

BREXIT AT THE BRINK!

Boris strikes a deal to leave the EU - but will MPs back it?

THE UK's future in – or out – of the EU stood on a knife edge this week ahead of a vital Commons vote.

The outcome of Saturday's vote was considered too close to call, but despite this the Prime Minister claimed to be "very confident" MPs will back the Brexit deal he struck with the EU - despite the DUP's opposition to it.

"This is our chance in the UK as democrats to get Brexit done, and come out on 31 October," he said on Thursday night.

But the DUP is against concessions Mr. Johnson made to the EU on customs checks at points of entry into Northern Ireland.

The party's deputy leader, Nigel Dodds, accused the prime minister of being "too eager by far to get a deal at any cost".

'licence to slash'

The PM must win support for his deal from Brexiters on his own side, as well as from 23 former Tory MPs who now sit as independents - including 21 whom he kicked out of the Tory parliamentary party last month after they rebelled against him in a bid to prevent a no-deal Brexit.

He must also convince

Labour MPs concerned about protection for workers and the environment in the new deal.

Shadow Brexit secretary Sir Keir Starmer said Labour would oppose the deal, citing concerns it would allow the UK to move further away from EU regulations in the future.

He said the new agreement "paves the way for a decade of deregulation" and argued it would give the government "licence to slash" worker, environment and consumer protections.

Speaking in Brussels, Mr Johnson denied he would meet the same fate as his predecessor Theresa May, who repeatedly failed to get a Brexit deal through Parliament.

"I am very confident that when my colleagues in Parliament study this agreement that they will want to vote for it on Saturday and in succeeding days," he said at an EU summit in Brussels.

Appealing to the DUP, which the government relies on for support in key Commons votes, he insisted the UK could leave the EU "as one United Kingdom" and "decide our future together".

Mr Dodds earlier said he expected a "massive vote" against Mr Johnson's deal on Saturday in the House of Commons - with the DUP expected to "play a crucial role" in amending the legislation.

backstop clause

The new deal is largely the same as the one agreed by Theresa May last year - but it removes the controversial backstop clause, which critics say could have kept the UK tied indefinitely to EU customs rules.

Northern Ireland would now remain in the UK's customs union, but there would also be customs checks on some goods passing through en route to Ireland and the EU single market.

The DUP said: "This is not acceptable within the internal borders of the United Kingdom."

The party also objects to Northern Ireland potentially being part of a different VAT regime to the rest of the UK and is concerned about the deal violating the Good

ALL SMILES NOW (sort of): Boris Johnson and Jean-Claude Juncker in Brussels

Friday Agreement's principle of consulting the nationalist and unionist communities on important issues.

European Commission President Jean-Claude Juncker caused a flurry earlier when he said there was no need for a Brexit extension as "we have a deal".

This was seen as a major boost for Mr Johnson, who has always insisted he would not go beyond 31 October - even if he was forced to ask for an extension under the terms of the so-called Benn Act, which kicks in on Saturday if MPs vote his deal down.

But Mr Juncker's EU colleagues were more cautious, with European Council President Donald Tusk saying he would "consult" member states about an extension if necessary.

At a joint press conference, Mr Tusk, Mr Juncker, EU chief negotiator Michel Barnier and Irish Taoiseach Leo Varadkar all expressed regret that the UK was leaving the EU.

Mr Tusk said: "On a more personal note, what I feel today, frankly speaking, is sadness, because in my heart I will always be a Remainer, and I hope that our British friends decide to return one day, our door will always be open."

The winning post for votes in the House of Commons is 320 if everyone turns up - seven Sinn Fein MPs don't sit and the Speaker and three deputies don't vote.

There are currently 287 voting Conservative MPs. The prime minister needs to limit any rebellion among them.

Then, if the DUP won't support his deal, he'll need the backing of 23 former Conservative MPs who are currently independents. Most will probably support the deal, but not all.

That's still not quite enough, though, so the PM will also need the backing of some Labour MPs and ex-Labour independents. In March, when MPs voted on Theresa May's deal for the third time, five

News From Britain

A deal at last – but what are the key points?

The EU and UK have reached an agreement widely hailed by European leaders as a significant step. But the deal still has to get past the UK Parliament, so why does Europe appear so keen?

1) Lots of it is the same Ninety-five per cent of this revised deal is the deal agreed with Prime Minister Boris Johnson's predecessor, Theresa May, during two years of painstaking negotiations.

Citizens' rights. Money. Ongoing cases at the European Court of Justice. The data of EU citizens stored in the UK. Under this deal, they would all be secured.

