Prince of Wales takes salute on his mother's behalf while flag-waving crowd enjoys parade and flypast

Four days of festivities for the Queen's platinum jubilee kicked off on Thursday with a display of military pageantry, large crowds and a royal reunion, as the nation marked the 70th anniversary of the longest reigning monarch in British history at Trooping the Colour.

The 96-year-old monarch was seen watching troops returning from the official Trooping of the Colour ceremony.

Earlier, members of the Royal Family gathered in central London to attend the parade marking the Queen's official birthday.

Trooping the Colour kicked off four days of celebrations for the Jubilee.

First to appear were Catherine, Duchess of Cambridge and Camilla, Duchess of Cornwall in Prince Richard, the Duke of Gloucester and a cousin of the Queen, and his wife Birgitte, Duchess of Gloucester rode to the ceremony in another carriage, alongside Princess Anne's husband, Vice Admiral Sir Tim Laurence.

Then Prince Charles, Prince William, and Princess Anne, the Princess Royal, appeared from Buckingham Palace on horseback for their central parts in Trooping the Colour. Prince Charles took the salute from guardsmen and officers at the parade.

Only "working royals" and some of their children were invited to join the Queen. The Duke and Duchess of Cambridge watched the event from a balcony in nearby Horseguards Parade.

Jubilee events coming for this weekend include the Epsom Derby at 12.40GMT, followed at 7.40pm with the

Boris pledges to bring pounds and ounces back to British shops

BORIS Johnson is poised to mark the Queen's platinum jubilee with a post-Brexit pledge to bring back pounds and ounces in shops.

The Prime Minister wants to revive the use of imperial measurements as part of a bonfire of EU regulations.

He is expected to make the announcement later this week.

The EU weights and measures directive came into force in 2000, with traders legally required to use metric units for sale-by-weight or the measure of fresh produce.

It remains legal to price goods in pounds and ounces but they have to Johnson is be displayed alongside to mark the the price in grammes platinum and kilograms.

There won't be a move away from metric units but a consultation will look at where it makes sense to incorporate or switch to imperial measurements.

From Friday, pubs will be able to sell pints in glasses bearing a crown for the first time since the 2004 EU Measuring Instruments Directive required the use of the EUwide CE mark.

Before a looser interpretation of the EU's directive was introduced, some shop owners were prosecuted for failing to adhere to the Brussels stipulations, becoming known as the "metric martyrs".

The UK currently uses a mix of imperial and metric, with speed limits in miles per hour rather than kilometers, and milk and beer bought in pints. Food packaging in supermarkets is mainly labelled in grammes, while most soft drinks and other liquids on shop shelves are sold in litres.

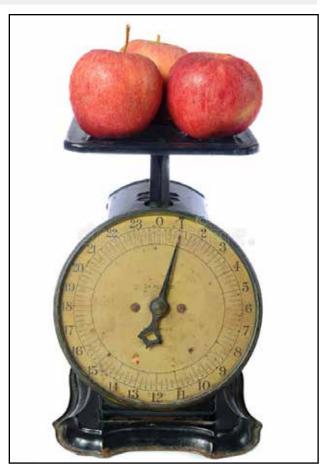

Northern Ireland Secretary Brandon Lewis said that while the policy was "light-hearted", there were people who "want to go back" to using imperial weights and measures.

He told Sky News's Sophy Ridge On Sunday programme: "There are sectors out there – I know people out there in my constituency, the market traders and vegetable traders as well as some of the pubs – which will be pleased to be able to go back to those imperial measurements.

"We're just saying you now have a choice, and now we've left the EU we can do that.

"Yes, it is one of the smaller things we can do since we left the EU, there are other bigger things we can do and want to do, but it is an indication we now have the freedom to make these decisions ourselves."

Brexit Opportunities Minister Jacob Rees-Mogg hailed the move to reintroduce the crown as "a very fitting symbol of how the Queen's realm is being returned to her people now that they have been freed from the bureaucratic Suzerain of Brussels".

