COVID: Relax at your peril!

■ On deadliest day, PM issues warning as pressure mounts to ease lockdown

BORIS Johnson stressed that sticking to lockdown rules is "as important as ever" as Covid notched up its deadliest day this week.

Another 1,820 virus deaths were reported Wednesday in the worst 24 hours of the outbreak, followed by 1,290 the following day, bringing the total death toll to 94,580.

As pressure on the NHS grew, the Prime Minister declared to his senior ministers that the situation remained "very serious" – and he warned that the UK would pay the price for dropping its guard now.

One member of his Sage advisers' group sounded the alarm that health services might be overwhelmed very quickly if restrictions were eased too soon, as calls increased for a relaxing of the rules.

'severe pressure'

Prof John Edmunds, an expert in infectious diseases, said: "We've got about a third of our hospital beds used up by Covid patients, which means they can't be used to treat people for other illnesses.

"If we relax again too quickly then even though the deaths may not be as high, we would still put the NHS under severe pressure pretty quickly." There have now been 108,000 deaths involving Covid-19 in the UK, according to data from official statistics agencies.

This total includes deaths where the virus has been mentioned on the death certificate, plus additional data on deaths that have occurred in recent days. The Government said there had been a further 33,355 lab-confirmed Covid cases by Thursday morning, taking the total in the pandemic to 3,505,754.

Delivery

Whitehall scientific advisers have warned ministers that there is a risk some people will be less strict in obeying the lockdown once they have been vaccinated as inoculations increase.

Mr Johnson raised the need to stick to the rules during an online Cabinet meeting.

His spokesman said: "We're beginning to see a decline in infection rate. The situation remains very serious and it remains as important as ever for people to follow the guidance to continue to suppress the spread of the virus.

"The Prime Minister

set out that the successful delivery of the Government's vaccination plan was the key to help reduce the pressure on the NHS and reopen our economy and society."

Prof Edmunds, of the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, said even if the Government target of offering the vaccine to the top four priority groups by mid-February was hit, most will have had only one dose and some may refuse it.

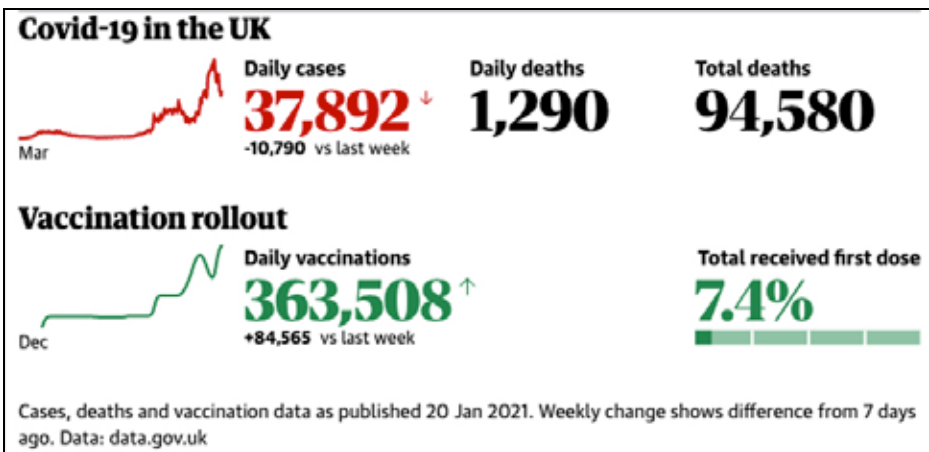

"Many of them will have some protection but they won't have full protection. That's worry number one.

"Worry number two of course is that the next groups down – the over-60s and so on – they won't have been vaccinated by then.

"Although they're much less likely to die if they get Covid some of them will still get very seriously ill and go to hospital.

"If we just relax things too much then we'll put pressure on the health service again, very, very rapidly."

The top epidemiologist said it was important to remember the new variant of the virus spread rapidly even in the November lockdown.