Unveiling the deal, EU chief negotiator Michel Barnier said: "This text... provides legal certainty and certainty where Brexit creates uncertainty."

2) The Irish border issue is solved... for a bit

With some creative thinking, clever drafting and some give-and-take, the EU and UK have revived the original Northern Ireland-only backstop but with some key differences.

"We shifted our positions but within our principles," a member of Team Barnier said soon after the deal was agreed. In black and white, Northern Ireland is in the UK's customs territory but in reality the EU's customs processes will apply, although it might not always feel that way because of exemptions, rebates and other tweaks. Then it'll be up to the Northern Irish people to decide. The long-term future of the Irish border will be in the hands of the people of Northern Ireland through a vote in the Northern Ireland Assembly at Stormont after four years, and then a further four or eight years later.

If Stormont decides it's happy to change the status quo and accept a harder border then it's Stormont's choice - not Dublin's, not London's, not Brussels'.

3) The single market is still protected

Northern Ireland will follow pages and pages of EU rules on agriculture and goods. Items entering Northern Ireland will be checked for compliance with those regulations. That reduces the risk of dodgy goods ending up in France, Belgium, Finland or the rest of the member states. The single market will be physically protected. Breaches of those rules can be sent to the European Court of Justice, which means the EU's highest court still administers EU law. The single market will be legally protected.

4) Boris Johnson has said it will get through Parliament

As the French President Emmanuel Macron said when he arrived at the summit, Boris Johnson assured him he had the votes to get this agreement through the House of Commons. If there's a hiccup then there's always the safety valve of an extension to the Brexit deadline, despite what leaders are currently saying. Unveiling the deal, EU chief negotiator Michel Barnier said: "This text... provides legal certainty and certainty where Brexit creates uncertainty."

DEAD AGAINST IT: The DUP's Nigel Dodds, pictured with party leader Arlene Foster, accused the prime minister of being "too eager by far to get a deal at any cost".

Labour MPs backed it, plus two ex-Labour independents.

This time it's likely to be a bit higher than that because several MPs have said they would now back a deal.

All this still leaves the vote very close. And it's possible some MPs could abstain, making it even harder to predict the outcome.

The New Deal: Key Questions Answered...

If Parliament rejects the deal, does Boris Johnson have to apply for an extension?

Under law, yes he does. The Benn Act, passed by MPs last month, says that Mr Johnson would be required to request a three-month Brexit delay - unless he can pass a deal, or get MPs to approve a no-deal exit by 19 October. That's Saturday.

Under this deal, will there be a hard border in Ireland?

No, there will not be a hard border. All sides have ruled out customs checks at the land border between Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland. Mr Johnson's suggestion that checks could take place at "designated locations" away from the border was rejected by the EU. As a result, there would have to be some customs checks in the UK itself, at ports along the Irish Sea between Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Does the UK still have to pay £39bn?

The UK will still pay a

"divorce bill" under Mr Johnson's deal. However, because the UK has had an extended stay in the EU, the actual bill would now be about £33bn. The new proposals are much the same as Theresa May's deal. The main difference is on the crucial issue of the Irish border and whether the UK will leave the customs union entirely after the transition period.

How will travelling to the UK after Brexit be affected?

The UK does not plan to introduce visas for tourists from the EU. So, for short-term trips, things should be more or less the same.

Why does Jeremy Corbyn think it is worse than the original deal?

The Labour leader said the deal is worse than Mrs May's because the proposals "risk triggering a race to the bottom on rights and protections". He said the deal would be "putting food safety at risk, cutting environmental standards and workers' rights, and opening up our NHS to a takeover by US private corporations". Mr Corbyn said the deal should be rejected.

Can a Brexit deal be legally implemented without Commons approval?

No, not as the law currently stands. The European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 says that in order to make a withdrawal agreement valid, it has to be approved by Parliament.

What does this deal mean for UK nationals living outside the UK?

Mr Johnson's deal mainly focuses on solving the problem of the Irish border. When it comes to citizens' rights, he has kept the agreements made by Mrs May. UK nationals living legally in an EU country at the end of the transition period on 31 December 2020 will be able to stay and enjoy the same rights.

Anyone arriving after that will be subject to each country's immigration rules. Up until the end of transition, UK nationals will still be able to move freely to the EU.

Bereaved parents blast Trump White House 'ambush'

President pressed the Dunns to meet with Anne Sacoolas in 'classic Jerry Springer move'

THE PARENTS of teenager Harry Dunn have revealed that Donald Trump surprised them during a White House visit this week by pressing them to meet with the woman who was involved in the car crash that killed their 19-year-old son and then claimed diplomatic immunity.

