Budget 2021: Tax cuts and benefits boost

■ Chancellor promises to build “a stronger economy for the British people”

Chancellor Rishi Sunak has set out a series of tax cuts and a boost to benefits to help Britons with the cost of living, as he warned of “challenging” months ahead due to the continuing COVID pandemic and rising inflation.

In his budget statement to the House of Commons, Mr Sunak promised plans to build “a stronger economy for the British people” after the coronavirus crisis.

He also acknowledged that households could face a squeeze as the UK economy continues to recover from the impact of COVID.

The chancellor revealed the Office for Budget Responsibility (OBR) expects the CPI rate of inflation to average 4% over the next year.

Promising to provide “help for working families with the cost of living”, Mr Sunak announced he would lower the taper rate of Universal Credit from 63% to 55%.

This means, for every extra £1 someone earns, their Universal Credit will be reduced by 55p rather than 63p.

Mr Sunak claimed the move, which will be implemented no later than 1 December, would see nearly two million families keep, on average, an extra £1,000 a year.

Business tax cuts

But critics said it only went part way to reducing the impact of the chancellor’s previous decision to cut a pandemic-induced £20 per week uplift to welfare payments.

In pre-budget announcements, the Treasury had already confirmed an increase to the national living wage to £9.50 an hour and the unfreezing of public sector pay.

A BIT OF GIVE AND TAKE: Rishi Sunak strikes a familiar pose outside No. 11

In a series of tax changes, Mr Sunak announced a new post-Brexit system of alcohol duties, including a lower rate of tax on draught beer and cider to boost pubs.

The new “more rational” system of levies will also see sparkling wines, such as prosecco, pay the same duty as still wines of equivalent strength.

With petrol prices

having hit a record high across the UK, the chancellor cancelled a planned rise in fuel duty.

And Mr Sunak also sought to support high streets with a new year-long 50% business rates discount for businesses in the retail, hospitality and leisure sectors.

The chancellor confirmed he would slash the surcharge on bank profits from 8% to 3%.

In a move that brought condemnation from environmental groups - and in the week before the COP26 climate change summit in Glasgow - the chancellor revealed a new lower rate of Air Passenger Duty for domestic flights between England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

Tax burden highest since 1950s while spending at 1970s levels

Mr Sunak’s lowering of taxes might help ease the discomfort felt by some Conservative MPs over the manifesto-busting hike in National Insurance contributions announced by the chancellor last month.

In their latest economic and fiscal outlook, the OBR stated that the tax burden was at its highest since the early 1950s.

France to ban UK seafood as fishing dispute heats up

France will next week ban British seafood exports and disrupt the flow of other goods if the UK does not grant a swathe of fishing licences.

French President Emmanuel Macron escalated his feud with Boris Johnson this week, with Elysee spokesperson Gabriel Attal saying "we won't let the British wipe their feet on the Brexit agreement".

Attal said Macron would hit the UK with other retaliatory measures, including switching off power to the Channel Islands, if the row is not resolved.

The UK government said the threats were "disappointing and disproportionate" and that if carried out they "will be met with an appropriate and calibrated response".

France claims the Brexit Withdrawal Agreement gave its fishermen the right to 175 licences to work off the coast of mainland Britain, but the UK has only handed out 100 this year.

sanitary inspections

The French government also says it has the right to 216 licences to fish off the coast of Jersey, but that it has only been given 105.

Attal said France would bring in a ban of British seafood exports next Tuesday if the licences were not granted by then and would also implement "systematic customs and sanitary inspections on imported products arriving in Channel ports, a ban on disembarking seafood products as well and checks on lorries".

"Things are clear and we have said that we won't let the British wipe their feet on the Brexit agreement," Attal said.

"In concrete terms the government has established a list of licences to which we have the right. We have been working with the British and we have given them all the data, all the documents, all the information they request in support of these applications.

"What we see today is that 50 per cent of the licences to which we have the right are missing. This is a situation that is not acceptable and I say clear that our patience has run out."

A UK government spokesperson said: "France's threats are disappointing and disproportionate, and not what we would expect from a close ally and partner.

"The measures being threatened do not appear to be compatible with the Trade and Cooperation Agreement and wider international law, and, if carried through, will be met with an appropriate and calibrated response. We will be relaying our concerns to the EU Commission and French government.

