BORIS VOWS: LOCKDOWN WON'T ALL END IN TIERS!

"Your tier is not your destiny. Every area has the means of escape."

BORIS JOHNSON gave hope to the nation this week as he promised every region can escape tough new coronavirus restrictions.

The Prime Minister told the country it has control of its destiny as the tier system returns on Wednesday. He said: "Your tier is not your destiny. Every area has the means of escape."

"And I have no doubt that together we can get through this winter, suppress the virus until vaccines come to our aid, and then reclaim our lives and all the things that we love."

The tiers, which differ to the system in place before the current national lockdown, mean more than 55 million people in England will be put into the top two tiers from December 2.

Around 32 million people will be under Tier 2 while 23 million will go into the toughest Tier 3.

Just 713,573 residents in the Isle of Wight, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly will live under Tier 1, which has the most relaxed restrictions.

Meanwhile, official figures showed a 25 per cent reduction in cases in the last week. However, a further 498 deaths were recorded on Tuesday, along with 17,555 new lab-confirmed cases.

And just 60 per cent of close contacts of people who tested positive for Covid-19 in England were reached through the system in the week ending November 18.

'hard-won gains'

The Prime Minister warned people not to be complacent and that the dangers had not gone away.

He said: "If we ease off now, we risk losing control of this virus all over again, casting aside our hard-won gains, and forcing us back into a New Year national lockdown with all the damage that would mean."

He also revealed that the Ministry of Defence has put 14,000 troops on standby to rollout rapid testing in areas in Tier 3. It would help them move to a lower level, he explained.

"Now testing on this scale is untried but in due course, if it works, where people test negative it may also be possible for families and communities to be released from certain restrictions even if their home area stays in Tier 3."

The tier allocations will be reviewed on December 16, then every week after that.

Mr Johnson admitted the new rules "will bring a great deal of heartache and frustration", especially for pubs and restaurants.

But he said their temporary closure in some areas is the price that must be paid to keep schools open.

And the CBI said the changes would let some parts of the economy "look towards a recovery".

Matthew Fell said: "It gives our high streets a chance to rescue some of the vital festive trading period. But for other businesses, the restrictions in Tiers 2 and 3 will leave their survival hanging by a thread."

Christmas 'bubble'

Hospitality will remain frozen."

Most of northern England as well as Kent, large parts of the Midlands and pockets of the South-west will be in Tier 3.

London and most of the Southeast, South-west and East of England will be in Tier 2.

MPs are to vote on the new system on December 1, the day before it comes into force. It will not be in place during the Christmas "bubble" of December 23 to 27, when up to three households will be able to meet under the same roof.

England's chief medical officer Professor Chris Whitty urged families not to hug to help protect lives. He said: "Would I encourage someone to hug and kiss their elderly relatives? No, I would not. It's not against the law, and that's the whole point."

"You can do it within the rules that are there but it does not make sense because you could be carrying the virus and, if you've got an elderly relative, that would not be the thing you want to do in the period where we're running up to a point where actually we might be able to protect older people."

The Government has promised to publish an impact assessment of the measures to show the evidence for the new rules. But some Tory backbenchers warned they would vote against the plans. Steve Baker, leader of the Covid Recovery Group of lockdown sceptics, said: "The authoritarianism at work today is truly appalling. But is it necessary and proportionate to the threat from this disease?"

Sir Graham Brady, chairman of the influential 1922 Committee of Conservative MPs, said: "I have severe reservations on so many different levels."

THE NEW RULES

TIER 1: MEDIUM ALERT

- Rule of six and social distancing applies indoors and out.
- Pubs and restaurants can open with table service only. Last orders at 10pm and closing by 11pm.
- Work from home if possible.

- All shops can open.
- Places of worship can open but the rule of six applies.

- Weddings, funerals, local sport, care home visits allowed subject to strict rules.

TIER 2: HIGH ALERT

- Separate households can't meet indoors and rule of six applies outside.
- Pubs must close unless serving alcohol with meals.
- All shops can open.
- No more than 15 guests at wedding events; 30 for funerals.
- No overnight stays outside household or support bubble.
- Indoor leisure open.
- Large events are open to public at 50% capacity, or 2,000 fans outdoors.

