Eco-activists threaten Heathrow shutdown

'Extinction Rebellion' group seeks "radical change in order to minimise the risk of human extinction and ecological collapse"

HEATHROW was braced for chaos this week after ecoactivists who paralyzed central London threatened to shut down the country's busiest airport on Good Friday.

The organisers of the so-called 'Extinction Rebellion' called on protesters to converge on the airport, as thousands of holidaymakers prepare fly off at the start of the Easter Weekend. Messages in a WhatsApp group for demonstrators even gave directions for travelling to the West London airport from the current protest sites at Marble Arch, Oxford Circus, Waterloo Bridge and Parliament Square.

Londoners have endured four days of chaos and disruption after the activist group embarked on a campaign of sit-ins and road blocks to "to highlight the emergency of ecological collapse" until the Government listens to its demands.

So far police have made nearly 300 arrests with around 500,000 people affected by road closures, traffic gridlock and serious disruption to public transport and local businesses.

Formed in the UK in May last year, the group held its first protests in London in October.

The group uses non-violent civil disobedience to campaign on environmental issues such as climate breakdown, biodiversity loss and ecological collapse. It says climate change threatens all life on Earth and is calling for "radical change in order to minimise the risk of human extinction and ecological collapse" because "our leaders are failing in their duty".

Demonstrations have taken place across the UK and have included a seminaked protest in the House of Commons and blocking roads in the capital. From a grass roots campaign, it has now grown into an international movement with chapters across the world backed by celebrities, academics and writers.

It is calling upon the Government to meet three key points to cease the chaos, which are:

- •To "tell the truth" by declaring a climate and ecological emergency.
- •To "act now" with means to "halt biodiversity loss and reduce greenhouse gas emissions to net by 2025".
- •To create a citizen's assembly on climate change and ecological justice which would lead Government action.

The group says direct action is needed to force governments to act urgently on climate change and wildlife declines and halt a "sixth mass extinction".

It is calling for an ecological emergency to be declared, greenhouse gases to be brought to net zero by 2025, and the creation of a citizens' assembly to lead action on the environment. XR says the systems propping up "modern consumerfocused lifestyles" will lead to mass water shortages, crop failures, sea level rises and the displacement of millions.

Farage riding high as support swells for new Brexit Party

A BEAMING Nigel Farage told reporters this week that voters were fed up with miserable politicians "endlessly threatening" them over Brexit as his new party rocketed ahead in the polls.

The former Ukip leader's new group – the Brexit party – is five points ahead of Labour and 12 ahead of the Conservatives just three months after it was launched.

Mr Farage said the public wanted a fresh positive vision and he is planning to unveil new candidates for the European elections next week. A YouGov poll put the Brexit party on 27 per cent, ahead of Labour on 22 per cent with the Conservatives trailing on 15 per cent. It means the new party is on course to crush opposition at elections to the European Parliament if Britain is forced to take part next month.

"We should be slightly cautious about polling at this stage but, overall, the Brexit party is off to a very good start," Mr Farage said.

"The public are warming to us. There's great grassroots support, large numbers of people joining, grassroots donations and all of it feels very exciting.

"I think we will be announcing a few more candidates next week.

"People want a fresh, positive vision. They are tired of career politicians endlessly threatening them, sounding miserable and not believing in the country."

Mr Farage led former party Ukip to a shock win in the last European parliament elections in 2014. It was the first time Conservatives or Labour had failed to top the ballot in a national election since 1906. Chris Curtis, political research manager at YouGov, said it was "entirely plausible" there will be "another Farage-shaped upset at the ballot box". The analyst said there is likely to be a low turnout at the election with fewer voters showing up for the main parties, which would work to Mr Farage's advantage.

"While there are more than five weeks of campaigning to go, I certainly wouldn't bet against him," he added.

Mr Farage's new group appears to have drained support from Ukip, which was down from 14 per cent last week to seven per cent. Voters are expected to make the Tories suffer at the polls if fresh elections to the European Parliament go ahead on May 23, three years after the vote to leave the EU.

Prime Minister Theresa May is scrambling to secure support for a deal that would allow Britain to quit before the vote. Cross-party talks with Labour to find a way forward are limping on and the two parties are expected to take stock of progress when MPs return to Westminster after the Easter recess, but there is little expectation of a breakthrough being reached.

Anti-Brexit parties trailed behind in the poll, with the Greens on 10 per cent, Lib Dems on 9 per cent and new independent group Change UK on six per cent.

Ex-soldier charged with killing boy in troubles

AN ELDERLY veteran will be the sixth British soldier to be charged over a shooting tragedy during the Troubles in Northern Ireland.

The individual, known only as Soldier B, is to be charged with the murder of a 15-year-old boy and the wounding with intent of another teenager in 1972. Authorities have investigated and dismissed the case on three previous occasions.

The charge centres on Daniel Hegarty, who was shot twice in the head and killed by a member of an Army patrol on duty in the Creggan area of Londonderry, Northern Ireland, in July, 1972.

