

BREXIT: major parties come together as the clock ticks down

THE MANNER of Britain's exit from the EU remained shrouded in mystery this week despite an unlikely coming together of the two main parties in a last-ditch bid to break the deadlock.

FollowingTheresaMay's crisis talks with Jeremy Corbyn on Wednesday, representatives of both parties came together on Thursday, and their discussions, which lasted 4.5 hours, were described as "detailed and productive" by the government.

Shadow Brexit Secretary Sir Keir Starmer said earlier that the idea "confirmatory" of а referendum on any Brexit deal would be discussed – raising the possibility of a final deal for Britain leaving the EU to be put before the British people for ratification – something Brexiteers adamantly oppose.

MPs backed a bill on Wednesday which would force the PM to seek a new delay to Brexit.

The House of Lords are debating it in general terms - but detailed line-by-line scrutiny, when they will have the chance to propose changes to the bill, will not take place until Monday.

Leaving the cross-party talks, Sir Keir did not answer questions about what had been discussed, telling reporters: "We have had further discussions and we will be having further discussions with the government."

Ireland over Brexit

Chancellor German Angela Merkel has said Germany will stand with Ireland "every step of the way" over Brexit.

She was speaking following talks in Dublin with the taoiseach (Irish prime minister) about the current deadlock.

Parliament is still no closer to passing a Brexit deal, with the UK scheduled to leave the EU on 12 April.

Ms Merkel was asked if it was possible to protect the integrity of the single market without an Irish border being in place.

She said: "We will simply have to be able to do this. We hope for a solution we can agree together with Britain.

"Where there's a will there's a way. We still hope for an orderly Brexit."

Ms Merkel said they hoped intensive discussions ongoing London would in lead to a situation by next Wednesday "where Prime Minister Theresa May will have something to table to us on the basis of which we can continue to talk".

She added: "Until the very last hour - I can say this from the German side - we will do everything in order to prevent a no-deal Brexit; Britain crashing out of the European Union.

"But we have to do this together with Britain and with their position that they will present to us."

Leo Varadkar restated his commitment to an open border in Ireland with free movement of people and frictionless trade, with no tariffs and no checks.

He added: "We don't want Ireland to become a back door to the single market in the event of a hard Brexit."

He said the two leaders had discussed planning for a no-deal Brexit.

Speaking ahead of Ms Merkel's visit to Dublin, the taoiseach said she was "a strong and unwavering ally of Ireland".

Ahead of their meeting, the taoiseach and chancellor also held talks with people from Northern Ireland and the border area about the impact a no-deal Brexit could have on their livelihoods.

Mr Varadkar said it was "important" to hear the voices of people who lived and worked along the Irish border.

But ministers have warned that the backbench bill put forward by Labour's Yvette Cooper - could increase "the risk of an accidental no-deal".

No 10 says Ms Cooper's bill, passed by the Commons with a majority of one vote on Wednesday, would deny the PM the power to agree a deal with EU leaders on April 10, as MPs would have to agree to any new Brexit date.

The backbench bill, which was steered through the Commons in one day, will need the approval of the House of Lords if it is to become law.

Peers were expected to sit late into the night on Thursday as they hold their second reading debate on the bill.

The government's chief whip in the Lords, Lord Taylor said: "The proceedings on Monday the 8th should be concluded in a timely fashion to allow the House of Commons to consider any amendments made by this House."

DOCTORS treat at least 20 children and young people for knife and weapons injuries every day, MPs estimate.

More than 4,500 aged between 11 and 25 -12 per day - needed emergency treatment last year, according to official figures. But the statistics were compiled from just over half of health trusts, leading MPs to predict the real number may be

"But it's worrying that almost half of NHS trusts were unable to give us accurate information on young knife victims. The first part of a public health response is about diagnosing the problem. We can't do that unless we know where the violence is most acute."

The shocking figures come as Health Secretary Matt Hancock met with experts to discuss the role of the NHS in the knife crime crisis. He has suggested youth workers could be sent into hospitals to steer victims away from crime.