TIER 3: VERY HIGH ALERT

- Cinemas, theatres and bowling alleys must close.
- Pubs, restaurants and cafes can only serve takeaways.
- Shops, hairdressers and beauty salons can open.
- Groups of six can meet outdoors but not in gardens.
- Crowds at live events banned.
- Avoid travelling to or from Tier 3 areas.
- No overnight stays outside local area unless essential.
- Wedding receptions banned.

R number falls as epidemic growth finally stalls

The R number for coronavirus has fallen to between 0.9 and 1 for the first time since mid-August, which means the epidemic is thought to be no longer growing.

'R' is calculated by the government's scientific advisers, and represents how many extra people each infected person passes the virus onto.

The aim is to keep R below 1 until a vaccine is rolled out.

During the first peak in the spring, R was thought to be around 3.

The latest estimate of the growth rate of the virus has also fallen, to between -2% and 0%, which indicates that the number of new infections each day is coming down.

On Friday in the UK, 521 deaths were reported within 28 days of a positive Covid-19 test. There were also 16,022 new cases reported - a 25% fall on the previous week.

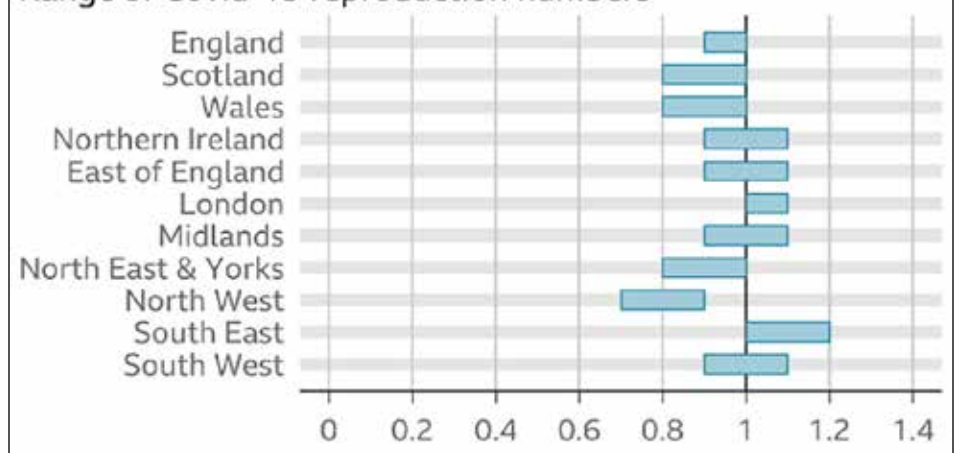

However cases in some regions of England are still high, particularly the North West, the North East and Yorkshire and the Humber. When lockdown ends on 2 December, most of England will move into the two toughest tiers of restrictions.

An R or reproduction number of 1 means that, on average, every person with the virus will infect one other person.

So an R number

R number estimates in the nations & regions

Range of Covid-19 reproduction numbers between 0.9 and 1.0 means that on average every 10 people infected will infect between 9 and 10 other people, indicating it is shrinking.

With the four nations of the UK following different policies on restrictions, the government says the estimate for R for the whole of the UK has become "less meaningful in recent weeks".

It says the impact of the second lockdown in England, which began on 5 November, cannot be fully evaluated yet, and adds that R "may be below 1 for all regions already" in England.

R is estimated using a range of data, including testing numbers, hospital admissions, intensive care deaths and estimates of how many people are infected in households across the country.

Scientists from different universities then use this data to estimate the spread of infections.

There is always a slight time lag in the R number of a matter of weeks - the latest estimate is based on data up to 24 November.

The UK government has said in the past that the R number was one of the most important factors in making policy decisions.

From Wednesday in England, more than 32 million people were living under tier two restrictions, banning indoor meetings between households.

A further 23 million people will be placed under the highest - tier three - restrictions, which further limit contact between people outdoors.

Boris Johnson has defended the approach, arguing the country needs "simplicity and clarity" and the restrictions would "drive" Covid down until a vaccine is available.

Prof Mark Woolhouse, professor of infectious disease epidemiology, from the University of Edinburgh, said the R numbers across the UK "may decrease further as the full impact of lockdown becomes apparent".

"It is worth noting that the falls in R began in the second half of September which may indicate that measures taken during that month did have some impact in some regions of the UK," he said.

