Is it war? Harry and Meghan to step down as senior members of Royal Family

The Duke and Duchess of Sussex opened a rift in the royal family this week as - without consulting either the Queen or the Prince of Wales - they announced that they were stepping down as "senior members".

The Queen was understood to be very disappointed that the couple rushed to put out a "personal message" in which they said that they were planning to divide their time between Britain and North America even though they had not reached any agreement with Buckingham Palace.

In a clear rebuff to Harry and Meghan, the Palace issued a terse statement 90 minutes after they delivered their message: "Discussions with The Duke and Duchess of Sussex are at an early stage. We understand their desire to take a different approach, but these are complicated issues that will take time to work through."

The couple's statement, which came after months of anguish about their role within the institution and disintegrating relations with the media, said that they were going to become financially independent and carve out "a progressive new role" for themselves.

It is the second blow to the royal family in as many months after the Duke of York stepped down from public life following his disastrous Newsnight interview over his links with convicted sex offender Jeffrey Epstein. The statement was released via the Palace just after 6.30pm on Wednesday. It was described as a "personal message" from the couple, and no other members of the royal family had been consulted. It said: "After many months of reflection and internal discussions, we have chosen to make a transition this year in starting to carve out a progressive new role within this institution. We intend to step back as 'senior' members of the Royal Family and work to become financially independent, while continuing to fully support Her Majesty The Queen.

"It is with your encouragement, particularly over the last few years, that we feel prepared to make this adjustment. We now plan to balance our time between the United Kingdom and North America, continuing to honour our duty to The Queen, the Commonwealth, and our patronages."

global outreach

The couple are expected to continue their charitable work, and were already preparing to launch their new Sussex Royal foundation, which was set up after they separated from the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge's foundation last year.

"The Duke and Duchess of Sussex take great pride in their work and are committed to continuing their charitable endeavours as well as establishing new ones," they said in a statement on their website.

The new charity is expected to focus on global outreach, with links to the United States and Africa, along with female empowerment. The duke and duchess also have 26 combined charities and patronages, including Rhino Conservation Botswana, the London Marathon, and the Invictus Games for wounded servicemen and women.

Last year was a turbulent one. The couple were criticised for some of their decisions - including flying by private jet while urging people to act on climate change - although they remained popular with swathes of the public.

There were also rifts with Meghan's father and the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge. The couple are understood to have been upset by their exclusion from a photograph released last month showing the Queen and the next three people in the line of succession: Charles, William and George.

Their decision to split their time between Britain and the US is an unprecedented move by members of the royal family who still aim to keep a role within the institution. Their announcement that they aim to be financially independent also raises questions about their income. The duke has personal wealth - the money left to him by his mother, Diana, Princess of Wales - but he is supported by money from his father as well as the public cash that enables him to run his office.

UK accused of being US 'partner in crime' for not condemning Soleimani killing

■ Raab condemns 'reckless' strike on air base but also attempts to distance UK from assassination of Iran general

DOMINIC RAAB has condemned Iran's missile attacks on two military bases in Iraq containing US and British troops - and urged it not to escalate the situation.

The Foreign Secretary called the strikes on camps in Erbil in northern Iraq and 200 miles south at the Ain al-Asad airbase 'reckless' and 'dangerous', adding: 'A war in the Middle East would only benefit terrorist groups.'

He also caused confusion by voicing concern at 'reports of casualties' - although the UK, US and Iraq have all said they did not suffer casualties.

Government sources suggested he had been referring to the possibility of local injuries.

The missiles were launched in retaliation for the killing of Qassem Soleimani in a drone strike ordered by Donald Trump at Baghdad airport on Friday.

The US says the notorious general was plotting terrorist attacks and it acted in self-defence.

The Iranian action

appears to have been carefully calibrated to satisfy the anger of hardliners, while minimising the chances of the situation spiralling out of control. Mr Trump had threatened a 'disproportionate' response if any US personnel were killed in retribution.

In his statement on Thursday morning, Mr Raab said: 'We condemn this attack on Iraqi military bases hosting Coalition - including British - forces. We are concerned by reports of casualties and use of ballistic missiles.'

'We urge Iran not to repeat these reckless and dangerous attacks, and instead to pursue urgent de-escalation. A war in the Middle East would only benefit Daesh and other terrorist groups.'

Iran fired 'more than a dozen' ballistic missiles against two airbases in Iraq where US and coalition forces, including British troops, are based.

But Tom Tugendhat, the Tory MP who chaired the defence committee during the last parliament, voiced relief that the reprisals appeared to have been limited.

He said the Iran attack on US military bases in Iraq was 'not hugely surprising', and it would be 'extremely welcome' if both sides could now 'get back to talking'.

Mr Tugendhat told BBC Radio 4's Today programme: 'As far as I'm aware, it is the first time Iranian ballistic missiles have been fired directly at US bases.'

dressing down

'That is slightly caveating it, because of course the Iranians have been firing missiles via proxy for many, many years.' He added: 'If both sides can declare victory and get back to talking, then that would be extremely welcome.'

But despite British efforts to distance themselves from Trump's actions, Iran branded the UK a 'partner in crime' of the US, as Iranian officials summoned Robert Macaire, Britain's ambassador to Tehran, to the Iranian foreign ministry for a dressing down.

Defence Secretary Ben Wallace, deputized by Boris Johnson to update the Commons on the standoff, said said non-essential British personnel had now been withdrawn from the Iraqi capital, Baghdad, to a base 40 miles north of the city and military helicopters and ships are currently on standby, in case British soldiers and civilians needed to be evacuated from the region.

HMS Montrose and HMS Defender will resume their duties escorting British-flagged ships through the Straits of Hormuz in the Persian Gulf.

The vital shipping lane became a flash-point for heightened US-Iran tensions when two tankers were attacked and a British-vessel was seized by Revolutionary Guard commandos last July.

Mr Wallace said the assassinated general had not been a 'friend' to peace, and added that Tehran's actions had been stoking problems in the region by coordinating proxy militias.