In a statement, Charlotte Charles and Tim Dunn described the suggestion as an 'ambush' after they had enjoyed a largely positive White House meeting. But then, in a surprise move, Mr Trump told them: "Let's try and come at this another way."

The Dunn family blames National Security Adviser Robert O'Brien who, in what has been dismissed as a 'classic Jerry Springer move' reportedly wanted the parents to drop their demands for justice and hug Mrs Sacoolas in front of TV cameras.

"It struck us that this meeting was hastily arranged by nincompoops on the run and in particular Mr. O'Brien, who appeared to be extremely uptight and aggressive and did not come across at all well in this meeting which required careful handling and sensitivity," said the Dunn's spokesman Radd Seiger. "The family remain open to the possibility of meeting Mrs. Sacoolas one day in the future but in a neutral and appropriately controlled environment."

The Dunn family did say they were impressed with Trump before he tried to spring Sacoolas on them. Dunn's mother, Charlotte Charles, described Trump as "quite respondent" and that he tried to comfort her.

Mr Dunn, 50, said: "Then he sprung the surprise that Mrs Sacoolas was in another room in the building and whether we'd want to meet her there and then."

Mrs Charles, 44, added: "The bombshell was dropped soon after we walked in the room. Anne Sacoolas was in the building and was willing to meet with us."

"We made it very clear that, as we've said all along, we will meet with her and we would still love to meet with her, but it has to be on our terms and on UK soil. We were a bit shocked but it didn't really make any difference to us, to be perfectly honest."

Mrs Sacoolas returned to the US after the crash, despite being a suspect.

Family lawyer Mark Stephens, calling national security adviser O'Brien a "nincompoop", said: "He's piled additional grief and hurt on the Dunn family that was entirely unnecessary."

"He started it by causing her to be a fugitive from justice, spiriting her out of the country on US Air Force transport without telling police."

"Having ice in your veins is a very good characteristic for being a spy but thinking you can treat human beings in that way, you would have to be a nincompoop."

Harry was killed after the collision with mother-of-three Mrs Sacoolas near RAF Croughton, Northants, which houses a US intelligence base, nearly eight weeks ago.

UK's worst paedophile killed in jail

BRITAIN'S most notorious paedophile was killed in jail this week after being strangled and stabbed with a makeshift weapon that may have been fashioned from a toothbrush.

Richard Huckle, 33, who was in prison for abusing up to 200 Malaysian children, was killed on Sunday in his cell. It is thought he was strangled with some sort of bandage.

The police investigation is reportedly focusing on Paul Fitzgerald, a fellow inmate jailed for serious sex offences.

It is understood that he has been placed in isolation pending investigation of murder. He has not been arrested or charged.

Police were called shortly after 12:30pm on Sunday to Huckle's cell at Full Sutton Prison, near York.

In 2016, Huckle, from Ashford, Kent, was given 22 life sentences after admitting 71 charges of sex abuse of children aged between six months and 12 years, between 2006 and 2014.

Huckle's trial at the Old Bailey in 2016 heard that investigators who checked his computer found more than 20,000 indecent pictures and videos of his assaults.

These were shared with paedophiles worldwide through a hidden website on the so-called dark web.

Huckle, who worked as a freelance photographer, tried to make a business out of his abuse by crowd-funding the release of the images.

Warring wags should follow example of my late wife, says grieving Vinnie

■ Former football hard man in tears as he blasts Coleen and Rebekah for public spat

THE public spat between Coleen Rooney and Rebekah Vardy is "embarrassing" for their husbands and children, former football star Vinnie Jones said this week.

Vinnie, 54, who lost his wife Tanya to cancer in July, said she was the opposite of the two Wags and urged the pair to follow her dignified example.

Coleen last week used social media to accuse Rebekah of leaking stories about her to tabloid newspapers.

Rebekah, 37, pregnant with her fifth child, has repeatedly denied the claims, saying someone else may have accessed her Instagram account to spy on her former friend.

On Tuesday an emotional Vinnie made his first TV appearance since his wife Tanya, 53, died from brain cancer.

He told Good Morning Britain the wives of footballers Wayne Rooney and Jamie Vardy should think about their children.

He said: "The thing with Tans is, you look at the papers now with the two football wives.

Tanya got offered hundreds and hundreds of opportunities to do modelling and do stories, and she's never done any of them.