Daniel Hegarty: shot twice in the head

His cousin Christopher Hegarty, then 16, was also shot and injured in the incident during Operation Motorman, when the British Army tried to reclaim no-go areas. The move comes after the Divisional Court quashed a 2016 decision not to prosecute. An inquest in 2011 unanimously found that neither teenager posed a risk when they were shot.

Last month, a former Paratrooper, Soldier F, learned he faces murder and attempted murder charges over Bloody Sunday in 1972, when 13 demonstrators were killed in one of the most notorious bloodbaths of the Troubles. Last week, thousands of veterans protested outside Parliament against the "witch-hunt" of British veterans against what they perceive as the persecution of British soldiers, contrasting it with the treatment of IRA terrorists. Under Tony Blair's 1998 Good Friday Agreement, more than 500 convicted terrorists were released early, while "Letters of Comfort" were issued to suspected terrorists telling them they would not be pursued.

'totally calamitous'

On Monday former Life Guards soldier Dennis Hutchings, 77, who denies charges of attempted murder and grievous bodily harm with intent while on patrol in 1974, said: "No one who fired their rifle in any sort of incident in Northern Ireland is safe from prosecution.

"Six of us have been charged now and there are more than 200 cases involving nearly 1,000 troops.

"The Government has got to draw a line in the sand and give soldiers what it has given terrorists — amnesties, royal pardons.

"Ninety per cent of the people killed in Northern Ireland were killed by terrorists – but how many of them have been prosecuted?

"What has happened today is totally calamitous. This soldier has been cleared three times.

"This cannot be allowed to go on. If the Government does not do something about this, it will not have an Army."

In a statement, the Hegarty family said: "This has been a long journey. It has taken 47 years to finally get the state to do the right thing."

A Government spokeswoman said: "We will offer full legal and pastoral support to the individual affected."

No-deal Brexit 'means hard Irish border'

One of the European Commission's most powerful officials has said that a no-deal Brexit would mean a hard Irish border.

The comments from Martin Selmayr feature in a documentary made by ARTE, the Franco-German broadcaster.

The secretary-general of the European Commission was filmed in a meeting with senior MEPs in late 2018.

"Let's be very clear - if there is no withdrawal agreement there will be a hard border," he told them.

Mr Selmayr was previously chief of staff to Jean-Claude Juncker, the president of the European Commission.

He served in the position from 2014 to 2018.

The ARTE documentary The Clock Is Ticking had extensive behind the scenes access to the EU's chief Brexit negotiator Michel Barnier and other senior EU figures.

In January, the European Commission's chief spokesman said it was "obvious" there would be a hard border in Ireland in the event of a no-deal Brexit.

At that time the Irish government had repeated its stance that it would "not accept a hard border on this island".

Since Mr Selmayr's comments the EU has intensified its no deal planning.

Officials have made clear that no deal would mean checks on goods moving from NI to the Republic.

However the question of where and how those checks would take place remains open.

The Taoiseach has said customs processes could take place away from the border but animals and food products present a more difficult challenge.

Liverpool falls silent remembering the 96

Liverpool fell silent for a minute on Mondya to mark the 30th anniversary of the Hillsborough football disaster.

Ninety-six lanterns were lit on the steps of St George's Hall in tribute to those who died.

Banners with images of each of the fans killed in the crush at Sheffield Wednesday's ground were also displayed.

A minute's silence was held across the city at 15:06 BST - the precise time the 1989 FA Cup semifinal between Liverpool and Nottingham Forest ended.

The bells of the Town Hall tolled 96 times following the silence, while flags on civic buildings were flown at half mast as people gathered at locations across Liverpool to mark the anniversary.

Traffic going through the tunnels under the Mersey was stopped for one minute and the Mersey Ferries marked the anniversary by sounding their horns.

City mayor Joe Anderson and Lord Mayor, Councillor Christine Banks, laid wreaths in front of the lanterns to begin the day of remembrance.

The message on Mr Anderson's wreath read: "Never Forgotten. Reds and Blues united."

Speaking outside St George's Hall, Louise Brookes, whose brother Andrew died in the disaster, said: "Andrew has been dead now four years longer than he was alive.

"He was only 26 when he died and he had his whole future and whole life ahead of him. I really struggle with that."

Mr Anderson said the anniversary was an "emotional day" and a "milestone".

Margaret Aspinall, chairwoman of the Hillsborough Support Family Support Group, whose son James, 18 died at Hillsborough, said: "We can't thank the supporters enough and the city as a

The families later gathered for a private service at Anfield, while the public service was held at the city's Anglican cathedral.

Locals shocked as piranhas found in Yorkshire lake

FAMILIES fear a shoal of deadly piranha have populated a Yorkshire beauty spot after two of the razor-toothed fish were found there. A number of ducks appear to have vanished recently from the waters of Martinwells Lake in Doncaster while fishermen have complained about a slump in fish stocks. A mother spotted one on Sunday and a couple spotted another hours later. Now ahead of the Bank Holiday weekend with sunshine forecast, families are worried there could be more lurking below the surface.