But one Iranian diplomat claimed Britain should have condemned the killing, saying: 'The message was that we expected the British government to condemn the act of terror, and we are not happy that they did not.'

Starmer takes lead in Labour race

Keir Starmer's Labour leadership campaign has received a boost after he won the backing of the UK's biggest trade union, Unison on Wednesday, and became the first person to get more than the 22 MPs required to become a candidate.

The shadow Brexit secretary is all but certain to be one of the names put to a vote of the Labour membership, after Dave Prentis, the Unison general secretary, declared the union would be endorsing him.

In another statement soon afterwards, Prentis said his union would back Angela Rayner to be the deputy leader, cementing her status as the favourite to win that role.

"This is a pivotal time for Labour," Prentis said. "We believe - if elected by the membership - Keir Starmer would be a leader to bring the party together and win back the trust of the thousands of voters who deserted Labour last month."

Keir has a clear vision to get Labour back to the winning ways of the past. He is best placed to take on Boris Johnson, hold his government to account and ensure Labour can return to power and once more change working people's lives for the better."

On Rayner, Prentis said she had "a long association" with Unison as a member and a former union rep, adding: "Angie's popularity across the party means she is the right person to handle the challenges of this job."

Starmer is thought to have about 26 backers, including Ben Bradshaw, David Lammy, and Debbie Abrahams.

'They will be punished for for this'

■ Furious royal aides warn of backlash against Prince Harry and Meghan Markle after he 'DEFIED' Queen's clear orders not to announce quit plans

THE Royal family gathered at Kensington Palace to celebrate the Duchess of Cambridge's 38th birthday on Thursday but the celebrations were marred by the Duke and Duchess of Sussex's bombshell announcement that they were stepping back from public life.

Prince Charles and Prince William were among the senior royals set to meet to discuss the fallout, but both heirs were said to be 'incandescent with rage' at learning of the plans 10 minutes before the announcement.

According to royal sources, Prince Harry ignored 'crystal-clear' orders from the Queen on the subject. The monarch made an explicit request to her grandson that he first discuss his plans in detail with the Prince of Wales before going public. But Harry defied the order, going ahead with the announcement and 'pressing the nuclear button on his royal career' as one courtier put it.

backlash

Aides speaking to the Evening Standard have now warned of a backlash against Harry, who it was revealed on Thursday, had first contacted his father before Christmas to discuss his hopes of spending more time in North America.

Prince Harry even sent a draft proposal of his plans to his father in the New Year, but he was told more time was needed to talk through the complex implications, notably around finances. Harry later requested a meeting with the Queen at Sandringham upon his arrival back in the UK this weekend with Meghan and their son Archie, which followed a six-week Christmas break to Canada.

A senior source told The Sun: 'Their statement was not cleared with anyone. It breaks all protocol. This is a declaration of war on the family.'

'There is fury over how they've done this without any thought

DOUBLE TROUBLE? "There are so many unanswered questions but they've just up and done it without a thought for anyone else," said one courtier

Harry and Meghan 'have no clue' how to make a living

THE ROYAL Family may have couched its disappointment with Harry and Meghan's announcement in polite terms, but royal watchers were left in no doubt of the hostility behind the scenes as courtiers immediately began briefing against the couple.

The Duke and Duchess have, in the words of one aide, 'no clue' as to how they will become financially independent – although for the moment are insisting they will continue to take money from the Prince of Wales to fund their official work.

Royals who have tried to go down this route include the Earl and Countess of Wessex, who were forced to give up their television production and PR careers after a series of scandals.

Prince and Princess

Michael of Kent, who famously said they would go anywhere for a hot meal, and the Duchess of York, who made a string of disastrous business deals that led her to bankruptcy, have learned to their cost that it can be perilous balancing their privileged royal status with business matters.

Harry and Meghan have made no mention of giving up their royal titles or status and insist they will keep Frogmore Cottage, the home that was done up for them with £2.4million of public money.

They will also keep their state-funded Metropolitan Police protection officers.

'It's a masterclass in wanting to have your cake and eat it,' one royal insider raged. 'Even their own staff cautioned against them making this public until they actually sat down and discussed it with the family properly.'

'But they are in this weird bubble and have this strange siege mentality.'

'They feel like it's them against the world and are painting a very unfair picture of how this is a family that supposedly doesn't understand or support them, which is complete and utter rubbish.'

Another source said: 'The family is perfectly willing to help them but this was a discussion better had discreetly and quietly.'

'Why on earth they have put it out in the public domain is a decision only they can justify.'

'They have no idea where they are going to live, have no idea how they are going to make their money.'

for the implications for the institution. The Queen is deeply upset. The Prince of Wales and Duke of Cambridge are incandescent with rage.

'Courtiers can't believe it. There are so many unanswered questions but they've just up and done it without a thought for anyone else. The plan was there to discuss it and work out a way that works for everyone in the family.'

News of Prince Harry's defiance to his grandmother was reported in the Evening Standard, which said his lack of compliance will have added to unprecedented expressions of uncertainty coming out of the palace.

In a terse statement issued slightly after the Sussexes made their own announcement, Buckingham Palace said: 'Discussions with the Duke and Duchess of Sussex are at an early stage.'

'We understand their desire to take a different approach, but these are complicated issues that will take time to work through.'

The Daily Mail reported the couple 'secretly plotted' their decision during their stay in Canada, even conspiring to create a new website independent of the Royal Family and ready to launch it when they returned. This was without the knowledge of their own UK-based press team.

'The level of deceit has been staggering and everyone from the top of the royal household to the bottom feels like they have been stabbed in the back,' one source said.

Abusive son jailed for bullying parents

■ “Master of bullying’ conducted horrendous campaign of intimidation against mother and stepfather, court hears

A son who viciously bullied his mother and step-father has been jailed for three years in a rare use of the law preventing controlling and coercive behaviour.