"She's the opposite to these girls now. And people say to me, 'What do you think of these two girls?'"

"And I think it's quite funny and everything else, but what about the embarrassment to their husbands? No thought of the kids."

The footballer-turned-actor shed tears as he told how he and daughter Kaley, 32, found a letter from Tanya that said: "Don't grieve, I'll be waiting for you."

He said: "And I believe that. I've got something to look forward to. If you turn a negative into a positive... she's waiting, so that's what you deal with. I think it's the best way to do it.

EMOTIONAL: Vinnie Jones on Good Morning Britain this week spoke movingly of his late wife Tanya (inset) but was highly critical of the ongoing public row between Rebekah Vardy and Coleen Rooney (below)

"My daughter's been strong, that letter has made my daughter very strong, she's now leading and taking up the reins."

He said being told by doctors in Los Angeles that she was going to die was like being hit by "a sledgehammer".

Of Tanya's letter, he added: "I got her card, it said, 'Vin, tomorrow something beautiful will happen.'

"In it, she wrote that something beautiful always happens to her that she wakes up with me. I think... she felt safe with me."

E-fit released in bid to identify Clapham plane fall man

Police are looking for help to identify a man who fell out of a plane from Kenya into a garden in London.

Officers were called to an address in Offerton Road, Clapham, in June, where the body of the man, believed to be in his 30s, was found.

He is thought to have fallen from the landing gear compartment of the aircraft headed for Heathrow Airport.

Scotland Yard has released an e-fit image of the man.

The force said it believed the man was Kenyan but was "keeping an open mind".

Officers also released images of a bag which was found in the landing gear compartment when the plane landed.

The bag contained a small amount of Kenyan currency and had a strap with "MCA" written on it, the Metropolitan Police said.

Det Sgt Paul Graves said: "We have pursued a number of lines of inquiry in what has been a very sad incident to investigate.

"This man has a family somewhere who need to know what has happened to their loved one.

"Our investigation has included liaison with the authorities in Kenya, from where the flight took off, but so far our efforts to identify this man have proved fruitless."

The force said the man's death was not being treated as suspicious.

80-year-old Sir Cliff going back on the road

SIR Cliff Richard will wish himself a happy 80th birthday – and power to all his fans – by launching a spectacular tour in the New Year.

The singer, (above) who turned 79 this week, is marking next year's milestone occasion with a series of UK dates, culminating in two prestigious shows at London's Royal Albert Hall, which will coincide with his big day. An insider said: "While Cliff will invite all his friends and family along to the dates, what better way to celebrate turning 80 than to be with all the fans who have stood by him through thick and thin.

"He is over the moon that he is still rocking and rolling into his eighties. Long may it continue."

The shows are being called The Great 80 Tour. While Sir Cliff admits he has thought of retiring, he still sees himself as one of the young ones and always changed his mind. Previously, he has said: "Sometimes I wake up in the morning and realise I haven't sung for six months and it's wonderful not having to worry about my throat giving out.

"So at those moments, I think to myself, 'If I never did another show, I'd be very happy'.

"Then, blow me down, somebody suggests going on tour again and I'm saying, 'Oh, yes please!'. "I get all excited again and can't wait to get out on stage. I just can't resist it."

Despite his advancing years, the bachelor boy has always been able to move it and said he would never "give in to age".

Sir Cliff said: "It's just a state of mind. You need to keep your state of mind clear. "Retirement is not in my vocabulary." He previously insisted he is still in very good health, but has frequent medical checks.

"I've been fortunate, I've not had any major illness. I haven't had to deal with that," he said.

Playing the queen made me a monarchist, says Olivia

OLIVIA Colman says she has become a great admirer of the Queen since taking over the main role in drama series The Crown.

The 45-year-old star assumes the role of Her Majesty, played by Claire Foy in previous series, as it moves into the mid-Sixties. She admitted she had always been a republican but added: "I've become a Lefty monarchist, and there's not many of them about.

"Who could stick with something like that for so long, quietly and with such humility?

"We know she loves to escape to the Highlands.

"She probably goes crazy up there, she must release in some way, running around naked, screaming and pulling her hair out.

"The Queen is an extraordinary human being. However you feel about her, she's been our constant.

"We are all so relaxed about her being there that, one day, when she's not it's going to be a shock."

Olivia also revealed how her husband Ed took a memento from Buckingham Palace while they were attending a charity event so they would have a royal souvenir. She said he "stole some loo roll just to say we got it from Buckingham Palace".

She said: "If we can get away with that, we can get away with this programme."

