Night of the blond knives!

- Brexiteers rewarded in biggest cabinet cull in 60 years
- PM gives top jobs to Javid, Patel and Raab
- Gove runs no-deal plans but Hunt is out

Boris Johnson conducted the most brutal cabinet purge in modern political history on Wednesday to reunite the team that won the Brexit vote three years ago.

The new prime minister shocked Westminster and Brussels by handing responsibility for no-deal preparations to Michael Gove and bringing Dominic Cummings, the former campaign director of Vote Leave, into the heart of Downing Street.

Mr Johnson's allies defended his drastic actions as the necessary groundwork for major upheaval ahead of his first cabinet meeting Thursday morning. Rishi Sunak, chief secretary to the Treasury, said it was right to "prepare with conviction" for no deal, while Iain Duncan Smith said any government worth its salt would be preparing for a general election.

In his speech outside No 10 Mr Johnson dashed hopes that he would soften his negotiating stance by issuing a "no ifs or buts" promise to leave on October 31. Sajid Javid, the new chancellor, will oversee an injection of funds into the economy to smooth the departure from the bloc.

Jeremy Hunt lost a battle of wills with his leadership rival and was sacked after refusing to accept a demotion from foreign secretary.

Altogether Mr Johnson dismissed 11 cabinet ministers, including fellow Brexiteers such as Penny Mordaunt and those, such as James Brokenshire, who had been his vocal supporters. Another six members of Theresa May's top team resigned. More than half of Mrs May's cabinet ministers are no longer in their roles.

'hardline Conservatives'

The scale of the sackings, which will make managing parliament more difficult, has put Westminster on election alert. The nature of his opening address, which included pledges on social care, the police and GP waiting times as well as action on "left-behind towns", also raised speculation of an early election.

Iain Duncan Smith, a prominent voice in Johnson's campaign, all but confirmed that the prime minister was putting his team on a war footing, saying "any government worth its salt" would be preparing for a general election.

Labour warned of an influx of "hardline conservatives" after Mr Johnson's appointments, and Tom Watson, the party's deputy leader, said the "huge cull" would lead to the "early collapse" of the government. The SNP also said the "cabinet from hell" was set to be the "worst since Thatcher".

Alastair Campbell, who was communications director under Tony Blair, warned that Mr Johnson's premiership would "not end well". "I can think of no other senior position being filled by someone so unqualified to do the job, especially at this crucial time for the country," he wrote in The Daily Mirror. EU officials and diplomats also reacted with dismay.

"What can one say about the speech?" a senior official said. "His appointments in Downing Street are more worrying."

Leo Varadkar, the Irish prime minister, warned Mr Johnson that "enthusiasm is not a substitute for a European policy".

Scott Morrison, the prime minister of Australia, said that Mr

Teary May says her goodbyes

THERESA May thanked the nation as she bowed out as Prime Minister on Monday with an emotional Downing Street farewell.

In her valedictory speech, she said the "immediate priority" was to secure Britain's departure from the EU "in a way that works for the whole United Kingdom".

"To serve as PM of the UK is the greatest honour," she said. "Thank you for putting your faith in me."

Choking back tears, Mrs May expressed gratitude to her "biggest supporter" – husband Philip – who joined her for the brief but dignified statement that ended three tortuous years in office. At one point, her address was interrupted by a protester shouting, "Stop Brexit", with Mrs May wryly responding: "I think not."

She also took the opportunity to congratulate her successor once again and wished Boris Johnson "every good fortune" when it came to creating "the bright future the British people deserve."

Mrs May, who is only the second woman to serve as PM, also told how she hoped her tenure would show girls there were "no limits to what they can achieve".

The outgoing premier was then applauded as she left for Buckingham Palace to formally resign in person to the Queen. Before stepping through the door of No10 one last time, Mrs May enjoyed lunch in the garden with her husband and thanked her staff, who lined the corridors and could be heard cheering and clapping her inside. Her emotional words came after she was given a standing ovation by Tory MPs in the Commons following her last Prime Minister's Questions.

But Jeremy Corbyn and most Labour MPs refused to get to their feet, with the hardline Left-winger choosing to ignore etiquette and attack Mrs May. Mr Corbyn said she should be joining the Remainer revolt against Mr Johnson to avoid a no-deal Brexit and claimed she had driven an increase in poverty and crime. But as her husband watched from the gallery, Mrs May said she had done her best to get a deal through Parliament, and the Labour leader should be "ashamed" for blocking the UK from leaving.

She snapped: "As a party leader who has accepted when her time was up, perhaps the time is now for him to do the same?"

Mrs May, who has served on the Tory front bench for 21 years, made it clear that she intends to continue as MP for Maidenhead after standing down from No10. She told how, as Prime Minister, she had answered more than 4,500 questions and spent more than 140 hours at the dispatch box – but was now looking forward to asking the questions as a backbench MP. Mrs May finished the hour-long session – believed to be the longest PMQs ever – by saying: "The duty to serve my constituents will remain my greatest motivation."

May left Number 10 with the lowest satisfaction rating of any outgoing Prime Minister since Margaret Thatcher.

Mrs May ends her three-year tenure with a net satisfaction of -44, according to Ipsos MORI. This was after turning a Conservative majority into a minority, being found in contempt of Parliament and losing control of her Cabinet.

These circumstances took a toll on the public's view of her, with her favourability rating tumbling to a low of -49 just before her resignation.

Johnson's move to No 10 had ushered in a "time of change" and noted that Australia would be "one of the first cabs of the rank" in negotiations over post-Brexit trade deals.

"I think the new prime minister will bring a new opportunity," he said. "I am looking forward to spending time with him . . . at the G7 next month, and we are both looking forward to that opportunity."