GRIM READING: New cases of Covid-19 continue to spike in the UK

He said: "Most of us haven't been infected and most of us will not have been vaccinated [by mid-February], so it will come back pretty quick.

'not sustainable'

"If we relax too early then it just comes back very quickly, and in order to bring cases down you have to hit the brakes harder. It's better to get the cases down low for all sorts of reasons."

Asked about calls from lockdown-sceptic Tory MPs to ease the lockdown on March 8, Prof Edmunds said it seemed "very optimistic. Putting an arbitrary date in doesn't make sense. You have to respond to the epidemic."

Prof Edmunds said

DARK DAYS AHEAD: the PM called for resolve the Government might ease some restrictions "in the not too distant future, but they can't lift very many. It isn't at all easy and anybody who pretends that it is not being truthful. The faster we can extend vaccination to as many people as possible, the better."

Prof Edmunds spoke out after Tory backbench MPs urged the PM to set an exit from lockdown. Steve Baker, deputy chairman of the Covid Recovery Group of MPs, called for a March 8 deadline to relax lockdown: "We locked down the country and shut down schools on the basis of a forecast, so why not open it on the basis of one? It is not sustainable to leave the public and British businesses languishing."

A YouGov poll indicates that 29 per cent of people will be less strict about obeying the rules once they have been vaccinated.

No Churchill? No problem, says No. 10 as Biden moves into Oval Office

■ Downing Street says it is up to the US president to decorate White House room as he wishes

Downing Street has said it is up to Joe Biden how he decorates the Oval Office, after it was reported that a bust of Winston Churchill, lent by the UK government, has been removed.

"The Oval Office is the president's private office, and it's up to the president to decorate it as he wishes," Boris Johnson's official spokesman said, adding: "We're in no doubt about the importance President Biden places on the UK-US relationship, and the prime minister looks forward to having that close relationship with him."

Johnson's relaxed attitude is in marked contrast to his criticism of Barack Obama, when the former president moved the Churchill bust aside.

Writing in the Sun in 2016, Johnson, then London mayor, and the author of a Churchill biography, called Obama's decision a "snub," suggesting it may have been because of "the part-Kenyan president's ancestral dislike of the British empire".

A bust of Mexican American labour rights leader Cesar Chavez was visible in pictures of Biden signing executive orders on Wednesday.

The prime minister, who was referred to by Donald Trump when he was president as "Britain Trump", is keen to strike up a strong working relationship with the socially liberal Biden, who the government hopes will attend the G7 meeting in Cornwall in June.

'woke'

Johnson's spokesman was forced to field a string of questions about whether Johnson is "woke", after the shadow foreign secretary, Lisa Nandy, described Biden as a "woke guy," referring to his support for Black Lives Matter and trans rights.

Asked about her comments on Wednesday, Johnson appeared uncomfortable, before remarking that there was, "nothing wrong with being woke".

When the prime minister's spokesman was asked whether Johnson would consider himself "woke", he paused before replying: "You would have to define that, but you've got the PM's views on what he believes, and specifically on his agenda to level up across the country, and ensure that everybody has the opportunity to succeed."

The Conservatives believe publicly rejecting socially liberal policies such as the removal of historic statues with colonial connections will help them to score points over Labour.

The communities secretary, Robert Jenrick, has said he will legislate to prevent historic statues being removed, "at the hand of the flash mob" or by a "cultural committee of town hall militants and woke worthies".

Johnson's remarks about Obama, made during the buildup to the Brexit referendum, caused a furore. It subsequently emerged that Obama had simply moved the bust of the wartime leader – a loan from the UK government – to a spot in his personal residence.

When Theresa May went to Washington in early 2017 to be the first world leader to visit Trump in the White House, he swept her into the Oval Office to show that Churchill had been restored to prominence.

Lockdown could ease by March, says Raab

LOCKDOWN restrictions could be eased in March if the vaccination programme stays on track.

Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab (pictured, above) said ending measures will "not happen in one big bang", instead insisting they will be "phased out" in individual regions.