Colman plays Britain's longest-reigning ruler in the long-awaited new series of Netflix's The Crown which covers the period from 1964 to 1977. Series one and two covered the early years of the Queen's reign up to 1963. Polo-playing Prince Charles is played by Josh O'Connor, star of The Durrells, while Prince Philip is played by Tobias Menzies. The new season will focus less on Philip and the relationship with the corgi-loving Queen and more on the breakdown of the marriage of Princess Margaret to Lord Snowdon. The series will also feature Charles and Camilla. And viewers will see the Queen forming her steadiest relationship with a prime minister to date in Harold Wilson. Wilson headed two Labour administrations between 1964 and 1976.

The new series of The Crown starts on Netflix on November 17.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: PHILLIP STUART WILK CASE NO. 19STPB09248

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of PHILLIP STUART WILK.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by MICHAEL J. ZIGMOND in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that MICHAEL J. ZIGMOND be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 10/31/19 at 8:30AM in Dept. 5 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner LISA C. ALEXANDER, ESQ. - SBN 122975 JAKLE & ALEXANDER, LLP 1250 6TH STREET, SUITE 300 SANTA MONICA CA 90401 BSC 217560 10/5, 10/12, 10/19/19

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: You are often no stranger to drama and your boss Mars recently stirred some up with the very powerful full moon in your sign. But this is not his nature, he prefers to be in charge, so keep a cool head at all times and in all situations. Bear in mind nothing lasts forever.

TAURUS : You need to listen to that inner voice that can place you in an opportunity that can direct you to a secure change. This can be in any area, however if it is your home in the spotlight put it at the top of your priority list. Follow the path of least resistance for a while.

GEMINI: With Mercury your boss going backwards and Mars moving faster it's very possible you are about to make more of the changes that have been on the back burner for your overall life. Keep some time these next couple of weeks to lay low.

CANCER: Venus the love planet visiting your cousin Scorpio can move you to make some changes that have been long overdue. You might feel like you have been spinning around without any direction to focus on. This about to change soon. So take a deep breath.

LEO: As the week ahead begins you could find yourself less restricted in several ways. Your priority should be your own highest good overall. You have been holding on to negative thoughts and past hurts for too long. It has been a long road, now it's time to trust that you are doing well.

VIRGO: Be on the safe side; make family and friends your priority and the reward will be a sense of pride for completing anything in this area and putting things to rest. If someone close is resisting do not get upset, just let it go for now. It will all look better by the end of the month.

LIBRA: Mars in your life right now means you can plan ahead for a better overall life as you will be assisted in making any changes or plans in general, especially in communications. Ask for any assistance that you can get and make the next month a winning one. Happy Birthday!

SCORPIO: Pressure in several areas may have got you down and feeling blue recently. This is not surprising, especially in your personal financial area and also with your health. However now you are entering your brand new year you can expect to be back in the good graces of the Universe. Happy Birthday!

SAGITTARIUS: Whatever way you look at your life it's a bit of a balancing act currently. The good news is now your boss Jupiter is heading towards your money house for a year and can bring huge positive movement in your life. It is going to balance out sooner rather than later for you.

CAPRICORN: It is time to tell the people in your life to back off and give you some space. Whatever is lurking in the shadows of your mind will not come to light to be healed or changed if you bury your head in the sand. Be sure that you give yourself some space to do this inner work.

AQUARIUS: Meetings of the minds are starred this coming week for you in work areas. There will be the much on your agenda these next few days or so. Be open to what you hear from others' feedback. It will be much to your advantage to listen and not react.

PISCES: This week with the Sun in your cousin sign of Scorpio be ready to take up an invite at a moment's notice. It may bring the change you have asked for and if nothing else you will feel much more in control and ready for anything. You can put your own wants and needs first for a change!

How to Love Networking in L.A.

- hint: embrace the awkward!

I'm not a natural networker.

Even back in 1985, when I studied Electrical Engineering at University in Scotland I knew I had a problem. I was an isolator amongst isolators in a comparatively isolated part of the world. There is not a single person from my time at University that I kept in touch with. They are good people, I just had no idea how to connect back then.

Last week I went to a cocktail party with my wife, held in a huge house in the hills behind West Hollywood. We were there because my wife is a member of the UK actors' union, Equity. Not my party, hers. As we arrived, I realized I knew the guy at the reception desk from a group we attend. Inside, I recognized another five attendees that I knew from other groups and events. I've come a long way from being isolated and alone in Scotland.