Nicholas Hazell, 27, of County Durham, went back to live with Judith Ridley, 56, and her Reverend husband Stephen, 62, after he lost his job.

He made their lives hell, creating a ‘horrendous atmosphere’ at the family home and flying into a petulant rage if he didn’t get his own way, Durham Crown Court heard this week.

Among his worst outbursts were when he threw his mother into a chair and repeatedly spat at her, while he held a screwdriver to his step-father’s throat.

Hazell’s stepfather, a teacher and Anglican priest, told how Hazell had been given a privileged start in life at Barnard Castle School.

Annual fees at the school range between £6,987 and £29,013 depending on the age of the pupil.

Hazell was also described as a ‘tremendously gifted’ rugby player, but had injured his knee after playing the sport.

coercive behaviour

It was because of this injury that he failed a fitness test and was unable to join the army.

The case is an unusual use of the law designed to prevent controlling and coercive behaviour, a criminal offence introduced in 2018, most often used to protect women from controlling partners.

The judge handed him a 39-month prison sentence and a 12-month driving ban on his release from prison.

He was also issued with a restraining order that bans him from contacting his step-father indefinitely.

The court heard that for a short time he was thrown out of the house, sleeping in his mother’s car, but was allowed back after bombarding her with threatening messages.

His step-father, a teacher and an Anglican priest, said he and his wife have been left ‘devastated’ by the court case.

They claim they will be there to support Hazell, a gifted rugby player, on his release from prison.

tantrums

But they admitted he made their life a misery and they became frightened of the powerfully-built 27-year-old.

Prosecuting, Nick Adlington told the court he whipped his step-father about the head, put him in a headlock and poured a bottle of beer over him, telling him: ‘I am a master of bullying.’

In other tantrums he caused damage to furnishings and fittings around the house.

Hazell, of Bishop Auckland, also demanded £6,000 from his mother to secure the tenancy of a pub, an amount she couldn’t afford to lend him.

He exploded with anger at the refusal and was reported to police, but tried to flee in a 15-minute car chase in which he reached 100mph.

While on remand in Durham Prison phone

STILL THEY FORGIVE: Nicholas Hazell’s parents claim they will be there to support their son on his release from prison.

calls were recorded in which he asked his sister to try to persuade their mother, who did not assist in the prosecution, to drop her complaints against him.

Despite early denials Hazell admitted controlling or coercive behaviour in a family relationship, dangerous driving and perverting the course of justice.

Girl at center of Cyprus rape claim returns to UK

A 19-YEAR-OLD British girl who faced being jailed in Cyprus after claiming she was gang raped has been pardoned by the island’s president and has returned home to the UK.

Cypriot leader Nicos Anastasiades is said to have decided ahead of Monday’s that the interests of justice would be best served by allowing the girl to return home.

The latest twist came as pressure grew for Britain to intervene over the incident in the resort of Ayia Napa.

Supporters claim the girl was convicted of making up an attack by 12 Israeli youths after police pressurized her into withdrawing her statement. She faced up to a year in jail and a £1,500 fine after being convicted of “public nuisance”.

But on Monday it emerged Mr Anastasiades has “already decided that he will pardon the girl, immediately after the ruling”.

consensual sex

But supporters said the decision would not spare the teenager the anguish of sentencing.

Verity Nevitt, of anti-violence campaign group the Gemini Project, added: “We see it as a weak attempt to silence the backlash. We won’t stop until she gets justice for the crimes committed against her.”

The student claims she was attacked in July last year at a budget hotel.

Police claimed she made up the attack after film emerged of her having consensual sex with one of the group – footballer Shimon Yusufov, 19.

The Israeli met the girl while on holiday and admits having sex with her, but denied any involvement in the later alleged group attack.

Her mother said on Monday: “The whole police procedures in Cyprus are wrong. The CID said he didn’t take notes because he was too busy that night.”

“I have absolutely no doubt whatsoever about my daughter’s

We’re glad she’s going home, said the girl’s lawyer claims. She’s really suffering out here. She’s getting worse on almost a daily basis. She has PTSD, is sleeping 16-20 hours a day. She is not in a good way at all and needs to get home to the UK.” The mother added that her daughter would accept the pardon on condition there was no admission of guilt.

On Monday supporters staged a protest outside the Cypriot High Commission in London calling for people to boycott the country.

Christmas pudding on the way out?

THE CHRISTMAS Pudding is dying out as consumers choose crumble and steamed sponges instead, new figures show.

Sales of the traditional fruit pudding dipped by 16 per cent in the run up to Christmas compared to the previous year, statistics from market research company Kantar have revealed.

Meanwhile, less traditional desserts have taken centre stage, with sponge puddings up 12.4 per cent on 2018 and crumble up 9.4 per cent. Custard, to accompany these puddings, was up by 28 per cent.

The Christmas pudding has long been a divisive dish, with only 35 per cent of people surveyed by YouGov last year saying it was an important part of their festive meal.

Supermarkets have cottoned on to this, and last year offered a range of alternative puddings. Tesco offered chocolate pots decorated with mini Christmas trees, Waitrose served up a fig and port cheesecake and Marks and Spencer sold a sticky toffee pudding trifle.

Kate Ewart, Tesco product development director, said: "We're finding that sometimes only one person at the Christmas table wants the traditional dessert, making smaller puddings perfect for hosts to keep everyone happy."

Fewer corks than usual were popped across the country, too, as consumers decided against buying sparkling wine.

Fizz sales dipped by 8 per cent, but beer, up 1 per cent and still wine, up 2 per cent, were more popular than in 2018.

It seemed consumers were feeling the pinch over Christmas as supermarkets experienced the slowest rate of growth since 2015.

UK's most prolific rapist jailed after lengthy campaign of horrifying attacks on young men

THE most prolific rapist in British legal history was jailed for life with a minimum of 30 years this week – amid fears he may have attacked up to 195 men.

