daniels to create Tottenham's opening three goals, pinching the ball off the Bournemouth left-back before teeing up Son's first and then drifting on to a well-weighted pass from another of Spurs' graduates, Harry Winks, to set up Moura.

The 21-year-old was assured defensively too, which can reassure Pochettino that he can be called on if Spurs look to rotate while attempting to compete on four fronts.

Pochettino told BBC Sport: "The effort was fantastic. To have one day less after Everton, I am very pleased with the performance."

NOT SO SPURSY: Spurs are in the last 16 of the Champions League, the Carabao Cup semi-finals and now sit second in the Premier League.

"It is important to manage confidence in the right way, victory make us believe. Of course, think step-by-step and be ready to arrive at the next game in the best condition."

"We are only halfway to end of the season, we need to replicate the same second-half of the season. It is up to us, if we show the same quality and same belief and behave in the same way, then maybe at end of season I'll talk in a way that maybe we fight for big things."

Also at Spurs, the club have announced they will trigger the extension clause in defender Toby Alderweireld's contract, but have also included a £25m release clause. The Belgium international's current deal runs out next year but the club has an option to extend it until 2020.

The release clause of £25m will apply up to the last two weeks of the summer transfer window.

Pochettino said on Thursday: "It is the same situation as Jan [Vertonghen]."

Spurs announced earlier in December that the club had extended Vertonghen's contract until 2020.

The Belgium defender is back in training after a thigh injury and is due to return in January.

Alderweireld joined Spurs in July 2015 from Spanish club Atletico Madrid. He has made 17 league appearances this season for Pochettino's side.

Emery charged after bottling it

Arsenal manager Unai Emery has been charged by the Football Association for kicking a bottle which hit a Brighton fan towards the end of Wednesday's 1-1 draw.

The FA said it amounts to improper conduct and Emery has until 18:00 GMT on 2 January to respond to the charge.

The Spaniard apologised for the incident, which was not included in the officials' match report.

"I said to them I'm sorry," Emery said after the game.

"It wasn't hard but it touched one supporter."

Emery went to speak to the home supporter immediately after the incident and again at full-time.

Speaking in his news conference on Thursday, Emery said he hoped the apology would be the end of the matter.

"I kicked the bottle in frustration but not at the supporters, not with this intention. It's circumstances. I apologised. I hope it's the end of the matter, yes," he said.

Pierre-Emerick Aubameyang had given the Gunners a seventh-minute lead in the Premier League match at the Amex Stadium and the visitors dominated much of the first half.

But a mistake by right-back Stephan Lichtsteiner allowed Jurgen Locadia to equalise for Brighton in the 35th minute.

Emery was disappointed by his team's second-half display and took his frustration out on the water bottle on the touchline.

After apologising to the Seagulls fan, Emery appeared to explain his actions to the fourth official.

The officials had not included the incident in the match report as they were happy with the way it had been handled.

Former Manchester United manager Jose Mourinho was given a one-match ban after being sent off for kicking a water bottle down the touchline during his side's Premier League game against West Ham in 2016.

REDS BOXING CLEVER!

Klopp's boys six points clear after December to remember

LIVERPOOL had a Christmas to remember as they extended their lead atop the Premier League table to six points with a comfortable win over Newcastle as Manchester City slipped up again.

Goals by Dejan Lovren, Mohamed Salah from the penalty spot, Xherdan Shaqiri and substitute Fabinho, ensured Jurgen Klopp's side will start 2019 at the top of the table.

Newcastle wasted a great chance to take the lead at 0-0 when Joselu failed to connect properly with Matt Ritchie's excellent cross and were punished when Lovren dispatched a half-volley into the roof of the net.

Salah's penalty doubled the lead after referee Graham Scott judged that Paul Dummett had fouled the Egypt forward, before Shaqiri tucked home the third from an assist by Trent Alexander-Arnold.

Liverpool completed the scoring through Fabinho's header and reach the halfway point of the season six points ahead of second-placed Tottenham, who were 5-0 winners against Bournemouth.

Before his return to Liverpool, the club he managed for six years from 2004, Rafael Benitez said it would be a "miracle" if his Newcastle side were to avoid relegation.

Despite a third defeat in six games, they remain five points above the bottom three in 15th spot.

Mohamed Salah will not face any action from the FA for the alleged dive which led to Liverpool's second goal in their 4-0 thrashing of Newcastle on Boxing Day.

Referee Graham Scott awarded the penalty two minutes into the second half after Salah appeared to have been pulled back as he dribbled into the box by Magpies left-back Paul Dummett. However, replays revealed that while there had been contact, it was in fact very minimal.

It's understood that Salah's theatrical reaction did not breach the threshold of "attempting to deceive the referee".

If found guilty, Salah could have faced a two-match ban, which would rule him out of Liverpool's decisive fixtures against Arsenal and Manchester City in the coming week.

Pogba 'happy now', insists Solskjaer

Paul Pogba "is happy now" after returning to goalscoring form for Manchester United, says interim boss Ole Gunnar Solskjaer.

The midfielder - who had a fractured relationship with previous boss Jose Mourinho - scored twice in Wednesday's 3-1 home win over Huddersfield.

That followed two assists in a 5-1 win at Cardiff in Solskjaer's first game.

"I was very pleased for him and the whole team. He loves football and has a big smile," said the new manager.

Pogba has been involved in four goals in two games under Solskjaer - the same amount as in his final 12 Premier League games under Mourinho before his sacking. The World Cup winner only played 15 minutes in the Portuguese's final three games in charge.

Former United reserve team manager Solskjaer worked with Pogba during the Frenchman's first spell at Old Trafford.

"That's the Paul I have known since he was in the reserves and youth team," said the United legend.

"He's always been a happy boy, a big smile on his face and when you score two you're happy. It's a response and Paul loves playing for this club.
