Boris Johnson's chief adviser calls for 'weirdos and misfits' for No 10 jobs

Dominic Cummings, Boris Johnson's chief adviser, has written a rambling blog calling for "weirdos and misfits with odd skills" to apply for new jobs within No 10.

In a move way outside the usual recruitment procedures of Whitehall, the key architect of election Johnson's victory has outlined a set of "unusual" qualities he wishes to see in applicants in the blog post which runs to around Putin might do, nearly 3,000 words.

A lucky junior applicant will be chosen to be his personal assistant, he added.

The move will be seen as part of the new Conservatives' plans to shake up central government and break up the civil service's stranglehold alleged over policy.

section, In one Cummings wrote that he wanted to bring "super-talented weirdos" with "genuine cognitive diversity" and avoid senior civil service applicants with Oxford and Cambridge English degrees.

"We need some true wild cards, artists, people who never went to university and fought their way out of an appalling hell hole, weirdos from William Gibson novels like that girl hired by Bigend as a brand 'diviner' who feels sick at the sight of Tommy Hilfiger or that Chinese-Cuban free runner from a crime family hired by the KGB.

"If you want to figure out what characters or how international criminal gangs might exploit holes in our border security, you don't want more Oxbridge English graduates who chat about [French psychoanalyst Jacques] Lacan at dinner parties with TV producers and spread fake news about fake news," he wrote.

In another section, Cummings also appeared to indicate that he wanted to hire recent graduates in economics. "You should a) have an outstanding record at a great university," he said, but did not say if this would exclude those who had studied at Oxford or Cambridge.

Cummings told potential applicants that the government's large majority means that it can take unpopular risks that others have had to avoid.

"Now there is a confluence of: a) Brexit requires many large changes in policy and in the structure of decisionmaking, b) some people in government are prepared to take risks to change things a lot, and c) a new government with a significant majority and little need to worry about shortterm unpopularity," he

Applicants instructed to send a one-page email outlining their ideas to an unofficial account ideasfornumber10@ gmail.com - with the subject line "Job".

He wrote: "We want to hire an unusual set of people with different skills and backgrounds to work in Downing Street ... The categories are roughly: scientists and software developers; economists; policy experts; project managers; communication experts; junior researchers one of whom will also be my personal assistant; weirdos and misfits with odd skills," he wrote.

Lib-Dem MP announces she is 'pansexual'

MP for Oxford West in relationship with former Press Officer

Liberal Democrat MP Layla Moran has announced she is pansexual and in a relationship with a woman.

The MP for Oxford West and Abingdon, who previously only had relationships with men, told PinkNews she is in a relationship with ex-Lib Dem press officer Rosy Cobb.

Pansexual may describe being attracted to people, regardless of their gender.

Ms Moran said: "It doesn't matter about the physical attributions of the person you fall in love with."

'just happy'

Speaking to the PinkNews website, Ms Moran - a potential candidate to become the next Lib Dem leader - also criticised Parliament as a "weird, backwards place" for LGBTQ people.

She said coming out in the context of being an MP had been "slightly more difficult" than telling her friends and family.

The MP also shared a picture of herself and Ms Cobb on Twitter, writing that she is now "just happy".

"It was really wonderful on the one hand, but also quite surprising for me in how I had identified before," she said.

supportive

"I feel now is the time to talk about it, because as an MP I spend a lot of my time defending our community and talking about our community. I want people to know I am part of our community as well."

She said her family and friends have been supportive, but some people had suggested being in a same-sex relationship could damage her career.

"They definitely would not have said anything like that had she been a man," she added.

"Parliament is a weird, backwards place. I don't know if there's any other (MPs) who would identify as pansexual, and not that many who identify as bisexual there are a few women who are brilliant role models who have come out in their lesbian relationships."

Ms Moran, who did not rule out running to take over as Lib Dem leader, was asked to describe pansexuality to someone who is not really familiar with the term.

"Pansexuality, to me, means it doesn't matter about the physical attributions of the person you fall in love with, it's about the person themselves," she said.

"It doesn't matter if they're a man or a woman or gender nonconforming, it doesn't matter if they identify as gay or not.

"In the end, these are all things that don't matter - the thing that matters is the person, and that you love the person."