He said people would then be expected to live under the tiers system throughout the spring. Mr Raab said the Government wanted to end the national restrictions as soon as possible.

He told Sky's Sophie Ridge on Sunday: "By early spring, hopefully by March, we'll be in a position to make those decisions."

"I think it's right to say we won't do it all in one big bang," he added.

"As we phase out the national lockdown, I think we'll end up phasing through a tiered approach."

concerns

England was plunged into its third national lockdown on January 5, with non-essential shops shut and schools closed to all but a minority of pupils.

Ministers initially suggested that the restrictions could be eased in mid-February, with a review of the rules due this week, but the legislation allows it to continue until the end of March.

That has prompted concerns from many Conservative MPs who have called on Downing Street to provide a road map out of lockdown in the coming months.

At the end of this week, ministers will begin drawing up a timetable to end the full shutdown after they see the first evidence of the effect of the latest national action.

Mark Harper, the Tory chairman of the Lockdown-sceptic Covid Recovery Group, responded to Raab's words by saying people "need hope" and businesses "need a plan in order to survive".

NICE LITTLE EARNER! Beckhams trouser £40k a day after strong image rights sales

Dividends up £3.4m despite fall in profits at David Beckham Ventures Ltd after £1m Unicef donation

David and Victoria Beckham have paid themselves £14.5m – or nearly £40,000 for every day of the year – following the strong performance of the former footballer's image rights sales.

The couple's total dividends in 2019 were up £3.4m on the previous year, according to accounts filed at Companies House on Thursday. The 2019 accounts are the latest available, but they note that the couple also collected an additional £7m in interim dividend payments in 2020.

David Beckham Ventures Limited (DBVL), which manages his brand and partnerships with the likes of Adidas, Haig Club whisky and the Sands hotel group, reported a £600,000 increase in annual revenue to £16.2m.

Over the course of the year DBVL gave £1m to Unicef, the UN agency responsible for providing humanitarian support to children across the world, for which he is a goodwill ambassador. The donation helped knock the company's pre-tax profits down from £14.8m in 2018 to £11.3m in 2019.

DBVL, which also includes David's stake in Inter Miami CF, the Major League Soccer team he co-founded in 2018, is 100% owned by the Beckhams after they bought out a 33% stake previously owned by the Pop Idol creator Simon Fuller for £38m in 2019.

Victoria Beckham's eponymous luxury fashion label reported a £2.5m increase in sales to £38.3m in 2019, but it continued to lose money. Annual pre-tax losses of Victoria Beckham Holdings Limited (VBHL) increased to £16.6m in 2019, up from a £12.5m loss in 2018.

The company – which is owned by Beckham Brand Holdings, Fuller's XIX Entertainment and the private equity firm NEO investment Partners – did not pay a dividend. "Directors continue to focus on taking the company to breakeven," VBHL said in its filing to Companies House.

VBHL said sales were boosted in the last quarter of 2019 by the launch of the Victoria Beckham Beauty brand, and the flagship

THAT'S RICH: the celebrity couple paid themselves £14.5m in 2020

Dover Street store in London achieved double-digit revenue growth.

However, the company warned that the coronavirus pandemic had significantly impacted 2020 sales and the Dover Street store has been closed for large parts of the year. Still, online sales were up more than 20% in the UK, 36% in Europe and 44% in Australia.

Both companies credited their success to their founders' presence on social media. Victoria Beckham's 50 million followers were said to have driven 15% of traffic to the company's website and accounted for 10% of revenue.

David Beckham is the most followed person on social media in the UK, according to the DBVL filing. He has 128 million followers across the world.

'Freedom': UK Covid patient returns home after 306 days in hospital

A retired lawyer who survived Covid-19 after contracting the virus in the early weeks of the pandemic made an emotional return home on Thursday after spending 306 days in hospital.

Geoffrey Woolf, 74, who was rushed to hospital last March after collapsing over breakfast, is believed to have spent one of the longest periods in hospital of any Covid patient before being discharged.