Student Reynhard Sinaga, 36, who arrived in the UK from Sumatra, in Indonesia, often posed as a Good Samaritan. But he was branded "evil" and a "monster" by victims and lawyers. Over two-and-a-half years he carried out 136 rapes after luring 48 young men back to his Manchester apartment by offering them a place to stay overnight.

Manchester Crown Court heard that many of his victims were heterosexual, some were married with children. They had thought Sinaga was offering them his sofa to sleep on, but using date-rape drug GHB he incapacitated them, raped them and filmed the attacks on his phone. After four trials and a media blackout, he has now been jailed for life and the extent of his atrocious acts can be revealed.

On Monday Ian Rushton, North West deputy chief Crown prosecutor, said: "Sinaga is the most prolific rapist in British legal history.

"His extreme sense of sexual entitlement almost defies belief.

"He would no doubt still be adding to his staggering tally had he not been caught.

"His unthreatening demeanour duped these men, many thanking him for his kindness, into thinking this monster was a Good Samaritan.

"But once back at his flat he used victims as objects purely for his own gratification."

Jailing him Judge Suzanne Goddard said: "You are an evil serial sexual predator. "Having lured men to your flat with the promise of more drink and socializing, you raped them in the most callous of ways.

"One of your victims described you as a monster – this is an accurate description."

She said Sinaga, who came to the UK in 2007 on a student visa, claimed to be a regular church-goer. But he was in reality "a cold, callous and deceitful" rapist who had "shown not one jot of remorse" and seemed to "enjoy the trial process".

Sinaga even beamed in the dock as he was led down to serve his life sentence. The court heard the impact of his crimes was still being felt. Two victims made suicide bids after learning they were abused while unconscious.

The hearing was told his crimes were finally uncovered when a rugby-playing student, aged 18, regained consciousness while being attacked. Groggy under the drug's influence the victim fought Sinaga off, leaving the rapist with head injuries and needing to go to hospital.

He managed to grab Sinaga's phone on which the rapes were recorded and gave it to police. The victim was initially arrested on suspicion of causing grievous bodily harm to Sinaga until officers found the sick videos on his phone.

Greater Manchester Police now fear Sinaga sexually assaulted up to 195 victims.

They say up to 70 victims in the videos have yet to be identified. Of 48 victims who gave evidence in court, three were gay.

Their ages ranged from 19 to 36. One was raped eight times in six hours in Sinaga's lair in central Manchester. No victims were ever aware they had been attacked.

The trials heard that Sinaga had a fetish for straight young men.

Reynhard Sinaga: posed as helpful and kind to drunk revellers in Manchester's city center before drugging and raping them

He boasted in one message to friend that one victim was "a first timer". He raped one victim after a New Year's Eve night out in 2014 and joked to a friend: "He was straight in 2014. 2015 is his breakthrough to the gay world ha ha ha."

The jury could hear the snores of victims in the films. Judge Goddard told Sinaga the drug he used had a "narrow margin between euphoric high and the risk of death".

She added: "It was a risk you were prepared to ignore to satisfy your perverted desire to have sex with unconscious heterosexual young men."

Greater Manchester Police's Mabs Hussain said: "Sinaga is a depraved individual. We believe he is Britain's most prolific rapist. We suspected 195 victims have been involved. I cannot begin to imagine what they have had to endure and what they are still living with today."

Speeding ban for Zara

The Queen's granddaughter Zara Tindall has been banned from driving for six months after being caught speeding at 91mph near her Cotswolds home.

She was banned under the totting up procedure, having already accumulated nine penalty points on her licence.

Mrs Tindall, 38, was given four more points for driving at 91mph on the A417 in Gloucestershire, taking her over the 12 points that usually means a ban.

The speed limit where she was clocked is 70mph.

The wife of former Gloucester and England rugby player Mike Tindall did not attend Cheltenham Magistrates'

FAST LADY: Zara was clocked doing 91mph

Court because she is in Australia.

She admitted the speeding offence, which she committed in her Land Rover at Daglingworth, near Cirencester, in November.

Gloucestershire Police operate a frequent road safety patrol from a lay-by at Dartley Bottom - a long, straight stretch of the road between Gloucester and Cirencester, where they catch hundreds of drivers a year.

Prosecutor Farley Turner said: "Because Mrs Tindall already has nine points on her licence she was unable to accept a fixed penalty for this offence."

Her mother Princess Anne was caught speeding on the same stretch of road in 2001.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF CLARENCE ALVN BROWN AKA CLARENCE BROWN AKA BILL BROWN

CASE NO. 19STPB07587

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Clarence Alvin Brown aka Clarence Brown aka Bill Brown

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Ronald Campbell & Kim Harrington in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Ronald Campbell & Kim Harrington be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act with limited authority . (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on 01/21/2020 at 8:30am in Dept. 5 located at 111 N. HILL ST. LOS ANGELES CA 90012 STANLEY MOSK COURTHOUSE.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate

LEGAL NOTICES

Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice (DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: You may feel more emotional than normal this week ahead. This is because your boss Mars is at odds with Venus. With your relationships of any kind this energy can make a lot of headway. Start with the easiest to make peace with.

TAURUS: Write a list of priorities and start with the biggest as your ruler is in a positive sign right now. So if you feel like reaching out and asking someone for a helping hand in any area this is the time to go for it.

GEMINI: It's time to deal with what has been on your mind recently so the faster you take this in hand the better will be the results for yourself or others. Within the next few weeks your overall life will bring new opportunities to begin anew.

CANCER: The past signifies familiarity for you moon babies and you like to hide away in your shell sometimes. Don't indulge yourself this week ahead as chances are you will regret the time wasted. Move forward with positive thoughts.

LEO: Any trip taken before next week will not work as planned so take a rain check and know that everything is on track to do it later. With this in mind expect and plan for a better outcome. Family matters are in the limelight these next few days.

VIRGO: If any area of life is not going as smoothly as you expect you can let go of worry about the outcome, all will be well by the end of the next week. Be confident when asked for your advice or opinion in a family situation.