Mr Johnson put Mr Cummings, a former education adviser to Mr Gove, in overall charge of all ministerial aides after 24 hours of talks.

As well as making Mr Gove chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, a flexible ministerial role in which he will oversee the Cabinet Office, Mr Johnson handed vital roles to others on the Vote Leave platform. Priti Patel was appointed home secretary and Dominic Raab foreign secretary and de facto deputy prime minister.

Jacob Rees-Mogg will attend cabinet after being made leader of the Commons. There was also a cabinet role for Mr Johnson's younger brother, Jo, who was made a minister of state in the business and education departments.

Gavin Williamson returns to the cabinet as education secretary after being sacked by Mrs May in May for allegedly leaking details of a National Security Council meeting.

Nick Boles, who resigned the Tory whip after failing to secure a softer Brexit, said: "The Brexit Party has won the war without electing a single MP. Boris Johnson isn't our new prime minister; Nigel Farage is."

Britain swelters on hottest-ever July day

Mercury soars to 98.6F in South East • Commuters face misery as train tracks buckle

The UK has had its hottest July day on record, with temperatures reaching 37.7C (98.6F) in Essex and west London on Thursday.

The previous record for July was 36.7C (98F), and the temperatures brought misery for commuters have faced disruption in areas where trains are running slower on tracks at risk of buckling.

Paris has seen a record-breaking 40.6C, with much of western Europe facing all-time temperature highs.

The record-breaking July temperatures were recorded at Kew, west London, and Writtle, near Chelmsford in Essex.

The July heat record was first broken at around 13:30 BST on Thursday when the Met Office said the temperature at Heathrow reached 36.9C.

The previous hottest July day was recorded on 1 July 2015, also at Heathrow, with a temperature of 36.7C.

multiple delays

While those that could flock to beaches, lakes and rivers to cool off, most Britons faced the misery of jammed streets, overheating offices and multiple delays in public transport, with commuter trains particularly hard-hit.

Network Rail's group director Nick King told BBC Radio 4's Today programme that the rail network was not engineered to cope with temperatures as high as 38C.

He said: "What we're saying is as a consequence of the record temp, we have to react to that because our tracks will expand quite significantly. That gives a potential for unsafe situations like buckled tracks."

As a consequence, trains were forced to run at a reduced speed with fewer trains running.

When asked why Nairobi and Mumbai could run trains effectively at temperatures of up to 50C but Britain could not, Mr King said: "We set our railway around a norm UK temperature of 27C, so we stress our tracks to deal with movement in that range band.

"Today we're going to see temperatures of 38C, potentially, so we're seeing temperatures outside of our engineering norms."

Day One gaffe from Boris

Boris Johnson was accused of committing his first gaffe as Prime Minister after breaching royal protocol just hours into the job.

Mr Johnson held his first audience with the Queen on Wednesday afternoon at Buckingham Palace, where he accepted her invitation to form the next Government and become PM.

What passes between the Queen and her prime minister during their private meetings is supposed to remain private, but when the inevitable leak does happen it is usually well after the event.

But it appears the outspoken politician may have already revealed what was said during their 25-minute meeting in the Queen's private apartment.

As he was being shown around his new offices in Downing Street, he was reported to have told staff in No10 that the Queen had told him: "I don't know why anyone would want the job."

Mr Johnson's aides were understood to have reminded him of the rule.

SOMETHING COOL: Brighton's beach were jammed by Brits seeking relief on Thursday

The scorching conditions were also expected to spark thunderstorms which could trigger travel delays, flash flooding, and power cuts, the Met Office said.

The dangers of cooling off in lakes, rivers and the sea were highlighted by emergency services after the bodies of three people were pulled from the water after they reportedly got into difficulty swimming.

At press time a yellow weather warning was in force for most of England, except the south west, and parts of Scotland from 3pm on Thursday until 4am on Friday.

Network Rail warned speed restrictions may be introduced in areas where tracks are at risk of buckling and extreme weather action teams (EWATs) have been "activated" to keep passengers safe and trains running, it said.

global warming

The Rail Delivery Group, which represents the industry, advised passengers in London and the South East to consider changing their travel plans on Thursday owing to the heat.

London North Eastern Railway (LNER), which runs inter-city services on the East Coast Main Line, also advised customers against travelling on Thursday.

It is even possible the mercury could climb to 40C, which would be "unprecedented" for the UK climate, weather forecasters said.

The scorching temperatures gripping the UK and much of Europe come against a backdrop of global warming of 1C since the Industrial Revolution driven by greenhouse gas emissions.

Both Belgium and the Netherlands broke their all-time maximum temperature records on Wednesday, reaching 39.9C and 39.1C respectively, the Met Office said.

Higher temperatures are making extreme hot spells more likely and more intense, experts warn.

Dr Nick Scriven,

president of the Society for Acute Medicine, said NHS staff were "struggling" as "few lessons had been learned" from last year's heatwaves and few hospitals are prepared for the impact of intense heat.

He said "overheated and exhausted staff" are at greater risk of making errors.

"Last year, hospitals hired in large fans and coolers for a week or so but have got nothing long-term in place - they are purely reactive not proactive."

UK steps up Iran pressure for release of tanker

"Our priority continues to be to find a way to de-escalate the situation." - outgoing Foreign Secretary Jeremy Hunt

BRITAIN this week stepped up diplomatic pressure on Iran to return the UK-flagged oil tanker seized by its Revolutionary Guard.

A second British warship, destroyer HMS Duncan, was due in the Gulf "imminently" after being diverted at short notice from the eastern Mediterranean last week. It will join the frigate HMS Montrose, which could not prevent the Revolutionary Guard capturing the MV Stena Impero on Friday.