"The UK stands by its commitments in the TCA and has granted 98 per cent of licence applications from EU vessels to fish in our waters. All our decisions have been fully in line with this commitment."

Budget:

Sunak had now raised taxes by more this year than in any single year since Norman Lamont and Ken Clarke's two 1993 budgets in the aftermath of Black Wednesday.

The OBR also said that public spending was set for its largest sustained share of GDP since the late 1970s.

As he revealed the results of his spending review to accompany the budget, Mr Sunak promised "the largest increase this century" in total spending across government departments.

The £150bn increase over this parliament, until 2024, would include "a real terms rise in overall spending for every single department" and also saw Mr Sunak confirm extra money for the NHS, courts, prisons and the probation services, local transport, childcare and parenting programmes, science funding and housing.

The chancellor painted a positive picture of the health of the UK economy as it emerges from the pandemic, in his autumn statement to a packed House of Commons.

Employment is up. Investment is growing. Public services are improving. The public finances are stabilising. And wages are rising," he told MPs.

"Today's Budget delivers a stronger economy for the British people: stronger growth, with the UK recovering faster than our major competitors."

He said unemployment had not hit the levels feared at the height of the pandemic - but inflation was set to rise further, from 3.1% to 4% over the next year.

Much of his Budget had been pre-announced, including an end to the public sector pay freeze and an increase to the National Living Wage from £8.91 per hour to £9.50.

New measures included:

- A real-terms rise in spending for every government department
- A freeze on fuel duty
- Funding per pupil in England's schools is to be restored to 2010 levels over the next three years

• A 5% cut to the extra corporation tax banks have to pay to "maintain competitiveness"

• An extra £2.2bn for courts, prisons and probation services, including £500m to reduce courts backlogs

• A cut in air passenger duty for internal UK flights - and a tax rise on "ultra long haul" flights

• More support for industrial research and development

The teetotal chancellor also announced plans to "radically simplify" alcohol tax, so that it was based purely on the strength of the drink.

Taxes on sparkling wine, draught beer and cider are to be cut, but will rise for stronger drinks such as red wine and "white ciders", from 2023.

He also announced that the planned increase in duty on spirits, wine, cider and beer due to take effect from midnight on Wednesday has been cancelled.

And he scrapped next year's planned increase in business rates in England and promised more frequent revaluations, and tax breaks for firms that make improvements to their properties, from 2023.

In further moves to boost the leisure industry as it emerges from the pandemic, he announced a 50% business rate discount for pubs, cinemas, restaurants, gyms and other venues.

New hearse is quiet as the grave

BRITAIN'S first fully electric hearse is now available to provide ecofriendly funeral services.

Called the Wisper, the silent black, Tesla-based vehicle is 19ft long, going 220 miles on a single charge from renewable sources. It will operate across almost 60 southern England funeral branches run by Southern Co-op. Mark Smith, its chief executive, said: "We are delighted to now be able to offer customers the choice of a more environmentally favourable funeral fleet."

The company's Steve

Pearce added: "There is only one other electric hearse in the UK, much more compact, so this will offer people an elegant alternative."

The eco-conscious Southern Co-op also offers its future clients hybrid limos and hearses.

Royals rally round Queen as health fears grow

■ Family urge 95-year-old to 'take it easy'

The Royal Family have been rallying around Queen Elizabeth amid growing concerns over her health.

The 95-year-old monarch recently spent a night in hospital after undergoing a "preliminary" health check, and her family - including Prince George, 8, Princess Charlotte, 6, and Prince Louis, 3 - have been especially supportive of her in the last few days.

A source shared: "[Duchess] Kate sent the queen a huge bouquet of flowers from her family. George, Charlotte and Louis made 'get well soon' cards."

The monarch and the Duchess have been "talking more than ever since [the] health scare".

And although she's now returned to Windsor Castle, the royals have been urging the Queen to "take it easy".

The insider explained to Us Weekly: "The Queen says she's fine and doing well, but she's said that before, so naturally [the family is] concerned. They'd been urging her to take it easy for months."

The Queen - who is the oldest and longest-serving head of state in the world - recently announced she won't attend the COP26 climate change summit in Glasgow after being advised to rest by her doctors.