However he added that the data raised the question "of whether the earlier implementation of measures short of full lockdown would have been sufficient to keep the epidemic in check and prevent local NHS Trusts from being overwhelmed."

Oxford vaccine 'up to 90%' effective

MILLIONS of doses of the Oxford coronavirus vaccine could be available by Christmas. Trials showed it can prevent up to 90 per cent of people getting the virus.

Scientists this week declared they had produced "a vaccine for the world" after long-awaited results showed the jab was safe too.

It is far cheaper than its rivals, reportedly costing around £3 per dose compared to between £15 and £25 for the Pfizer and Moderna products. And it can be stored in a normal fridge.

Boris Johnson welcomed the "incredibly exciting news" and told MPs vaccines were "edging ever closer to liberating us from the virus".

He added: "We can take great heart from today's news which has the makings of a wonderful British scientific achievement."

Prince William personally called Oxford researchers to congratulate them. In a video call, he said: "Well done, I'm so pleased for all of you, I really am."

'Confident'

Those on the call included Professor Andrew Pollard, professor of paediatric infection and immunity, Professor Sarah Gilbert, professor of vaccinology, and Professor Louise Richardson, vice chancellor of Oxford University.

We will fight on.. Mum's vow after losing immunity battle over Harry Dunn car 'killer'

Harry Dunn: killed by Anne Sacoolas last December

HARRY Dunn's heartbroken parents have vowed to appeal after top judges ruled his killer did have diplomatic immunity.

The 19-year-old died when his motorbike was in a crash with a car being driven by Anne Sacoolas on the wrong side of the road outside RAF Croughton in Northamptonshire.

Sacoolas, whose husband Jonathan worked as a technical assistant at the base, left the country weeks later after the US said she was entitled to diplomatic immunity.

Harry's mother, Charlotte Charles, and father Tim Dunn, launched a legal challenge claiming mum-of three Sacoolas should not have been granted immunity.

Their lawyer, Sam Wordsworth QC, told the High Court that Sacoolas had "no duties at all" at the base and therefore "never had any relevant immunity for the US to waive".

But Lord Justice Flaux and Mr Justice Saini found the 43-year-old had diplomatic immunity "on arrival in the UK" under the Vienna Convention on

UK promised a Merry (but not so many) Christmas

'Don't throw caution to the wind' warns Boris as he vows to ease restrictions over festive period, when three households can meet over five days

FAMILIES and friends will be able to get together in "Christmas bubbles" in the UK during a five-day festive relaxation of coronavirus rules.

The Government has confirmed that people from up to three households are to be allowed to gather under one roof for seasonal celebrations under the plan.

The easing of social-distancing rules will let many grandparents hug their grandchildren for the first time in months.

People will also be able to travel anywhere in the UK to link up with loved ones during the "window" in regulations from December 23-27.

And they can go to church and other places of worship and meet up outdoors.

But Prime Minister Boris Johnson, who is self-isolating after coming into contact with a Covid-infected person, urged people to exercise caution.

'incredible effort'

In a video message he said: "We can't afford to throw caution to the wind. The virus doesn't know it's Christmas and we must all be careful.

"I know this doesn't equate to a normal Christmas and it won't work for everyone.

"It is up to each of us to think carefully about how we use this time-limited special dispensation.

"Wherever you are in the country I urge you to keep up the incredible effort that you and everyone else have been making to keep pushing the virus down."

Apart from the relaxation of household mixing rules, other restrictions included under the new three-tier regional system, expected from December 2, will stay in place.

It means trips to pubs and restaurants will be out of bounds in many places, with no easing of restrictions covering the hospitality industry.

Emma McClarkin, chief executive of the British Beer & Pub Association, blasted: "How can it be that pubs cannot properly open while households can mix in private settings?"

"The Government data has consistently shown that house-to-house transmission is one of the highest, whereas hospitality has accounted for as little as two per cent of Covid incidences when open."

Also, people living in care homes are excluded from the rules on mixing at Christmas to try to continue to shield them.

The rules state: "A care home resident may form a bubble with one other household, and should not form a three household Christmas bubble at any point."

The deal was agreed by ministers in England and leaders of the devolved governments of Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland last night.

'clinical advice'

Cabinet Office Minister Michael Gove, who finalised the agreement with Scottish First Minister Nicola Sturgeon and others, said: "It will offer hope for families and friends who have made many sacrifices

BRITISH RESERVE? this Christmas hugging will allowed but not encouraged over this difficult year.