Such was the seriousness of his condition that his three sons were called in to say goodbye at one point during the summer, before their father then, in their words, "suddenly woke up" in July.

Since his discharge from an intensive care unit at Whittington hospital he has been undergoing treatment at the Royal Hospital for Neuro-Disability in Putney in London for the brain damage caused by the virus, which also caused paralysis down one side of his body, and aphasia.

"The staff and carers at the hospital have been amazing. And also the staff at the Whittington," said Woolf, who added that he was happy to be coming home to Holloway in north London on a day that meant "freedom".

Asked what was most looking forward to, he replied: "Steak and chips."

Woolf had been studying for a degree in art history at London's City Lit adult education college having retired shortly before contracting the virus. As an active gym goer with no underlying health conditions, his sudden collapse had come out of the blue, while doctors who first saw him after his sons dialled 999 on 23 March had suspected meningitis.

His initial hospital treatment for the virus had taken place over the course of 127 days, 67 of them on a ventilator. Footage showed him being applauded out on his discharge before he was transferred for neurological rehabilitation on his speech and language, as well for physical therapy.

Storm Christoph batters Britain

■ Warnings in place as care homes evacuated, roads blocked and body found in river

Flood warnings remained in place this week across north-west England and Wales following a tumultuous 24 hours in which hundreds of people were evacuated from their homes, and the body of a man was recovered from a river in Cardiff after parts of Britain were battered by Storm Christoph.

Emergency crews including specialist divers found the man in the River Taff after being alerted by a member of the public. It was not clear how the man died and if the death was storm-related. South Wales police said they were investigating.

In England, Cheshire bore the brunt of the storm and a severe flood warning, signalling danger to life, remained in place at Farndon on the river Dee where water levels were expected to peak on Thursday evening, according to the Environment Agency.

Much of Northwich town centre was under water, and residents of two Northwich care homes were evacuated by dingy and taken to hotels in what the local council said was "a safe and socially distanced manner".

There were also evacuations in Warrington, Chester, Ellesmere Port and Tattenhall.

inundated

21 people were rescued by boat from Lea Court nursing home in Warrington by Cheshire fire and rescue. Many roads in the county remained blocked by flood water on Thursday evening.

There had been fears that thousands of homes in south Manchester would be inundated by the River Mersey in the early hours of Thursday morning, but flood defences held up.

On a visit to Withington golf club in the Didsbury/Northenden area of Manchester, Boris Johnson said recent improvements to the region's flood defences had averted a much worse situation.

"We've put £60m into the Greater Manchester area's flood defences and there's another £20m on the way," Johnson said. "Here in Didsbury they've managed to protect 10,000 homes by what they've done."

Didsbury mosque provided shelter in its prayer hall for uprooted households. "Praise Allah that the floods weren't as bad as people feared and no one in the area has been reported missing," said the mosque's receptionist, Abdul Sakkah.

flood warnings

"Only three people came in the end but we had a big hall in which to provide shelter for up to 155, and we provided breakfast and hot drinks for those who stayed overnight."

Almost 170 flood warnings were in place across England on Thursday evening, but some severe warnings had been downgraded.

In Wales, properties

WATERY FATE: rescue crews at work in Cheshire on Tuesday

FIELDS AWASH: flooding near Bangor-on-Dee in Wales were evacuated in Bangor-on-Dee and residents were told not to return despite river levels slowly dropping on Thursday afternoon.

Mid and west Wales fire and rescue said it had attended more than 100 flooding-related incidents and its swift water rescue teams had retrieved 13 people from vehicles in flood water.

vaccine threat

In Wrexham, north Wales, emergency services worked overnight to prevent flood water from causing damage at an industrial estate where a crucial part of the manufacture of the Oxford/AstraZeneca vaccine takes place. Wockhardt UK, which has the UK government contract to "fill finish" the Covid vaccines, said no vaccines had been damaged or lost.

A major incident was declared in the village of Skewen in Neath, Port Talbot, after at least eight streets flooded and 80 people needed to be evacuated. It is thought the flooding may have been caused by a collapsed mine shaft. Homes were also flooded in Knighton and Borth, in mid Wales, and Crickhowell, in south Wales.