British diplomats this week urged the United Nations Security Council to pressurize Iran over its threat to international shipping in the Strait of Hormuz, which lies between Iran and Oman. Britain is likely to win support as almost 20 per cent of the world's oil passes through the Strait. The seizure of the Stena Impero on Friday and briefly another tanker, the Mesdar, were described by Defence Secretary Penny Mordaunt as a "hostile act". Iran said it was "reciprocal action" for the British capture of an Iranian tanker, the Grace 1, off Gibraltar earlier this month, on suspicion of sanctions-busting.

State TV footage showed the Iranian flag hoisted provocatively over the seized tanker. On Saturday, outgoing Foreign Secretary Jeremy Hunt described Iran's actions as "totally and utterly unacceptable", raising "very serious questions" about the security of British and international shipping in the Strait. But he added: "Our priority continues to be to find a way to de-escalate the situation."

New Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab, appointed in Thursday's Cabinet reshuffle by new prime minister Boris Johnson, faces a baptism of fire to contain the situation.

Urging restraint, Iran's ambassador to Britain, Hamid Baeidinejad, tweeted: "UK Government should contain those domestic political forces who want to escalate existing tension between Iran and the UK well beyond the issue of ships."

"This is quite dangerous and unwise at a sensitive time in the region."

New prime minister Boris Johnson is likely to find his hands tied militarily by decades of cuts which have left Britain with too small a force to escort every UK-flagged ship. Although HMS Duncan will double the number of UK warships in the area, HMS Montrose is due to go into port for a long-planned period of maintenance. Britain has four small mine counter-measure vessels in the Gulf, but will almost certainly have to work with America to protect shipping. Another option is heavily armed Royal Marines on oil tankers – a tactic used on cargo ships when piracy was at its height off Somalia.

A nuclear-powered Royal Navy submarine which can monitor Republican Guard activity from hundreds of miles away is already thought to be conducting surveillance operations in the region. US missile systems have the coordinates of every Republican Guard base pre-programmed and could flatten them in minutes. Special Forces are on standby, but sending them into Iran is extremely high risk.

In 1980, a US attempt to send in elite troops to rescue the Tehran hostages left eight servicemen dead. Britain's preferred path is to use economic and diplomatic pressure. Options include not renewing recently expired permits for Iran to export oil, or freezing Iranian assets around the world. On Monday, Britain's UN charge d'affaires Jonathan Allen told Security Council president Gustavo Meza-Cuadra Velasquez that "we do not seek confrontation with Iran". But he said: "It is unacceptable and highly escalatory to threaten shipping going about its legitimate business through internationally recognised transit corridors."

Britain will look to the 2007 seizure by Iran of a Royal Navy crew and Royal Marines, which resulted in them being held for 13 days. Defence minister Tobias Ellwood said: "Our first and most important responsibility is to make sure we get a solution to the issue to do with the current ship, make sure other British-flagged ships are safe to operate in these waters and then look at the wider picture."

Six of the best from gorgeous George

PRINCE George flashes a cheeky grin as he kicks off his sixth birthday on Monday in an England football shirt.

The photo is one of three taken by his mother, the Duchess of Cambridge, and shared to mark his special day. It was snapped in the garden of their home at Kensington Palace. In another shot he is pictured looking a little more reflective on a family holiday wearing a green polo shirt. It has become a tradition for keen photographer Kate to release photos she has taken of her children, including Princess Charlotte, four, and Prince Louis, one, to mark their birthdays.

THE WAY THEY WERE: George Michael and Fadi Fawaz in 2013

George Michael's ex-boyfriend arrested at their former home

George Michael's ex-partner, Fadi Fawaz has been arrested on suspicion of criminal damage after standing topless on the roof of the late singer's £5 million London mansion.

The 46-year-old hairdresser has been squatting in the "Faith" hitmaker's house since his death on Christmas Day in 2016. The mansion was left to Mr Michael's sister in the singer's will where Mr Fawaz was not named.

Mr Fawaz was arrested and taken away in a police van on Tuesday evening on suspicion of aggravated criminal damage and remained in custody on Wednesday night.

He had climbed down from the roof by the time police arrived at the property where they observed "extensive damage".

He could be heard shouting and arresting release according to sources quoted by the Metro newspaper.

"I am not going there, I am not going there, I am staying here, I want to stay here," a passerby claims to have heard Mr Fawaz shouting.

Firefighters were called to the property to clear up leaking water. Police attended the home at around 7pm on Tuesday, a Met Police spokesman said.

"Due to the damage inside the property the London Fire Brigade attended.

"The man has been arrested on suspicion of aggravated criminal damage. He has been taken into custody at a north London police station," the spokesman said.

Mr Michael's family has reportedly sent legal letters to Mr Fawaz, requesting that he vacate the property but the hairdresser has so far refused to leave the mansion.

"Fadi is being a real pain about all of this. He has refused to leave despite several letters and requests in the last 18 months. He is blanking them out and it appears he now has squatters rights," a source told The Sun.

Michael Palin, 76, calls off UK tour to have heart operation

MONTY Python star Michael Palin has cancelled a book tour because he needs heart surgery.

Sir Michael, 76, also famed for his documentaries and writing from all over the world, was due to travel around Britain in October but instead will be recovering from an operation to repair a valve. He said: "Five years ago, a routine health check revealed a leaky mitral valve in my heart.

"Recently I have felt my heart having to work harder and have been advised it's time to have the valve repaired.

"I shall be undergoing surgery in September and should be back to normal, or rather better than normal, within three months."

The mitral valve is a small flap in the heart that stops blood from flowing the wrong way. According to the NHS website a surgeon will usually get access through a single cut in the chest but smaller cuts between the ribs are sometimes used. The flaps of the mitral valve are then partially sewn together. Sir Michael's statement on social media was accompanied by a photograph from the film Monty Python's The Meaning Of Life in which he starred showing the comedy group in hospital scrubs delivering a baby and the words, "The Machine that goes ping".