Toni Hooper, contacted Environment Agency after spotting a dead piranha on Sunday. Officials retrieved it and took it away for tests. Toni said: "It sent shivers down my spine. This is a popular spot with families, you get kids paddling while teenagers will go swimming. You wouldn't catch me going in the water."

Then on Monday mother-of-three Lisa Holmes, 37, and partner Davey White, 37, scooped out a similar dead fish which they took home to identify. Lisa said: "We went home and Googled it. It's clear it's a piranha. "It's not the kind of thing you expect to find in Doncaster."

The former clay pit is usually well-stocked with a range of fish – including carp, tench, bream, perch, roach, pike and chubb. Piranhas are known to have killed humans but attacks usually result in minor injuries to hands and foot

FB bans far-right British groups

Facebook has imposed a ban on a dozen farright individuals and organizations that it says "spread hate".

The ban includes the British National Party and Nick Griffin, the English Defence League and the National Front.

The list also includes Britain First, which was already banned, but this latest action will prohibit support for it on any of the US firm's services.

It said it had taken the action because those involved had proclaimed a "violent or hateful mission".

"Individuals and organisations who spread hate, or attack or call for the exclusion of others on the basis of who they are, have no place on Facebook," the social network added in a statement.

The ban includes:

- •The British National Party and its ex-leader Nick Griffin
- •Britain First, its leader Paul Golding and former deputy leader Jayda Fransen

- •English Defence League and its founding member Paul Ray
- •Knights Templar International and its promoter Jim Dowson
- •National Front and its leader Tony Martin
- Jack Renshaw, a neo-Nazi who plotted to murder a Labour MP

A spokesman for Facebook clarified what would now be done to the pages the groups and individuals had run on its site. All those named would be prevented from having a presence on any Facebook service.

In addition, praise and support for the groups or named individuals would no longer be allowed.

The ban was "long overdue" said MP Yvette Cooper, chair of the Home Affairs Select committee.

"For too long social media companies have been facilitating extremist and hateful content online and profiting from the poison," she added.

Former BNP leader Nick Griffin and ex-Britain first deputy leader Jayda Fransen are among those affected

"They have particularly failed on far-right extremism as they don't even have the same co-ordination systems for platforms to work together as they do on Islamist extremism," she added.

Ms Cooper said the measures were a "necessary first step" and should be strengthened by independent regulation and financial penalties for firms that were sluggish to remove material.

"We all know the appalling consequences there can be if hateful, violent and illegal content is allowed to proliferate," she said.

This current action, said Facebook, went further than the restrictions placed on Britain First last year when its official pages were removed for breaking the site's community standards.

The latest move comes soon after Facebook said it would block "praise, support and representation of white nationalism and separatism" on its main app and Instagram.

Some controversial figures, such as Tommy Robinson, are already subject to bans on the social network.

'OBE' for the dog who saved diabetic owner 12,000 times

A DOG who detected his diabetic owner's blood sugar changes has received an "animal OBE".

Labrador Pal has alerted owner Claire Pearson to more than 12,000 potentially deadly incidents when the glucose in her blood fell dangerously low.

The eight-year-old pet, who joined Claire's family in 2012, uses his sense of smell to pick up chemical changes in her breath. He can fetch her blood-sugar monitor, glucose, insulin and will "bring me my phone if I need it". He can even press a panic button.

The People's Dispensary for Sick Animals awarded Pal its Order of Merit in Kent on Monday.

Claire, 50, has had

Type 1 diabetes since birth and after suffering kidney failure in 2003 could not check her own blood sugar. Her sons Jed and Jake would return from school to find her collapsed. She stayed indoors and suffered depression and stress.

But Claire saw an advert for the Medical Detection Dogs charity and was introduced to Pal, then 16 months old. On their first night he alerted her as she slept.

Claire, who lives in Sittingbourne, Kent, with husband Steve, said: "Having Pal gave me theconfidence to leave the house again. I started joining local fundraising activities and even giving talks about how wonderful Pal is and how he's helped reclaim my life."

In November, Claire received a new kidney and pancreas transplant.

She is no longer diabetic, but Pal has twice detected her body acting against her new pancreas.

Claire added: "I hope he will be able to retire soon. He is certainly slowing down now that he doesn't need to watch me so closely and is enjoying lots more naps and sleepy cuddles."

PDSA director general Jan McLoughlin said that Pal's "loyalty exemplifies why we love and respect animals as we do".

Gemma Butlin, of Medical Detection Dogs, said: "We are so privileged to work with these wet-nosed superheroes and grateful for all the support we receive."

Brits in LA

Meet A Member: Brad Lewis

MEET Brad Lewis from Vancouver, who moved to LA to pursue an acting career.