LIBRA: The main lesson of this month is that it's not the time to begin anything you will not have time to finish up. Your conscience will not allow you to take chances and rightfully so. Venus your boss is about to enter your money area so expect some rewards.

SCORPIO: Now your problems in several areas should just about be resolved. This has been a long time coming - most of the past year in fact. Uranus has been visiting your area of health and finances and waking you up to certain situations that you may have ignored.

SAGITTARIUS: Your boss Jupiter is moving merrily forward in your money area ready to move things along to completion with a lot of good prospects. So as he is always for your best good outcome get ready to work with him. This not a time for modesty; shine your light for all to see this next week or so.

CAPRICORN: Your boss Saturn has brought a lot of situations up for attention this past few weeks. You now have opportunities to sort things as never before. He has been digging up the stuff you may have buried deep. Soon you will a light at the end of the tunnel. Happy Birthday.

AQUARIUS: While your boss Uranus was in Aries he has caused some problems not only for you and others in your life. There are no coincidences and he is always seeking to bring out the truth of situations. Now he is headed to a more stable place in earthy Taurus. With this in mind look at the positives.

PISCES: You may be feeling like hiding away or at least spending time by yourself. This is a temporary feeling and is due to the shift in season. By all means take a time away go for a short trip or walks in nature and come back refreshed and ready for new opportunities.

New Year, New Laws

With every new year our beloved State of California rolls out some new regulations for us to abide by. Some good ones, some not so good and some confusing ones, especially for those freelancers amongst us.

With hundreds of new laws, and please google if you want to review them all, I'm just going to go through a few of the major ones that will have the most impact on us. I got most of my info from abc.com and the LATIMES.com I'm extremely happy about the dog parks and no testing on animals, the protection for transgender youth and the rent control.

IN THE WORKPLACE: The good news for those on minimum wage is another pay hike is on the way. The minimum wage in California goes up by one dollar to $12 an hour for workers at companies with 25 or fewer employees and to $13 an hour for workers at larger companies.

THE CONFUSING NEWS: AB 5: Independent workers. While aimed directly at gig workers, this new law may also apply to many more contract or independent worker in California. Under AB-5, workers would be considered employees and not independent contractors if the employer controls the work, directs them in the course of their work or if the worker's job is part of a company's core business. So if you are a freelancer, it might be time to set up your own company. If you drive for Uber or Lyft take note and pay attention, these companies are currently suing to stop the bill.

AB 51: Arbitration agreements. Starting January 1, workers can't be forced into mandatory arbitration by an employer. The law bans mandatory arbitration agreements with employees. The law does not apply to arbitration agreements entered into prior to January 1, 2020.

SB 1343: Sexual harassment. Requires businesses with at least five employees to provide sexual harassment training to its employees within six months of being hired, and every two years after that.

SB 83: Paid family leave. New parents will have more time to care for their child. Benefits under Paid Family Leave will increase from six weeks to eight weeks starting on July 1, 2020.

HOUSING AB 1482: Rent control. Communities without their own rent control laws will now be covered by statewide rent control protections. The law limits rent increases to 5 percent each year plus inflation, but never above 10 percent total. The law does not apply to housing built in the 15 years prior. The limit is a rolling number so the date housing is excluded changes every year.

AB 652: Religious displays. You have more protections to display religious items like menorahs or crosses outside your home. The law prohibits landlords and homeowner associations from banning the display of religious items on entry doors or door frames. The items cannot be larger than 26 by 12 inches.

SB 222: Housing discrimination. This law expands existing law to protect veterans and military personnel against housing discrimination.

STRAIGHT OUTTA SACRAMENTO: the State Capitol has prepared a raft of new legislation for 2020

PRIVACY AB 375: Online privacy. Want to know what information companies like Facebook or Google are collecting about you? The California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA) gives internet users more control over their data. Among other things, the law gives users the right to know what data is collected, the right to reject the sale of your information and the right to delete your data.

MARRIAGE SB 30: Domestic partners What's good for same-sex couples is good for heterosexual couples. This law allows heterosexual couples to register as domestic partners instead of getting married. Currently, only heterosexual couples age 62 or older were allowed to register as domestic partners because of social security benefits. The new law could help higher incomes avoid the federal marriage tax penalty.

HEALTHCARE SB 104: Healthcare for undocumented immigrants. California becomes the first state in the nation to offer government-subsidized health benefits to young adults living in the country illegally. The law expands the Medicaid program to include low-income adults age 25 or younger regardless of their immigration status.

AB 2119: Transgender youth. Transgender youth in the foster care system will get appropriate health care. The law is the first in the country to include access to gender-affirming medical services, mental health counseling, hormone therapy and surgery.

ANIMALS SB 1249: Animal testing Prohibits the sale of cosmetic products with ingredients that were tested on animals after January 1, 2020. The law does not affect products sold globally where animal testing is required by law.

AB 1762: Dog areas. The California Department of Parks and Recreation has until July 1, 2020 to establish a comprehensive list of state parks that allow dogs, including the specific areas that allow dogs and the total miles of trails that are open to dogs.

Please let us know how you think California is doing. Also remember these laws are for California only, each state differs and also doesn't reflect the nation as a whole. Federal laws are sometimes very different, for instance, marijuana is still not recognized for recreational use on a federal level and can impact foreign nationals whilst in the US.

The more you know right?

I hope 2020 is off to a cracking start for you.

See ya soon

Luciana Souza performs “Book of Longing” at the Soraya in Northridge

Inspired by the poetry of Leonard Cohen, Brazilian-American vocal jazz veteran Luciana Souza will perform her album Book of Longing at The Soraya in Northridge on Friday, January 17 and Saturday, January 18 at 8 p.m.

The six-time Grammy-nominated jazz singer and composer, best known for songs from her native Brazil, explores the theme of saudade, or yearning.

NPR music critic Michelle Mercer called Book of Longing Souza's best work yet, noting, “Longing is in Luciana Souza's blood. As the child of bossa nova songwriters, she grew up steeped in saudade...”