Spacey vows to "voluntarily appear" in British court to combat sexual assault claims

Kevin Spacey has said he will "voluntarily appear" in a British court because he is "confident" he can prove his innocence following allegations of multiple sexual assaults.

The American actor, 62, is facing four charges of sexual assault against three men, as well as causing a person to engage in sexual activity without consent, the UK's Crown Prosecution Service said last week.

Rosemary Ainslie, head of the CPS Special Crime Division, added: "The Crown Prosecution Service reminds allconcerned that criminal proceedings against Mr Spacey are active and that he has the right to a fair trial."

In cases such as this, the defendant can choose to return to the UK to face charges. If this does not happen, prosecutors can seek to start extradition proceedings.

In a statement released

to US TV show Good Morning America, Spacey said: "Ivery much appreciate the Crown Service's Prosecution statement in which they carefully reminded the media and the public that I am entitled to a fair trial, and innocent until proven otherwise While I am disappointed with their decision to move forward, I will voluntarily appear in the UK as soon as can be arranged and defend myself against these charges, which I am confident will prove my innocence."

The alleged incidents are said to have taken place in London between March 2005 and August 2008, and in Gloucestershire in April 2013.

The CPS authorised the charges following a review of evidence gathered by the Metropolitan Police in a previous investigation into the actor.

two Oscars

Spacey, has denied all allegations of sexual harassment and assault in the past. The police said the alleged victims are in their 30s and 40s.

Spacey has won two Oscars – the best supporting actor award for his role in the 1995 movie The Usual Suspects, and the best actor gong for 1999's American Beauty.

He was artistic director of The Old Vic theatre in London between 2005 and 2014.

Forgive Andrew, urges Archbishop

THE Archbishop of Canterbury has urged Britons to be more forgiving of Prince Andrew.

The Most Rev Justin Welby also suggested only those with perfect families could judge the rift between Princes Harry and William.

He told ITV News presenter Tom Bradby: "I think we have become a very, very unforgiving society... Now with Prince Andrew, I think we all have to step back a bit. He's seeking to make amends and I think that's a very good thing."

Earlier this year Andrew paid millions in an out-of-court settlement to Virginia Giuffre, who claimed she was forced to sleep with him when she was 17. He was stripped of his military roles and royal patronages.

He has always strenuously denied all the claims.

The Archbishop also addressed the controversial decision by the Queen to have Andrew as her escort at Prince Philip's memorial service in March. Mr Welby said: "At a big public occasion the Queen is fully entitled to have one of her children supporting her."

Asked about the rift between Harry and William, he said: "Of course it's sad when families are struggling, but what family isn't?

"Jesus says, anyone who's never sinned cast the first stone and they all go away... If there's any family where the relationships are perfect, they're entitled to judge, but I'm not going to."

The Archbishop missed Friday's service of thanksgiving for the Queen's reign after catching Covid.

Liverpool call for inquiry after 'violent and shambolic' scenes at Champions League final LIVERPOOL have called for an investigation after French authorities blamed its supporters for "violent and shambolic" scenes at the Champions League final in Paris.

Culture Secretary
Nadine Dorries joined the club's demands to European football's governing body Uefa
following incidents which saw some fans pepper-sprayed by police.

Pregnant women and young families were among those caught up in the chaos, which delayed Saturday's kick-off by 36 minutes.

One fan described running "a gauntlet of thuggery". Others had officers point guns at them after the game, which Liverpool lost 1-0 to Real Madrid.

'narrative of lies'

Youngster Olley Clemente was filmed sobbing as he wiped his eyes. His father, Carl, 38, posted the disturbing video on Twitter.

He wrote: "My nineyear-old suffered the effects of tear gas after the match, a football match! The police were throwing them for fun! I got hit directly! So toxic, defo not a place for kids! Football is finished."

Ian Byrne, Labour MP for Liverpool West Derby, said he had not witnessed such scenes of chaos since the 1989 Hillsborough disaster – in which 97 fans died. As with that tragedy, he said, he was concerned by the "narrative of lies" beginning to build.