Debbie Hollingworth, a full-time carer in Ruthin, north Wales, said the ground floor of her cottage had been flooded with 45cm (18ins) of water.

"I didn't think to put a mask on as it all happened so quickly and I was just trying to work out what to save. When I saw the fire service rescue team were all wearing masks, I thought: oh God, I should've put mine on," she said. "I went to my sister's who we are in a bubble with, but unfortunately she is also in a flood risk area so we will have to get emergency accommodation if there's any more [flooding]."

"It's been a nightmare but the community has come together and displayed great spirit. Local people donated two-tonne sandbags and people were posting on the local Facebook group offering temporary accommodation."

House prices soar to record high of £250k

THE average UK house price reached a record high of £250,000 in November – with London properties breaking through the £500,000 barrier.

Across the nation, values increased by 7.6 per cent over 12 months, meaning it was the highest annual growth rate since June 2016.

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) said the average house price in London was now £514,000.

London along with Yorkshire and the Humber had the joint highest annual growth in England, with prices increasing by 9.7 per cent. Two London boroughs recorded a growth of more than 20 per cent: Kensington and Chelsea (28.6%) and Brent (23.9%).

The sharp increase in Brent is partly caused by prices having fallen in the borough a year earlier, the report said.

While in inner

London demand may be "particularly responsive" to the temporary stamp duty holiday – which ends on March 31 – as property prices are high and therefore so is the tax.

The lowest average price was £140,000 in the North-east – just £600 higher than the £139,400 peak in July 2007.

Overall, average prices in England increased between November 2019 and November 2020 to £267,000 (a 7.6 per cent annual increase).

ARIES: It's a good time now to get ready for putting your future financial goals on the top of your to-do list. Do not think that because it's been dormant for a while past that you should believe this cannot change. It can and will with a little extra effort.

TAURUS: You are likely feeling stir crazy - like many are currently. Life is going to move forward regardless and it is time to plan ahead. Do not sit and wait; consider your future path as your current situation is going to change.

GEMINI: Make time to lay low and rest as your boss Mercury is slowing down, ready soon for his regular backward stroll. Plan your days as they come; don't think ahead too much until the middle of next month. Then life is scheduled to get busy again for three weeks ahead.

CANCER: Your moods can change quickly now and so it's good that you are mostly low-key. You have some stuff you need to deal with no matter if it's mental or practical. Take time to write a list of what needs work and get it started, it will make you feel better.

LEO: You should be starting to understand things in your life from your distant past. Time to let go of old hurts, possibly from childhood years. Next month you will feel yourself being lighter.

VIRGO: Do not push too hard, let yourself breathe and relax. You are the big worrier of the signs. Show your organized side to those that need the help. Mercury your boss going backwards soon will make you a little lazy.

LIBRA: You can expect to receive financial surprises these next couple weeks. Mercury in your financial area is slowing down, soon to go backwards. This can bring unfinished stuff to completion or to success. It is important to not stress about what you cannot change.

SCORPIO: Life has been not so bad as you expected in this downtime. You should have cleared space mentally or physically for a clearer vision of what is next. Be careful how you reply to past matters. Be patient with those who want to settle a score, it is not your job to do it for them.

SAGITTARIUS: It's not currently a time to be downhearted. You are the free spirit of the signs and your boss Jupiter is currently in Aquarius and good things can happen for your overall life. You can manifest long-term plans that have been on hold for some time.

CAPRICORN: You should be lightening up in your outlook currently. Saturn is in your money house for a while and so it's time to bring those longtime plans to the forefront of your life. First financially and the rest can follow.

AQUARIUS: Be honest with yourself and others about what is not working for you in the long term. It's a good time to set your intentions and be ready to move on them as soon as this current time starts to lighten up. This is your new year and Jupiter is in your life for most of it. Celebrate your Happy Birthday!