Souza credits her collaborators Scott Colley on bass and Chico Pinheiro on guitar: “The musicians also helped me by creating this very transparent place where things can't be hidden. We are all exposed—sounds and words.” In addition to poems by Cohen, they accompany the writings of Edna St. Vincent Millay, Emily Dickinson, and Souza herself.

Souza's concert is a part of The Soraya's Onstage Sessions Jazz Club. Audience members will join Souza and special guest musicians onstage in the intimate setting of The Soraya's new jazz club, hosted by LA's own La Marisoul.

Jane Austen's unfinished “Sanditon” now streaming

■ Acclaimed Andrew Davies adaptation available on PBS Masterpiece Prime Video

JANE AUSTEN FANS, rejoice. Acclaimed writer Andrew Davies has given Austen fans what they have been waiting over a century for – the completion of the writer's last piece of work, left unfinished at her death in 1817. Now Davies (of “Pride and Prejudice” and “Les Misérables” fame) has created a new drama for us all to enjoy. The debut episode will begin streaming on the Masterpiece Prime Video Channel on January 12, with new episodes debuting Sunday of each following week. On February 23, fans can binge-watch the program in its entirety.

The show, which stars Rose Williams, Theo James and Anne Reid, follows the progress of the sensible and naïve Charlotte, who arrives at Sanditon and quickly observes hypochondria, avarice and attempted seduction run amok.

Lady Denham is playing matchmaker for her destitute nephew, Sir Edward, who is determined to seduce Lady Denham's ward, Clara and become the primary heir to his aunt's estate. The arrival of wealthy, mixed-race heiress Miss Lambe, under the guardianship of Tom's upright brother Sidney, due to a promise he made to Lambe's father on his deathbed, adds an interesting complication. Eligible men naturally find Miss Lambe fascinating, while Charlotte is intrigued by Sidney.

With many promising loose ends and romantic possibilities, how will the young people pair off? Who will Lady Denham designate as her heir? Will Tom's tourist spa finally catch on with the public? Where will that lead? Andrew Davies imaginatively enters this world of Georgian-era suitors, hustlers, and health cranks and boldly tells us what happens next.

Remarkably, even as Jane Austen was succumbing to the ravages of her fatal illness, she chose to lampoon the contemporary fad for tonics, sea water cures, and other medical remedies. Undiagnosed at the time, her malady was probably Addison's disease, which today is easily treatable. She might have had many years of writing ahead of her, but Jane Austen died at age 41, on July 18, 1817.

NOTICE OF PETITION FOR GENERAL POWERS TO SPECIAL ADMINISTRATOR (Probate Code Section 8545) Case No. 19STPB07288

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the Estate of CONRAD LEE KLEIN, deceased.

A PETITION FOR GENERAL POWERS TO SPECIAL ADMINISTRATOR has been filed by Susan Bruin, Special Administrator of the Estate of Conrad Lee Klein, in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION requests that Susan Bruin, as Special Administrator, be granted general powers under Probate Code Section 8545.

THE PETITION requests that no bond be required of Susan Bruin, as Special Administrator.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Jan. 24, 2020, at 8:30 AM in Dept. 4, located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in Probate Code Section 58(b).

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (Form DE-154) as provided in Probate Code Section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: AKIKO NIIMI MASHIHARA CASE NO. 19STPB12001

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of AKIKO NIIMI MASHIHARA.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by ROBERT S. MASHIHARA in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that ROBERT S. MASHIHARA be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act . (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.)

The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 01/30/20 at 8:30AM in Dept. 5 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: THEA IMELDA BUCKLEY AKA THEA IMELDA TAMES BUCKLEY CASE NO. 20STPB00010

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of THEA IMELDA BUCKLEY AKA THEA IMELDA TAMES BUCKLEY.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by ANITA VARISCO in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that ANITA VARISCO be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act with limited authority. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 02/04/20 at 8:30AM in Dept. 79 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

STOKES DOES IT AGAIN: England all-rounder Ben Stokes hammered 72 and took 3-35 as Joe Root's team pulled off a dramatic win in the Second Test at Cape Town

England win a thriller to level Test series

Second Test, Newlands, Cape Town (day five of five): England 269 & 391-8 dec (Sibley 133*, Stokes 72); South Africa 223 (Elgar 88, Anderson 5-40) & 248 (Malan 84, Stokes 3-35); England won by 189 runs; series level at 1-1

England forced a dramatic 189-run victory over South Africa late on day five of the second Test in Cape Town on Tuesday to level the series at 1-1.

With the tourists still needing three wickets in the final hour, man of the match Ben Stokes claimed them all to cap a stunning all-round performance.

He removed Dwaine Pretorius and Anrich Nortje in consecutive balls before dismissing Vernon Philander to secure the win with just 8.2 overs remaining.

The Proteas looked to be grinding their way to a draw, with opener Pieter Malan making a superb 84 off 288 balls on debut, before Rassie van der Dussen and Quinton de Kock resisted for almost 34 overs. England's attack was also limited with all-time highest Test wicket-taker James Anderson missing most of the last two sessions because of injury.

But De Kock slapped a long hop from Joe Denly to mid-wicket to fall for 50 and Van der Dussen, who spent 140 balls over his 17, flicked Stuart Broad to leg gully.

England's chance of victory was boosted but they still needed

Stokes to seize it, the all-rounder finding seam movement and bounce in a devastating spell to secure the tourists' first win at Newlands since 1957.

The third Test of the four-match series starts in Port Elizabeth on 16 January.

Stokes had a majestic 2019 - he starred in England's World Cup final win, led his side to a remarkable one-wicket win over Australia at Headingley in the Ashes and won BBC Sports Personality of the Year.

After a tough start to this tour for Stokes, whose his father Ged spent Christmas in a South African hospital, and for England in general, the Durham all-rounder has ensured a spectacular start to 2020.