Liverpool Mayor Joanne Anderson said she was "disgusted" by the "appalling management and brutal treatment of LFC fans".

And Ms Dorries said footage and accounts from fans were "deeply concerning" and a formal investigation was "in the interests of everyone".

The Foreign Office has urged a thorough investigation with French authorities.

It came after a damning tweet from France's interior minister accused Liverpool fans of causing the violence outside the Stade de France, Gerald Darmanin claimed Liverpool fans were to blame for the disorder, which led to 68 arrests and 174 injuries. He said: "Thousands of British 'supporters' without tickets or with counterfeit tickets forced entry and sometimes assaulted the stewards."

Uefa first blamed the late arrival of fans before claiming the Liverpool end was blocked by thousands of fans with "fake tickets" which did not work in the turnstiles.

However, Liverpool defender Andy Robertson, 28, said the match had "not been well organised", adding many of the players' families and friends were affected.

'shambles'

He said one of his friends was told his ticket was a fake. "I assure you it wasn't. It was a shambles really," he added.

Supporter Greg Scott, who missed some of the match due to the mayhem, said: "I've travelled to many stadiums around Europe. But never have I seen anything like this, complete lack of control from the police.

"Their excuses stink. It's nothing to do with the fans, the club, it's Uefa and the French police. People could have been seriously hurt, we were piled in together for hours in the heat queuing up, and then we had no idea where to go next.

"French police were using tear gas on a calm crowd like it was nothing, those with tickets were kept outside, I didn't see most of the first half."

Liverpool FC later released a statement calling for a thorough investigation into events outside the ground. They said they were "hugely disappointed" by the stadium entry issues.

In a statement, Merseyside Police said the behaviour of "the vast majority of fans" had been "exemplary".

Jilted lover created fake Instagram profiles to take revenge on ex

A BOURNEMOUTH MAN who never forgave his school sweetheart for jilting him posed as her online years later to proposition strangers and tout porn videos.

Thomas Berry, 26, said he "never forgave" Ellie Steele for breaking up with him when they were 16.

When she got a job at nonleague Dorchester Town FC, where Steele was a football coach and social media officer, he set about getting revenge.

He stole her identity to set up dozens of Instagram profiles in her name. Posing as her, he sent male strangers suggestive messages and promised to send naked pictures.

He also made it appear that Ms Steele made pornography videos for the OnlyFans site.

Ms Steele, 26, only discovered the fake accounts when she got messages de-manding the images she had apparently promised. She reported the accounts to Instagram but Berry deactivated them before he could be caught – only to launch new ones.

Berry, of Poundbury, Dorchester, Dorset, admitted stalking Ms Steele between May and October last year.

He dodged jail and was only given a fiveyear restraining order by Poole magistrates despite prosecutors asking it be life-long.

Berry was also ordered to pay his victim £400 compensation.

Although the charge covered a period of five months, Ms Steele said the vendetta lasted six years.

In her statement to the court, she said "I have stopped using social media. I don't trust anyone. I have lost all of my confidence." She has demanded that social platforms do more to shut downfake accounts.

Sir Andy attacks US gun laws following Texas massacre

SIR Andy Murray attacked US gun laws this week following the Texas school massacre – saying a survivor's account felt very similar to his own experience in the 1996 Dunblane massacre in Scotland.

The 35-year-old former Wimbledon champion said the deaths of 19 children and two teachers in the shooting had left him "angry" and "incredibly upset".

He said: "I think there's been over 200 mass shootings in America this year and nothing changes.

"I can't understand that.
"You can't keep approaching the problem by having more guns in the country. I don't see how that solves it."

The shooting at Robb Elementary in Uvalde on May 24 provoked more calls for gun control measures in the US. Senior Republicans have already expressed their opposition to tighter rules on gun ownership, such as background checks.

Murray believes that changes need to happen. "My feeling is that surely at some stage you do something different," the dad of four told the BBC.