Toddler freed from toilet seat by fire crew

A two-year-old boy got his head stuck in a toilet seat and had to be freed by firefighters.

Flynn Edwards pulled the removable training seat over his head at his home in Saltash, Cornwall, on Thursday.

His mum, Sarah Edwards, said: "He started calling 'mummy stuck'. I realised I couldn't get it off and so

WEIRDOS:

I panicked slightly."

She phoned 101 for advice and was shocked when a full crew of firefighters in a fire engine arrived.

Fire crews managed to remove the seat by snapping it and cutting it away, then showed the toddler the inside of their vehicle.

Mrs Edwards said: "I was mortified but Flynn was very happy with his visit from a fire engine.

Mrs Edwards thanked the fire crew and added: "He loved the whole thing and wasn't scared at all.

"Definitely some pictures for his 18th and stories for his first romance - of all the things I thought I had to keep out of reach."

weekends — frankly it will be hard having a boy/girlfriend at all.

"It will be exhausting but interesting and if you cut it you will be involved in things at the age of 21 that most people never see."

Cummings added that he did not want to hire "confident public school bluffers" in the role.

Described as a "mad professor" and an "evil genius,", Cummings ran the Vote Leave campaign and is credited with creating the "take back control" and "£350m for the NHS" slogans.

But he has clashed with officials and Tory grandees in the past, and has not held back with his opinions on other high-profile Brexiters such as David Davis, whom he once labelled as "lazy as a toad" and as "thick as mince".

He was played by Benedict Cumberbatch in a film about the 2016 referendum called Brexit: The Uncivil War.

The post was launched after Rachel Wolf, who helped draw up the blueprint of Tory election pledges, said civil servants could be made to take regular exams to prove they are up to their jobs.

Under "seismic" changes being planned by No 10, she also said that civil servants are "woefully unprepared" for sweeping reforms.

Dave Penman, the general secretary of the FDA, which represents senior civil servants, warned that the PM's allies are exhibiting a "fundamental misunderstanding" of the modern civil service.

Scottish labour boss throws weight behind indyref2

The leader of Scotland's trade union movement has urged Labour to support Nicola Sturgeon's calls for a second independence referendum.

Grahame Smith, general secretary of the Scottish Trades Union Congress (STUC), said the Scottish National party's landslide victory in the general election made it clear that voters wanted a referendum. Smith, who will retire this spring after 14 years in the post, said the election result presented Labour with a dilemma but also an opportunity. Writing in the magazine Scottish Left Review, he said: "The first minister has made it clear that she will now push for indyref2. This has left Labour in a quandary: it cannot hold, as it has, that the overall election result gives the Tories a Brexit mandate, and simultaneously that as a chance to make a "compelling offer" to voters on how Scotland should pool or share its economic sovereignty.

His remarks add to the pressure on Richard Leonard, the Scottish Labour leader, to shift ground on the referendum. Leonard promised a review after Labour was left with just one Scottish Westminster seat after winning its lowest general election vote share in Scotland in the modern era, at 18.6%.

Leonard was forced summer accepting that the party could support a fresh referendum after John McDonnell, the shadow chancellor, unexpectedly announced that policy. Leonard persuaded McDonnell and Jeremy Corbyn to reiect Sturgeon's call for a vote to be held this year.

Smith's remarks were welcomed by the SNP's deputy leader, Keith Brown. "He is entirely right to say that the democratic wishes of the people of Scotland should be respected," Brown said. "No politician or political party should stand in the way of people having that right to choose."

2020 make or break year for ailing Debenhams

Debenhams will begin a make-or-break year with 19 store closures this month that will result in 660 job losses on the UK's fragile high streets.

The struggling department store chain will close the sites in the space of a fortnight as it presses ahead with a rescue plan announced last year. The closures starting on 11 January are spread across the country, from Kirkcaldy in Scotland to Eastbourne on the south coast. This is just the first wave of shutdowns, as the retailer intends to pull down the shutters on a total of 50 of its worst-performing stores

ENDGAME? Debenhams is struggling to survive

Debenhams was taken over by a group of financial investors last year and is using an insolvency process known as a company voluntary arrangement (CVA) to cull unprofitable sites and cut the rent on many of its remaining 163 shops. History shows that the retailer will face a tough road to recovery as more than half of all retailers that have resorted to a CVA have gone on to fail.

