Queen 'humbled' and 'deeply touched'

Monarch gives heartfelt thanks to nation after four days of Platinum Jubilee celebrations

THE Queen sent a very personal message of thanks to the nation this week after a surprise appearance on the Buckingham Palace balcony on Sunday night.

Her Majesty, clearly overwhelmed by the public show of affection towards her, responded by declaring how "humbled" and "deeply touched" she feels towards the millions who have celebrated her Platinum Jubilee.

Smiling broadly and flanked by her heirs in her first appearance since Thursday, the Queen was determined to acknowledge the adulation shown towards her during the four days of festivities, which attracted a viewing audience of a billion across the globe.

Her Majesty added "my heart has been with you all", saying that she had felt the kindness, joy and kinship shown to her by everyone.

Her message came after she appeared on the balcony for the climax of the Jubilee Pageant, which told the story of her record-breaking 70-year reign.

The Queen has been held back by pain and "episodic" mobility problems that have limited her time in the spotlight to little more than half an hour in total during the four-day bank holiday weekend.

But she wanted everyone to know she has been there in spirit with millions throughout that time.

'happy celebrations'

In her message last night, she said: "I have been humbled and deeply touched that so many people have taken to the streets to celebrate my Platinum Jubilee.

"While I may not have attended every event in person, my heart has been with you all. I thank you most sincerely for your good wishes and for the part you have all played in these happy celebrations."

Sunday marked her third public appearance

GRAND FINALE: Her Majesty delighted the crowd by appearing on the balcony of Buckingham Palace on Sunday night, with Prince Charles, Prince George, Princess Charlotte and the Duke of Cambridge of the long weekend, after her balcony outing on Thursday and lighting of the jubilee beacon later that night at Windsor Castle. And she was greeted with scenes of jubilation by crowds outside the palace at the finale of the carnival-style pageant that told the story of her life.

Earlier in the day, aides had said an appearance by the monarch had not been ruled out, but was unlikely. But then her car was spotted in west London and the cat was out of the bag. A senior royal source, pointing to her surprise appearance on film with Paddington at the start of the Platinum Party at the Palace concert on Saturday night, said: "As you saw last night, she likes to spring the odd surprise."

At 4.30pm the Union Flag above the palace was lowered and quickly replaced by the royal standard. Half an hour later, the Queen, in a vibrant green Stewart Parvin wool dress, adorned by a bow brooch, and a Rachel Trevor-Morgan hat, stood with a stick on the balcony surrounded by "working royals" and the children.

Beside her were Prince Charles, Camilla and the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge, and Prince George, eight, Princess Charlotte, seven, and Prince Louis, four.

Smiling to acknowledge the crowd, the nation's matriarch listened as a choir of national treasures took part in a mass rendition of God Save The Queen for the star-studded pageant.

The BBC said that its Saturday night concert, the Platinum Party at the Palace, attracted a peak year-high of 13.4 million viewers and an average audience of 11.2 million.

A proud nation celebrates - with a nice cuppa tea

■ From Land's End to John O'Groats, millions take to the streets to celebrate 70 glorious years

BRITAIN did what it does best during an historic Jubilee weekend – by uniting over a cuppa and slice of cake.

A record 12 million people – a fifth of the population – saluted the Queen and their communities by holding spectacular Jubilee lunches, teas and street parties.

Nation wide celebrations were led by Prince Charles and his wife Camilla, Duchess of Cornwall, who were guests of honour at The Big Jubilee Lunch at The Oval in south London.

The cricket ground's hallowed turf became a giant picnic arena, awash with an eye-watering array of cakes, treats and sandwiches.

After cutting a massive multi-tiered tower of iced sponge cake, Camilla, who is patron of the Big Lunch – the UK's largest annual get-together for neighbours – gave a toast in honour of the Queen's 70 years on

Boris survives No Confidence vote - but only barely

■ Embattled PM wins vote 211-148 and vows to move forward - but narrow margin of victory leaves him dangerously weakened

BRUISED but outwardly resolute, Boris Johnson has vowed to “deliver for Britain” after surviving a crunch confidence vote in his Tory leadership.

Conservative MPs voted by 211-148 to back the Prime Minister in the ballot triggered by rebels on Monday.

He insisted the vote gave him a “clean slate” and a strengthened mandate to carry on in Downing Street.