The monarch was scheduled to attend the high-profile event in Scotland, but she cancelled her original plans after undergoing preliminary medical checks and will instead address the delegates "via a recorded video message".

Showing her age at last? The Queen was briefly hospitalized this week

Buckingham Palace said in a statement: "Following advice to rest, The Queen has been undertaking light duties at Windsor Castle. Her Majesty has regretfully decided that she will no longer travel to Glasgow to attend the evening reception of COP26 on Monday, 1 November.

"Her Majesty is disappointed not to attend the reception but will deliver an address to the assembled delegates via a recorded video message."

Ecclestone raid: Burglar admits plot to get £26m worth of cash and jewellery stolen from celebrities' homes out of country

A gang member involved in a raid on the mansion of Tamara Ecclestone, in what was the UK's largest ever domestic burglary, has admitted a plot to get £26m worth of cash and jewellery stolen from celebrities' homes out of the country.

Jugoslav Jovanovic, 24, (right) was part of an organised international gang of thieves which also targeted the home of former Chelsea player and manager Frank Lampard.

Ms Ecclestone, the 37-year-old daughter of ex-F1 boss Bernie Ecclestone, was on holiday in Lapland with her husband, art gallery owner Jay Rutland, and their daughter and dog when some £25m worth of jewellery and cash was stolen from their home in Kensington in December 2019.

In the same month, the gang took some £50,000 worth of property from the west London home of Lampard and his TV presenter wife Christine.

The burglars also swiped almost £1m worth of goods from the property of late Leicester City FC owner Vichai Srivaddhanaprabha,

FLYING HIGH: Tamara Ecclestone and her husband Jay Rutland were abroad at the time of the 2019 raid on their London home which had been turned into a shrine by his family after he died in a helicopter crash in 2018.

Jovanovic used the profits from the burglaries to go shopping at Harrods and opened a store loyalty card, the Crown Prosecution Service said.

Police have not recovered the £26m worth of cash and jewellery stolen in the three raids, which is believed to have been taken abroad.

E-cigs on the NHS to save lives?

■ Controversial initiative would be world's first

E-cigarettes could soon be prescribed on the NHS in England to help people stop smoking tobacco products.

The Medicines and Healthcare Products Regulatory Agency is inviting manufacturers to submit products for approval to be prescribed.

It could mean England becomes the first country in the world to prescribe e-cigarettes as a medical product.

There has been much debate over the years about whether e-cigarettes should be used for this purpose.

E-cigarettes are not completely risk-free but they carry a small fraction of the risk of cigarettes.

They do not produce tar or carbon monoxide, two of the most harmful elements in tobacco smoke.

The liquid and vapour contain some potentially harmful chemicals also found in cigarette smoke, but at much lower levels.

A medically licensed e-cigarette would have to pass even more rigorous safety checks than those required for them to be sold commercially.

E-cigarettes are the most popular aid used by smokers trying to quit, with more than one in four smokers relying on them - more than those who use nicotine-replacement therapy products such as patches or gum.

But apart from being used in a number of pilot schemes, they have not been available on prescription.

Stoptober

However, in 2017 the government started promoting them as part of its annual Stoptober campaign.

It is estimated that about 3.6 million people use e-cigarettes - most of them ex-smokers.

Almost 64,000 people died from smoking in England in 2019.

Health Secretary Sajid Javid said e-cigarettes could be an important tool to reduce smoking rates.

"Opening the door to a licensed e-cigarette prescribed on the NHS has the potential to tackle the stark disparities in smoking rates across the country," he said.

But Prof Peter Hajek, director of the tobacco dependence research unit at Queen Mary University of London, said the move sent a positive message that e-cigarettes could help people to quit.

He questioned whether it would have the intended consequences as the costs of applying for approval could be a barrier to many manufacturers.

"Smokers are more likely to benefit from e-cigarettes if they can select flavours, strengths and products that they like, rather than being limited to whatever becomes licensed.