PRINCE Andrew and his former wife Sarah Ferguson were forced to deny a report this week that their romance is back on, 23 years after their divorce.

Veteran wants Troubles trial on home soil

A BRITISH veteran charged over his part in the Troubles is calling for his trial to be held on the mainland.

Dennis Hutchings is facing a judge-only trial in Belfast over the death of a 27-yearold man who was shot in the back as he ran from troops in 1974. The 77-year-old, one of five veterans facing charges over incidents that happened in Northern Ireland more than 45 years ago, approached the Supreme Court last month to request a trial by jury. A decision has yet to be reached.

Mr Hutchings, who is seriously ill and lives in Cornwall, said: "If they say they cannot get a jury for a case in Northern Ireland, all service people facing trial there should have the option of being tried in England, Scotland or Wales. That would remove the need for a judge-only trial and give veterans – whether of the Armed Forces or RUC - the right to appear before a jury.

"I have been called a murderer in the Northern Ireland media. I have no faith in the system there."

Judge-only trials were introduced in Northern Ireland for cases relating to terrorism or sectarianism amid fears of jury tampering. Mr Hutchings has twice been investigated and cleared over the killing of John Pat Cunningham. But in 2015 he was charged with attempted murder. He spoke out ahead of the premiere of documentary The Great Betrayal made by Justice for Northern Ireland Veterans founder Alan Barry. It tells how more than 500 convicted terrorists and 300 suspects were given immunity from prosecution under the Good Friday Agreement.

Hillsborough cop trial deadlocked

■ Retrial likely for Duckenfield, Mackrell convicted on Health and Safety charge

THE Hillsborough disaster's police match commander faces a retrial after a jury this week failed to reach a verdict over the alleged manslaughter of 95 Liverpool fans.

Former Chief Superintendent David Duckenfield, now 74, watched from the dock as a judge heard the jury were split, despite 29 hours of deliberation.

During the 10-week trial, the former South Yorkshire Police officer denied manslaughter caused by gross negligence. The crush, at the stadium's Leppings Lane end on April 15, 1989, resulted in the deaths of 96 people.

Preston Crown Court heard Mr Duckenfield could not be charged over the death of the final victim Tony Bland, who passed away more than a year after the tragedy. The jury did however convict former Sheffield Wednesday club secretary and safety officer Graham Mackrell, 69, of one Health and Safety Act offence.

News of the retrial comes just 11 days before the 30th anniversary of the disaster at the FA Cup semi-final between Liverpool and Nottingham Forest.

Margaret Aspinall, chair of the Hillsborough Family Support Group, expressed her dismay that a jury had not been able to agree on a verdict.

She said: "Unfortunately the jury didn't come to a decision on Mr Duckenfield. We just have to wait and see what happens.

"Td like to thank the jury for the weeks they've taken for their deliberations and thank everyone for all the support we have had over the last 30 years. We have still got a long journey."

Speaking about Graham Mackrell's conviction, Steve Rotheram, mayor of the Liverpool City region, said: "At long last, someone has been held to account for what happened – a vindication of the long-fought battle by families and campaigners for truth and justice."

Sue Hemming, of the Crown Prosecution

Service, said: "This trial has been incredibly complex and we have discussed the matter carefully.

"The CPS will seek a retrial against Mr Duckenfield for manslaughter by gross negligence of 95 men, women and children.

Former assistant ordered to repay JK Rowling £19,000

A former personal assistant to JK Rowling has been ordered to pay almost \pounds 19,000 to the Harry Potter author after fraudulently using her credit card.

Amanda Donaldson, 35, from Coatbridge in North Lanarkshire, must pay £18,734 back with interest.

The author pursued damages in a civil case at Airdrie Sheriff Court under her married name Joanne Murray.

She said the money would be donated to her charity Lumos.

Donaldson was dismissed from her job in Ms Rowling's Edinburgh office in 2017 over the incident.

Sheriff Derek O'Carroll found Donaldson used a business credit card to purchase goods and withdraw money which were for her own use.

He also found that she used Ms Rowling's business bank accounts to buy foreign currency which she kept for herself.