But allies of the Prime Minister were disappointed that a whopping 41 per cent of Tory MPs registered no confidence in his leadership of the party in the ballot.

In typically ebullient fashion, Mr Johnson declared himself “very pleased” with the result, pointing out he had won a bigger percentage of support among MPs than when first elected Tory leader in 2019.

The Prime Minister claimed the result was a “clean slate to get back to delivering for the country”.

He said the speculation about his leadership was now “done and dusted”, adding: “I now want to put this behind me so we can deliver for Britain.”

And in a television interview he said: “This was a very good result for politics and the country. It’s a convincing result and a decisive result.

“What it means is that as a Government we can move on and focus on the stuff that really matters to people.” He added: “I am grateful to colleagues for the support they’ve given me and of course, I understand that what we need to do now is come together as a government and as a party.

tax cutting agenda

“That is exactly what we can now do. And what this gives us is the opportunity to do our job, which is to focus on the stuff that I think the public actually want us to be talking about.

Mr Johnson insisted he can lead the party to another general election triumph, telling Tories: “The best is yet to come.”

The PM is now expected to come out fighting, with measures to widen home ownership planned for later this week and a major Plan for Growth focus on tax cuts to be unveiled next week.

But many were disappointed by the margin of the victory, with 59 per cent supporting him and 41 per cent signalling no confidence in his Conservative leadership.

‘clear win’

He was supported by a smaller proportion of MPs than Theresa May in a 2018 confidence vote months before she was finally forced out. But Cabinet ministers insisted the vote was a victory that should end the speculation about his future.

Foreign Secretary Liz Truss tweeted: “Pleased that colleagues have backed the Prime Minister.

“I support him 100 per

THE INCREDIBLE SHRINKING PM: Johnson is fronting it out - for now cent. Now’s the time to get on with the job.”

Foreign Office Minister James Cleverly, a leading supporter of the PM, said: “People have got to recognise they didn’t get the vote of no confidence through and what they should now do is say we respect the democratic decision of the party and we are going to support the Prime Minister getting on with his job.”

Mr Cleverly said it was a “clear win” and suggested no other candidate would be able to secure the support of 60 per cent of MPs.

The ballot was triggered after more than 54 Tory MPs contacted senior party official Graham Brady to call for the vote.

Announcing the results in a Commons committee room Monday night, Sir Graham Brady said: “I can report as returning officer that 359 ballots were cast, no spoilt ballots, that the vote in favour of having confidence in Boris Johnson as leader was 211 votes and a vote against was 148 votes.

“And, therefore, I can announce that the parliamentary party does have confidence in Boris Johnson.”

Johnson’s astonishing reversal of fortune

COMMENTARY

The scale of the reversal in Boris Johnson’s political fortunes has been astonishing.

Little more than two years ago he won a historic victory in the General Election of December 2019 with an 80 seat majority.

To his supporters, he then went on to smash the Brexit logjam, secure a far-reaching deal with the EU and deliver British independence.

They will also laud his successful response to the Covid pandemic, where he not only presided over a world-beating vaccine programme but also struck a pragmatic approach to lockdown, balancing the needs of health protection with those of the economy.

Such was the breadth of his appeal that he seemed to be presiding over a fundamental realignment of British politics, as he dominated the Westminster landscape and seized vast swathes of traditional Labour territory.

But now, as the confidence vote makes clear, many of his own MPs – a large number of whom owe their seats to his leadership – regard him as electoral poison.

They point to recent opinion polls, which show both a consistent Labour lead and record disapproval ratings for the Prime Minister.

One memorandum circulated on the Jubilee weekend by the rebels warned that, without a change at the top, around 160 Tory MPs – almost half the Parliamentary party – are likely to be defeated at the next election.

A prime element in this mood of growing disillusion and panic has been the fallout from the Partygate scandal which led to police fines and severe official condemnation in the report of the investigation by top civil servant Sue Gray.

The fiasco could hardly have been more damaging to the Prime Minister.

At a time of national emergency, the hypocrisy of failing to abide by the Government’s own lockdown rules was bad enough. But perhaps even worse was the exposure of a culture of irresponsibility, arrogance, chaos and entitlement in Downing Street, where cleaning and security staff were treated with disdain.

Other factors have played their part, like the cost of living crisis, which has been stoked by soaring inflation and energy bills.