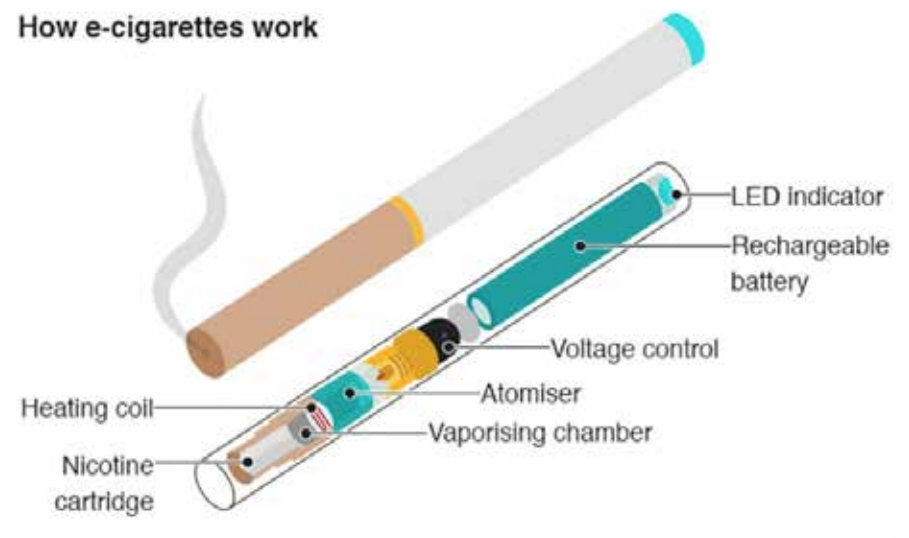

"It also does not seem necessary for the NHS to pay for something that smokers are happy to buy themselves.

"Overall, it would seem easier to just recommend existing products which are well regulated by consumer protection regulations."

E-cigarettes are the most popular aid used by smokers trying to quit, but prescribing them on the NHS remains controversial Pardon on the horizon for Christine Keeler?

■ Model and showgirl was at center of Profumo scandal

Christine Keeler may finally be getting a makeover.

The late model and showgirl, whose affair with Conservative MP John Profumo ended his career and contributed to the later defeat of the Harold MacMillan government, served four and a half months for perjury after giving evidence in the trial of Stephen Ward, the high society osteopath who was known for procuring young women for London aristocratic elite.

But fifty-seven years after she was imprisoned, her son Seymour has just received a letter from the Ministry of Justice (MoJ) asking him to present his dossier of evidence to the Criminal Cases Review Commission (CCRC), marking a significant breakthrough in his long struggle for a pardon.

"The Ministry of Justice could have rejected my appeal for a pardon but they have instead directed me to the CCRC to present our case," says Seymour.

"My mother was vilified by the public and MPs in Parliament, violently attacked, sexually abused and suffered dreadfully as a victim of crime, yet many people scorned her because they simply didn't know the whole story," says Seymour, 49, a business analyst who lives in Longford, Ireland.

Before her imprisonment, Ms. Keeler had had multiple lovers, among them Cmdr. Eugene Ivanov, an attaché in the Soviet Embassy in London, and when that relationship came to light, government figures and MI5, the domestic intelligence agency, feared that her affair with Mr. Profumo might have created a grave security breach.

But details kept coming out—British newspapers called it the "Scandal of the Century"—and he resigned in June 1963.

Since her death in 2017 at the age of 75, Seymour has continued fighting the battle his mother was too exhausted to pursue in her lifetime. The breakthrough came after Seymour watched the BBC drama, The Trial of Christine Keeler, starring James Norton and Emilia Fox. Kate Triggs, a producer on the 2019 series, which featured Sophie Cookson playing Keeler, called him with some startling news.

"Kate told me they were telling the story right up to my mother's release from prison and the drama would talk about the police advising my mother to lie in her court case - the lie that would see her go to prison for six months," says Seymour.

"That hit me like a brick. I had never heard that before. My mother had never said that to me. I checked online. I re-read her account.

"Christine believed she should never have gone to prison, but she did sometimes struggle to argue her case. It was so complicated with lots of characters in the story.

"I remember in 1993 sitting in a TV audience watching her being interviewed by Clive Anderson on a talk show. She said, 'I was the first person to go to prison for not stating who was at the scene of a crime when a crime took place.'"

40% pay cut for Graham Norton

Graham Norton has seen his pay slashed by more than 40 per cent, according to figures released by his production company.