PISCES: Don't look backwards, just look up and at what is positive and enjoyable even if it seems out of reach currently. You can be like a sponge picking up others' feelings so if you feel out of sorts sometimes look at what your expectations are. Keep the positive thoughts and release the rest.

Case No. 20STPB05810
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of DOROTHY L. GREEN

AN AMENDED PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Robert A. Green and Matthew E. Green in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE AMENDED PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Randal Neal Cohen be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE AMENDED PETITION requests the decedent's lost will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. Copies of the lost will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE AMENDED PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the amended petition will be held on Feb. 16, 2021 at 9:30 AM in Dept. No. 2D located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Brits in LA

Don't forget it mate, it's Chinatown

■ Craig Robert Young revisits a favorite haunt, still open for business during lockdown

Chinese food has been a longtime British staple and I am often asked where is the best take-away in LA, which led me to research and visit LA's world renowned Chinatown, a neighborhood steeped in culture and history.

As we continue this period of lockdown/shelter-in-place/twiddling thumbs it's important to know that there are still things we can do alone or with those in the same household. In past columns I've shared some fantastic hikes, some great road trips in California, and great eateries. This week and for the next few weeks I thought it might be good to spotlight some places closer to home.

Chinatown in downtown LA encompasses less than a square mile bordered by Main Street to the east, Yale Street to the west, Cesar Chavez to the south, and Bernard Street to the north.

It's crucial to understand and appreciate the district's past to understand its relevance today. In the 1870s, the original Chinatown began in downtown LA between El Pueblo Plaza and Old Arcadia St and expanded east. Throughout the 1930s and '40s, construction of several landmark buildings and plans for shops, restaurants and apartments created the framework for what became Chinatown. The new Chinatown was planned, owned and operated by Chinese-Americans to acknowledge culture and progress, and Chinatown Central Plaza was built to be the heart of the community. Today, many of the founding families still own the buildings that make up this vibrant, ever-evolving neighborhood.

Though much smaller than the Chinese neighborhoods of New York and San Francisco, great food and numerous small Chinese specialty stores are still abound. We often walk through Chinatown enjoying the architecture of the Cathay Bank, the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association (designed by Eugene Kinn Choy) and Thien Hau Temple - a gorgeous Taoist temple dedicated to Mazu, goddess of the sea.

The pedestrianized streets were built in the 1930s and now house a mixture of antique, printing and book stores, as well as galleries. Alex Cheung Company sells jade, antiques and art. Tierra Del Sol Gallery is part of the Tierra Del Sol Foundation, a non-profit that empowers people with developmental disabilities by providing resources to establish careers in the arts. Print Shop LA is set up for screen printing, risograph and textile printing services and classes.

The Chinatown Gateway, also known as the Dragon Gate, is located on Broadway, just north of Cesar Chavez Avenue. Designed by artist Ruppert Mok and installed in 2001, it illuminates at night in bright colors, making it an ideal photo spot at all hours of the day.

To access Chinatown by care, simply drive through the gate or walk north from the Civic Center/ Grand Park metro station. It's also just a few blocks west of the Union Station metro stop along Cesar Chavez. If you walk through, make sure to turn around and look south through the gate for a perfectly-framed shot of City Hall.

The West Gate, with its neon Chinatown sign, was the first gate built around the Central Plaza. The inscription at the top of the gate reads "Cooperate to Achieve" in Chinese characters. The neon-covered West Gate is even more spectacular when lit up at night, color-coordinated with all of the red lanterns.

Just inside the West Gate is the Wishing Well, one of the oldest landmarks inside of Central Plaza. Designed to emulate the Seven Star Caverns in southern China, you can toss your coins into these waters to wish for love, health, or prosperity.

And of course we can't visit Chinatown and not talk about the food, we may not be able to dine in or out, but let's do this the proper way and order a take-away.

There are a slew of non-Chinese food spots popping up in Chinatown and its surrounding areas. However I want to concentrate on authentic Chinese food, otherwise it's like going to Disneyland and not seeing Mickey Mouse. Amirite?