Many on the Tory benches feel that Johnson’s Government has worsened the problems by the adoption of misguided economic policies – like extravagant spending, tax hikes and green levies. Indeed, the tax burden is now at its highest level since the 1960s, feeding the idea the Prime Minister has betrayed traditional Conservatism.

It is a charge that is reinforced by the reluctance to challenge the woke agenda, or tackle the housing crisis or effectively combat crime or establish proper border controls, with immigration currently running at over one million new arrivals a year.

For his internal enemies, these failures outweigh his achievements, such as his international leadership on the Ukrainian war or his provision of record funding for the NHS.

Bent on his removal, such opponents are willing to plunge the Tories into a prolonged civil war, The biggest beneficiaries of this discord are Labour, the Liberal Democrats and the SNP, for it is an iron rule of British politics that voters despise badly divided parties.

That is what the Tories have become. They are making a hash of governing the country because they are increasingly ungovernable.

Runners and Riders... if Boris were to fall

Boris Johnson may have batted back this week's No Confidence vote, but the size of the revolt against him has left many in the party doubting his long-term future as leader.

Not surprisingly, the bookies are already issuing odds and taking bets on the top Tories most likely to replace Johnson if he does topple from the top of what one of the most famous of all Conservative Prime Ministers - Benjamin Disraeli - famously called the 'greasy pole'. Here's a look at the Tory party's top runners and riders:

Jeremy Hunt - Since losing to Boris Johnson in the 2019 leadership battle, Mr Hunt has been a thorn in the PM's side. He has been publicly critical of the handling of the pandemic and has repeatedly refused to rule out a tilt for the top job. Mr Hunt, 55, holds the record as the longest-serving health secretary. He is also one of Britain's richest politicians after selling an educational business, with his stake valued at £14million. 4/1

Tom Tugendhat - The chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee announced in January that he would stand for leader if Mr Johnson is forced out. Mr Tugendhat, 48, previously served in the British Army and as military assistant to the Chief of the Defence Staff. 4/1

Liz Truss - The Foreign Secretary, 46, is popular with the Conservative Party's grassroots and has embraced comparisons to her hero Margaret Thatcher. A Remain voter, she was quick to accept the result and championed Britain's future outside the EU. 7/1

Penny Mordaunt - The Trade Minister has been tipped as a candidate who could heal the party's bitter divisions. A leading Brexiteer, Ms Mordaunt supported Jeremy Hunt in the 2019 campaign and lost her job as Defence Secretary as a result when Mr Johnson won the race. 7/1

Rishi Sunak - Once the clear favourite to succeed the PM, the Chancellor's popularity tumbled after a row about his family's tax affairs. The former hedge fund manager, 42, made a swift rise to the Cabinet just five years after entering Parliament. 15/2

Ben Wallace - The Defence Secretary, 52, has won admirers across the House of Commons for his straightforward approach over the response to Russia's invasion of Ukraine. He had previously served in the Scots Guards. 8/1

Nadhim Zahawi - The Education Secretary, 55, is tipped as a potential unifying candidate and has built a reputation as a safe pair of hands. Born in Iraq to a Kurdish family, he came to the UK aged just nine when his parents fled the regime of Saddam Hussein. 12/1

Priti Patel - The Home Secretary, 50, is one of the party's most high-profile figures and is unapologetic about her hardline approach to tackling crime. 33/1

Hollywood star Johnny Depp leaves "large tip" after running up £50,000 tab at Brum curry house

HOLLYWOOD star Johnny Depp left a "large tip" after running up a £50,000 bill when he booked out a curry restaurant in Birmingham.

It was another in the actor's series of surprise appearances in cities across the UK as he appears alongside rock legend Jeff Beck on tour.

The 58-year-old dined out at Varanasi in the city's Broad Street but he has also been seen in Manchester, Newcastle and Sheffield in recent weeks.

It follows the Pirates of the Caribbean star's successful defamation lawsuit against former wife Amber Heard last week.

Depp was awarded £8.2million in damages but missed the conclusion after joining Mr Beck in the UK.

The actor booked out Varanasi for Sunday evening's curry feast washed down with champagne. It included a three-course dinner of chicken tikka shashlik, vegetable samosas and a king prawn starter for Depp, Beck and about two dozen members of their crew.

Meanwhile, Depp was not the only big name from the US enjoying a meal in Britain.