Speaking in February, Sir Michael said: "I am glad to be alive each morning. I shave without slitting my throat and then lope downstairs without banging my head.

"I realise I've reached the age of 75 without feeling like someone of

"Physically, I am a little bit slower but I'm still fairly fit and probably fitter and looking after myself better than in my mid-20s."

In May he wrote: "76 sounds an awful lot but the best way to deal with the march of time is to fall in step with it and stop trying to pretend you're 18 again."

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed or trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 844-477-7869, or visit this internet Web site www.stoxposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case T.S.# 83659. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. CALIFORNIA TD SPECIALISTS Attn: Teri Snyder 8190 East Kaiser Blvd. Anaheim Hills, CA 92808

ARIES: If you are interested in the finer things of life then happiness is there waiting for you, so enjoy this time frame. Mars your boss is happy in fire sign Leo your cousin and this lift you up in most ways but especially personal relationships.

TAURUS: Your finances could a bit of a worry so be careful how you handle them. Try not to stress out over this as it is all temporary. Health situations will heal now due to your lovely boss Venus in a great area. Be cool and it will feel better by mid-week.

GEMINI: You would be wise to not use up all your energy next week as your boss planet Mercury is moving fast, so whatever old stuff you are holding on to is likely to escape. This is good for your overall health, so deal with it soon.

CANCER: You may be thinking your life is less than positive (or it may be others are that way to you), however look back over the last few weeks and take stock of what worked and what did not. This an ending only if are ready to release things.

LEO: You may have felt a little out-of-sorts lately, this is because mighty Uranus has moved from your cousin Aries to more settled Taurus. Take stock of what you have achieved and what you are wishing for these next couple of weeks. Chances are you will get your wish - Happy Birthday!

VIRGO: This past week or so for you has not been as fruitful as you need your life to be. This is because you are being a little unrealistic on the scope of work that is needed. Starting next week life gets more lively. You will soon see much better results soon when your boss Mercury goes forward.

LIBRA: Without a doubt you have achieved a certain amount of attention lately (personal or otherwise). Now that mighty Mars is moving into your career area the attention will become more positive in several ways. But this does not mean you can let up on your everyday responsibilities.

SCORPIO: This week ahead will start a more balanced time as mercury moves forward and starts to balance your life for a while. Work and relationship opportunities are already gearing up for you, but don't forget to keep up your more healthy lifestyle.

SAGITTARIUS: There is a situation likely with friends or family in which you may not be getting all the facts. However you look at this situation you must put your attention on following through until all is ok. You are the voice of reason here.

CAPRICORN: There will be changes coming soon enough so do not make any rash decisions. Be prepared to go with the flow at the same time do not take anything for granted. Try to not judge anyone or anything, let the truth find its own light.

AQUARIUS: Some situations are still not as you want, however by mid-week it's looking much better. Then you can let yourself relax and spend some cash on a gift for yourself. Your boss Uranus has settled into Taurus for several years and will motivate you in several ways.

PISCES: You are very intuitive usually and you will get to use it for your own benefit in the next couple of days or so. Stay focused while you also keep a low profile and by the next weekend it's time to relax and do what makes you happy.

Brits in LA

It's not so easy being cool in LA...

Oh how distant and delightful May Grey seems now!

You really don't know what you've got until it has gone! Can you believe it was only a few weeks ago we were all celebrating the sun finally showing his face after several gloomy months? Now overcast skies seems way more appealing, don't you think?

I was overjoyed when I woke up to the start of rain last Tuesday. Sadly it was only a very brief shower and by 10am the temperature had already reached 80 degrees... and it doesn't look like it is letting up any time soon either. Although the forecast for the first week of August is a cooler 79 it still has a 'real feel' of 84. I find it can be a little confusing that what we are feeling is not the registered temperature, I think it is related to whether the wind is blowing or how much moisture is in the air.

Either way I am bleedin' boiling. I'm lucky enough to have an air conditioned apartment as well as a communal swimming pool, but I know many of you aren't as fortunate. Whilst it is tempting to just go and stand in the freezer section at your local grocery store there are a few more interesting options that our city has to offer you.

If you fancy a dip and can't get to the beach many of the hotels around town allow you to swim without booking a room. But it still isn't cheap. You can try your luck sneaking in, but if you prefer an easier life go to one that offers a day pass. Plenty do, including the Sunset Towers, Sportsmen's Lodge, the W and The Standard. It's advisable to call ahead as they often stop this perk on busy days.

The city has plenty of public pools available too, although they just aren't quite as glamorous. I hear there is one tucked away in Griffith Park, if anyone has been I would love to hear your thoughts, I have visions of something like the pools at Hampstead Heath, but my google image search doesn't quite live up to that. West Hollywood has one on San Vicente and Pan Pacific Park houses one as well. For a full list of public pools visit www.laparks.org/aquatics - For swimming lessons visit www.swimla.org

Some of us can't afford to spend our days swimming and sunbathing as we need to get some work done; if that's you then head over to your local library. The majority are air conditioned and you are very welcome to hang out there as long as you want. They even have free WiFi and access to computers and printers. Plus your first 10 pages are free then 15 cents for each additional page.