"We know that the Christmas period this year will not be normal but families and friends will now have the option to meet up in a limited and cautious way should they wish.

"In coming to this agreement, we have listened to scientific and clinical advice on how best to minimise the risk."

Ms Sturgeon said: "We know that for some, contact with friends and family is crucial during this time as isolation and loneliness can hit people especially hard over Christmas.

"The bubble approach aims to reduce this impact. But we must be clear, there cannot be any further relaxation of measures for Hogmanay.

"Even this short relaxation will give the virus a chance to spread. Just because you can mix with others indoors, that doesn't mean you have to."

In England support bubbles will count as one household for the purpose of festive gatherings.

Shared households – such as friends living in a flat – would be able to split up to join another household for the five-day period.

In families where three children live away from home, they would not all be able to return for Christmas.

However, university students returning from halls at the end of term would automatically rejoin their family household and therefore not be included as a separate household.

In Northern Ireland, an extra day will be allowed at each end of the break in recognition of travel needs.

Diplomatic Relations which had not been expressly waived, meaning she had immunity at the time of Harry's death.

The judges said: "We do not come to this conclusion with any enthusiasm."

The family's spokesman said Mr Dunn and Mrs Charles would appeal against the ruling.

Harry's father Tim sobbed after hearing the news yesterday and said: "I still wake every morning in absolute disbelief that we are in this situation at all.

"It's bad enough feeling the horrible pain of not having Harry around and missing him, but I can't believe the [US and British] governments are putting us through this. It's so cruel and needless."

Harry's mother Charlotte Charles said: "This court ruling is just a blip along the way. I promised my boy I would get him justice. No one is going to stand in our way."

Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab said: "Anne Sacoolas needs to face justice in the UK and we will support the family with their legal claim in the US."

Downing Street said Harry's family would not face "high costs" from their legal case. Sacoolas, 43, was charged last December with causing death by dangerous driving, but an extradition request was rejected by the US State Department in January – a decision it later described as "final".

The Foreign Office argued its officials had "objected in strong terms" to Sacoolas leaving the UK, and emphasised that the department "wanted the Sacoolas family to cooperate with the UK authorities".

professor of medicine at the university, said he was increasingly confident life should be returning to normal by spring.

He said: "We are on track now. We have got three vaccines. If this all goes well in the next couple of weeks, then we are looking at the potential of starting the vaccination programme next month for this Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine as well as the Pfizer vaccine."

Despite his upbeat assessment of the drug the share price of AstraZeneca fell amid claims from critics that the 90% claim was not accurate due to inconsistencies in the trial's methodology.

One analyst in the US wrote in an investor note that "we believe that this product will never be licensed in the US" and alleged the company had tried to "embellish" the results.

Bell dismissed these suggestions, saying: "We weren't cooking this up as we went along," adding that the full, peer-reviewed data would be published in the Lancet medical journal at the weekend.

The news of the global trial came after the headline figure for the vaccine's overall efficacy was put at 70% – as announced by the company on Monday and discussed in a press briefing by the Oxford researchers. But a subset of fewer than 3,000 people in the UK was given a lower dose regime – originally by accident – where the efficacy rose to 90%. In most trial volunteers in Brazil and the UK, it was 62%.

However the UK government has asked the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA), the body which licences vaccines in Britain, to start the approval process for the jab.

Hospital porter admits long list of sex charges

■ Paul Farrell worked at London's famed Great Ormond Street Hospital

A former Great Ormond Street Hospital porter has admitted sexual offences against six boys over 35 years.

Paul Farrell, 55, pleaded guilty to 58 sex offences against children carried out between 1985 and 2020.

The charges relate to six victims, who cannot be named, who are now aged between eight and 43.

Farrell, from Camden, appearing at Wood Green Crown Court, admitted charges including attempted rape and the sexual assault of a child aged under 13.

He pleaded guilty to 33 charges, having previously admitted 25 counts at an earlier hearing.

He has denied a further 21 charges, including rape.

The court heard Farrell held a number of positions, including working as a porter at Great Ormond Street Hospital (GOSH) between 1994 and 2020.

At least two victims allege they were sexually abused by Farrell at the hospital.