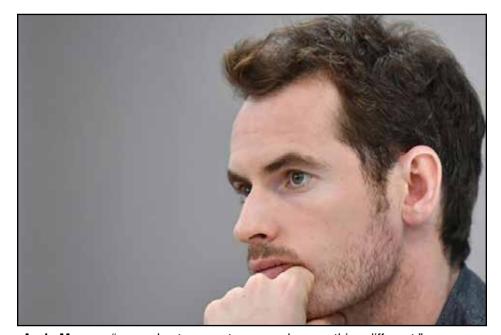

He added: "I heard something on the radio and it was a child from that school.

"i don't get it"

"I experienced a similar thing at Dunblane...a teacher coming out and waving at all of the children, telling them to go and hide under tables.

"And it was a kid telling exactly the same story about how she survived it.

"They were saying that they go through these drills, as children at seven, eight years old.

Andy Murray: "....surely at some stage you do something different."

"How? How is it normal that children should be having to go through drills, in case someone comes into a school with a gun? I don't get it – it's really, really upsetting and I hope they make some changes."

Murray was an eight year old at Dunblane Primary School near Stirling in March 1996 when 16 children and a teacher were murdered by gunman Thomas Hamilton.

In the athlete's 2019 documentary

Resurfacing, he told how his family used to give lifts to Hamilton.

He explained: "We knew the guy, we went to his kids' club, he had been in our car, we had driven and dropped him off at train stations and things."

Two million Brits now believed to be suffering from Long Covid

TWO million people are now thought to be suffering from long Covid in the UK – including 826,000 who have had symptoms for at least a year.

Latest estimates from the Office for National Statistics suggest 3.1 per cent of the population are affected by problems lasting more than four weeks after infection.

Some 376,000 people who caught coronavirus around the start of the pandemic were thought to have had symptoms lasting at least two years – and 1.4 million for at least three months.

The figures were based on self-reporting by almost 300,000 people who completed an ONS survey.

The commonest symptoms include fatigue, shortness of breath, cough and muscle ache.

Sarah Woolnough, CEO of charityAsthma + Lung UK, called the total a "grim milestone" and warned there was a lack of treatments and support, plus long wait times for specialist care for the condition – which can affect health, work and relationships.

She said: "The government must invest more to find new treatments."

Estimates for long Covid in the UK have risen sharply recently. It is likely to reflect the impact of the Omicron variant, which saw record levels of infection across the country in spring.

One in five of those suffering said the ability to undertake dayto-day activities had been "limited a lot" by Long Covid: symptoms include fatigue, shortness of breath, cough and muscle ache lingering symptoms.

Prevalence was highest among women, people aged 35 to 49, those in deprived areas, people with underlying health conditions and those working in teaching or he alth care.

Ondine Sherwood, of the Long Covid SOS campaign, said: "There are now no measures in place to prevent infection. Anyone who gets Covid is vulnerable to developing long Covid, irrespective of their age or health."

Covid-19 infections in the UK have dropped to their lowest level for eight months, according to the ONS survey.

Life "too interesting to die" says Richards as Stones kick off European tour

SIX decades with the Rolling Stones have made life "too interesting to die" for hellraiser Keith Richards, ensuring he will not fade away.

The guitarist admits he is sometimes surprised he survived the legendary drug excesses of his youth.

But the 78-year-old added: "Life's just too interesting to die. Anything I wanted to do had to be done—I couldn't slack off. And hey, there was just an awful lot of cocaine involved."

Keith was speaking about life on the road with bandmates Ronnie Wood, 75, and Mick Jagger, also 78, ahead of the first date in their European tour SIXTY which kicked off in Madrid Tuesday night. He reckons their bond has kept them rolling on for so many years.

Keith said: "That's a hell of a long time. I think the most important thing is the people in the band want to stay together. That helps! We had our ups and downs, of course. But in the end we always noticed we are more creative together. And, of course, across these – my God, six decades! – you have got used to each other."

Keith, who has five children and been married to US model Patti Hansen for 39 years, joked: "It's kind of like marriage in a way. Well, except for that not-so-minor thing that a husband and wife share!"