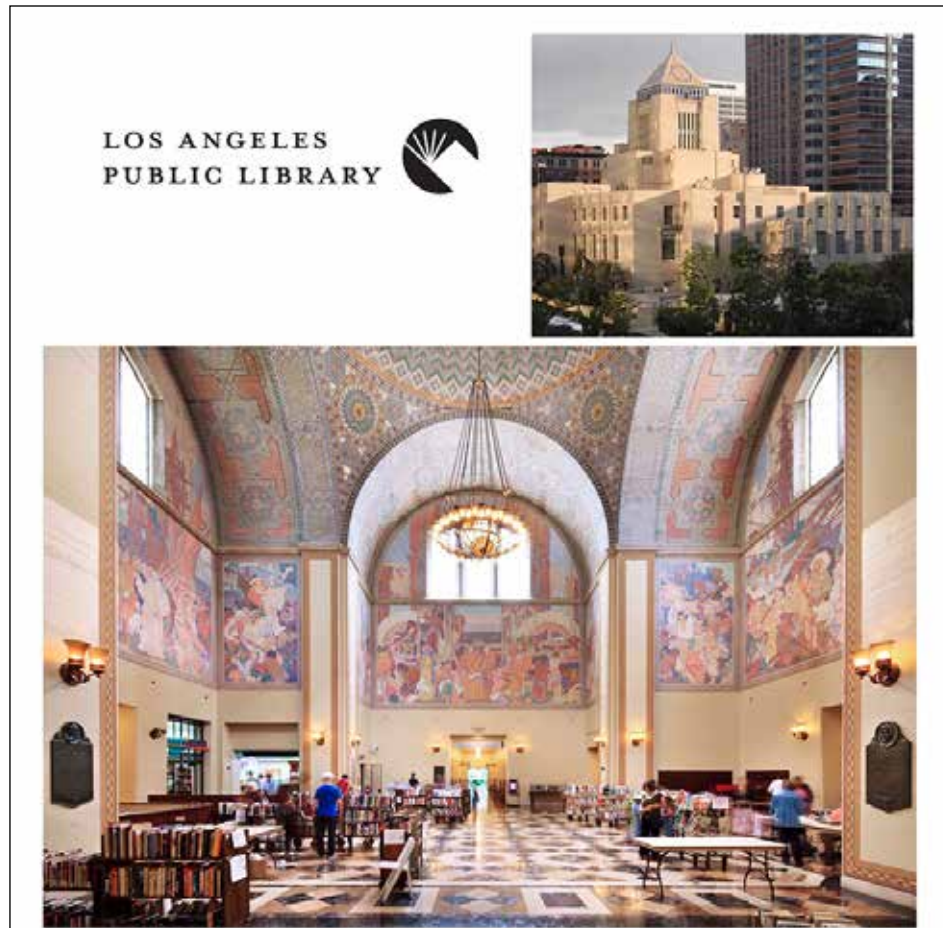

It's Time For Tea...

Traditional Afternoon Tea is now served Mon-Sat 11.30am-4.00pm in our Tea Room (also available privately for baby showers, bridal showers and special occasions).

King's Head Pies now available in our bakery. Sausage rolls, pastries & delicious cakes, baked daily

Public libraries are an excellent place to beat the heat...and get some work done

Cafes and hotels are also an option, but a purchase (or several) is usually required. Starbucks is an exception, they allow people to use the loo, sit in their cafes and patios even if they do not buy anything.

Our friends at Palihouse over on Holloway Drive in West Hollywood also welcome you to stop in and linger over a coffee (iced in this weather please!) just as long as they don't have any special events on. One of the new owners, Tess said they want to share their lovely lounge and lobby area with everyone.

If you do have a day off, now is the perfect time to visit some of our fine museums. Most are air conditioned and many are free, and even more if you have a library card! Visit this link for more details <https://www.lapl.org/explorela>

My tips to stay cool are obvious to many but worth reiterating: stay hydrated! I eat lots of chilled satsumas which really seem to help and they also cuts down on trips to the loo! Draw curtains/close blinds, I've heard that hanging cold damp towels in an open window can help. Although our heat is so brutal I would think they would be dry in 10 minutes? Have you tried this?

Don't exercise/ exert yourself in the middle of the day. Walk your dogs early morning or late at night, as the pavement can burn their paws. And never leave your dog in the car, even if it is only for 'two ticks'.

Lastly make sure to check on your friends and neighbors especially the elderly, as sometimes we can be too proud to ask for help.

I hear that the UK is suffering from a similar heatwave, so make sure to follow our advice too and feel free to email us or post on our Facebook page if you have any other suggestions for beating this heat.

The city has a more comprehensive list of places to cool off, which can be found via this link www.lacounty.gov/heat/

Stay cool out there!
Eileen

Meet A Member: Bianca Bagatourian

Meet Bianca Bagatourian from London who moved to LA 20 years ago to pursue writing.

Was there a particular reason you chose LA? I actually left LA and spent time in New York in the theatre scene and then Boston before returning. After New York, the obvious place for a writer was LA. Plus, I like the sunshine and the casual lifestyle. It's easier to concentrate on work when you're not thinking about shoveling snow from your driveway every hour. The great thing about LA is that you can drive to the desert or the mountains in a couple of hours or go somewhere like Solvang for Christmas-time. There is so much choice.

What do you miss most from home? I've been back and forth for over 20 years. I used to miss more before iPlayer and being able to buy Marmite at my local store. Now, besides my friends, I miss the free museums, galleries and the fact that artists are more respected. I miss Hampstead Heath. I'm not really a beach person. I miss the fact that more people read the paper in the UK. I miss a sense of which is why I like Brits in LA. Which promote community building.

What was your first impression of LA and has it changed since? LA has changed a lot in the past decades, and for the better. It's more cosmopolitan with different ethnicities adding their culture and richness to the fabric. It's amazing how many different kinds of cuisine you can find now. I also find Americans are more open now, but I find that is mainly in the LA area. I think they are less so outside the city centers.

What do you find the biggest difference is living here versus London? It's funny, I stepped off the plane in Heathrow last week and a lovely older lady asked me if I could help her put her backpack on. I don't know why it struck me, but it was an immediate reminder that I've always felt that people in the UK are more empathetic and the elderly are more integrated into communities. Here they're more segregated and age-ism truly exists. This may not be case for the rest of the US, LA being the epicenter of materialism, but I do feel that the UK is a kinder society on the whole.