Judge Noel Lucas said: "The prosecution have made it clear that this is not a case where it is alleged that Mr Farrell was targeting children at the Great Ormond Street Hospital.

"Rather that children were abused in parts of the hospital in which he had access."

Police arrested Farrell on 16 January.

According to the

Paul Farrell is alleged to have targeted victims between 1985 and 2018 charges, Farrell continued to offend until June this year.

One boy, under the age of 13, says he was sexually assaulted "during lockdown".

In a statement the hospital said: "These charges relating to a former member of GOSH staff are awful.

"It is upsetting to hear in court today that some of the charges relate to the hospital site.

"It is important to stress, as stated by the judge today, that GOSH patients were not targeted.

"Due to the ongoing legal proceedings, we are really limited in what we can say, but we can confirm again that Paul Farrell was dismissed from the Trust."

Sturgeon 'never been so certain' of Scottish independence

Nicola Sturgeon opened the SNP conference by telling delegates she has "never been so certain" that Scotland will become independent.

The SNP leader said the support for independence is now the "sustained and majority view".

She told delegates that Scotland is "now a nation on the cusp of making history".

Opposition parties say such a vote would be divisive, and the focus should be recovering from the Covid pandemic.

And some within Ms Sturgeon's own party argue a "Plan B" is needed if the UK government refuses to agree to another referendum.

The annual conference, which is being held virtually because of the pandemic, follows a decisive victory for the SNP in last December's general election in which it won 48 of the 59 available seats.

"Scotland is now a nation on the cusp of making history," she told the conference.

"Independence is in clear sight - and with unity of purpose, humility and hard work I have never been so certain that we will deliver it.

"The people of Scotland have the right to choose their future. Let's now focus all our efforts on making sure we bring about that better country they and future generations deserve."

Ms Sturgeon has said a majority for pro-independence parties in the Holyrood election next April would be a mandate for holding another referendum on independence.

In a BBC interview ahead of the conference, she said this should then take place "in the earlier part" of the next Scottish Parliament term.

Constitutional matters, however, are reserved to Westminster, and Prime Minister Boris Johnson has repeatedly said he will not allow such a vote to happen.

The UK government argues that the 2014 referendum - where Scotland voted by 55% to 45% to remain part of the UK - was described as a "once in a generation" event by both Ms Sturgeon and her predecessor Alex Salmond.

Scottish Secretary Alister Jack recently suggested there should not be another referendum for "25 or 40 years".

'insulting'

Ms Sturgeon has maintained the UK government's current opposition to indyref2 is unsustainable, but has not outlined what she might do if consent were to be refused.

Some within the SNP and wider independence movement have urged her to develop a so-called Plan B strategy if the UK government does not change its stance.

On Friday SNP MP Joanna Cherry said the Scottish Parliament should legislate to hold an independence referendum, even if the UK government refuses.

In an online lecture for Cardiff University, Ms Cherry argued that while "carefully-worded" proposals for a consultative referendum would inevitably face a legal challenge, it would be worth fighting.

Ms Cherry, who is also a QC, argued there would be nothing to lose from testing this in court if independence supporting parties held a majority of the seats at Holyrood.

Opposition parties have said Ms Sturgeon should focus on the fight against Covid rather than her ambition for Scottish independence.

The Scottish Conservatives leader Douglas Ross said the SNP were "putting their party before the pandemic", adding that another referendum would "divide Scotland all over again".

Scottish Labour's Anas Sarwar said it was "insulting" to focus on Scottish independence "in the midst of a global pandemic", adding that the speech proved that Ms Sturgeon "only has one priority - dividing the people of Scotland".

ARIES: It's a decent time currently for you now your boss Mars is in your own sign. Make your plans for the coming end of month and make them positive! Next week you will see your energy levels go up.

TAURUS: In retrospect you have procrastinated a lot since the beginning of last month on and off. Well now you have enough downtime to catch up. Stop worrying about things that probably will never happen.

GEMINI: You have no choice now but to relax. This is not easy for you at the best of times. You always have something you are involved with. Whatever seems to have passed you by that you would have wanted was not meant to be, accept it and move on.

CANCER: Look back on these past few weeks and see what you have achieved however small, not what you did not. Now is your chance to plan ahead. This is due to the planets in your opposite sign of Capricorn moving on and leaving positive space.