Was There A Particular Reason You Chose L.A? I've always been drawn to Los Angeles, it's a powerfully attractive place. I love the aesthetics of the various forms of architecture, the beautiful beaches and cool hills. The look and style combined with the wild history and legends of the Sunset Strip make for a very specific feel that is unique to L.A and it's very magnetic. Also, for pursuing a film acting career, Hollywood is the Emerald City, therefore no better place to gain entry into that dream factory than here. L.A is a fascinating town. It has a certain circus feel to me that I suppose comes with being a town full of performers - and I can identify with that. It's nice, to quote the great Dr. Thompson, "to be just another freak in the freak kingdom".

What Do You Miss Most From Home?

Being a sort of gypsy, I have three places that at one time or another I've called home. I'm originally from Vancouver, so the things I miss the most from there would be fresh wild salmon and the ski hills. My second home would have to be Israel, where I spent several winters and I'd have to say I miss wandering through the ancient streets and enjoying the vibrant mix of Middle Eastern and Mediterranean cultures. And finally New York City, which has been my home for the last four years. I do miss the walkable nature of that city, as well as the amazing theater, nightlife and museum scenes

What Was Your First Impression Of L.A?

My first impression was that people seemed happy more friendly in general. I met people easily and they were more willing to help out then I expected. I believe the sunshine has something to do with it and the West Coast atmosphere. It's a real contrast to New York, where everyone is rushing around like they're getting ready to be shot out of a cannon. That opinion has not changed and I find that I'm also moving around in a more content and well-paced manner.

What Do You Find Is The Biggest Difference Living Here vs Vancouver/ NY?

The biggest or most significant difference would have to be the weather. My moods and overall health are particularly susceptible to cold, wet weather, especially in rainy Vancouver. I also find there's so much more space in this city compared to most others and I love that too. It is fantastic to live in Southern California and the endless sunshine.

BRAD LEWIS: "It's nice, to quote the great Dr. Thompson, "to be just another freak in the freak kingdom".

Do You Have A Hidden Gem In L.A That You Want To Share?

I found a beautiful movie theater called the Vintage Cinema Vista Theater in Los Feliz. I'm sure most people know about it but it felt like a special find. It's an opera house style theater and it's great to see they kept the original design. I also found a great traditional sushi spot in the valley. The fish is always fresh, delicious and cut professionally. It's called Sushi Sazanami on Riverside and Coldwater Canyon. And finally, if you like good wine and an amazing staff who know all about the vine, there's an atmospheric wine bar with a wonderful little kitchen called Mirabelle on Burbank Blvd.

What Would You

Suggest To Others Who Are Considering Making The Move Here?

One important piece of advice is to try to have a real game plan for your career for when you arrive. Hit the ground running and use the new energy to make some positive moves, because this town can slow you down if you let it. So keep up the hustle. I was lucky in that I already had several friends and contacts here but if you don't, I'd suggest doing workshops and classes in order to meet people and start building your network. And definitely stay in shape because again, this place can be real fun and it's easy to fall off.

Lots Of Our Members Join Brits In L.A Seeking Out Words Of Wisdom- What Is The Best Piece Of Advice You"Ve Been Given?

A friend of mine who works as a casting director's assistant filled me in on some of the usual stuff, things they typically look for: know your work, make strong character choices, be friendly and inviting. Basically be good, or be good at it. He also advised me to be proactive and reach out to casting directors, managers and agents. I have another friend who lives by the old saying that "the early bird gets the worm", so get up and get on it!

Lastly How Can We Find Out More About You? Are You Working On Anything At The Moment?

I'm currently working to get cast in a film (fingers crossed). I'm also collaborating with a producer on an exciting part/idea for his upcoming project. I'm not really on social media, but you can find me on Facebook as Brad Belzberg and IMDB as Brad Lewis.

Where there's muck: 'concreteberg' blocks London sewers

A "concreteberg", weighing as much as 20 elephants, is blocking three central London sewers.

The 330ft-long (100m) mass, weighing 105 tonnes, was caused by people pouring concrete into the sewers.

It could take two months and cost £150,000 to remove from the Victorian-era sewer under Hall Street, Islington.

Thames Water operations manager, Alex Saunders, said the concreteberg was the largest the company had ever seen.

Mr Saunders added: "Normally blockages are caused by fat, oil and wet wipes building up in the sewer, but unfortunately in this case it's rock-hard concrete.

"It's in there and set to the Victorian brickwork, so we need to chip away at it to get it removed.

"This is not the first time damage has been caused by people pouring concrete into our sewers but it's certainly the worst we've seen."

Workers will have to manually chip away at the mass using tools including jackhammer pneumatic drills and high-pressure jets.

Tankers will also be needed to pump out waste 24 hours a day to protect the environment and prevent sewage backed up by the blockage flooding into nearby properties.

An investigation into how the concrete got into the sewer and to recover costs is under way.

Fatbergs made of congealed fat, wet wipes, nappies, oil and condoms have been found across London over the last few years.

Last year Thames Water was called to clear 42,000 blockages caused by fat and non-biodegradable matter, a 6% increase on 2017.

In 2013, a bus-size fatberg was found in a sewer in Kingston-upon-Thames, and a 250m-long fatberg weighing 130 tonnes was found in Whitechapel in 2017.