A recent report highlighted that UK high streets shed more than 140,000 jobs in 2019 due to store closures and cost-cutting as the high street suffered as a result of the shift to online shopping. The problems of department stores reflect this upheaval. As more people buy goods on their phones or laptops, the number of visitors to high streets is falling, while the cost of running large stores is rising. Shoppers have also reined in spending on clothing and household goods due to the squeeze on spare cash and a shift towards renting rather than owning homes.

British teen guilty of lying about Cyprus gang-rape

A BRITISH teenager found guilty of lying about being gang-raped in Cyprus is to appeal against the ruling, her lawyers said this week.

The 19-year-old, who cannot be named, was convicted of a single count of public mischief at a district court in Paralimni on Monday. The girl alleged she was the victim of a brutal assault by up to 12 Israeli tourists at her hotel in the popular party resort of Ayia Napa in July.

She was brought to trial after retracting her statement 10 days later.

The girl insisted in court that she had been raped and claimed she had been pressurised into changing her account by police.

The case against her hinged on the retraction statement she signed while alone in the police station, without a lawyer, following questioning by detectives that was not recorded.

The girl said in court she was "forced" to change her story, telling the judge she was "scared for my life".

She added: "I didn't think I would leave that police station without signing that statement."

The trial has raised questions about the Cypriot legal system's treatment of rape victims.

It has been claimed that police caved in to pressure from the Cypriot authorities to discredit the teenager in order to protect the tourism industry.

'evasive'

But Judge Michalis Papathanasiou branded the teenager an "unreliable witness" who had tried to deceive the court with "convenient" and "evasive" statements.

He said she told investigators she made up the claims because she felt "ashamed" after finding out some of the Israelis had filmed her having sex on their mobile phones.

He said: "There was no rape, or violence, and police had carried out a thorough investigation."

The judge added: "The defendant gave police a false rape claim, while having full knowledge this was a lie."

The judge dismissed evidence from specialists from the UK who said the teenager was suffering from PTSD when she claimed to have been bullied into withdrawing the gang-rape allegation.

The girl was released on bail after the case was adjourned until January 7 for sentencing.

Prosecutors have called for a "harsh" penalty and she could face up to a year in jail and a £1,500 fine. After the verdict angry campaigners who packed into the court insisted the girl should never have stood trial and claimed the case was "political". And defence lawyer Nicoletta Charalambidou said an appeal will be launched.

"The decision of the court is respected, however we respectfully disagree with it," she said. "We believe there have been many violations of the procedure and the rights of a fair trial of our client have been violated.

"We are planning to appeal the decision to the Supreme Court...

and if justice fails we are planning to take our case to the European Court of Human Rights."

consensual sex

None of the Israelis gave evidence during the trial and the girl's legal team criticized the judge's refusal to consider evidence of the alleged rape. Her lawyers said the video found on some of the Israelis' mobile phones showed her having consensual sex with one of the group while others tried to enter the room as she tells them to leave. The teenager, who had secured a place to university, was a week into a working summer holiday when she alleged she was raped by the group.

After she made her retraction the group of young men, aged 15 to 22, were released and returned home. The girl spent more than a month in prison before being granted bail at the end of August. She has not been allowed to leave the island. After the verdict she left court with her mother. Both were wearing white scarves around their faces depicting lips sewn together – brought by protesters from the Network Against Violence Against Women.

Michael Polak, a barrister from the Justice Abroad group, which is assisting the teenager, said the verdict was "very disappointing".

Python and Rutles musician Neil Innes dead at 75

MONTY Python songwriter and singer Neil Innes has died at the age of 75. The comedian and musician passed away on Sunday night, his agent, Nigel Morton, said on Monday.

A statement released on behalf of his family said: "We have lost a beautiful, kind, gentle soul whose music and songs touched the heart of everyone. He died of natural causes quickly without warning and, I think, without pain." He leaves wife Yvonne and their three sons, Miles, Luke and Barney.

Innes wrote and performed on the Pythons' albums, TV show and films including Python And The Holy Grail and Life Of Brian, but he came to prominence in the late 1960s as a musician and songwriter for the Bonzo Dog Doo-Dah band, writing the band's jaunty hit single I'm the Urban Spaceman, produced by Paul McCartney, which peaked at No 5 in the UK charts in 1968 and won the composer an Ivor Novello award.