The BBC presenter is a director of So Television, the company which produces his long-running Friday night chat show, which paid him £2.97 million last year.

But this was a drop of more than £2 million compared with the previous year, when he raked in £5.19 million.

The money, for 'presenter fees', 'production fees' and 'royalties', is understood to include his pay from presenting The Graham Norton Show, as well as a large part of his earnings from his other BBC work. But the exact details of where the money has come from

are not disclosed in the documents.

The BBC's pay report, released in the summer, showed that the presenter was paid up to almost £615,000 for his work for the corporation, but this did not include his fee from The Graham Norton Show. His other BBC work includes a Radio 2 show and presenting the Eurovision Song Contest.

So Television was bought by ITV in 2012 but Mr Norton remains a director of the company. He recently admitted that he could not 'justify' his wages so he did not try to. He said: 'Am I still cashing the cheques? Yes, because somehow the market forces have decreed this is my value.'

Brits in LA

Happy Halloween!

Halloween is undoubtably one of LAs biggest nights - for all ages but especially the Peter Pan generation who refuse to grow up. Myself included!

Santa Monica Blvd is usually insane and becomes rambunctious and debauched in all manner of ways. But alas for the last couple of years no more - thank you Covid! However I'm sure most neighborhoods (I'm looking at you Hancock park!) will still allow some sort of trick or treating, social distance style.

Plus the Cat and the Fiddle pub on Highland Avenue are doing a Spooktacular Prix fixe dinner that looks yummy and has an adult costume prize. See the menu, pictured, right.

Universal appeal?

But one thing that has become my highlight over the scary period is to attend Halloween Horror Nights at Universal Studios...but it is not for the faint of heart. My friend Kimry lasted all of 30 minutes before having a full on panic attack and had to leave the park after riding the Harry Potter ride: it's THAT SCARY!

Being considered one of the top haunts in Southern California, each year the pressure is on for the team to deliver top-notch entertainment for rabid fans who are all in for the Halloween Horror Nights experience. Needless to say, the team has done it again, providing plenty for fans to enjoy for that high sticker price. While the general set-up of the maze patterns is standard Halloween Horror Nights, the team managed to create memorable scares with top-notch maze designs, smart Covid-19 protocol-friendly scares via videos, projections, and animatronics, and the like. Some of maze highlights for me this year included:

Universal Monsters: The Bride of Frankenstein Lives. Synopsis: The Bride of Frankenstein is back, stepping out of the shadows and taking her fate into her own bloody hands. Recoil in horror as the late doctor's experiment becomes the experimenter. She'll find a way to bring her mate back to life, and no monster alive or dead can stop her.

Immediately at the top of our maze list and for good reason. The set-up of the scares is such that it not only sets up pivotal moments of the Bride's storyline but also aimed to spook incoming guests. The layout and production design of the maze is top-notch and, as an obsessed fangirl of Mary Shelley's Frankenstein novel, the transitional pages that guests will get to glimpse help provide the necessary clarity to where we're at in the Bride's journey. For fans of Universal's Classic Horror monsters, this will be a treat. Heck, for Universal Studios Hollywood fans that remember Van Helsing; Fortress Dracula and Universal's House of Horrors, this will take you back to those walk-throughs. What brings the entire maze together is the soundtrack created by Slash, which gives the energy in the maze a punchy vibe. All in all, very much enjoyed it and think the maze is a must.

Texas Chainsaw Massacre. Synopsis: You've seen the 1974 horror classic. Now it's your turn to experience it for yourself. Enter the dilapidated Sawyer house and meet Leatherface and his demented family of merciless butchers. Will you make it out in one piece? Or in pieces?

The Texas Chainsaw Massacre maze was a lot of fun. The set design perfectly encapsulated the Sawyer house that we recall from the horror classic, so it was like a mini-adventure through the cannibalistic den of ick. If anyone was wondering which maze this year was going to get the immersive smell element, well, this maze won that lotto. Be warned. There is a mixture of flesh smell, cat urine, and something unexplained when you walk through the second half of the maze. The sound design helped provide further immersion and, at times, I'd argue that you didn't really feel entirely like you were in a maze because the house element was so strong.