Do you have a hidden gem in LA that you want to share with us? Well, I'm a writer so all my hidden gems are writing spots! I love working at the Writers Guild library - so inspiring. I like the hidden cave in the back of the Bourgeois Pig coffee shop in Franklin Village. (More screenplays have been written there than anywhere in LA). And one of my favorite haunts is the downtown Central Library which is such a cool old building.

What would you suggest to others who are thinking about making the move here? The main thing I like about America is the opportunities. In the UK, especially artistically, you can feel like you've hit the ceiling with nowhere to go. America provides thousands of directions if you were willing to chase them. It is still the land of opportunity. I think the ideal situation, if you're fortunate enough, is to be able to live in both places.

Lots of our members join our group Brits in LA seeking out words of wisdom - what is the best piece of advice you've been given? I've always had a hard time understanding the concept of borders. I wish people could live wherever suits their personalities and interests. Barring that, I think travel is the best education. I've traveled extensively to places like Africa, China and Japan and throughout the Middle East. We're lucky, to be living in an era where we're able to experience the whole world - so much better than on a digital screen.

Lastly, how can we find out more about you? Are you working on anything at the moment? I have a play premiering July 30th at the Park Theater in London called The Time of our Lies. It's sponsored by Susan

Sarandon, Diane Lane, and Eddie Vedder. It stars Daniel Benzali who's one hell of an actor, (from the Murder One series) an guest stars Colin Salmon (Krypton) on August 2nd. The play was nominated for the Amnesty International prize at the Edinburgh Fringe where Viggo Mortensen was co-producer. It's about late American historian Howard

Zinn whose book, The People's History of the United States refocused the narrative of this country and told history from the point of view of the people. If you are in London, please catch it. NOTICE OF AGREEMENT TO PURCHASE TAX-DEFAULTED PROPERTY FOR DELINQUENT TAXES AGREEMENT NUMBER 2791

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, in accordance with the provisions of Division 1, Part 6, Chapter 8 of the California Revenue and Taxation Code and the written authorization of the State Controller that the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County and the Tongva Land Preservation Corporation have entered into an agreement, a copy of which is on file in the office of said Board of Supervisors, approved by the State Controller, whereby the County of Los Angeles will sell to the Tongva Land Preservation Corporation under the terms set forth in said agreement, the real property hereinafter described which is Subject to the Tax Collector's Power to Sell.

That unless redeemed before the date and time of the effective agreement date stated below, which is not less than 21 days after the date of the first publication of this notice, as required by law, the undersigned Treasurer and Tax Collector (TTC), pursuant to said agreement, will sell said property to the Tongva Land Preservation Corporation.

The effective date of the agreement will be on Monday, August 12, 2019, at 5:01 P.M. Pacific Time.

If the TTC sells the property, Parties of Interest, as defined in California Revenue and Taxation Code Section 4675, have a right to file a claim with the County for any proceeds from the sale, in excess of the liens and costs required to be paid from the proceeds. If excess proceeds result from the sale, TTC will give notice to Parties of Interest, pursuant to law.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF JACOB W. GRUBER

Case No. 19STPB05653

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of JACOB W. GRUBER

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Frank J. Gruber in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Frank J. Gruber be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 22, 2019 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 11 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

HARRY KANE: opportunistic strike against Juventus this week

Kane joins the halfway club

NOT many strikers upstage Cristiano Ronaldo when he is on the scoresheet – but Harry Kane put the Juventus star in the shade this week.

The Tottenham and England forward scored an amazing 95th-minute winner from the halfway line to earn Mauricio Pochettino's side a last-gasp 3-2 win over the Italian giants, who could only watch in astonishment. Spurs' first game of their pre-season tour of Asia looked to be heading for a draw. But with seconds to go Kane seized on a defensive mistake to unleash an instinctive snapshot that sailed over former Arsenal goalkeeper Wojciech Szczesny and into the net.

elite club

The strike was reminiscent of Real Zaragoza midfielder Nayim's goal against Arsenal's David Seaman in 1995. It also saw Kane join an elite club of England players who have scored from halfway – with David Beckham and Wayne Rooney also members.

Kane said: "It was nice to see that one go in because I have had a few in my career where I've tried it and it's gone over the bar or wide.

"Thankfully today it's one of those where I've hit it and as soon as I looked up it was heading on target – it was nice to see it go in.

"I've not seen any texts from Wayne or David yet but Wayne has done it a few times so I've got some way to go to catch him.

'in my mind'

"You don't practise that, no. It's just one of those things that is instinctive on the pitch. There was a chance in the first half when Gianluigi Buffon was off his line and half the bench told Sonny [Son HeungMin] to shoot from inside his own half.

"So it was in my mind from then on and it was just one of them – it's the last minute of the game and you have loads of defenders around you. Lucas Moura did well to win it back and it just fell nicely, so I thought, 'Why not have a try?'

"And I knew as soon as I hit it I had a chance. You try it as a kid, of course – when you watch Beckham and Rooney do it you try it yourself. Hopefully it will be the start of me getting a few more."

energy and confidence

Pochettino said it was Spurs' performance that mattered, not the victory. But the way his young side took the game to Maurizio Sarri's experienced team – playing with pace, energy and confidence – was impressive. Striker Troy Parrott, centreback Japhet Tanganga and midfielder Oliver Skipp all looked comfortable against the Italians. Ronaldo had let Spurs off the hook by fluffing first-half chances before Erik Lamela netted from close range. But Ronaldo made amends to equalise with a deflected shot to the delight of his fans in Asia. Gonzalo Higuain fired Juve in front but Tottenham record signing Tanguy Ndombele came off the bench for his debut and made an immediate impact. The Frenchman's first touch was a cool pass to Moura who made it 2-2 with a low strike. Then Kane stole the show with his long-range stunner.