'very talented guy'

When the Bonzos came to an end, Innes started working with the Monty Python team, writing songs in 1973 for the film Monty Python and the Holy Grail

(1975). A sketch on Eric Idle's TV series Rutland Weekend Television in 1975 provided a platorm for his Beatles spoof, the Rutles, and it was followed on BBC2 by the Innes Book of Records (1979-81)

From 1973 onwards his musical director was John Altman, who said:

"He really was a very talented guy. When you heard his songs for the Rutles, you'd think 'This is as good as the Beatles.' George Harrison became a huge fan and was always in the studio when we were recording." He famously said he that he liked The Rutles better than he did the Beatles."

In later life Innes continued to write and record music. He also coined the phrase Cool Britannia, which became a mantra for the Labour party when Tony Blair was prime minister, much to his dismay. He thought its political use was decidedly uncool."

Blend in like Beckham?

Country squire David and family welcome the New Year

David DEBONAIR Beckham is no stranger to dressing up like a country squire.

And some of his family dug out befitting outfits at their holiday home in the Cotswolds for a New Year message this week.

David, 44, wore a cap and tie with a camel sweater and khaki trousers. Designer wife Victoria, 45, went for a grey tweed blazer and printed blouse from her own range, plus stonewashed jeans. Harper, eight, took her lead from her parents in beige jumper and tweed skirt. The family are keen to be accepted as part of the rural set and often dress to suit the part. But the boys did not appear to get the latest branded gentry memo – and stuck with their sweats. Eldest son Brooklyn, 20, went for a yellow jumper, grey jacket and jeans while Cruz, 14, wore a navy pullover.

Romeo, 17, looked even more casual in grey hoodie and combat pants.

England football hero David posted the photo with the message: "Happy New Year from the Beckhams...2020 here we go, let's do this."

Romeo added in his post: "Oh hey 2020."

The night before, the family threw a New Year's bash at their country pile, complete with dinner party, a fireworks display across the lawns and plenty of singing and dancing. David was seen with Harper on his shoulders. They bopped along to Yvonne Elliman's If I Can't Have You, having welcomed in 2020 with Carly Simon's You're So Vain. Brooklyn filmed himself dancing with his girlfriend Nicola Peltz, 24, as he mimed the lyrics of

UK's shopping baskets remain choc-full

■ Meat down, vegetarian up, but the Brits still can't get enough chocolate

BRITAIN remains a nation of chocoholics - but demand for meat has slumped due to a boom in vegan and vegetarian diets.

Chocolate sales leapt by £183million last year – more than any other type of grocery, the annual shopping basket survey by The Grocer magazine found.

However, meat sector saw the biggest falls (down £184.6million), with experts blaming a rise in meat-free alternatives £61.9million). Farmers were also hit by a poor summer which shortened the barbecue season, after a boom the previous year.

Mike Watkins, of retail analysts Nielsen, said: "It really is a 'glass half-full' instead of 'half-empty' story. There's been uncertainty all year and it hasn't fundamentally us shopping for groceries."

A spokesman for The Grocer said: "Food is in a good place compared other many industries. Groceries are, ultimately, a necessary expense.

"Budget-conscious Brits may decide not to go on holiday, invest in a car or buy a new coat but they still have to buy groceries.

"What's more, the sector often benefits from consumers cutting back on discretionary spend elsewhere, such as going for a meal out."

It also appears that Brexit may have boosted, rather than harmed, sales of many products, as the saga drove many to drink more, smoke more and tuck in to comfort foods. The political uncertainty saw many hold back on eating out, holidays and other bigger purchases but, as a result, they spent more on eating in and staying at home, boosting sales for certain products. Bad weather hit ice cream and cider sales which had boomed during last year's heatwaves.

HOROSCOPE/PUZZLES

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: If life is not all it could be it is likely because of you filling up your time with stuff to do that is not on the top of your list. Uranus visiting you is going to bring this to your notice this next week. Pay attention!

TAURUS: Your boss Venus is bringing up unresolved emotional feelings from the past. The best way is always to pay attention and try to forgive, not just forget. This can be from any area of your life. On the positive your life is looking up generally.