The amount she has been ordered to repay includes £1,160 for cash withdrawals, £9,832 for point-of-sale purchases and £7,742 on foreign currency.

However the sheriff said there was not enough evidence to prove Donaldson was responsible for a quantity of Harry Potter merchandise going missing.

After the publication of the judgement, a statement issued on behalf of Ms Rowling said she was "pleased" with the ruling. It added: "From the

JAGGER: struck down by mystery illness

Stones frontman vows to be back soon after postponing North America tour

ROLLING Stones legend Sir Mick Jagger has pledged to be back on his feet in "six weeks" after being hit by a mystery illness.

The singer, 75, was left reeling after postponing North America the leg of the band's latest tour. But he has already instructed his team to start rescheduling the cancelled tour dates as he vowed to make a full recovery. A source said: "Mick is one of the fittest 75-year-olds on the planet. Just look at him on stage. If anyone can pull it back, Mick can. He fully intends to be fighting fit and raring to go in six weeks."

AttheweekendSirMick said he was "devastated" to disappoint fans amid reports that he would be out of action for three months. The source said: "Mick is made of strong stuff. He is expecting to be back on stage sooner rather than later."

The singer has been told by doctors he can expect to make a full recovery. No details were given but it is understood "something untoward was found" during a routine pretour screening. Sir Mick will be monitored and has been told he needs to have hospital treatment. On Monday bandmate Keith Richards backed him to return. He said: "A big disappointment for everyone but things need to be taken care of and we will see you soon. Mick, we are always there for you."

Sir Mick told fans: "I really hate letting you down like this.

"I'm devastated for having to postpone the tour but I will be working very hard to be back on stage as soon as I can. Once again, huge apologies to everyone."

The band were due to kick off the US and Canada dates of their No Filter tour in Miami on April 20.

Ozzy Osbourne has postponed all of his 2019 tour dates after aggravating an old injury while falling at his Los Angeles home.

Osbourne, 70, will remain under doctor's care in L.A as he "recovers from an injury sustained while dealing with pneumonia."

Queen also planning to give up the wheel?

THE Queen will follow Prince Philip's lead by giving up driving three months after he was at the wheel in a serious car crash, sources claimed this week.

She is the only person in the UK permitted to drive without a licence. But royal sources say she has agreed to stop driving on the advice of her security team after the Duke of Edinburgh's accident. The Queen, who will be 93 this month, is known to enjoy driving in her fleet of cars that include Land Rovers and Jaguars. But there have been concerns about whether she should continue to drive after Prince Philip's Land Rover rolled during the crash in January. He gave up his licence just over three weeks later.

Only a day after the collision involving her husband, who is 97, the Queen was spotted

BRITS IN LA

UK or LA? Which really costs more?

A ton of our overseas members seem to have been struck down with itchy feet syndrome. We've recently had a wave of messages asking advice on how to make the move to LA. The phrase 'the grass is always greener' comes to mind. Ironically, judging by the responses to this question, many Brits living in LA vehemently disagree. The number one complaint seems to be the cost of living. This discussion piqued my curiosity. I've been here for such a long time and get paid in dollars so I always feel the UK is far more expensive and was surprised to see that many of you felt it was the other way around. So of course it made sense to have a little look and settle this once and for all!

So how much is the price of eggs? (idioms seem to have got the better of me today).

The Economist most recent 'Worldwide Cost of Living' survey ranks the City of Angels at number 10 (along with Tel Aviv) , and London is 22 on the chart. That result surprised me as I always feel London is much more expensive.

Flat broke?

I rent an apartment in the middle of Hollywood, which is a very touristy, and whilst there are many houses worth well over a million dollars it also still a little bit sketchy and run down in places. So I picked Queensway/Bayswater in Ye Olde King's Head, 116 Santa Monica Blvd. Santa Monica CA 90401 • Tel: 310 451-1402 London as a comparison, which is fair, don't you think?

Currently an average one bedroom in London W2 can be had for £1300 per month, and a one bedroom in Los Angeles is around $1695 - the current exchange rate is $1.32 to £1, so LA is fractionally cheaper in this department.