LEO: You are probably planning ahead and already know what you will and will not do after this month is over. This is good, however it's time to be grateful for what you do have, however small. Make your health your priority.

VIRGO: You are usually worried about something in life. However you have taken this stressful time unusually well since so many things have changed and it's the best way for you. The planets in your cousin sign Capricorn are at last moving away and you can soon breathe a sigh of relief.

LIBRA: You could use some rest and relaxation time so this is the time. It is not easy for you usually to fit all you want (or need) to do and even with the current environment you will still be busy. Now that your boss Venus is in your money area, finances are easing up.

SCORPIO: Feeling unsettled is a sign of the current times we are in. Be your most positive as it is the best way to overcome this and feel more secure. Others rely on your energy so reach out to others as it also helps you. It's time to change your attitude to work.

SAGITTARIUS: Get your mindset cleaned out in order to make the best start to your personal new year. Make room for better things to come forward for you now your boss Jupiter is beaming positive light to you. Family matters may need some attention - make this a priority. Happy Birthday!

CAPRICORN: The trying times you have dealt with for some time past are about to move on and lighten your life up. Especially for you folks who often put others' needs ahead of you own. Think of your goals and know it's possible to achieve them now.

AQUARIUS: We have fully entered into unknown territory now. However, you of all signs will find a way to make sense of it all. The powerful planet Jupiter is heading your way soon in your own sign. This will energize you for sure.

PISCES: You are known to be sensitive, especially with your boss sign Neptune currently going backwards. This has slowed things down and made you a little moody. Best to keep busy and reach out to family and friends, if only for a chat. Nothing lasts forever.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: WAYNE R. HANDLEY JR. CASE NO. 20STPB06350

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of WAYNE R. HANDLEY JR.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by KATE HANDLEY in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that KATE HANDLEY be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 12/24/20 at 8:30AM in Dept. 79 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

A Baking Journey...how lockdown birthed Simply Peckish

By Marina Pagnucci

2020 has been a strange and challenging year indeed, but one that personally has brought me on a journey back to what I love.

It's also been a year where I started to prioritize what was important to me and a year that despite the lockdowns due to COVID and the stress of the US 2020 elections, gave me lot to be grateful for. Time spent with family and friends – albeit mostly on Zoom and later, socially distanced on our front lawn. I really enjoyed the time I had to myself to spend more time on my passions...baking and cooking – and feeding people I love!

When the initial lockdown orders happened in March in LA, my company reduced my hours to 20 hours a week part time and being stuck at home,

I naturally started to bake as this is my meditation – the one thing that I can get lost in and which relaxes me. Unfortunately, my waistline and scales did not thank me for indulging in my favourite pastime! So I started to bake and deliver cakes, scones and other delicious British baked goods to my family and friends.

Then my god-daughter who is English and lives in New York posted a very unfortunate looking cake that she attempted to bake on Instagram and I suggested that we could do a weekly Zoom baking class to teach her how to bake. She was apprehensive at first as she had never baked in her life. She invited several of her friends to join the class and we ended up with people joining the class from

CLASSIC SAUSAGE ROLLS: available now at Simply Peckish

New York, LA and the UK! We started off mainly baking classic British baked goods like scones, Victoria sponge, banoffee pie, sticky toffee pudding and within a few weeks several of the 'students' who were American were all dab hands at making British cakes and desserts that they loved but couldn't bake. I still had the problem of not wanting to expand my waistline with all this baking but then one of my friends asked me if I could make her sausage rolls, scones and cakes regularly to order – and hence it was the start of Simply Peckish. My husband came up with the name as he loves the story of how when we were out on our second date, he had asked me if I wanted to stop for something to eat and I told him that I was only a little peckish - to which he replied 'what's that?' (he's American). I'm sure he might have had all sorts of interpretations of it in his head!!

As we approach Christmas and we're now heading into another lockdown of sorts, I am spending more and more time at my oven and decided that I would share the love of my baking over the Christmas holidays. So, if anyone is missing homemade mince pies, sausage rolls or fancies some lovely festive cakes for Christmas, feel free to check out the Simply Peckish Instagram page: @simplypeckish – order forms are in our bio.

The moral of this story is that when life give you lemons – make a lemon drizzle cake!!

Meet a Member: Sophie Poteratchi

This week's Meet a Member is Sophie Poteratchi who lives in London (currently!).