GEMINI: Your boss planet Mercury is moving very slowly. You would be wise to use this time to concentrate on one thing at a time in any area. While you are paying attention to theses situations a home-related area will be resolved at last.

CANCER: Lucky Jupiter in your life may be alerting you that something has to change on a deep level. As you are usually reluctant to let go of things and feelings this is a time to really change and be more fluid. Taking a little alone time is good for you now.

LEO: You are in the spotlight these next few weeks. If you have felt neglected or ignored recently this is about to change. Anything that should go is going, procrastinating could hold you back but not for long. Start this year with a very positive attitude.

VIRGO: These next few days you can expect to get somewhat bogged down with minor details. Small things can look enormous and you can feel somewhat overwhelmed. Make an effort and don't procrastinate. Take note this is the best time of the month to complete anything.

LIBRA: Make sure you are getting the appreciation you deserve and enjoying the journey your life is taking. It's time for you to think about which direction you want to move in these next few weeks. Bear in mind that we are all at the mercy of fate sometimes and be ready for surprises.

SCORPIO: You may have challenges which can leave you stressed. This can be a stressful time indeed. Before your imagination gets the best of you remember that you are on the verge of good positive changes and nothing is as bad it seems.

SAGITTARIUS: Your boss planet Jupiter moving merrily in your money house will ease your everyday life; if not now by the end of the month. Nostalgia is a good word to explain your current mindset; just go with the flow You could be offered an opportunity mid-month to increase your cash flow.

CAPRICORN: The secretive planet Pluto and your boss Saturn are currently meeting up in your life. This does not mean you cannot be in control of what transpires in your life. You can look forward to a period of calm these next few weeks ahead. Wait until spring to start anything new. Happy Birthday!

AQUARIUS: Take the time to enjoy the influence of your boss Uranus in the area of communication. It can bring benefits of which you are currently unaware. Decisions you make this month will take a couple of months to come to fruition. It is a good time overall.

PISCES: With your boss Neptune visiting you can expect family gatherings and meetings. It's best to remain detached in any of these discussions for your overall peace of mind. Life sometimes throws you curve balls there is always a lesson involved, it's best to pay attention to it.

Reflections on the last ten years always an odd time isn't

We look forward to a new chapter but find simultaneously reflecting ourselves on the past. Entering a new decade can be quite overwhelming telling yourself off for not achieving enough which makes it even more important to give yourself a pat on the back for all the things you did do. I've just had a quick flick through our last 10 years with Brits in LA and am amazed at just how much we have managed to pack in over the last 10 years. We have grown from just a few hundred members to over 16,000 and have had hundreds of Breakfast Clubs and

The turn of a New Year is Pub Quizzes, two Royal Weddings, the Queen's Jubilee and a Baby Shower for Prince George. Multiple Dead British Halloween parties where you all came up with truly brilliant imaginative costumes! We've been to screenings together, visited art galleries, had sailing trips, horse riding, whisky and wine tastings, School Discos, and of course we can't forget the tears we've shed together over England's World Cup failures too.

The Brits in LA community has certainly made me feel less far from home, especially at our annual Christmas parties or seeing in the New Year together. I know it has for many of you, too. Our online community is just as fun and vibrant as our actual events. It always moves me to see at least one of you is always kind enough to step up when another member asks for help. So please, all of you take a minute today to give yourselves and each other a moment to celebrate everything you have done and then you can allow yourself to get to work on making the '20s even better! Drop us a line at info@britsin.la if you have ideas for events we can put together to make the upcoming decade just as much fun.

Brits in LA Breakfast Club and the Brits in LA Pub Quiz are both next Tuesday, January 7th. Full details can be found at www.britsin.la. Don't be afraid to come solo as we are a friendly bunch and will make sure you have a table to join.

Hope to see some of you there.... Cheers!

Brits in LA

Meet A Member: Rachel Weil

Meet Rachel Weil from Dallas, Texas, who moved to LA around 17 years ago to pursue an adventure.

Was there a particular reason you chose LA?

I had lived in Texas most of my life and was ready for something new. (And of course, the amazing weather had absolutely nothing to do with my decision). I didn't know anyone when I moved to Los Angeles, but I was excited to explore the city and start a new chapter of my life.

What do you miss most from home?