The Exorcist. Synopsis: The film that fueled your worst nightmares has returned to Halloween Horror Nights. Enter the most haunting scenes from the film as 12-year-old Regan is possessed by a demon, possibly the devil himself. It's a battle of the wills between good and evil.

This maze and I have a bit of a beef. I remember when it debuted back in 2017 and feeling incredibly let down by the end result. Going into this maze this time, my expectations were restructured to cushion myself from disappointment. However, I was pleasantly surprised. The overall set-up is similar, with long black hallways guiding us to each progression of Regan's possession and subsequent exorcism. This time, though, the production design team made sure to provide plenty of pop-out scares, projections, and the like to break apart that darkness. Because, when the maze first debuted, this was not the case. There were just long hallways that seemed to merely exist to get attendees from Point A and Point B. With all of that said, I applaud the team for using the space better this time around and, while I'm sure COVID-19 protocols greatly reduced what could be done with the actors, the utilization of props, projections, etc., masked a lot of that impact and made the maze work well.

Terror Tram: The Ultimate Purge. Synopsis: The Terror Tram is back. Unfortunately for you, some of the most iconic Purgers from each of the terrifying Purge films have taken over and are running rampant. It's every man and woman for themselves as masked and costumed marauders are out to ambush anyone outside during Purge hours. So climb aboard the Terror Tram at your own risk. Because once you get off the tram it's no rules. No laws. No escape.

The Terror Tram is one of those sections of Halloween Horror Nights that has been mixed over the years. Some years, it's ace. Other years, the scares fail to keep you distracted and you're just left focusing on how long until you reach the tram again. Drawing inspiration from The Purge franchise, with the most recent The Forever Purge joining the ranks, there's plenty of vivid imagery for the team to pull from. Relying on Universal Studio Tour's backlot setpieces like the huge War of the Worlds setpiece and more, finding ways to merge those various properties together to still scream The Purge was a devil's task. But I do think the team succeeded.

Halloween 4: The Return of Michael Myers. Synopsis: Evil has returned. Michael Myers has escaped, and he's on his way back to Haddonfield spreading blood and mayhem in his wake. Your only hope is Dr. Loomis – Myers' fire-scarred former psychiatrist. But will he get there before it's too late? It's clear that this time, Michael Myers is unstoppable.

I'm going to put myself on blast so you don't have to. I have not seen this particular installment of the Halloween franchise. We can tar and feather me later though because, viewing this maze from the perspective of someone who hasn't seen the film, the narrative still holds strong enough to let even the most clueless person understand what's going on. The scares themselves are predictable, with Myers' appearance forever looming at opportune moments. While predictable, the scares are still solid. One way or another, it's definitely going to get you.

Final thoughts: Overall, based on everything, I do believe Halloween Horror Nights is worth a visit if you feel comfortable attending. There are precautions taken with plexiglass in the mazes to keep both actors and attendees safe, though, it is to be noted that there are plenty of open portions of mazes that do not have that feature. In those, the actors wear masks. Taking into account the pricing, I do think if those who purchased General Admission tickets create a solid strategy to tackle everything first, then the price would be worth it. For those who require handicap transport, I do recommend going to Guest Relations and acquiring a pass.

Tickets are available now at HollywoodHalloweenHorrorNights.com.

Branding yourself...a word to the wise

A website is not just useful, it's essential if you run a business in 2021, writes Lisa Marks

I'm going to wager that a good percentage of people reading this Brits in LA newsletter are in some way connected to showbusiness, and if not, you probably run your own business.

So hands up if this is you. Now put your hand down. I can't see you so you now look a bit silly (but hopefully the stretch may have done you some good).

I lived in Hollywood for a long time, covering the entertainment business for global publications, and know that networking is vital - but things have evolved from when I was first in town.

When I moved to LA I had to call my friend from a pay phone at LAX to tell her I'd arrived so she could pick me up.

In 2021, I'm likely to have full on meltdown if my iPhone is out of sight for more than five minutes. Yep, things have changed. Everything and everyone - and everyone's dog - is online.

Now, more than ever, you need an up-to-date online presence and frankly, some people are better at stringing the words together than others.

Fortunately, I'm great at the words which is just as well because I'm now a copywriter - and frankly, my acting is terrible.