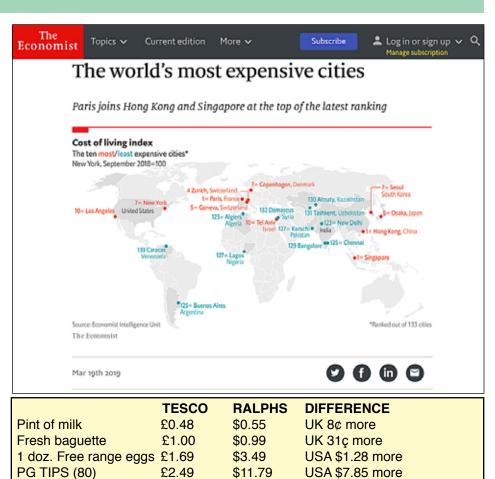

I had a quick look at basic groceries and chose Tesco in the UK and Ralph's in the USA to compare. Ralphs came out more expensive, but only because I added a couple of British imports to the list; overall groceries seem to be around the same price. Plus we all know there are deals to be had by shopping around at places like Trader Joe's or Smart & Final. Use your supermarket loyalty cards too and shop according to what's on offer. I always stock up when I see my favourite brand of coffee on sale for $4.99 a bag, as at full price it is $10.99. Whole Foods also offer discounts for Amazon Prime Members.

Getting Around

Petrol is far cheaper here; I paid $3.69 per gallon today and I thought that was actually bit pricey, I think the average price has just risen again in Britain and is currently £1.23 per litre, which works out to be an eye watering $6.13 a gallon!!!

So it stands to reason that transportation is cheaper in LA too. I looked at Uber's base costs and they charge $1.06 per mile, whereas in London you will pay £1.25 a difference of 57 cents, which definitely adds up on a long journey. Bus fares are also marginally cheaper here - $1.75 v £1.50; making a London bus ride $0.46 more expensive.

As you can see it is actually not drastically different, although the minimum wage in LA is about $2-3 higher than the National Living Wage in London. I also realize that many of you balk at paying for healthcare, but if you are self-employed you do get a tax deduction (as long as you are earning). Plus healthcare costs are scaled according to your income, so the less you earn the less you pay.

Obviously my research was very limited, so if you want a more in-depth comparison head on over to The Economist survey at www.Eiu.com - the basic report is free to download.

Would love to hear your thoughts on this topic and especially if you have been shocked by the cost of something or have any money savings tips to share with the group.

Hope to see some of you at Breakfast Club next week, it was packed to the rafters last Tuesday, although Amazon Studios were giving away free tickets to Mike Leigh's film Peterloo. latest Coincidentally our host venue Cecconi's West Hollywood, only charges $15 for a Full English, and that includes bottomless tea or coffee plus tax and tip (and complimentary valet parking)! Cecconi's in Mayfair charges £15 + a 100% behind Kamala Harris!

Last Sunday I had the privilege to meet Senator Kamala Harris, who recently announced her candidacy for president of the United States in 2020.

Introducing myself as one of her 'loyal British supporters', I told the Senator "I'm backing you one hundred percent."

The event was held at the sprawling Tudorstyle home of lawyer and former LA district attorney Michael E. Kraut, who has been a staunch advocate for Harris during her rise in politics.

As Kraut introduced Harris, the crowd reacted with applause when he cleverly suggested, "This would be the first time she would be speaking from the west wing and the rose garden," humorously referring to the rose garden at his Hollywood hills abode.

Harris delivered a powerful address, with her key message "Let's speak truth," about what is happening in America, resonating with the crowd of LA supporters.

Harris, former а California lawmaker and longtime prosecutor has been seen as a rising star in the Democratic Party even before she won a Senate seat in 2016. She received national attention as San Francisco district attorney before being elected California attorney general in 2010.

Her campaign is highlighting that career, citing her experience on issues like sexual assault, housing and college affordability. Some of her proposals include middleclass tax cuts, rent relief, immigration and criminal justice overhauls, and Medicare for all.

The first-term senator made the announcement running for the Democratic nomination for president on ABC's Good Morning America back in January this year, becoming the third sitting senator to make her 2020 ambitions official.