Former US Secretary of State Hillary Clinton was in South Shields, Tyne and Wear, speaking as a guest of ex-Labour MP David Miliband, who organizes an annual lecture in his former constituency. They went to eat at Colmans, a fish and chips institution. Mrs Clinton posed for photos with owner Richard Ord junior said: "It was surreal but she was so down to earth."

Flogging paper for the homeless no big issue for Prince William

The Duke of Cambridge has been spotted in central London quietly helping to sell Big Issue magazines.

Retired Met Police Ch Supt Matthew Gardner shared photos of Prince William on Rochester Row, in Westminster, on his social media account.

He said his brother-in-law, Richard Hannant, had seen what he thought was a celebrity and took a distanced photo.

Prince William then crossed the road and spoke to Mr Hannant while wearing the iconic Big Issue uniform.

The magazine is sold by homeless people, long-term unemployed people, and those who need money to avoid getting into debt, the Big Issue says.

Vendors are given five free magazines, which are then sold to the public for £3, with additional copies bought for £1.50.

Mr Hannant, who lives in Bath but works in London, said: "He was amazing, he was so friendly."

He added: "I think what struck me is we've just got past a massive Jubilee event and days later he's out there supporting a charity like Big Issue."

"I think it's that that I thought was most amazing because one is a worldwide event, this is just a low-key [event], literally standing on the side of the road with a homeless person.

"I was quite amazed that he could go from one massive event to such a low-key thing."

In his social media post, Mr Gardner wrote alongside the photo of his brother-in-law and the prince: "What an honour to have a private moment with our future king who was humble and working quietly in the background, helping the most needy.

"The finale to this unique occasion was when Prince William asked my brother-in-law if he wanted to buy the Big Issue, to which he replied 'I have no change'.

"At this point William produced a mobile card machine... you cannot teach that!

"Priceless, or should I say, 'princely'."

Two Britons facing death penalty after Russian 'show trial'

Both men were serving in the Ukrainian marines • Court described them as 'mercenaries'

Two British men and a Moroccan national captured while fighting in the Ukrainian army in Mariupol have been sentenced to death by pro-Russia officials after a days-long process described as a "disgusting Soviet-era show trial".

A court in Russian-controlled east Ukraine convicted 28-year old Aiden Aslin, from Newark, 48-year-old Shaun Pinner, from Watford, and Saadun Brahim on charges of "terrorism". Observers said the process was intended to imitate the war crimes trials of Russian soldiers taking place in Kyiv.

Both Britons have said they were serving in the Ukrainian marines, making them active-duty soldiers who should be protected by the Geneva conventions on prisoners of war.

However, Russian state media has portrayed them as mercenaries, and the court has convicted them on the charge of "being a mercenary".

The ruling was swiftly condemned by top British officials.

"I utterly condemn the sentencing of Aiden Aslin and Shaun Pinner held by Russian proxies in eastern Ukraine," said the UK foreign secretary, Liz Truss. "They are prisoners of war. This is a sham judgment with absolutely no legitimacy ... my thoughts are with the families. We continue to do everything we can to support them."

Brits in LA

Toasting Her Maj with Pimms....

THERE'S never a dull weekend in LA for a Brit in LA! A bunch of queens and lesbians got to celebrate the jubilee and gay pride in the same weekend.

While pubs including Ye Olde Kings Head, The Cat & Fiddle and the Yorkshire Brewery put on quite the lavish affairs for locals to celebrate in style, others chose quieter, more intimate celebrations – including us. A quaint picnic in the park seemed like a civilized option so we joined BiLA members Nick Marshall, Roy Magenta, Fred Hulls and Lorraine and Claire, who refer to themselves as the 'British lesbags' at Lake Hollywood park for home-made cucumber sandwiches and a few glasses of Pimms and lemonade.

Later that night we got to see the legends Tears for Fears at the sold-out Forum to play their mega hits including "Shout" "Sowing the Seeds of Love" and "Mad World" – so great to see they haven't lost it and are still very much incredible.

From Tears For Fears to Years and Years? The West Hollywood

Gay Pride festival was headlined by Olly Alexander and his British band Years and Years, who wowed the crowd playing his smash hit "Starstruck", as well covers of The Pet Shop Boys' "It's a Sin", and many other crowd favorites.

But the Jubilee and Pride celebrations aren't over just yet. This weekend sees DowntownLA Pride and the BABC, Britweek and Brits in LA all host their own spectacles next month at the Fairmont Hotel - so stay tuned for more details about that!