I'm still not great at making connections/networking and I'm certainly no expert. I just do it a lot. I have a business here and I'm not from L.A, so I know I need to connect with more of the people that live here, their businesses, and their culture.

I network so often now it's gotten kind of silly. I trawl Meetup and Eventbrite weekly for new opportunities. My wife rolls her eyes when I mention I'm heading out to yet another event, and our business coach laughs when I (yet again) start to tell her stories of my most recent networking adventures.

My biggest lesson from all this networking has been that I genuinely like meeting new people. I never thought I did, until my wife pointed out that I would be energized from even the most tedious of events, just so long as I had talked to some new people. Back some time in the 1990's I did a Myers-Briggs test that pegged me as an extrovert, an answer no one believed at the time... It turns out to be correct, I get my energy from being out in the world with others.

My most useful tactic to enjoy a networking event came when I went to a Meetup called, "Sacred Networking". I knew it would be awkward for me, but I wanted to try something new and out of my comfort zone. I even muttered the serenity prayer to myself before I got out of the car and headed into the swanky yoga/breathwork studio in Venice. I did not expect to meet anyone like me.

Once inside, no one was allowed to talk about what they did for a living. It was like a breath of fresh air in this town where everyone asks what you do, sometimes even before they ask 'how are you?' To start the event everyone was asked for a positive thing that they would like to focus on throughout the evening. I said that I would like to focus on enjoying the inevitable feeling of awkwardness. That got a laugh from the group, not a ridiculing laugh, but a recognition of honest laugh.

Later, when I had to spend five long minutes silently staring directly into the eyes of a stranger with just 24 inches between our faces... I really needed my focus on enjoying that awkward feeling.

It turns out that once you have enjoyed the awkwardness of silently staring into a stranger's eyes, no networking event is ever quite as awkward. However, I still try to harness that same focus as I enter any kind of business or social gathering.

It helps me have a good time, talk to new people, and truly listen to the people I meet. I'm still very much not an expert, but I am at least learning and having fun.

I know I'm not alone in my awkwardness, and that makes me wonder, what do you do to make networking productive and fun?

New production of 1984 opens in Culver City

The Actors' Gang Theater in Culver City, opens its 2019-20 season with a new production of 1984, written by George Orwell, adapted by Michael Gene Sullivan, and directed by The Actors' Gang Artistic Director Tim Robbins. The play opens this weekend and will run through December 7th.

In Orwell's classic dystopian tale of a totalitarian British society set in the not-toodistant future, Winston Smith hates his job. He works in the Ministry of Information rewriting history to serve the interests of the powerful. Winston's soul is stirring with rebellion and his heart alive with love. Welcome to a world of no privacy, where electronic screens create paranoia, divisiveness and hatred for the 'other', where the state manufactures consent for perpetual war, and where truth is manipulated and love itself is an act of rebellion. Seventy one years ago, in writing his visionary novel, Nineteen Eighty-Four, George Orwell eerily predicted the world we are currently living in.

Tickets for 1984 are available by calling 310-838-4264 or online at www.TheActorsGang.com. Tickets range from $25 - $50. The Actors' Gang Theater is located at The Ivy Substation at 9070 Venice Blvd, Culver City.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: ANDREA TRACY SHERMAN CASE NO. 19STPB09200

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of ANDREA TRACY SHERMAN. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by JEFFREY CRAIG SHERMAN in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that JEFFREY CRAIG SHERMAN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. THE WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act . (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 11/01/19 at 8:30AM in Dept. 79 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 800-280-2832 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-19-862476-CL. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. ## Sunday's Old Trafford showdown against Liverpool.

Pogba, who has missed five of United's past seven games with an ankle injury, had been expected to return but boss Ole Gunnar Solskjaer has confirmed he is out. And goalkeeper De Gea will also be sidelined against the runaway Premier League leaders after injuring his groin on Tuesday while playing for Spain in the 1-1 draw in Sweden.

Solskjaer said: "David needs a scan. I think he'll be out. It certainly looked like it anyway, judging on last night. "Paul came back and played a couple of games. He had a scan after the Arsenal game and needed a few weeks' rest. So he won't make this game."

Pogba flew out to Dubai during the international break for warm-weather training in a bid to ensure he would be fit for the Liverpool clash. But the France midfielder has been forced to concede defeat. Pressure is mounting on Solskjaer, with United just two points above the relegation places after their worst start to a league campaign for 30 years. United have struggled for goals and creativity, which is why Solskjaer was keen to have Pogba back. Sergio Romero will make his first league start of the season in place of De Gea.