Okay my first mention isn't super authentic but it's by far the most popular:

Yang Chow, 819 N Broadway. (213) 625-0811 www.yangchow.com.

Yang Chow has been a staple of Chinatown since the Yun family opened it in the late 1970s. It's known for two things - Slippery Shrimp, and the long lines of people waiting to eat Slippery Shrimp. The shrimp are deep-fried and covered in a tangy-sweet sauce. It's not "authentic" at all, but that hasn't stopped it from becoming one of the most popular Chinese dishes in LA.

That's not to say there

Familiar signs: Ocean Seafood on Hill Street

aren't more traditional dishes at Yang Chow. Their dumplings have fans across the city. I have it on good authority that the staff will try to dissuade you from ordering them because they take more time to cook and they want to turn the tables faster. But trust me- you're going to want them before your Slippery Shrimp.

Ocean Seafood, 750

N Hill Street. (213) 687-3088. www.oceansf.com This place is a true institution and is usually crowded with dim-sum lovers on weekends. Ocean Seafood is a purveyor of seafood dumplings and fresh fish culled from tanks in the restaurant. From sugar cane shrimp to deep fried taro root dumplings, Hong Kong-style dim sum is the ultimate dining experience here. Baby bok choy and walnut shrimp are among this comfortable, cavernous restaurant's specialties.

Chinese Friends Restaurant, 984 N Broadway. (213) 626-1837

This no-frills spot on Broadway serves an extensive menu of classic Chinese-American dishes, such as moo shu pork, beef with broccoli, and orange chicken. Open for nearly 50 years, Chinese Friends has also amassed quite a loyal following online - if you ever need a dose of Something Nice, just check out the reviews on their Yelp page. And it's hands down my favorite take-away. Visiting Chinatown is like popping in on an interesting old friend; some of the stuff is just the way you remembered it, and other stuff is new intriguing. So try the restaurants above, or make new favorites of your own... Be safe, stay distanced and order in! Craig Young.

Zoom into the BiLA Virtual Pub Quiz!

Join your fellow Brits in LA on Tuesday January 26 for another fun and competitive virtual pub quiz hosted by Sandro Monetti (pictured, above).

At the previous contest, Joanna Duff (pictured, right) correctly named Arsenal as the only English football team to have a London Underground station named after them.

But it wasn't enough to take the trivia title as Robert Dimitri pipped her by one point to win the first place prize of a gift card to The Cat and Fiddle.

Join Sandro promptly at 7.45pm - to have a chit-chat before quiz starts promptly at 8pm, then the room gets locked. Zoom Meeting ID: 960-556-148

Foxes right in the hunt!

Rodgers' men hit top spot and turn up heat on Lampard

FRANK LAMPARD is under huge pressure at Chelsea after Leicester beat them to briefly go top of the Premier League on Tuesday night.

Lampard's expensively-assembled Blues crashed to a fifth defeat in eight top-flight games after a dire first half on Tuesday night.

They are eighth in table, eleven points behind new leaders Manchester

United following the Red Devils' 2-1 win at Fulham 24 hours later.

Wilfred Ndidi fired Leicester ahead with his first goal of the season in the sixth minute.

Chelsea were then initially awarded a penalty after Jonny Evans brought down Christian Pulisic but VAR ruled the foul was just outside the box.

James Maddison, who earlier hit the bar, made it 2-0 in the 41st minute with his fifth goal in seven games.

This latest defeat leaves Chelsea manager Lampard facing questions about his future after spending over £200million in the last window.

It was Foxes' boss Brendan Rodgers' first win as a manager over Chelsea.

Aguero tests positive for Covid-19

Manchester City striker Sergio Aguero has tested positive for Covid-19.

The Argentine, who has only played a total of 141 minutes across five appearances this season, was already isolating after coming into contact with a positive case.

The 32-year-old tweeted: "I had some symptoms and I'm following doctor's orders for recovery."

Aguero missed the past three matches as he self-isolated and is now set to be out for a longer spell. This is the latest setback for City's all-time top scorer following knee and hamstring problems earlier in the campaign.