Have a great week and stay cool!

All Shook Up at Trivia Night

There will be an Elvis theme to the next Brits in LA Pub Quiz on June 14 with Presley impersonators performing and a round of questions on the King.

Latest champions Piggott's Ponies are pictured practicing their Elvis moves for the fun night at the Market Tavern next Tuesday at 7.30 sharp.

All are welcome to join quizmaster Sandro Monetti and the players aiming to be taking care of business - white jumpsuits optional!

A right royal knees-up at the King's Head

IT MAY be over 5,000 miles from LA to London but that didn't stop local Britons from putting on their glad rags to celebrate the Queen's Platinum Jubilee.

Leading the way (as they do so often) was Ye Olde King's Head in Santa Monica, who threw a four day celebratory bash for this landmark event.

It all kicked off with a Beatles cover band on Thursday night who got the whole place jumping to their timeless classics. There was more British music on Friday followed by Jubilee afternoon teas all weekend and LOTS of Jubilee cocktails. Her Maj may have mobility issues but you'd never know it as "The Queen" (right) honored us by popping in and out daily, even joining our very own local Cockney Rebel, DJ Danny, for fab music all day and into the night Sunday!

If you couldn't fly to London last weekend then the Kings Head was the next best place to be... thanks to all who made it such a memorable, right royal knees-up!

ARIES: Your boss planet Mars is currently in your own sign. While it's true he does well here just be cautious, because he is fire that sometimes can move out of control.

TAURUS: You are feeling more confident now and this is due to your boss planet Venus being front and center in your life. Take the opportunity to set a budget moving forward.

GEMINI: Your boss Mercury is getting ready to start moving at full speed. This is a good time to get moving on any area of life in which you seek completion. However, make sure you celebrate! Happy Birthday.

CANCER: It's good to make amends to anyone or anything that caused you any upset feelings. This next week or so will bring any situation to a close. No matter what it is, it's all for your higher good.

LEO: You must get to the bottom of any emotional feelings you may be holding on to. This is a time to prepare to move forward; with this in mind make a way to do just that, it should be your priority.

VIRGO: You likely have been feeling disappointed or maybe somewhat confused of late. If this rings true you probably know deep down what the truth was. Good news is you will soon be ready to get on with life with a positive outlook.

LIBRA: Life is slowly returning to some kind of normal - at least compared to last month. With this in mind be clear with your intention to make decisions now.

SCORPIO: You have the power to do whatever you decide. Be sure to keep a positive attitude now as your boss Mars is moving fast in Aries and he could be somewhat draining - especially in health areas.

SAGITTARIUS: Your boss planet Jupiter going faster now is in your cousin sign Aries dealing with communications. Be sure to not to put your foot in it as you could be short on patience for a few days.

CAPRICORN: So it seems like time to make big decisions, however not too fast, you have to be sure of what you want. You have very powerful planets around you affecting your overall life. Do not rush to complete anything just yet.

AQUARIUS: You have never liked being bored or restrained from doing anything you want. Times of late have made life difficult for you, however it will be soon time to move forward with your plans.

PISCES: You could be dealing with family situations currently. This means that other things that are important are put on a back burner. You should be back on track in a few days. Do take life slowly even though you are eager to get going.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: FREDERICK ROGERS DEWEY
CASE NO. 22STPB05607

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of FREDERICK ROGERS DEWEY. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by JOHN HOLCOMB DEAR DEWEY in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that JOHN HOLCOMB DEAR DEWEY be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 07/12/22 at 8:30AM in Dept. 44 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner ROBERT E. England won by five wickets; lead series 1-0

Joe Root's masterful century led England to a five-wicket win in the first Test against New Zealand on the fourth morning at Lord's on Sunday.

Root, in his first international match since ceding the captaincy to Ben Stokes, looked like a man reborn and ended 115 not out, also becoming the second England batsman after Sir Alastair Cook to reach 10,000 Test runs.

From 216-5 overnight, 61 short of their target of 277, the home side were taken to victory by Root's unbeaten sixth-wicket stand of 120 with Ben Foakes, who made 32 not out.

Despite the challenge of the gloomy conditions, the England pair were assured throughout, taking the tension away from what could have been a nerve-shredding morning.

When Root pulled Tim Southee for the winning boundary, it completed a remarkable turnaround from 69-4 on the third afternoon and finally gave England a Test win after only one in their previous 17 matches.