Take it as red!

■ Liverpool will win title this term, says Redknapp

LIVERPOOL should crack open the champagne and toast their first league title in 30 years – despite the season being just eight games old. That is the view of Harry Redknapp, who believes Jurgen Klopp has the Premier League crown wrapped up just five months after they were pipped by Manchester City.

Klopp's European champions have an eight-point lead over City and are in pole position to end their three-decade wait for domestic glory. And having watched Pep Guardiola's bid for a third consecutive crown falter with two defeats this season, Redknapp expects the trophy to be heading elsewhere. He said: "Liverpool will be champions, give them the trophy now.

Absolutely, I'm so sure they'll win it now.

"If Man City were playing great then maybe not. But they have lost two games. They have lost to Wolves at home, which everyone thought was an absolute certainty, and they got beaten at Norwich.

"Norwich recently got beaten 5-1 by Aston Villa at home. "So they've lost two games that they usually wouldn't. They haven't even played the tough games yet. I can't see Man City doing it this year."

Former Tottenham manager Redknapp believes Guardiola will prioritise Europe.

"I think if they're going to win anything this year it will be the Champions League," he said.

"This is their year. They want to win that. Liverpool will want to win the Premier League, they've won the Champions League. And I think that is what we will see."

Liverpool's bid will be boosted by Mo Salah's return to training ahead of their trip to Manchester United on Sunday. The Egyptian star has been working with fitness coach Andreas Kornmayer as he recovers from an ankle injury picked up against Leicester.

United are in a very different position to Liverpool, having endured their worst start to a season in 30 years, and Redknapp said: "I can't see them finishing in the top four, no way.

"I'll be honest, I watched their Arsenal game the other week and there wasn't a player on the pitch who would have got in the United team a few years ago."

Gazza cleared of sexual assault

Former England footballer Paul Gascoigne has been cleared of sexually assaulting a woman on a train.

The 52-year-old had been accused of "forcefully and sloppily" kissing the fellow passenger on a service from York to Newcastle in August 2018.

Mr Gascoigne wept in the dock and thanked the jury to cheers of "yes" from the public gallery as the verdict was announced.

He was also cleared of the lesser charge of assault by beating.

Judge Peter Armstrong told Gascoigne: "You are now discharged and free to go." He was told he could apply to have his defence costs paid.

Leaving Teesside Crown Court, the former Newcastle United, Tottenham Hotspur, Rangers, Middlesbrough and Everton midfielder thanked the judge and his dentist - an apparent reference to evidence earlier in the trial about him not having his false teeth in when he was on the train.

His solicitor Imogen Cox read a statement on his behalf, saying: "To have a sexual allegation for over 12 months has been tough.

"I am so glad I was finally able to put over my side of the story and that the jury came to the correct verdict.

"I'm now looking forward to getting on with my life."

Gascoigne himself then said: "I am off to the dentist."

In a tweet Mr Gascoigne's personal manager Katie Davies, who has been with him on all four days of the trial, said the verdicts had "restored her faith in humanity".

It emerged that during legal argument in the absence of the jury, the prosecution tried and failed to be allowed to tell the jury about Gascoigne's previous convictions, which include offences of battery, criminal damage and racially aggravated harassment.

The Crown Prosecution Service said it had considered the charge before the case.

A spokesperson said: "We reviewed the case in accordance with the Code for Crown Prosecutors and it was determined that there was a realistic prospect of conviction and it was in the public interest to prosecute Mr Gascoigne for the offence of sexual assault."

Mr Gascoigne had told the court he gave the woman a "peck on the lips" to "boost her confidence" after he heard a male passenger call her overweight.

However, prosecutor William Mousley had told the jury that the accused had "lied, and lied, and lied" during the trial, which heard he had been drunk on board the train.

But Michelle Heeley QC, defending, said the former player had no sexual intention.

She said: "In his own naive way, he thought he was making a larger woman have more body confidence.

"It's a clumsy way to go about building someone's confidence, but it was not sexual."

Mr Gascoigne broke down as he told the court about what happened on the journey from Birmingham to Newcastle, on 20 August last year.

The former footballer, who had been travelling with his nephews, said while passengers were asking for selfies and autographs he heard a man say about a passenger: "What do you want a photo of her for? She's fat and ugly."

Mr Gascoigne told the jury he had previously had trouble with his weight and "automatically" went to sit next to the woman to reassure her.

He said he told her: "You're not fat and ugly, you're beautiful."