Aguero, who has been with the club since 2011, has only figured for 31 minutes since being substituted at half-time in the draw at West Ham on 24 October.

Burnley storm fortress Anfield

English Premier League
Liverpool.....0
Burnley.....1

After 68 games, 55 wins, 13 draws and almost four years, fortress Anfield has finally been stormed.

Burnley were the only team to take points off Liverpool at home last season. On Thursday night they recorded a still greater feat, Ashley Barnes' late penalty making them the first team since Crystal Palace in April 2017 to take three points here.

Last month, Burnley registered their first top-flight win over Arsenal since 1974. Now came a first win at Anfield since the year Bill Shankly retired and the focus on Liverpool's plight should not deflect from the way Sean Dyche keeps on chalking up historic feats with Burnley. A pragmatist may also savour the fact they leapfrogged Brighton to ease their relegation fears.

spot-kick

For Liverpool, though, this was an unwanted slice of history. For the first time since Gérard Houllier's team failed to score in their final five games of the 1999-2000 campaign, they have gone four league matches without a goal. Jürgen Klopp's side have not scored for 438 minutes in the league and taken three points from a possible 15, going from title favourites to a team who could drop out of the top four before Thursday's visit to Tottenham.

Perhaps it was fitting that they were condemned to defeat by Barnes. He earned and scored the penalty, winning his running battle with Fabinho by evading the Brazilian, hooking the ball over Alisson and being brought down by the goalkeeper. Barnes coolly slotted in his spot-kick. But tempers can flare when he is around. He had dual responsibilities, an irritant to Fabinho and Thiago Alcântara alike. He got the game's first booking for an agricultural challenge on the summer signing. He riled Klopp, too.

The night's abiding image of the Liverpool manager came at half-time when he aimed a few choice words and gestured angrily at Dyche as both departed down the tunnel.

defiance

Yet much of Liverpool's frustration stemmed from the defiance of Burnley. Their efforts were unstinting, their organisation matched by their determination.

Divock Origi was given his first start of the season and should have scored when he ran free on goal after pouncing on Ben Mee's error but struck the crossbar.

The hosts pushed to find the net in the second half but ran out of ideas, Nick Pope making a stunning save to deny Mohamed Salah and fellow substitute Roberto Firmino flicking an effort wide.

Jürgen Klopp said before the game he was "not worried" by his side's poor run, but the latest setback means this has now turned into a real problem for the Liverpool manager.

After 19 games, Liverpool are out of form and out of confidence, failing to find the net in their last 440 minutes of top-flight action and awaiting their first league victory of 2021.

They looked to be hitting their stride on 19 December when they took apart Crystal Palace 7-0, but have not won in the league since and scored just a solitary league goal in that time, against relegation strugglers West Brom.

Their drop-off from the same stage last season is extraordinary - after 19 games last term the Reds were 13 points clear at the top with 55 points, but they have 21 fewer points now.

Aside from Pope's save to thwart Salah and stops from Origi and Trent Alexander-Arnold, Liverpool did not look a side who were threatening to find the net.

They had 72%

Alisson shows his frustration after fouling Barnes for the game-winning penalty possession but much of it was slow and ponderous, and although they had spaces out wide and put 30 crosses into the box, the resolute Burnley defenders headed and hacked clear every ball that came in.

Liverpool won 18 of 19 league games at Anfield as they cantered to the title last term.

Burnley were the spoilers on that occasion - earning a 1-1 draw in July 2020 - and they bettered that showing here with another solid and well-organised display.

Captain Mee had 14 clearances and made two tackles, while centre-back partner James Tarkowski contributed five interceptions and won the ball back four times.

They had sniffs on the break but were unable to get the final ball right and while Barnes forced an excellent save out of Alisson, the assistant referee's flag would have ruled it out.

They remain the lowest scorers in the league with just 10 goals - level with bottom side Sheffield United - but their defensive solidity means they will always pose a threat, even to the biggest teams.