He has missed being on the road, since the Stones' last tour two years ago. He said: "Our fans seem like old friends to me. That's why I'm so looking forward to the European tour."

The Stones looked thrilled to be back on stage at Wanda Metropolitano stadium in Madrid, with Steve Jordan replacing drummer Charlie Watts, who died last year aged 80.

Bandmater Ronnie Wood celebrated his 75th birthday at the gig after having a tea party with his family earlier in the day. He said he feels "reborn" after giving up booze and drugs and bringing up twin girls.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 16, 2022 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 29 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

THERE'S only one real story in Britain this week and that of course is the Platinum Jubilee of our beloved Queen Elizabeth II.

Many Brits in LA members are will also celebrating this historic event. I saw that a few people in our Facebook group were going to have a good old fashioned street party. Whilst we are not hosting an official event we know that many of the local British businesses are planning on marking this special occasion.

Olde Ye Kings Head in Santa Monica has planned four days of special events, including Jubilee afternoon tea, a Beatles tribute band and a pub party on their patio followed by British themed Karaoke.

Founding Sex Pistol Glen Matlock played with his old mate Gary Twinn and The Long Shadows at The Market Tavern (at the Farmers Market at The Grove) on Friday after press time - one can only assume they performed "God Save the Queen' although "Anarchy in the U.K." seems rather fitting too. Or pop along on Sunday for a bit of Karaoke and one of the best Sunday Roasts in town

The Robin Hood British Pub in Burbank will be serving a Jubilee afternoon tea through till June 6 (robinhoodbritishpub. com). And the Yorkshire Square Brewery in Torrance will be hosting a free event on Saturday June 4th with live music, food specials Platinum including Pudding - the dessert created by Fortnum and Mason especially for the Queen's Jubilee.

a sad loss this week with the death of the lovely May Routh this week. A wonderful Emmynominated costume designer, May (above) made her cinematic debut along with David Bowie on the set of The Man Who Fell to Earth in May was a long time missed.

(BABC) will be cohosting a Platinum Jubilee event with Britweek in July at the Fairmont Miramar Hotel and Bungalows in Santa Monica - visit this link for details (babcla. org).

For those of you who would rather stay home, you can still join in from afar and watch the UK celebrations on the telly courtesy of ABC, who will be streaming most of it live - Although I doubt they will be showing the episode of Eastenders during which the Prince of Wales and Camilla, Duchess of Cornwall make an appearance. (for those of you who have access to iPlayer it airs June 2nd on BBC 1).

The phenomenon that is June Gloom may be responsible for our grey mornings but it will never put a damper on the celebrations Los Angeles has planned for this month.

After a bit of a break, LA Pride is back - and it's been split into a pair of parades and festivals in both Hollywood and West Hollywood.Each one takes over a separate weekend in June, so you thankfully won't have to choose one over the other.

The LA Pride long-Parade, running LGBTQ+ event produced by Christopher Street West that traces its history back to the 1970s, has moved east into Hollywood as of 2022 and will also host a ticketed festival on June 11th at L.A. State Historic Park. Christina Aguilera is headlining!

The Hollywood parade is on June 12th and is a free event – visit lapride. org for details.

Meanwhile, back at the event's familiar location from the past decades, West Hollywood will stage its own inclusive festival, WeHo Pride, complete with a parade and a ticketed festival at West Hollywood Park from June 3-5. British artists Jessie J and Years & Years will be performing at the ticketed event OUTLOUD: Voices. Visit pride.weho. org for more details.

Craig and I are planning to bring our Breakfast Club back very soon, so watch this space for details.

Gary Twinn performed with Glen Matlock at the Market Tavern on Friday night

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Your boss Mars is leaving watery Cancer soon and moving into his cousin Leo so it's time to get back to life with a vengeance. Whatever it is you are looking forward to, be patient.

TAURUS: Relationships of all kinds have taken a turn for the better. So while you have been planning certain things don't be surprised if you change your mind now.

GEMINI: You are ready to tackle life in all its glory again, however you will have to wait a little longer. Your boss Mercury has turned backward and plans are on hold for a couple of weeks. Happy Birthday!