"Truth, justice, decency, equality, freedom, democracy: these aren't just words, they're the values we as American cherish. And they're all on the line now," Harris said in her announcement video. "Let's claim our future."

"I love my country, and this is a moment in time that I feel a sense of responsibility to fight for the best of who we are," Harris said.

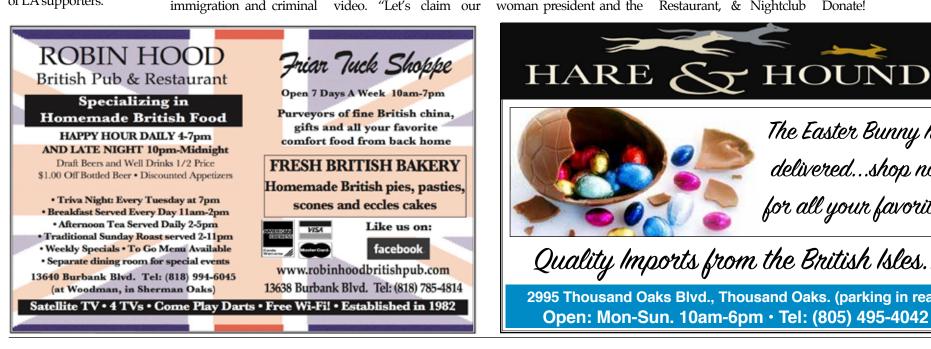

When elected, Harris, the daughter of an Indian mother and a Jamaican father, would be the first woman president and the first woman of Asian or African American heritage to hold the White House.

Within 30 minutes of her announcement, Harris had received donations from individuals in all 50 states.

Other supporters at last Sunday's event included, CEO & Founder of the world-famous Abbey, Restaurant, & Nightclub David Cooley, Film Producer Margret Raven, Sales Force, Senior Vice President and CMO Michael Peachey, and internationally renowned interior designer Gulla Jonsdottir.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866)-960-8299 or visit this Internet Web site http:// Www.altisource.com/MortgageServices/ DefaultManagement/TrusteeServices. aspx using the file number assigned to this case 2013-27162. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

Celtic's Timothy Weah has described Scott Brown as a "role model" as he defended his captain over a potential ban following Sunday's Old Firm derby.

Brown has been accused of breaching a Scottish FA rule that states players, coaches and officials should "act in the best interests of football".

Celtic and Rangers have also have been charged over a mass confrontation of players at the end of Celtic's 2-1 win

"He is a leader of men and he shows that," striker Weah said of Brown.

"He shows his passion for the club. It is a derby and tensions are high and that's what Scott does."

Brown raised his arms in triumph in the direction of the Rangers fans immediately after the final whistle, but Weah does not think the former Scotland midfielder did anything wrong.

"I don't see a problem with it," the 19-year-United States old international, who is on loan from Paris St-Germain, said.

Scott Brown is amazing. Ever since I have been here, he is a role model for me."

Rule 77 also references "improper" behaviour and using "threatening, abusive, indecent or insulting words or behaviour" and carries a minimum two-match suspension for players.

Brown has until Wednesday to respond to the charge, with a hearing set for 2 May if he challenges it.

Rangers striker Alfredo Morelos was given an automatic four-match suspension after was sent off - for Rose, who was also abused while on England Under-21 duty in Serbia in 2012, says he will play on but has "had enough" of racism in the game.

"How I programme myself is that I think I've got five or six more years left in football, and I just can't wait to see the back of it," he added. "Seeing how things are done in the game at the minute, you just have to get on with it.

"There is so much politics in football. I can't wait to see the back of it."

The Montenegro disciplinary case will be dealt with by European football's governing body on 16 May.

The minimum punishment is a partial stadium closure, while a second offence results in one match being played behind closed doors and a fine of 50,000 euros

Fulham relegated

FULHAM were finally put out of their misery as Watford hammered the final nail in their Premier League coffin in midweek.

Goals from Abdoulaye Doucoure, Will Hughes, Troy Deeney and Kiko Femenia for FA Cup semi-finalists Watford pushed Fulham over the precipice and back into the Championship.