LEROY SANE: The Manchester City winger is wanted by Bayern Munich

Pep unsure of Sane future

Pep Guardiola says he wants Leroy Sane to stay at Manchester City but admits the decision is out of his hands amid strong interest from Bayern Munich.

Sane, 23, has two years left on his contract but is yet to commit to talks over an extension.

The Germany winger scored twice in City's 6-1 win over Hong Kong side Kitchee in their latest pre-season tour game - with David Silva, Raheem Sterling and Spanish youngsters Nabil Touaizi and Iker Pozo also netting.

"We want him to stay and there is an offer waiting to talk with his agents to extend the contract," said Guardiola. "It is not in our hands. He has to decide. If he wants to leave, he can do it but we will be sad.

"Hopefully he stays."

City endured a difficult week after criticism of their 'arrogance' in Chinese State media after they played in the Premier League Asia Trophy last weekend, City have been on their best behaviour in Hong Kong.

"This included every player shaking the hand of Kitchee's long-serving South Korean defender Kim Dong-jin as he was substituted in the final appearance of a career that brought him 62 international caps. Manager Pep Guardiola presented him with a personalised shirt as he reached the touchline, which went down well.

Guardiola accepts the money-spinning tour is not the ideal start of City's Premier League defence at West Ham on 10 August.

He said: "With situations I can't control, I adapt. We are not going to go to West Ham saying what a disaster it was to be here because of the heat and humidity.

"It is not good. I would have preferred to do it another way but it is what it is. We have to be here."

Lookman seals Leipzig switch

RB Leipzig have completed the signing of Everton and England Under-21 forward Ademola Lookman in a deal worth £22.5m.

The Bundesliga club had to improve on their original offer to sign the 21-year-old on a five-year deal.

Lookman enjoyed a successful loan spell with the German side in the second half of the 2017-18 season, scoring five goals in 11 league games.

Leipzig were prepared to pay in excess of £20m for the winger last summer but were told he was not for sale.

Lookman has made 48 appearances for Everton since joining from Charlton in January 2017, but missed out on the European Under-21 Championship with England this summer.

More gold for unbeatable Peaty

ADAM PEATY snapped up his third successive 100m breaststroke gold at the World Championships in South Korea this week, while fellow Briton James Wilby took the silver. The 24-year-old Peaty is unbeaten over the distance at major events for five years, and has set the 15 fastest times ever recorded. In Sunday's semi-finals, he became the first swimmer to break the 57-second barrier when he clocked 56.88secs. And after his winning effort in Tuesday's final, Peaty said the only reason his time of 57.14 did not surpass the world record he set on Sunday was because he tried to go too fast, messing up on the first of the two lengths.

"I had to be a better version of myself to go faster than Sunday," he said. "Unfortunately, I made a tiny little mistake on that first length, trying to force the speed a bit too much.

"But the most important lesson is I'm still learning. It's not like I've gone 56 seconds and never have to learn again.

"I'm always learning, always trying to improve and that's the most important thing we can have going into the Olympics next year."

BALE:

The winger joined Real Madrid for a then world record fee of £85m when he moved from Tottenham in September 2013. He has since won La Liga and four Champions League trophies - scoring twice, including a spectacular overhead kick, in the European final victory over Liverpool in 2018.

season match.

Former Chelsea boss Antonio Conte had already admitted Lukaku was a player he "liked" and reiterated after their defeat on Saturday that he felt Lukaku could "improve the team".

The 26-year-old missed both of United's tour matches in Australia because of injury before sitting out Saturday's match in Singapore.

United signed Lukaku for £75m from Everton all been linked with the promising 19-year-old.

Crystal Palace winger Wilfried Zaha said he wanted to leave the club this summer and favoured a move to Arsenal.

The Ivory Coast international would be a big loss to Palace, who have already seen talented full-back Aaron Wan-Bissaka make a £50m move to Manchester United.

Arsenal submitted an opening bid of about

HARRY MAGUIRE: linked with both Manchester clubs this summer

But this week Zidane said Bale is "very close to leaving" and revealed the 30-year-old refused to go on as a substitute in Sunday's pre-season defeat by Bayern Munich in Houston. Bale did play and score in a subsequent friendly against Arsenal but Zidane added that, despite the appearance, 'nothing has changed'.

According to reports, Chinese Super League club Beijing Guoan are keen to sign the player and Paris St-Germain have discussed a potential swap deal involving Brazil forward Neymar. Manchester United's interest is thought to have cooled.

Manchester United striker Romelu Lukaku has been heavily linked with a move to Inter Milan all summer but no deal has been agreed... yet. Inter's bid of £53.9m was rejected by United on Saturday shortly before the two clubs faced each other in a pre-two years ago and felt the Inter bid fell way short of their valuation of the striker.

Another player who has dominated the headlines this summer is Tottenham full-back Danny Rose.

The 28-year-old admitted in June he was unsure of his future and was allowed to stay in England to pursue potential interest from other clubs as the first-team squad flew to Asia for a pre-season tour.

Juventus have been linked with Rose, while other reports suggest Tottenham will make a move for Fulham defender Ryan Sessegnon if the left-back does leave.

Sessegnon, who is currently receiving treatment on a hamstring injury, has just one year left on his contract at Craven Cottage.

Liverpool, Paris St-Germain, Juventus and Borussia Dortmund have £40m earlier this month but Palace were only interested in offers approaching £80m for Zaha, who signed a new five-year contract last summer. Since then, Arsenal boss Unai Emery has said that the club are still trying to sign some "very big, very expensive players".