CANCER: You have had plenty of time to complete anything in your home by now so as Mercury is slowing down get ready to stop. Now you really can do things at your leisure.

LEO: You could be planning a trip in the next few weeks. Just be patient as Mars is moving into your life for a couple of months and can help your plans later.

VIRGO: Stress is no stranger in your life occasionally but it is probably more of a problem right now. This is due to your boss Mercury moving backwards and you need to prepare for downtime.

LIBRA: Even though Mercury is in your cousin Gemini's sign moving backwards you can achieve more in the next couple of weeks than you expect. Get ready to move quickly when the time is right.

SCORPIO: Now that your boss is getting ready to move into Leo your power area you can start planning a new way to plan your expected changes. You will find its so much easier now. Your finances should also improve.

SAGITTARIUS: You may feel that life does not always have your highest good in mind. Now your boss Jupiter is in Pisces you will be able to think in a more insightful and positive way.

CAPRICORN: With your boss Saturn going backwards you could be forgiven for feeling out of control sometimes. Just remember you are not alone. Look at what you can do and let the rest go.

AQUARIUS: This is your time to plan your next steps forward so get going on releasing anything or any body who could be a negative source. While Jupiter is visiting your money house now it's good news. PISCES: Like many others, you have been slowly coming to terms with the current situation and are fed up laying low. This is about to change much for the better. Jupiter is in your life, so good news.

A Majestic Trivia Night

The Queen's Jubilee was celebrated in style at a special edition of Brits in LA Pub Quiz that featured patriotic singalongs, royal trivia questions and a toast to Her Majesty.

Occupying the throne at the end of Tuesday night's cut and thrust were winning team Ray Liotta's Good Fellas.

Quizmaster Sandro Monetti will be back with another royally entertaining trivia night at the Market Tavern next Tuesday, June 7, starts 7.30 sharp. All are welcome to join the fun.

Now featuring delicious, traditional handmade pies and pasties from Deli-SA. Chicken curry pasties, Cornish pasties, Steak & Kidney...and much more

Rudi's Real deal

Antonio Rudiger has completed his move to Real Madrid from Chelsea on a free transfer, signing a four-year deal.

Germany international, 29, has joined the new Spanish and European champions after rejecting Chelsea attempts to extend his contract.

Rudiger moved to Chelsea for an initial fee of £29m from Roma in 2017.

made appearances and scored 12 goals for the Blues, winning the FA Cup, Champions League, Europa League, Uefa Super Cup and Club World Cup.

described Chelsea Rudiger as "as one of the most passionate characters to represent the club in recent memory".

Rudiger, who also spoke to Bayern Munich, was offered a contract worth more than £200,000/week to stay at Chelsea.

"We gave everything and now we enter a situation where we can't fight any more because of the sanctions and now Toni will leave," Chelsea manager Thomas Tuchel said in April.

Tuchel was referring to the restrictions on the club resulting from the UK government's sanctioning of former owner Roman Abramovich in March, following Russia's invasion of Ukraine. Abramovich has denied the government's assertion that he has strong links Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Abramovich put club up for sale and a consortium led by American investor Todd Boehly and private equity firm Clearlake Capital completed £4.25bn takeover in late Chelsea are also set to lose Danish centre-back Andreas Christensen this summer to Barcelona on a free transfer, but captain Cesar Azpilicueta is expected to stay after a one-year extension was triggered in his contract earlier this season.

Forest return to the big time

Nottingham Forest ended their 23-year wait for Premier League football with a narrow win over Huddersfield Town in the Championship playoff final at Wembley - a victory worth about £170m.

Levi Colwill's own goal from James Garner's cross was the decisive moment.

Town improved after the break but struggled to create a big chance.

Their best opportunity Harry Toffolo booked for diving in the area by referee Jon Moss, officiating for the final time before retiring, and, although replays suggested Jack Colback had made some contact, it was not overturned by VAR.

pressure to spark scenes of jubilation and end their two-decade exile from the Premier League.