I used to say I missed the Mexican food and barbecue the most... but I can't quite say that any longer. Living in LA changed me, in a way that was completely unexpected. For some reason I kept finding stray dogs on the street and before I knew it, I had an entire setup in my car... leashes, dog treats, bowls, water. And then I became heavily involved animal welfare causes too, representing international nonprofits through my PR company. As a result, I stopped eating meat and dairy. So, I guess now my answer is different. I suppose what I miss most now is good old-fashioned southern hospitality. I miss people saying hi as they walk past me. I miss people going out of their way to help one another, just because.

What was your first impression of LA and has it changed since?

Ha, not sure I should answer this...When I first came to LA, I remember thinking WOW, what a beautiful place. And while I still think there are many beautiful areas in the city, sadly I now see mostly trash on the ground and homeless people... probably because I live near the beach... but because of this I seem to spend more time bringing food to the homeless than I do enjoying the view.

What do you find the biggest difference is living here versus Dallas?

Oh, there's so many! I think the biggest difference is how easy it is eating healthy here in LA. There are organic and vegan/vegetarian restaurants all over. It's easy to have a healthy lifestyle. And you can walk everywhere, which is great because I love to walk

Do you have a hidden gem in LA that you want to share with us?

I think all my hidden gems are out of the country. I probably need to explore more in LA so I can have a better answer for this question, but for now I'll have to say the Four Seasons in Beverly Hills. While it's not so much a "hidden" gem, it is one of my favorite evening spots because they have live music on Saturday nights (and great food). Ĭ also love Vegetable restaurant in Studio City, this is a little bit of a hidden gem, and it's my favorite go-to place for yummy, comfort food.

What would you suggest to others who are thinking about making the move here? Don't? Kidding. I would say follow your heart. Stay strong. LA is a tough place and you'll be thrown a lot of curve balls, but you can always hit 'em out of the park if you believe in yourself and don't let anyone try and stop you.

Lots of our members join our group Brits in Rachel Weil: "I would say follow your heart. Stay strong."

LA seeking out words of wisdom - what is the best piece of advice you've been given?

One of my favorite things that a good friend always says: you can do anything you set your mind to.

Lastly, how can we find out more about you? Are you working on anything at the moment? I started my PR company when I first moved to LA, so I'm pretty much always working on something interesting. What I didn't expect however, is for my creative pitching to lead to a part-time writing career, resulting in an abundance of exciting trips across the globe. But the animal causes have always been close to my heart, so about three years ago I started producing a documentary about "Long captive orcas. Gone Wild," which released on VOD in July. My next project is an unscripted show that I'm excited to start pitching.

Root up against it as England tour heads towards farce

JOE ROOT has started 2020 managing a fullcrisis after blown England's tour of South Africa lurched from bad to worse.

The skipper had hoped clear-the-air talks following last week's defeat at Centurion would the catalyst for an upturn in fortunes. But Monday's tour ending injury to Rory Burns has further rocked Root was already preparing for the second without Test strikebowing weapon Jofra Archer, who is a doubt with a sore elbow. But Burns' ankle injury, suffered while playing football, is a blow that must have Root cursing his rotten luck.

England's 107-run first-Test loss to close out last year was enough for the captain to dish out a few home truths to his players, who have serially underperformed across the last 12 months.

After having to cope with illness in Centurion, Root must now galvanise an inexperienced side to produce something extraordinary in the face of this tour from hell.

Root's desire remains the same – to see his team make the running in a Test rather than wait to fall behind and then play catch-up. "We spoke quite honestly after the game and it's sometimes nice when there is a bit of emotion involved," said Root, before the news of Burns' injury broke.

"It wasn't a grilling, it wasn't like Alex Ferguson's hairdryer. It was a good conversation speaking honestly and giving us some real clarity about how we want to approach this week.

"It was important to get the message across that, when our backs are against the wall, we come out and show a huge not have to scrap back into the game like on so many occasions."

Despite the continued disruption to the team due to illness and injury, Root can be grateful that the 11 players who will take the field will be fit, healthy and ready for action. That includes Ben Stokes, who put on a stunning show at this ground in 2016 by blasting 258 from 198 balls.. When Root looks around, the likelihood is there will be only four players from whom he will know what to expect. James Anderson, Stuart Broad, Stokes and Root himself are the only men he can really rely on to deliver a Testclass performance. Jos Buttler is on the cusp of a breakthrough, as is Joe Denly, but neither they nor Sam Curran - nor new boys Dom Sibley, Ollie Pope, Dom Bess or Zak Crawley – could be called bankers yet. Somehow, Root needs to find a way of cajoling them all to deliver something above what they have produced to date, otherwise this tour will not just be "cursed", as described by Stokes. It will be a complete and utter shambles.