But why worry about any of this, I hear you ask?

Well, the first thing anyone sane of mind does these days when they meet anyone is Google them. Don't even try to pretend you don't. Googling someone, whether it's to find out more about them or their business, is the new 'What's your star sign?' If you don't exist online, you simply don't exist. And not existing is lousy for business.

Having a website adds credibility and it's even better if the sentences make sense, clearly express what you do, how you do it and why someone should hire you/buy your product.

It's also a brilliant way of controlling your brand, and branding is everything. As Steve Forbes once said: 'Your brand is the single most important investment you can make in your business.'

And of course it's not just your website that you need to keep an eye on; depending on your business you might want to create email campaigns, sales pages, update your social media bios or write blogs.

If storytelling isn't your thing this probably seems as easy as finding a place in LA that sells orange KitKats (anyone?). We live in a crazy world right now but the one thing you can control is how you communicate your story and your message. So, if you're looking for a copywriter and storyteller whose words are designed to help you sell - and light up the room like Timothée Chalamet's smile - get in touch. Orange KitKats optional...

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF JOE ALLAN NEWMAN

Case No. 21STPB09671

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of JOE ALLAN NEWMAN

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Lance Luther Newman in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Lance Luther Newman be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Dec. 17, 2021 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 67 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

AKA PATRICIA A. NICHOLAS
CASE NO. 21STPB09995

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of PATRICIA ANN NICHOLAS AKA PATRICIA NICHOLAS AKA PATRICIA A. NICHOLAS. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by GEORGIANA T. NICHOLAS in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that GEORGIANA T. NICHOLAS be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

(This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.)

The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 12/06/21 at 8:30AM in Dept. 9 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. bidder shall have no further recourse. This sale shall be subject to a right of redemption. The redemption period within which this property interest may be redeemed ends 90 days after the date of the sale.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property or necessarily a 100% ownership interest in the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off or resolving ownership interest issues, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens as well as the ownership interest(s) and salability of the property that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust or lien on the property. Please Note, the sale may not be final until either 15 or 45 days after the sale date – see Notice to Tenant. Further, no TDUS can be issued until the sale is final. Your bid is subject to being over bid by the Tenant or “eligible bidder” after the sale and if your bid is over bid, your only remedy is to the refund of your actual bid amount without interest or payment of any other costs, expenses or funds of any kind or nature incurred by the initial successful bidder.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER:

The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, lien holder, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866) 266-7512 or visit this Internet Web site www.elitepostandpub.com using the T.S. number assigned to this case. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify sale or postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an “eligible tenant buyer,” you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an “eligible bidder,” you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (866) 266-7512, or visit this internet website www.elitepostandpub.com using the file number assigned to this case TS# 21-21048 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a written bid along with the funds constituting the bid payable in lawful money of the United States, by cash, a cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state so that the trustee receives the bid and the funds no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an “eligible tenant buyer” or “eligible bidder,” you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.

PHIL FODEN: penalty miss for City

Hammers edge City from the spot

Holders Manchester City were knocked out of the Carabao Cup after West Ham United won 5-3 on penalties in front of an ecstatic sell-out crowd at London Stadium.

The fourth-round tie had ended goalless after 90 minutes before Said Benrahma scored the decisive spot-kick.

Phil Foden fired his penalty wide to give the Hammers the advantage in the shootout.

It is the first time since 2016 City, who have won the competition for the past four seasons, have been eliminated.

Pep Guardiola made nine changes to his side but City finished the 90 minutes with substitutes Foden, Gabriel Jesus and Jack Grealish on the pitch as they searched for a winner in normal time.

Despite peppering West Ham's goal with 25 attempts, they could not find a breakthrough as the hosts claimed a famous win to advance to Saturday's quarter-final draw.

"It's been an incredible run," said Guardiola after his hopes of winning the competition for a fifth straight season ended.

"On penalties they were better, congratulations to West Ham and we'll be back next year.

"Unfortunately Phil missed it, but it's experience and when you get this kind of experience, next time he will be better."

Nathan Ake should have headed City ahead in the first half before Ilkay Gundogan missed another chance from an angle.

Hammers keeper Alphonse Areola made a fine save to keep out John Stones' close-range header while West Ham's best chance in normal time fell to Tomas Soucek.