HAPPY EASTER TO ALL!

ARIES: Your boss Mars is visiting Gemini currently which can make your life chaotic for a while. Bear in mind nothing lasts forever, however new doors can open which will be welcome. The week ahead is much busier so pace yourself. Happy Birthday!

TAURUS: You need to look at where you are heading now. If it is the right direction with some creative project you should move forward swiftly. Do not waste time if you need to make a detour. Only by taking the bull by the horns will you succeed. Happy Birthday!

GEMINI: With Mars visiting you in a positive direction this week it's very possible that any financial situation will heat up. Keep your mind focused on the expected outcome and do not back away from your goal. The past is much on your mind so take care to revisit it.

CANCER: You may or may not be ready for upcoming changes. Cheer up, it's not going to be as bad as you expect. Positive energy is about to move into your life so open up to all opportunities. Life will be better than you expect.

LEO: As this week ends you could find yourself stretched pretty much beyond your emotional limits. One thing to remember: you can only do your best. It's going to get easier before the middle of next week to take back your power.

VIRGO: Any task you take on will be easier to deal with and will likely last only until the end of the coming week. Be on the safe side, make it a priority to complete anything outstanding because you will be busier than you expect.

LIBRA: Change is going to be much on your mind for a while ahead and this can make you stressed or feel limited. The clue is to keep an open mind and go with the flow. By month's end life is looking better than for some time.

SCORPIO: Pressure in several areas may have got you down and feeling blue recently. However now Mars your boss is in fast moving Gemini you will feel the pressure already lifting. Jupiter in your money area will assist you overall for several months ahead.

SAGITTARIUS: Whatever way you having been trying to move forward is not going to harm your end result now that Jupiter your boss is in a positive light for you. However do not take any short cuts financially. Saturn in your earned income area is watching.

CAPRICORN: It is time to tell the truth, either for you or someone you know who is not. Saturn in your life for a long time ahead will stir things up somewhat. Do not let things get to you, especially this weekend. Best to keep a low profile.

AQUARIUS: Social groups and gatherings will be much on your agenda these next few days or so. You will benefit much from other people's input, so be open to what your close friends or family tell you. It will be much to your advantage in your general life.

PISCES: This is the time of year that is best for you to be planning what you want to do for the next few weeks. Be low-key and this will help to keep you from feeling overwhelmed until you are feeling more confident. It's still looking good overall.

No room for hate: Let's say TTFN to the Beverly Hills Hotel AND the Hotel Bel Air

That is....if you care about human rights.

Actor and activist George Clooney recently penned an op-ed urging people to boycott Bruneiowned hotels and other businesses. Elton John, Ellen DeGeneres and other LGBTI high-profile celebrities have also encouraged their fans to take action against Brunei, after the tiny, oilrich nation announced new laws making homosexual acts and adultery punishable by death.

From April 3 in Brunei, a south-east Asian country with a population of about 430,000, anyone found guilty of homosexuality or cheating on spouse could be whipped or stoned.

The country, which gained independence from the UK in 1984, is headed by the Sultan of Brunei and through its investment agency, the Dorchester Collection, owns The Dorchester and 45 Park Lane as well as Coworth Park in Berkshire. Its portfolio also includes two very prestigious local properties, the Hotel Bel-Air and The Beverly Hills Hotel.

George said: "Every single time we stay at or take meetings at or dine at any of these nine hotels we are putting money directly into the pockets of men who choose to stone and whip to death their own citizens for being gay or accused of adultery. Brunei is a Monarchy and certainly any boycott would have little effect on changing these laws. But are we really going to help pay for these human rights violations? Are we really going to help fund the murder of innocent citizens? I've learned over years of dealing with murderous regimes that you can't shame them. But you can shame the banks, the financiers and the institutions that do business with them and choose to look the other way."

In 2014, when the country announced it was implementing Sharia Law, activists demanded stars stop attending Brunei-owned hotels and Clooney said fundraising event usually held at the Beverly Hills Hotel was cancelled because it had lost steam and interest. Britain then updated its travel advisories to caution people about the changes in the Muslimmajority country where Sultan Hassanal Bolkiah has a firm grip on power.

Mordaunt, Penny Secretary of State for the UK's Department International Development (DFID), tweeted "No one should face the death penalty because of who they love. Brunei's decision is barbaric and the UK stands with the LGBT+ community and those who defend their rights. LGBT+ rights are human rights."

Nonetheless, the nation isn't the only one where gay sex is punishable by death. Other bad actors with similar policies include Afghanistan, Egypt, Iran, Iraq, certain regions of Indonesia, the Maldives, Malaysia, Mauritania, Nigeria, Pakistan, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, Yemen and the UAE. So when booking your next holiday bear in mind the laws of the country you may be visiting and what they support - and what they oulaw.