Ole bites back at RVP snipe

Ole Gunnar Solskjaer says former Manchester United forward Robin van Persie "does not have the right" to criticise his management style.

Van Persie

"He probably doesn't have a right to criticise my management style and I won't change."

Van Persie won the Premier League title with Manchester United after joining the club from Arsenal in 2012.

made appearances for the club, scoring 48 goals, before moving to Turkish side Fenerbahce in 2015.

Solskjaer scored 91 goals in 235 appearances for the Reds between 1996 and 2007.

"Yeah Robin, he took my [shirt] number 20 and that's probably all he's going to take from me as well," Solskjaer said.

United Manchester are fifth in the Premier League, trailing fourthplaced Chelsea by four points, but they have vet to win three Premier League games in a row.

"If you ask me just my feeling - good news or bad news - I am more on bad news than good news, that's my feeling," Mourinho said. Mourinho was asked a question about the depth of his squad, whether there was sufficient cover in it and the long pause that prefaced his answer was revealing. "We have what we have," he said. "That's the squad that started preseason, that's the squad we have for the season. Again everybody knows the importance of Harry in the squad. I think irreplaceable. If you think about one player by one player, I think he's irreplaceable. But we have to try solutions with the players we have. I come to work with the players that are available and I'm not thinking about the market."

Liverpool's remarkable run - by the numbers

Liverpool's victory over Sheffield United means they have a place in history as one of a select group of teams to have gone a year unbeaten in the Premier League.

The Reds have played 37 games without defeat - picking up 101 points in that time - since losing 2-1 to last season's eventual champions Manchester City on 3 January 2019.

Jurgen Klopp's side are the third Premier League team to manage a year without losing. Arsenal whose 49 games included the entire 2003-04 season - and Chelsea (from October 2004 to November 2005) are the others.

Liverpool's only domestic defeats in this period have been against Wolves in the FA Cup last January and their young team losing to Aston Villa in the Carabao Cup last month. If you include penalties you can throw in this season's Community Shield too.

Despite that unbeaten Liverpool did run, not win any domestic 2019. trophies in Their success came in international tournaments, becoming the first English side to hold the Champions League, Uefa Super Cup and Fifa Club World Cup simultaneously.

Since their last league defeat, Liverpool have won 32 of their 37 matches at a rate of 2.73 points per game. When Manchester City set a record total of 100 points in 2017-18, they did so at a rate of 2.63 points per

The Reds won nine straight fixtures at the end of last season but still missed out on the title to City. The Anfield side's total of 97 points was the third highest in Premier League history and the most achieved by a runner-up.

That winning sequence continued into this season - a further eight successes stretching their run to 17 straight victories. A 1-1 draw at Manchester United in October meant they fell one game short of City's record of 18 consecutive wins.

Liverpool now sit 13 points clear of secondplaced Leicester City at the top of the Premier League, with a game in hand, but Reds fans might understandably be remaining cautious. Last season they became the only team to go into the new year seven points clear and not win the title.

Liverpool's dynamic front three of Roberto Firmino, Sadio Mane and Mohamed Salah have been at the heart of their success over the past year, with no other player scoring more than six goals.

The Reds, who have scored in their past 29 Premier League games, have registered 89 goals in total in this year-long run, with only Mane (25), Salah (19) and Firmino (10) making it into double figures.

SKY BLUES ON TOP OF THE LEAGUE AFTER 10 YEARS

City 'team of the decade'

Manchester City are the 'team of the decade' as a new one arrives.

trail Citv leaders Liverpool by 14 points heading into weekend's fixtures and Guardiola (above) admits the title race is over.

But he says City have been the best side of the last 10 years and that those who claim 2019 has turned into a disaster are talking rubbish.

And he believes City have set the standards for others to follow as he insisted: "This team, in the last decade, was the best congratulations to them.

"What's happened here over 10 seasons, since the people from Abu Dhabi took charge, they did it incredibly well."