Since you don't live in Los Angeles, how did you end up joining Brits in LA?

When I first visited LA on holiday, I fell in love with the city (and the people!) and immediately made a decision to spend much more time there. I ended up starting a business (City String Ensemble) and living between Los Angeles and London for two years until 2020 hit!

What was your first impression of Los Angeles?

To me, LA is a good balance between city life and more laid-back relaxed living. The proximity to stunning nature is really special and I feel Angelenos are so privileged to have all this (nature and city life) right on their doorstep! Of course, the constant blue skies and sun really help - people are so positive and upbeat. There really is a feeling that you can accomplish anything and from my experience, the people that I have met on my journey have gone out of their way to help me. They say that they're "just passing it on" which is a beautiful sentiment and not something I had experienced in my entire life in London.

Do you think you could ever see yourself moving to LA, if not tell us what keeps you in London?

Absolutely! I love driving and so I really like the fact that LA is a driving city and don't mind the traffic at all. Sitting in traffic looking out at mountains or the ocean is OK with me! As I've already spent a lot of time in LA and (semi-living) there, I know that I would love to make a more permanent move. Somehow, a balance between living in Los Angeles and London would be the dream although I much prefer winters in London as I cannot live without proper central heating!

Do you have a hidden gem that you want to share with us?

My hidden gem would be my favorite breakfast spot after a hike in Topanga Canyon. The Topanga Living Café is my go-to resting and refuelling station after my favourite hike in LA (Eagle Rock). That, and the very peaceful beach spot at the end of Venice beach in Marina Del Rey. Park on Via Marina and it's totally peaceful!

Why would you recommend other overseas/out of town readers joining Brits in LA?

Brits in LA is a community of wonderful people. I really met a lot of interesting people through the group and have always received great advice whenever I have had a question about how things work in LA or needed help with something. If you're thinking of visiting or moving to LA then Brits in LA should be your first port of call for any help you need.

We hear you've been working on an exciting project. Care to tell us more about it?

During lockdown, my string ensemble business (City String Ensemble) created many collaborations with UK swing band, Down For The Count. We recorded charity Lockdown EPs and a Christmas album and I personally created fun lockdown performance videos of the songs to share with people during such a challenging year. Each video had more than 10k views and we have a livestream concert, performed in London's Cadogan Hall of our Christmas album, which will be released for viewing (worldwide) very soon.

In addition, as a string ensemble, we are releasing our aptly named debut

EP, "Twenty Twenty" at the start of 2021 which showcases our love of modern pop hits such as; Destiny's Child Survivor, Stevie Wonder's Superstition and a very special James Bond mashup of recent Bond songs and famous themes of old.

Lots of our members join our group, Brits in LA, seeking out words of wisdom - what is the best piece of advice you've been given?

1. It is what it is (accept it)
2. Focus on and harvest the good
3. Forgive all the rest

Lastly, how can we find you on the internet?

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ALLEN GRAYCEK

Case No. 20STPB09375

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ALLEN GRAYCEK

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Susan D. Brouillette in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Susan D. Brouillette be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Dec. 14, 2020 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 2D located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF:

HANS SCHOELLHAMMER AKA HANS SCHOLLHAMMER
CASE NO. 20STPB09618

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of HANS SCHOELLHAMMER AKA HANS SCHOLLHAMMER.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by HOLLY B. SCHOELLHAMMER AKA HOLLY SCHOLLHAMMER in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that HOLLY B. SCHOELLHAMMER AKA HOLLY SCHOLLHAMMER be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 12/17/20 at 8:30AM in Dept. 4 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

LEGAL NOTICES

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Celtic out as slump rolls on CELTIC crashed out of the Europa League with two games to spare after a dismal 4-1 defeat at Sparta Prague on Thursday.

Odsonne Edouard gave the Scottish champions the lead in the 15th minute, but then poor defending again proved costly for under-pressure Hoops boss Neil Lennon.

David Hancko levelled on 27 minutes and Lukas Julis, who scored a hat-trick in Sparta's 4-1 win at Parkhead, put the home side 2-1 up before the break. Julis grabbed his second on 80 minutes, with substitute Srdan Plavsic adding a fourth in the final seconds.

Celtic have two wins in their last nine games in all competitions.