Mr Gascoigne was in a "drunken state" when he was arrested, the court was told - although he said he had had pellets implanted in his stomach that made him sick if he drank spirits, and denied being drunk.

British Transport Police PC Robert Moody said Mr Gascoigne had been drinking beer in a hotel lobby when he arrived to arrest him.

PC Moody said he had spoken to him before travelling to the hotel, telling jurors Mr Gascoigne had said: "I know what it's about, I kissed a fat lass."

England:

Since then, England have recorded six straight victories against the Wallabies. But in Saturday's quarter-final clash, reputations will count for nothing.

The two coaches, Jones of England and Michael Cheika of Australia, are both Australian-born, but only one will have bragging rights this weekend.

They played for the same team, Randwick in Sydney, and bonded over a shared status as ethnic interlopers in an establishment sport. Jones has a Japanese-American mother and Cheika a Lebanese father. But their rivalry has put that friendship on hold.

Poch: squad still behind me - because they invited me to dinner...

Tottenham boss Mauricio Pochettino is convinced his squad are still behind him because he has been invited to a team dinner by one of his players.

Pochettino's position is under scrutiny after a run of three wins from 11 games in all competitions so far this season.

However, the Argentine says his invitation to dinner via text message proves the team are still united.

"They are not about to say goodbye to me. To say goodbye, say goodbye here - not inviting me to dinner," he said.

Speaking at a news conference before Saturday's Premier League match at home to Watford, Pochettino said: "When you receive a text from the player inviting you and the coaching staff for a dinner only two things can happen.

"[It's] because they want to say goodbye. Or because they feel that they love you and they want to show that they are with you. And I think it's the second."

Spurs lost 3-0 at Brighton in their last Premier League match before the international break, just four days after a 7-2 thrashing by Bayern Munich in the Champions League.

The north London club were also beaten on penalties by League Two Colchester in the Carabao Cup earlier this month.

That poor run of results led to speculation Pochettino could use the

POCHETTINO: "I'm not going to change the way I think or see things."

January transfer window to try and turn things around.

Pochettino has dismissed that suggestion, however, and says January would be too late to try instigate a change in form anyway.

"I never was keen on January and I will not change now because it is a tough period or tough few games, I'm not going to change the way I think or see things," he added.

"Now is not a point to talk about January, refreshing the team. Now is about trying to find solutions because we need to win tomorrow and we need to win after tomorrow."

Jones tells England: It's do or die!

■ RUGBY WORLD CUP: England coach urges his men to channel their samurai spirit ahead of crunch match with Aussies

Eddie Jones has urged England to channel their samurai spirit for their World Cup quarter-final against Australia this weekend after springing a huge surprise by dropping George Ford and restoring the out-of-forts Owen Farrell to fly-half.

Jones said Farrell's form has suffered at the World Cup because of the England captaincy but backed his leader to rediscover his best form against the Wallabies. He revealed he has had to pull Farrell to one side to discuss how focusing too much on the captaincy has affected his performance but in the biggest selection call of his England tenure, Ford has been relegated to the bench.

England go into the match on a six-game winning streak against Australia but this will be their first World Cup knockout match for eight years and of the XV Jones has chosen, only two players have experience of starting a World Cup quarter-final with Ben Youngs and Manu Tuilagi the only survivors from the last-eight defeat by France in

"It's do-or-die time," said Jones. "Every time the samurais fought, one lived and one died. It will be the same on Saturday: someone is going to live and someone is going to die. That's what the game is about and that's the excitement of the game. You get the best eight teams, all playing for their lives.

"The great thing about the World Cup is that every game is a knockout. No one has won a World Cup after losing a game and there's a reason for that. That's what I enjoy so much about a World Cup."

After England's last match – the 39-10 victory over Argentina 12 days ago – the attack coach, Scott Wisemantel, revealed Farrell had described his own performance as clunky, having missed four consecutive kicks at goal in the first half. Ford, on the other hand, has been among the standout players of the World Cup and has outshone Farrell since Jones rekindled their 10-12 partnership over the summer. But in a move that echoes England's disastrous 2015 campaign, when Stuart Lancaster in effect made the same call for the defeat by Wales, Ford has been relegated to the bench with Farrell getting the nod for the No 10 jersey. As a result, Tuilagi switches to inside-centre with Henry Slade coming in for his first start of the tournament in the No 13 jersey.

England versus Australia is the oldest and most enduring rivalry in international sport, and after an enthralling summer of cricket between the two countries, this latest chapter has got patriots on both sides – even those who don't normally follow rugby – licking their lips.