City have won 13 trophies since 2010 compared to Liverpool's three, including four last year and an historic domestic treble. Chelsea have won nine, neighbours Manchester United five while Arsenal have claimed just three pieces of silverware in the same time.

"Now the people say it [2019] was a disaster, but we won four titles and PEP GUARDIOLA says it was incredible," said Guardiola.

BW SPORT

"We've struggled a bit this season, but it's still been incredible. We've been fighting with huge elephants here in England, but they've done amazing.

Guardiola has given up hope of catching Jurgen Klopp's runaway leaders unless City get some divine intervention.

"All we can do is work harder, play better, and pray," he said.

"There are things we cannot control, there are other issues we cannot control, we cannot control what a fantastic team like Liverpool have done so far and there are other issues you cannot control. When everyone is fit we can do it.

"This is still a fantastic team and I love it. We've had problems with injuries, which sometimes happens.

"Liverpool have been incredible, they European champions and they have dropped just two points.

"We have congratulate them. I know the distance we are is not what it should be, but it is what it is."

IT WAS A VERY GOOD YEAR!

■ Reds make it a year unbeaten and tighten grip on Premier League title

Unbeaten Premier leaders League Liverpool made it a full year without losing in the top flight as Sheffield United were brushed aside at Anfield on Thursday.

A slice of good fortune enabled the Reds to take an early lead - George Baldock's slip allowing Andy Robertson to set up Mohamed Salah for a simple close-range finish in just the fourth minute. But there was nothing fortuitous about their win, which Sadio Mane sealed, finishing at the second attempt after being played in by Salah.

It maintains the Reds' 13-point advantage at the top of the division after nearest rivals Leicester and Manchester City both won on New Year's Day.

Jurgen Klopp's side have dropped just two points from a possible 60 this season.

For Chris Wilder's side, this was a second successive defeat, but they remain firmly in credit from the first half of their league campaign and sit eighth in the table, just two points off fifth.

in a row at Anfield was another showcase for a side working to near maximum capacity.

Despite Klopp labelling as "criminal" a festive fixture schedule that has seen his side play six games in 17 days, the German kept his team changes to a minimum.

He did have to make a late alteration, bringing James Milner in for the man he originally drafted in to the side, Naby Keita, who injured himself in the warmup, but it made little discernable difference.

In fact, Milner was superb as one third of a brilliant midfield unit, along with Iordan Henderson and Georginio Wijnaldum.

Their work-rate. movement and accuracy of passing provided the platform, with Virgil van Dijk alert and efficient on the rare occasions Sheffield United were allowed a kick in the Liverpool half.

Salah scored but he would have had more but for the combination of some excellent reflex saves from Dean Henderson and the woodwork the Egyptian's chipped second-half cross floating past everyone and hitting the inside of the post.

Roberto Firmino went close to his first Anfield goal since March with a curling effort just past the post and should have got it later in the second half, but failed to connect with Trent Alexander-Arnold's low cross from point-blank range.

In the end, though, two was more than enough to seal another win and move another step closer to their ultimate goal.

Having achieved an 'Invincibles' year, Liverpool still have a long way to go to match the 'Invincibles' season achieved by Arsenal in 2003-04.

However, it would now take an implosion unprecedented proportions to deny the Reds a first top-flight title in 30 years.

CAN ANYONE STOP THEM? Liverpool's remarkable run of form this year has left them looking almost certain to end their long top flight title drought

Kane out as Spurs woes go on TOTTENHAM'S recent struggles on the field are likely to get worse in the short term as news comes that Harry Kane will be out for an indefinite period with a hamstring tear.

The club's captain and talisman limped off late in the New Year's day defeat to Southampton manager José Mourinho - who has Kane described "irreplaceable" has started to plan for a number of weeks without him.

The club have refused to put a timescale on Kane's absence, partly because they know that he is a quick healer, who has usually returned ahead of schedule from previous injuries. They released a statement on Friday afternoon that merely confirmed Kane "suffered a tear in his left hamstring."

But given Mourinho's comments, it would be a surprise if he played before the end of the month. Kane said in a tweet: "Head up. Tough times don't last, tough people do."

Spurs have specialist senior replacement for Kane, with the winger, Son Heung-min – who is available after serving a three-match ban for his cont. on page 19, col. 1