In his final spell, Newlands finally looked like a real fifth-day pitch, Stokes finding pace and bounce to have Pretorius and Nortje caught in the slips - the latter off a fine juggling effort by Zak Crawley - before Philander fended a brutal ball to Ollie Pope.

It was a vital intervention in the absence of Anderson, who was excellent in his opening spell, pinning Keshav Maharaj in front and troubling Faf du Plessis, who would have been out lbw to Anderson too but England failed to spot the ball had hit the skipper's pad before his bat.

With five wickets still needed in the final session, Anderson tried two overs but was clearly not fit and England needed others to step up.

Broad went first, getting Van der Dussen to glance a leg-side delivery to Anderson, who had been moved into that position after the previous delivery, before Stokes' brilliant late surge.

England were comfortably beaten by 107 runs in the first Test and failed to capitalise on a strong position in the first innings here, needing Pope's enterprising 61 not out to at least post a competitive total.

Yet the tourists were much improved from that point on, putting in comfortably their best bowling performance of the winter to dismiss South Africa for 223 and claim a 46-run first-innings lead.

The top order then batted with the patience that has been lacking in recent years, with opener Dom Sibley compiling a sublime 133 not out, to lay a platform that allowed Stokes to blast a magnificent 72 off 47 balls and set up the declaration.

England may have had the best part of five sessions to bowl South Africa out, but the pitch had slowed and flattened out and the obdurate hosts had Du Plessis and Philander, who have experience of saving matches in similar situations.

So to force victory in this fashion was hugely encouraging and gives England coach Chris Silverwood a welcome first win of his tenure.

Hamilton to donate huge sum to Aussie fire relief

Lewis Hamilton says he will donate more than £380,000 to support the fire service and animal welfare charities affected by fires in Australia.

The Formula 1 world champion pledged $500,000 and says he "can't help but grieve for the defenceless animals thought to have died" in the fires.

The bushfires have burnt more than 6.3 million hectares across the country and 27 people have died.

Hamilton urged Australia to "keep fighting" in a message on Instagram.

Alongside a video of a koala being rescued, the 35-year-old Mercedes driver wrote: "It saddens me deeply to know that over 1 billion animals in Australia died a painful death, no way out, not their fault.

"My love of animals is no secret and I can't help but grieve for the defenceless animals thought to have died so far, pushing certain species closer to extinction.

"I'm lucky enough to visit Australia often and I know first-hand how beautiful the country is. Keep fighting Australia. I've spent some time speaking to people in Australia who are working at the heart of this and I'm filled with admiration for everything they are doing.

"I implore you to join me in thinking about the impact we are having on our planet. Let's work together to make small changes, and encourage our family and friends to do the same, so we can help shift the direction we're going in."

Hamilton's donation - which is in US dollars and converts to roughly £383,000 - will go to WIRES Wildlife Rescue, WWF Australia and the Rural Fire Service.

The state of New South Wales has seen more than 1,300 houses destroyed and around five million hectares impacted by the fires.

On Thursday, the state of Victoria declared a state of disaster. Despite a national bushfire crisis raging since September, the south-eastern state is only now entering what is considered to be its worst fire months.

Renault's Australian driver Daniel Ricciardo has used social media to urge people to donate and said his country was "suffering". Australian tennis players Nick Kyrgios and Ashleigh Barty are among many other sports stars, including Australia's cricketers, who have also pledged money.

Let's ride the Rooney wave!

CHRIS MARTIN has called on Derby to "ride the wave" of the Wayne Rooney effect to go on an FA Cup run and climb the Championship table.

The Scotland striker's goal helped the Rams shock Crystal Palace in the cup's third round - and gain a third win in a row for the first time this season. The last two victories have come with former England skipper Rooney, who has joined as player-coach, in Phillip Cocu's side.

"The Rooney effect has really paid off so far," said Martin. "We have seen that quality, leadership and experience in training.

"It was always going to be interesting to see what he brings to a match day and it has been everything we expected and maybe a bit more.

"His talking, his experience, helping the young lads and everybody, organising and quality on the ball... it has brought a real lift to the place. Hopefully, we can start to move up the table and maybe have a bit of a cup run as well."

Ashley Young headed to Inter

Manchester United captain Ashley Young will join Inter Milan when his contract expires at the end of the season.

The 34-year-old could still leave during the current transfer window but United are yet to agree to that move.

Young, who has played 261 times for the club, was left out of the United squad for Tuesday's 3-1

Carabao Cup defeat by Manchester City.

As Young's contract expires at the end of the season, he is now free to talk to clubs outside of England.

Ole Gunnar Solskjaer said after the game that "it was not the right time" to discuss Young's future, adding: "We can't weaken ourselves; we need to strengthen ourselves."

Fernandinho seeks new City deal

FERNANDINHO plans to sign a contract extension with Manchester City.

The Brazil midfielder, 34, who has impressed in central defence this season, is out of contract this summer.

But he said: "When I renewed at the end of 2018, we put a clause in that if I reached certain goals, my contract would be renewed automatically.

The conversations have started. I'm close to reaching those goals and renewing the contract. "The club have already shown interest in me staying, I have also shown my interest in staying. At 34, playing in the Premier League is a source of pride. Many players wanted to be experiencing what I am experiencing."

Barkley vows to clean up his act, regain Chelsea spot

ROSS BARKLEY has vowed to clean up his act and make a success of his career with Chelsea and England.

The Blues midfielder scored in Chelsea's 2-0 FA Cup win against Nottingham Forest on Sunday.

But he knows that he has to make amends with club boss Frank Lampard and England head coach Gareth Southgate.

Both took a dim view of him being videoed dancing topless and seemingly the worse for wear in a Dubai nightclub during November's international break.

Lampard had previously criticised the succeeding the sacked Manuel Pellegrini. The club are believed to value him at about £50m. He has six France Under-21 caps and has made 14 league starts this season. The Blues are also looking at Bournemouth's former Stamford Bridge defender Nathan Ake as a defensive option – but he is expected to be out for two weeks with a hamstring injury.