However, they could face competition. Recent reports suggest Bayern Munich have emerged as surprise candidates after failing to land Manchester City's Leroy Sane and Real Madrid's Bale.

Leicester defender Harry Maguire has been linked with Manchester United for the entire summer but the Foxes have no intention of selling.

United backed away from talks last year as they felt the 26-year-old's £70m price-tag was excessive but they returned to make a bid for the same value earlier this month.

DE GEA: "We are Manchester United, we need to fight for trophies."

De Gea aiming for United captaincy

■ Keeper on brink of signing new six-year deal

David De Gea has revealed his desire to become Manchester United's new captain and says it is important he takes on a greater leadership role next season.

The United goalkeeper is set to end the uncertainty over his future by signing a new six-year contract worth around £375,000 a week when he returns from the club's pre-season tour of Australia and Asia. Ole Gunnar Solskjaer says he has yet to decide who will be his next permanent captain but that he will announce his decision before United's opening Premier League game against Chelsea at Old Trafford on Aug 11.

Ashley Young has been filling the role during pre-season but De Gea has signalled his desire to take on the captaincy and believes his experience could have an influential role to play in the development of the club's crop of emerging youngsters.

"I've been captain for some games," De Gea, 28, said after standing in at times for the likes of Young and the recently-departed club captain, Antonio Valencia, over the past year.

"It is amazing to be captain of a club like

Manchester United and defend this badge so, of course, I'll be really, really happy to captain.

"It's my ninth season, I feel like one of the most experienced players.

"I need to show that on the pitch and try to help the young guys know what Manchester United means and that's important."

De Gea's form faltered during the second half of last season, when his confidence plummeted after a series of error-strewn performances.

But the Spaniard has been named United's player of the year in four of the past six seasons and, while he is quite shy and not a vocal presence, he commands the highest respect in the Old Trafford dressing room.

United feared they might lose De Gea as a free agent next summer but the decision to make him the club's highest-paid player after Alexis Sanchez, coupled with the support he received from Solskjaer and his staff, has persuaded the goalkeeper to stay.

De Gea is one of only four players, along with Young, Chris Smalling and Phil Jones, to have won the Premier League title with United and he believes there will have to be a huge improvement for the club to reclaim the trophy.

"We have to improve a lot," he told The New Paper in Singapore, where United stayed on the second leg of their tour. "We are Manchester United, we need to fight for trophies. When you put on this badge, that's what it means - fight for everything, give your best and bring the team again to the top."

United have made an impressive start to pre-season, with the wins over Perth Glory and Leeds United in Australia and Inter Milan in Singapore particularly notable for their aggressive, high pressing and determination to play out from the back.

De Gea says there are significant strides still to be made but has been encouraged by what he has seen so far.

"I think this pre-season we're trying to have more of the ball, to keep the ball, to build from the back, to keep control of the game - things we didn't have last season," De Gea.

"We have to improve a lot on this. We are working really hard this pre-season, and hopefully we can show it in the first against Chelsea that we have improved a lot from last season."

KLOPP: it's too much football!

Liverpool boss blasts 'unacceptable' schedule, calls for reduced workload

Jürgen Klopp, the Liverpool manager, fears the 'unacceptable' fixture schedule will take a toll on his international stars as he looks to navigate his club through seven competitions this season.

Klopp has long considered the gruelling calendar a farce and with Liverpool participating in the FIFA World Club championships, held in Qatar in December, there is potential for mid-season chaos. Premier League and potential domestic cup ties must be rearranged.

Liverpool have sought clarification from FIFA on the dates and format of the Qatar tournament, the European champions needing guidance as to whether senior players are obliged to be part of the squad.

The Liverpool manager is a long-term advocate of reducing the workload of the world's top players – not only those at Anfield - but believes his observations are ignored. Instead he sees the demands increasing.

"We sit here and it sounds like I am having a moan or whatever. It is just the situation, in the long-term, is not acceptable," said Klopp.

"It looks like nobody can imagine a week without football in the year. When did that happen? A game again, a game again.

"It is difficult, difficult for the boys. Everything will be fine this season. But in the long-term? We have to change it. There must be breaks. Come on, let them go. Be brave. Don't treat every game like it is the last of a decade."

Klopp says he is especially concerned about the workload of Sadio Mane, who he confirmed will not be available for the Community Shield against Manchester City as he returns to pre-season training last of all, a week before the start of the Premier League.

"Sadio Mane's season, after he played the (African Nations Cup) final, will be 13 months.

A 13 month season, that is how it is," said Klopp.

"Ask him how much holiday he has had. He's played pretty much every game for Senegal. He's played each game for us. Every international break, he is away. Ask him.

"The pressure is everywhere. We need to calm this down. We need proper breaks, then you will get world class performances. Then you can enjoy these boys in the long-term and it will be easier for the younger ones to come through.

"We have to win pretty much every game. So where is the space for development? We have to make sure all together that there is enough space for the boys to recover and then to go again. Like it was in the good old times, by the way.

"For here (on pre-season) it is not a problem. We have all the boys here, apart from the three upfront and Ali (Alisson). That's not the biggest problem for Ali (only having a couple of weeks to prepare) but the other three we will see. They need a holiday. It's not like after three days you can say to them, 'Hey, come on, let's start running again'.

Jürgen Klopp is concerned for his players' long-term health

"They have had a tough summer programme. It's football."

Bale heading for Prem return?

WITH THE Premier League transfer window ticking down to its August 8th deadline, speculation has been growing that Gareth Bale is set for a return to England's top flight.

It's no secret that the Welsh superstar (above) has long been out of favor with Zinedine Zidane, but his huge wages at Real Madrid are a deterrent to all but the richest clubs in the world – with one outfit in China reportedly bidding £1m a week for his services.