Rangers blew a two-goal lead against Benfica at Ibrox – and with it the chance to put one foot in the knockout stage.

Scott Arfield got them off to the perfect start, crashing home from the edge of the six-yard box in the seventh minute, and Kemar Roofe scored a 20-yard screamer after the break for 2-0.

But an own-goal from James Tavernier and a late leveller from Pizzi denied Rangers a famous win.

Elsewhere, Napoli paid tribute to the late Argentina legend Diego Maradona – who won two Serie A titles at the club – ahead of their 2-0 home win against HNK Rijeka in Group F.

Football opens its doors - sort of

■ Clubs given green light to admit small crowds, starting December 2nd

SPORT has been given the green light to open its doors again when lockdown ends on December 2nd – and that means supporters will be back, too.

Prime Minister Boris Johnson has revealed plans for up to 4,000 fans to return to watch live sport, meaning supporters in Tier 1 and Tier 2 can go to matches both indoors and outdoors when the lockdown ends next week.

The English Football League are now considering moving some fixtures from next Tuesday to the Wednesday to capitalise on the return of fans.

Rugby, horse racing and the PDC World Darts Championship at Alexandra Palace could all have fans back. Elite sport clubs and events hosted outdoors in Tier 1 locations will be able to welcome up to a maximum of 4,000 fans or 50 per cent of stadium capacity, whichever is lower.

In Tier 2 locations, the cap is set at 2,000 supporters or 50 per cent of stadium capacity.

Indoor sporting events and fixtures in Tier 1 and Tier 2 locations will host a maximum of 1,000 fans or 50 per cent of capacity, whichever is lower. Tier 3 locations will not be permitted to have fans back in.

'life or death'

Ross Embleton manager of League Two Leyton Orient, believes the decision could be a lifesaver for smaller clubs. "It's fantastic," he said. "This could be the difference between life or death for some clubs. It could be what keeps their heads above water."

Manager of Premier League Burnley, Sean Dyche, said: "It brings that feel and that connection back. We have missed our fans." Culture Secretary Oliver Dowden said: "I'm delighted we are able to get the turnstiles turning, taking a cautious approach and starting with the lowest-risk areas first."

But inevitably some were not pleased with news given the differing numbers of fans allowed according to Tier status.

Leeds manager Marcelo Bielsa said this week that no fans should be allowed into football until every club can have them back.

Ten clubs are in Tier Two, which means 2,000 home fans can return, and they include champions Liverpool.

The other 10 clubs, including Leeds, Manchester City and United, are in Tier Three, which means no fans are allowed yet.

Bielsa said: "The power of each club corresponds to that club, so there could be a rule that fans are not allowed in or everyone is allowed to have them. The question shouldn't be about the consequences of being in this category or that category, it should be about trying to maintain the competition as equal as possible with things that are controllable.

"I'm just applying common sense. The presence of fans has an effect on the result but the competition says that people who are in higher areas of infection will be penalised.

"There is the case that these clubs should not be punished because they're in an area with a higher risk of infection."

Arsenal, managed by

Mikel Arteta, will be the first Premier League club to have fans returning when they face Rapid Vienna next Thursday.

Their fans will have to complete a medical questionnaire, take a temperature check and sign up to a strict code of conduct.

It includes avoiding hugs, high-fives, handshakes and any close contact with people not in their group – and they have been recommended to bring hand sanitiser.

Newcastle are in Tier Three and manager Steve Bruce said: "With teams having fans in will it give them an unfair advantage? Possibly, but I'm more disappointed about the North East being in tier three for the people of the North East because we always seem to have it more difficult than anywhere else."

LEVY: Spurs on brink of £150m loss

TOTTENHAM chairman Daniel Levy has warned the club stands to lose more than £150million this year because of the pandemic.

Spurs announced annual losses totalling £63.9m for the financial year ending June 30, 2020.

Tottenham had just moved into their new £1.2billion stadium when coronavirus struck, taking away gate receipts and reducing TV and commercial revenue along with lucrative contracts with the NFL and pop concerts.

Levy said: "The impact of the pandemic on our revenue is material and could not have come at a worse time, having just completed a £1.2bn stadium build which is financed by club resources and long-term debt. Our estimate for the current financial year of the potential loss of revenue, should the stadium remain closed to fans, is in excess of £150m."