The success also handed a winning start to new captain Stokes and coach Brendon McCullum.

For New Zealand, the world Test champions, a seven-match undefeated run against

Southgate praises 'exceptional' Kane after Germany draw

England boss Gareth Southgate praised Harry Kane's "exceptional" performance and his side's resilience as they came from behind to draw in Germany in midweek.

Captain Kane (pictured, right) scored his 50th goal for his country with an 88th-minute penalty to ensure a 1-1 draw in the Nations League Group A3 match in Munich.

England had been set to lose successive games for the first time since 2018.

"We challenged the players with that - a top team doesn't go and lose two on the bounce," said Southgate.

"We've had some good results at Wembley but we wanted to come away from home and get a good result. It's so important we bounce back from a disappointing result."

England, runners-up in last summer's Euro 2020 and semi-finalists at the 2018 World Cup, now have one point from their opening two Nations

League matches after losing 1-0 in Hungary on Saturday.

Kane, 28, only needs three goals to match Wayne Rooney's England record of 53.

"Rightly, the fact he has 50 goals will be the centre part of the story but his all-round game, the way he led the line, the way he competed, the way he pressed from the front for us today was exceptional," said Southgate.

"His quality to drop deep, I know people say he drops too deep, but you need a player that can come and link the game.

He gives us so many options.

"When you had runners past him like Raheem [Sterling], Bukayo [Saka] and Mason [Mount], then that part of his game comes into its own. There are little moments when he takes the ball and relieves the pressure, which you take for granted, but are an important part of his game."

Southgate was also pleased with the way his players "put their bodies on the line for each other". England and Newcastle full-back Kieran Trippier, who played alongside Kane when the pair were at Tottenham, also praised the centre-forward.

"Harry Kane stepped up as always, he is special," said Trippier. "I used to play with him for club and country. Fifty goals is incredible. He's a top pro and a great leader. This is a positive result. The substitutes made a huge impact. We'll review the game and look forward to the next one."

England have two home games coming up in the Nations League, both at Wolves' Molineux ground - against Italy on Saturday and Hungary on Tuesday, 14 June.

World Cup delight for Wales

■ Bale the hero as Page's men earn first trip to finals since 1958

Wales' manager has spoken of his pride at the "monumental" achievement for the nation after qualifying for the World Cup for the first time in 64 years.

They beat Ukraine 1-0 in Cardiff in a tense and dramatic game after Gareth Bale's deflected free-kick.

Rob Page told his players that he "loves them to bits".

As the reality of Sunday's achievement sank in, many jubilant fans on Monday said they thought they would never see this moment.

Wales will share Group B with USA, Iran and England at the tournament in Qatar, starting in November.

"Even at the final whistle last night I was thinking... is this a cruel dream that I'm having?" Page told BBC Radio Wales Breakfast. "But then you realise that it's reality.

"It's one of those surreal moments when you wake up and then realise that we are off to the World Cup. It is unbelievable."

Wales have reached the World Cup only once before - in 1958 under Jimmy Murphy's management. Remarkably, both Murphy and Page are from Rhondda in the south Wales valleys, and grew up only a few miles apart.

"How spooky is that?" said Page. "Two people from the Rhondda: it was written in the stars, wasn't it? It's a special moment for me and my family."

He called the win "massive" for the country, adding: "We've seen the tide has turned slightly with regards to football and rugby.

"I think football has become our number one sport. We'll always be known for rugby, of course we will, but this is massive - it's monumental what we've done."

Page also paid tribute to Gary Speed, who died in 2011 while Wales manager. Speed is often credited with having laid the foundations for the nation's current success, and Page said Sunday's match was for him and his family.

That sentiment was echoed by former Wales manager Chris Coleman, who led Wales to the semi-finals of Euro 2016.

"He [Speed] put a lot of things in place. I know I benefited from that, I'm sure Ryan Giggs and Pagey did too," he said.

Ffion Owen, who watched the game in Cardiff, said: "I don't think I had any more to cry, it was euphoria, it was a dream that you can't imagine happening until it happens."

Rhodri Ogwen Williams, who lives in Qatar, said it was an emotional moment for him after he lost his father last year.

"I believe my dad's spirit was in (goalkeeper) Wayne Hennessey's hands last night. It was a beautiful, beautiful moment."

Rhodri, a sports broadcaster, said many Welsh fans were watching the game