And a ninth straight league defeat sealed the inevitable and that one of the costliest experiments in Premier League history will go down as a disastrously failed one. Fulham's record spend for a promoted club of more than £100million last summer was supposed to have them competing at the other end of the table.

Fulham's short-lived top-flight return was ended fittingly, with a defensive horror show, as they gifted Watford their opener and then collapsed late on. Even the signs of fight and tiny improvement they have shown under caretaker Scott Parker, especially in spells in this game, were rendered irrelevant by fulltime.

Despite Watford's big Wembley date against Wolves on Sunday, Hornets boss Javi Gracia fielded his strongest side, and first-choice defence. But a season of regular beatings - they have lost 12 of 13 games this year - had taken their toll on Fulham's fans. Their hope disappeared a long time ago and they arrived at the Cottage but does not expect the situation to change any time soon.

This week, Juventus' 19-year-old Italian forward Moise Kean suffered racist abuse from the stands during a match at Cagliari with team-mate Leonardo suggestion Bonucci's that Kean was partly to blame called laughable by Rose's England team-mate for a relegation party. They shot themselves in the foot again, Doucoure drilling a 20-yarder into the net after Tom Cairney lost possession in his own half. Fulham levelled 10 minutes later when Ryan Babel burst on to Ryan Sessegnon's throughball, rounding Ben Foster to score. But they fell to MOPO: it's time to spend!

Pochettino Mauricio says Tottenham need to furnish the best stadium in the world with the best players in the world as he issued chairman Daniel Levy with another "massive" challenge.

The Argentinian wants a summer of huge investment to on prove the club really are now up alongside the heavyweights of Europe.

"It is about Daniel," said Pochettino, whose team will christened the new £1billion stadium with a way? Yes, now we have a better stadium and better training ground.

"But it's another thing to compete as we need to operate similar to them in the future."

Pochettino's comments came just hours after Levy, in a rare interview, had given an insight into the hard work that both he and executive director Donna-Maria Cullen had put into delivering the stadium. Levy, cheered by Spurs fans at the first test event, said: "When I took

"It is about talking and seeing whether I am going to be involved or not. I am very romantic but football is not about being romantic.

"People don't like it sometimes, but it a business. People is sometimes say Tottenham is like Liverpool. In what over the club, Tottenham was not a regular European challenger. Clearly, we are now and my dream is now to win, both on the pitch and off the pitch. We are going to keep going until we get both right."

Pochettino, however, has already warned Levy winning will only come about if he is prepared the

We must win five of six, says Solksjaer

United Manchester need to win five of their last six league games to finish in the top four of the Premier League, says manager Ole Gunnar Solskjaer.

A 2-1 loss at Wolves left United fifth, three points third-placed behind Spurs and two adrift of both Arsenal and Chelsea.

"We needed 15 points from seven games, now it is 15 from six - we don't have room for many losses," said Solskjaer.

"It is harder than it was before, but we're a very good team, so it will be difficult for the teams who play against us."

In previous years, a fourth-place finish has been enough to qualify for the Champions League, although it could be different this year if an English team wins both that competition and the Europa League and then neither of those sides finish in the top four.

sanction the kind of spend that has turned Liverpool from top-four hopefuls to title challengers.

"I was talking with Daniel after the Liverpool game," he said. "Virgil van Dijk cost £75million 18 months ago. The keeper was £70m. They had two midfielders on the bench who they spent more than £100m on in the summer."

Spurs are set to lose defender Toby kev Alderweireld this summer for a cut-price £25m because of a clause in the Belgian's contract, and Christian Eriksen has just a year left on his contract and is being eyed by Real Madrid as a potential replacement for Luka Modric. Add to that an alarming loss consistency of from goalkeeper Hugo Lloris, Victor Wanyama injuryprone and competition needed for Harry Kane, a massive outlay is needed if Spurs want to continue living with Europe's top clubs.

Pochettino said: "I am 47. I've a lot of experience. Of course we need to pay for the stadium. That is why there are lots of things to talk about."