FEELING THE LOVE: Arrizabalaga embraces James

James the hero for Blues

Chelsea progressed to the quarter-finals of the Carabao Cup on Wednesday night as they beat Premier League rivals Southampton on penalties after a 1-1 draw.

Reece James scored the decisive spot-kick for the league leaders after Theo Walcott and Will Smallbone failed to hit the target with their efforts for the Saints.

Both sides rung the changes for the tie, with Chelsea bringing in six different players from the 7-0 Premier League win against Norwich at the weekend while nine players came in for the visitors.

The hosts settled better into their rhythm and took the lead a minute before half time when Kai Havertz headed home his third goal of the season from a corner.

However, Southampton responded two minutes after the restart when Che Adams stabbed in from close range after Kepa spilled Kyle Walker-Peters' shot.

The goals brought the game to life as play then swung quickly from one end to the other.

Fraser Forster prevented the hosts from regaining the lead when he tipped over a James drive following a short free-kick, while substitute Shane Long headed wide for the visitors.

Smallbone almost marked his return to the first team after nine months out following an ACL injury with the winner, but his late header was saved by Kepa, who then produced two brilliant stops in stoppage time to deny Lyancho and Mohammed Salisu.

Those proved crucial as Chelsea came out on top in the penalty shootout to keep themselves firmly in the hunt for silverware this season.

The quarter-final draw is on Saturday at 10:30 BST.

VERY GOOD, EDDIE!

■ Arteta hails Nketiah as young star helps Gunners to Carabao Cup victory

Arsenal boss Mikel Arteta says Eddie Nketiah has a future at the club after he scored to help the Gunners see off Leeds United 2-0 on Tuesday night and reach the Carabao Cup quarter-finals.

Substitute Calum Chambers' header crept over the line seconds after he came off the bench, before former Leeds loanee Nketiah pounced to wrap up the tie.

The forward cleverly flicked the ball over a stranded Illan Meslier and just did enough to nudge it over the line before the visiting keeper could recover.

"I have full belief that he is going to be a top, top player and hopefully at Arsenal," said Arteta, who has helped develop a number of young Arsenal players, including Emile Smith Rowe and Bukayo Saka.

"I'm happy to have him, he is our player, I regard him really highly and from my side I want him to stay."

Leeds had looked the more threatening side until the first goal in an open and entertaining game against a much-changed Arsenal side at Emirates Stadium.

But Arteta's outfit were comfortable after establishing their lead as the visitors became stretched looking for a way back into the game, with Nketiah impressing.

The 22-year-old, who was linked with a move to Crystal Palace in the summer, was making only his second appearance this term and is out of contract at the end of the season.

"We had a situation in the summer that we tried to resolve and we couldn't either way," said Arteta.

"That contract situation is more and more common in football where we are coming from with Covid and a lot of the issues that we have to resolve.

ARTETA ON NKETIAH "I regard him really highly and from my side I want him to stay."

"I have no doubts what he can offer. Whatever you throw at him, he wants more and he demands himself more.

"I'm delighted to see his performance. He totally deserved it. He has other players who play in that position and he has a personal situation but I try to leave that aside."

Arsenal, hoping to win the competition for first time since 1993, will find out their last-eight opponents in Saturday's draw.

AM I BOVVERED? Pogba was sent off in United's weekend humiliation

Pogba set to leave on a free

Manchester United have accepted that Paul Pogba will leave the club on a free transfer at the end of the season, according to reports.

The World Cup winner has entered the final year of his contract and has so far failed to agree a new deal with United.

Real Madrid, Juventus and Paris Saint-Germain have all expressed an interest in signing

Pogba, who was unsuccessful in his attempt to leave Old Trafford in 2019.

But according to ESPN, United's hierarchy have felt for several months that Pogba would not sign a new contract and are now resigned to losing him on a free transfer next summer.

The report claims that United will not be looking to secure a transfer fee for Pogba by selling him in the January window, and are planning to keep the 28-year-old for the remainder of the season.

United are also said to be already making plans for Pogba's departure and will strengthen their midfield options next summer.

When asked about Pogba's future this week, the midfielder's agent Mino Raiola said: "You would have to ask Manchester United about it."