AC Milan are interested in a loan deal for Chelsea's Denmark defender Andreas Christensen, but that deal would only happen if moves for either Diop or Ake were finalised. Striker Michy Batshuayi is expected to stay with Chelsea in this window, despite interest from Aston Villa, Newcastle and Crystal Palace and starting only three games under Lampard. The Blues expect France World Cup-winner Olivier Giroud to leave, and Lampard could also lose out-of-favour Spanish forward Pedro.

Looking back, the former Everton star admits he had come out of it looking bad. "Nowadays, you have to be careful because everyone is wanting to catch you out," he said.

"It is that 10 seconds when you are not looking like a professional, when you have got to let your hair down, but then you can't forget about your job.

"It was unfortunate of me to get caught in that position and it will happen many times to players over the years because you know what phones are like nowadays. I am just keeping my head down and it won't happen again.

"Back in the day, players wouldn't have to think about things like that but you can't forget people want to make you look bad. I am a very professional player but that 10 seconds doesn't make you look professional. That's just the way football is now with phones.

"You have to adapt to the way things are. It's a big lesson. You have got to be aware of your surroundings when you let your hair down, that's for any player out there.

"You have to be aware of what's around you. It is just more about being with the right company and in private. When you play in the Premier League, you are a high-profile player, so it is about keeping low-key and switched on.

"When you are on holiday or away you need the right people around you. I have made that mistake and it won't happen again, but I am sure it will happen to young players in the

No big spending, says Arteta

Arsenal manager Mikel Arteta says he is "not expecting big things" from the club in the January transfer market.

The Gunners are 10th in the Premier League, nine points behind fourth-placed Chelsea.

Spaniard Arteta took over last month and has won two, drawn one and lost one of his four matches in charge.

"If we can find something to help us go through the season in a more balanced way in certain areas, we'll look at the options," Arteta said.

"I'm not expecting big things.

"I'm expecting big things from the players I have at the moment, the players that are recovering from injuries. That's the biggest expectations from my side.

"We always have to be looking because obviously we have some bad injuries for players who are going to be out for a long time.

"We have to see if we can find options there."

The Gunners broke their transfer record to sign Nicholas Pepe for £72m last summer and also brought in full-back Kieran Tierney for £25m, defender David Luiz, forward Gabriel Martinelli and William Saliba, who rejoined Saint-Etienne on loan, taking their spending to more than £135m.

"Nowadays, you have to be careful because everyone is wanting to catch you out," Barkley said. Appearing to be not that sorry at all.

future.

"We all make mistakes but it is about being aware."

Despite Lampard making his displeasure known at the time, Barkley admitted the Blues boss has been supportive since as he bids to find a way back into the first team.

"Yes, [he's been] really supportive," he added. "I am 26 now and he understands that when you make mistakes, you learn and move on."

France coach Didier Deschamps has told Olivier Giroud that he needs to get out of Chelsea as soon as possible. Asked if Giroud should leave because of lack of first-team action, Deschamps said: "I think yes. He knows very well he can't be content with so little time.

"It is not his fault he is suffering through the situation."

Eriksen linked with Inter move

CHRISTIAN ERIKSEN is caught in a transfer battle at Inter Milan.

The Italian side have made a £20million January move to sign the Tottenham playmaker, (pictured, above) who will be out of contract this summer.

But Inter boss Antonio Conte is believed to prefer Barcelona midfielder Arturo Vidal as his top transfer target, which is at odds with the club's chief executive Giuseppe Marotta.

Conte had battles over transfer targets when he was at Chelsea and it would appear that things have not changed at Inter. Marotta regards 27-year-old Eriksen as a better long-term prospect as he can get him on the cheap, with Spurs ready to sell in January rather than lose him for nothing in the summer.

Eriksen had his heart set on a move to Spain but previous interest from Barcelona and Real Madrid has dropped off.

Conte also wants to sign Chelsea striker Olivier Giroud. The French international is seeking regular football after falling out of favor with Blues boss Frank Lampard.

Kane out till April

Spurs captain to undergo hamstring surgery

Tottenham have confirmed striker Harry Kane will undergo surgery at the weekend to repair a ruptured tendon in his left hamstring and the England captain is expected to miss three months of the season before returning to training in April.

Kane faces the prospect of returning to action with little over a month of games left in Spurs' domestic and European campaigns before the European Championship.

Tottenham say there is an "expectation that he will return to training in April" which would leave him with just seven Premier League games before the end of the campaign. He will also miss two of England's warm-up matches for the summer against Italy and Denmark in March.

The 26-year-old suffered the injury on New Year's Day in the defeat at Southampton, tearing his muscle as he scored a goal that was disallowed for offside.

He was expected to miss around eight weeks initially but was assessed by Spurs medics over the last week and the decision has been taken for him to have an operation.

Before the World Cup in 2018, Kane suffered an ankle injury and there were fears of a long absence but he returned to action within three weeks.

Given he may take time to match fit, Kane could have just a month of the season to prepare for the Euros. Gareth Southgate will be monitoring the progress of his captain, who has scored 10 goals in his last six appearances for his country.

As for his club, Spurs are looking at a number of strikers to bolster their attack in his absence, with AC Milan's Krzysztof

ISSA LOTTA MONEY!

Blues ready with £40m Diop bid

CHELSEA are poised to make a £40million move for West Ham defender Issa Diop.

The 22-year-old French centre-back has emerged as a top target this month, as manager Frank Lampard attempts to strengthen his squad now the club's transfer ban has been lifted. The Blues have been watching Diop, who has three and a half years left on his West Ham contract, for some time and a bid is imminent.

He is also a target for Tottenham, whose manager Jose Mourinho wants a replacement for Jan Vertonghen, who is still stalling on a new deal.

Diop has impressed this season despite the Hammers' struggles in the Premier League. He joined from Toulouse 18 months ago in what was a club-record £22m deal.

A stumbling block for