Now some of you may think it's not your problem, why does it affect us? I love my Saturday afternoon high tea as much as anyone? And what about the poor people that work at these hotels, that rely on our patronage to support their families? Trust me their jobs are safe, and business will return to order once you hit these properties where it hurts - their pocketbook. Big businesses will in effect cause change. But, if you think we should get over it and keep quiet, then you are a part of the problem. Being gay is not a choice, it's not a lifestyle and it's most certainly not a waste of a life. We continue to fight for equality on a national scale, because rights can be taken away from us in an instant. We are your sons and daughters, we are your brothers and sisters. We are your neighbors and your friends. We are your military helping to keep you safe. We are your teachers, your students, your doctors and your parents' care workers. But mainly we are your allies. Now will you please be ours?

Only in the recent years did I declare myself fully, without fear of judgement or persecution. But my gay counterparts in other parts of the world have no choice but to remain closeted. They are not so lucky. It's now a matter of life and death...talk about high stakes.

If you truly care and want to make a difference in the lives of the LGBTQI community AKA - PEOPLE, please join us in the fight for their rights and their right to live. Consider making a donation to the Human Rights Campaign. (HRC) https://bit. ly/2UbZor5

'Oli-Wood' is calling for hot young British talent

Call it a cliché when a cute young British model has his sights set on becoming a star in Hollywood. But everyone deserves a shot at the big-time!

And Oliver Smiles is no exception.

The Leicester-born hunk, who moved to London six years ago after being head-hunted by top agent Tandy Anderson at Select, is already packing his bags and heading to Tinseltown.

Smiles told me, "I was scouted by Tandy (Anderson) the owner of Select models on platform 5 of Rugby station. That was like a dream come true and put me on a totally new career path."

The 'Steve McQueen look-a-alike', known for his moody and mysterious James Dean persona has caught the attention of casting directors stateside, and his move to America is all but a done deal.

Smiles is now grinning from ear to ear after being snapped up by an LA-based agent. He said, "I signed with a new agent in the U.S. and landed my first role within a few weeks. I'm kinda pinching myself."

The blonde haired, blue eyed heartthrob added, "I always felt I had something to offer towards acting world. I used to joke around and say to people, I'm an actor... I'm heading to Los Angeles soon, now serendipity has played its part. I'm actually doing it. Wow!"

"I love modeling, but I only modeled to get my foot in the door so I could pursue my dream of becoming an actor. I am happy to say it's paying off!

"I'm overwhelmed, he added.

....And something tells me La-La-Land soon will be too!

Skinny as a Pegg?... Simon gets a six-pack!

British actor Simon Pegg has surprised everyone with his success in Hollywood in recent years.

The Shaun of the Dead star who first found fame on Channel 4 show Spaced, has had a number of roles in major U.S. movies.

And if you think Pegg might be spreading himself a bit thin, well, read on....

After signing on for the indie thriller Inheritance, Pegg enlisted uber-trainer Nick Lower to give him the body the part required. And Lower recently shared an update of Pegg's six-month transition, explaining he had to get 'lean, VERY lean' for his new role.

"It required a specific body shape and look," Lower explained in a tweet

He said Pegg's body weight went from 78kg down to 69kg, and his body fat from 12 per cent to eight per cent.

This was achieved through a mix of strength and circuit training, core trail runs and a sound nutrition plan that worked for him and his goals.

"6 months of hard work has paid off and I tip my hat to you sir..." Lower said.

Pegg also shared the photo, joking the journey also included 'mild grumpiness'.

In the snap Simon was pictured laughing as went shirtless, simply rocking a baseball cap and tracksuit bottoms.

According to the Hollywood Reporter, Inheritance follows the family of a wealthy patriarch after he suddenly passes away, as they discover a shocking secret inheritance that threatens to destroy life as they know it.

Pegg, who will star alongside Kate Mara, will reportedly be teaming up with British filmmaker Vaughn Stein once again for the film – following their recent work together on 2018 neo-noir thriller Terminal.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

Dumped McLeish 'grateful' for second Scotland tenure

Alex McLeish says he was "grateful for the opportunity" after his second spell as Scotland head coach ended after 14 months in charge.

McLeish, 60, took charge for a second time in February 2018 but came under increasing pressure after a poor start to the Euro 2020 qualifiers.

The decision was "agreed collectively in consultation with Alex" at a Scottish FA board meeting at Hampden.

"I leave knowing that I gave my all," said McLeish in a statement.

Scottish FA chief executive Ian Maxwell said the former Rangers, Birmingham City and Aston Villa manager had "accepted the decision" with "good grace".

Maxwell added that the decision "was not an easy one" and came after an "honest and respectful conversation" between himself and McLeish earlier week.

McLeish's coaching staff - Peter Grant, James McFadden and Stevie Woods - have also left their roles.

The Scottish say the search for a successor "will begin immediately".

McLeish had been chosen as Gordon Strachan's successor after the Scottish FA failed in its attempt to recruit Michael O'Neill - who instead chose to stay with Northern Ireland - and oversaw 12 matches, winning five and losing seven.