Forest's promotion in their first ever play-off final comes at the end of a season which started disastrously under thenmanager Hughton.

The two-time European Cup winners took one point from their first seven games - their worst start to a season in 108 years - and when Hughton was sacked in September it looked like the team was likely to spend the campaign battling against relegation.

However, Cooper, who had taken Swansea to the play-offs in his two seasons in south Wales, quickly turned the ship around and they eventually moved into the top six for the first time this season on 9 February.

There were also impressive home FA Cup wins over Arsenal and local rivals Leicester City before being narrowly beaten by eventual winners Liverpool in the quarter-finals.

Ukraine pride breaks Scottish hearts

On an emotional night at Hampden, Ukraine overpower hosts to earn World Cup play off final berth

A heroic Ukraine produced a performance of spirit, endeavour and courage Wednesday night to stun Scotland 3-1 and earn a historic World Cup play-off final against Wales.

With their country enshrouded in trauma amid the ongoing war with Russia, a team hauled together shone brightly at a sundrenched Hampden.

Andriy Yarmolenko and Roman Yaremchuk struck either side of half-time, before Callum McGregor gave Scotland hope late on. But Artem Dovbyk sealed a Qatar 2022 showdown in Cardiff on Sunday with the last kick of the ball.

While images of fans watching on in wartorn Ukraine circulated, 3,500 fans bedecked in light blue and yellow - including 65 orphans invited by the Scottish FA - celebrated wildly in Glasgow on a night none will forget.

It was an evening which started with the lyrics of the Ukrainian national anthem striking an emotional chord at a charged Hampden.

Moments after their side strode on to the pitch draped in flags of their homeland, the words which were belted out took on a whole new significance. "The glory and freedom of Ukraine has not yet perished. Luck will still smile on us brother-Ukrainians."

As it transpired, luck had little to do with their team's triumph. In perhaps their finest hour, they were peerless.

The visitors ruthlessly exposed Scotland's vulnerabilities, which were made even more pronounced by the absence of Arsenal's Kieran Tierney. The opener on 33 minutes articulated that perfectly. Yarmolenko timed his run on to a through ball to perfection as Scotland's high line failed. It was just him and the whites of Craig Gordon's eyes. Those eyes soon gazed up as the ball floated sublimely over the goalkeeper's head and into the back of the net.

Steve Clarke shuffled his pack at half-time, throwing on Ryan Christie. But just four minutes after the restart, Scotland were again ripped open with ease.

Oleksandr Karavaev was given way too much time to fire in another cross and Yaremchuk dealt with Aaron Hickey's attention without much trouble, his arching header back across goal and looping in.

The hosts threatened to get back in the game

Manchester City's defender Oleksandr Zinchenko delivered a commanding performance on Wednesday in Glasgow but it never looked like being their night after John McGinn, gifted a header from six yards after Georgiy Bushchan flapped at a cross, headed wide with the goal at his mercy.

With 11 minutes left Clarke's men were gifted a lifeline. McGregor's effort was again not dealt with by an increasingly rattled Bushchan, who palmed the ball into the air and just over the line before it was hacked clear. Hampden erupted in a primal roar, but as Scotland pushed, they cont. on page 19, col. 1

Lester Piggott dies at 86

'The Long Fellow' enjoyed a long and glittering career in British racing LEGENDARY jockey Lester Piggott died this week at the age of 86.

From his first victory aged 12 to his last nearly 50 years later, Piggott was a ruthless winner who became a racing icon.

Tall for a rider in flat racing, he spent much of his career on a punishing diet to keep jockey his weight down but had an insatiable appetite for finishing first.

A f f e c t i o n a t e l y nicknamed the Long Fellow and regarded as one of the all-time great jockeys, it was not just the 4,493 victories which marked him out.

The partially-deaf rider had a quiet charisma of his own, a fierce determination and a life story which took in prison and one of sport's most remarkable comebacks.

Piggott was an angelic-looking schoolboy when he rode his first winner, The Chase, at Haydock in 1948, weighing less than five stone and standing cont. on page 19, col. 3