His departure comes a month after Scotland were humiliated 3-0 by world ranked 117 nation Kazakhstan, then recorded unconvincing 2-0 win over San Marino, the world's lowest-ranked side.

"I am proud that together we finished top of our Uefa Nations League group and qualified for the Euro 2020 play-offs, which gives us a real opportunity to reach a major tournament for the first time in over 20 years," McLeish added.

"I am also pleased to have given many younger players a first taste of international football that will stand them - and the country - in good stead for the future."

The national team resumes their campaign in June against Cyprus and Belgium as they look to end a 22-year wait for a major tournament finals appearance.

"The board believes a change of management is necessary to reinvigorate the European qualifying campaign," a Scottish FA statement read.

Gunners ease past Napoli

Alexandre Lacazette's first-half free-kick eased Arsenal into the Europa League semi-finals as they completed a 3-0 aggregate victory over Napoli on Thursday.

Lacazette's 25-yard effort flew into the top corner after the hosts enjoyed the better of the early chances.

Arkadiusz Milik had a goal ruled out for offside while Petr Cech saved well from Jose Callejon.

Arsenal are scheduled to host Valencia in the first leg of their semi-final on Thursday 2 May

In the end, it was a comfortable night's work for the Gunners as Unai Emery marked his 50th game as their manager.

Arsenal, who arrived at the Stadio San Paolo with a 2-0 lead from the first leg in London, could have doubled their margin of victory on the night but home goalkeeper Alex Meret superbly saved Pierre-Emerick from Aubameyang after the break.

The only negative aspect of the evening for Arsenal was Aaron hobbling Ramsev off with a suspected hamstring injury.

Chelsea edge thriller to book Europa semifinal berth

Chelsea held off a second-half comeback by Slavia Prague to progress to the Europa League semi-finals with victory in the second leg at Stamford Bridge Thursday night.

Maurizio Sarri's side were cruising at halftime with a four-goal aggregate lead before Petr Sevcik produced two sensational strikes as the nerves crept into a previously dominant Chelsea performance.

Buoyed by their noisy supporters, the visitors pushed forward as they tried to force a way back into the game but time defeated them as the Blues regained their composure to close out victory.

Having secured a valuable 1-0 advantage in the Czech Republic, Chelsea raced into a threegoal lead in west London courtesy of goals from Pedro, Olivier Giroud and a calamitous Simon Deli own goal.

Slavia captain Tomas Soucek headed in his side's first goal before Pedro doubled his tally just 63 seconds later.

Chelsea travel to Germany for the first leg of their last-four tie with Eintracht Frankfurt on Thursday, 2 May.

Chelsea's minicapitulation had echoes of their display at Anfield on Sunday - when two goals in eight minutes at the start of the second period settled the match - but the Blues had useful cushion to protect them on this occasion.

Victory ensured Chelsea became the first English club to win 11 matches in European competition in a single season, but Sarri must help his players to find consistent displays for the whole game if they are to deliver a first European trophy since 2013 - and with it Champions League football next season.

Klopp hails team's 'big statement'

Jurgen Klopp says his Liverpool side made a "big statement" by thrashing Porto to reach the semi-finals of the Champions League for a second successive year.

The Reds' 4-1 victory in Portugal, sealed a 6-1 aggregate win and they will meet Barcelona in the last four.

"For us to be in the semi-finals is unbelievable. The second time in a row is something really crazy," Klopp said.

"I'm really proud of the boys and what they did."

Liverpool's 17th game without defeat and their eighth-straight victory ensured they became the first English side to reach the semi-final stage of the competition in back-to-back seasons since Chelsea and Manchester United achieved that feat between 2006-07 and 2008-09

Barcelona reached the semis with a 4-0 aggregate win over Manchester United, with the first leg against Liverpool scheduled for 30 April (20:00 BST) at Nou Camp.

It will be the clubs' first competitive meeting since Liverpool knocked Barcelona out of the Champions League at the last-16 stage during the 2006-07 season, though Klopp's side face Premier League matches against Cardiff and Huddersfield first.

"To be in the semifinal is a big statement," Klopp added.

"The news that there's a proper football game between Liverpool and Barcelona is really good news and I'm happy for all the people in the football club.

"We will find things that we think we can use against them, but I'm not worrying about that tonight."

Barca 'what we must aspire to', says humbled Solskjaer

Manchester United manager Ole Gunnar Solskjaer said his side must "aspire to Barcelona's level" after their Champions League quarter-final defeat.

Lionel Messi inspired Barca to a 3-0 win in Tuesday's second leg at the Nou Camp, sealing a 4-0 aggregate victory.

"If we want to get back to Manchester United's true level, true traditions, we have to challenge Barcelona," said Solskjaer.

"They were a couple of levels above over the two games."

Messi scored two goals in four first-half minutes, with Philippe Coutinho adding a stunning long-range third in the 61st minute.

United struggled to contain their opponents and had just three shots on target over the two legs.

Speaking to BT Sport, Solskjaer added: "Lionel Messi is top quality and he was the difference, of course. At 2-0 straight after, it was game over. Messi showed his quality."

Solskjaer's side face a battle to qualify for next season's Champions League in their remaining Fleetwood Town manager Joey Barton says he "emphatically" denies allegations he assaulted Barnsley boss Daniel Stendel.

Police are investigating an alleged tunnel altercation after Barnsley's 4-2 League One win at Oakwell on Saturday.

A man has been arrested on suspicion of a racially aggravated public order offence and racially aggravated assault. He has been released on bail.

Barnsley complained to the Football Association and English Football League about the alleged incident.

five Premier League games.

They are sixth in the table, two points behind fourth-placed Arsenal, and travel to Everton on Sunday before hosting title-chasing Manchester City on Wednesday, 24 April.

"We want to play these games again next year, so we have a massive week coming up," Solskjaer added.

"There is no point dwelling on what could have been. We have to focus on that week."

Solskjaer said he knows there is "work to be done".

player Cauley Woodrow claimed on Twitter that Stendel had been "physically assaulted" and left with "blood pouring from his face".

Woodrow later deleted the tweet.

In a statement issued on Thursday, Barton said: "With regards to the alleged incident on Saturday following our game against Barnsley, I emphatically deny the allegations made."

He said it would be "inappropriate" to make any further comment.

The arrested man attended a police station on Wednesday and has been bailed until May.

"We have said all along that this isn't going to change tonight. The next few years will be massive for us to get to the level of Barcelona," Solskjaer said.

"We have got good players and, at the moment, we really have done well to get to the quarters and to get in the challenge for the top four.

"We have got a rebuilding job but that starts with the coaches and the players and one or two additions to the squad will happen in the summer."

Champions League delight for Poch's men but it's VAR City Blues for Pep overcame Manchester City in a classic encounter at Etihad Stadium on Wednesday to reach the last four of the Champions League for the first time.

Fernando Llorente's goal, bundled in from a corner and confirmed by VAR 17 minutes from time, gave Mauricio Pochettino's side victory on away goals on a night of almost unbearable tension, attacking quality and defensive frailty that ended City and Pep Guardiola's quest for a historic quadruple League, Premier Champions League, FA Cup and League Cup.

In a game of relentless drama, City even thought they had won it in injury time only for Raheem Sterling's goal to be ruled out for offside by VAR.

Spurs were protecting a 1-0 lead from the first leg but an opening 21 minutes of chaotic brilliance saw City lead 3-2 on the night as both teams exchanged goals at will.

Sterling lit the blue touchpaper atmosphere thunderous when he curled in a precision finish from the edge of the area after only four minutes, but Spurs responded with a double from Son Heung-min as he took advantage of errors by Aymeric Laporte.

Bernardo Silva put City level on the night with a shot that deflected past Hugo Lloris, then Sterling arrived on the end of the outstanding Kevin de Bruyne's cross to score at the far post.

It left City effectively needing to win the second half and they looked on course when Sergio Aguero crashed home their fourth after De Bruyne sliced Spurs open before Llorente, on as a first-half substitute for injured Moussa Sissoko, bundled in from a corner via his hip - the goal given after a VAR check for handball.

In one last extraordinary twist, City thought they had snatched victory and Sterling a hat-trick, but emotions switched instantly as VAR had the final word once again, ruling that Aguero was in an offside position as Bernardo Silva diverted the ball into his path.

Spurs go on to face Ajax at the end of unforgettable encounter that left everyone involved stunned and breathless.

Spurs goalkeeper Hugo Lloris - rightly criticised after his mistake gifted Liverpool victory Anfield recently - also deserves huge praise after his penalty save from Aguero in the first leg and crucial stops from the Argentine and De Bruyne in the return.

This was a Spurs side, it should be remembered, who needed a draw in Barcelona to reach the group stage after a damaging defeat at Inter Milan and draw at PSV Eindhoven.

It is a tribute to the resilience of this squad Pochettino's and management of resources - that they not only achieved that but now stand two games away from their first Champions League final.

They survived an all-out assault from City to achieve it. How they deserved those celebrations.

Will we recover, vows Pep

Manager Guardiola says Manchester City will recover from their "cruel" defeat by Tottenham in the Champions League to push for a domestic Treble.

City had an injurytime winner from Raheem Sterling ruled out by VAR as Spurs edged a thrilling 4-4 aggregate draw on away goals.

"It's tough. It's cruel but we have to accept it," he said.

"We fought a lot, nine, 10 months for the Premier League. It's in our hands. It's tough, but we have to do it."

Trailing 1-0 after the first leg, City finally edged ahead in the tie for the first time thanks to Sergio Aguero's second-half strike.

a dramatic match, which featured five goals in the first 21 minutes, had at more twists with substitute Fernando Llorente bundling in to give Spurs the advantage on away goals, before Sterling's late effort was ruled out.

"I am so proud of the players and the fans," added Guardiola.

"I have never like heard noise that since I have been in Manchester football but unpredictable."

City, who have already won the Carabao Cup, will play Watford in the FA Cup final on May 18.
