

RACE FOR NO. 10: AND THEN THERE WERE TWO?

■ Sunak and Mordaunt emerge as clear favorites in battle to replace Boris RISHI SUNAK and Penny Mordaunt lead the pack in the race to be the next Prime Minister after the two won the overwhelming majority of votes in Thursday's second round of voting for the leadership of the Conservative Party.

Only five candidates remain after Attorney General Suella Braverman was knocked out in the vote, which saw Mr Sunak winning 101 votes, with Penny Mordaunt not far behind with 83 votes. Foreign Secretary Liz Truss came third with 64.

The candidates will now seek to woo Ms Braverman's 27 supporters ahead of the next vote on Monday.

Equalities minister Kemi Badenoch, who came fourth with 49 votes in Thursday's vote, and foreign affairs committee chairman Tom Tugendhat who was fifth on 32 - both say they are determined to stay in the contest.

The five candidates will take part in televised debates on Friday, on Channel 4, and Sunday, on ITV, and Monday on Sky.

Tory MPs are aiming to whittle down the field to two by the end of next week, when it will be thrown over to a postal ballot of Tory members to choose the winner, who will become prime minister.

The result will be announced on 5 September, when Boris Johnson will leave office.

Mr Sunak has now topped the first two ballots of MPs, with the contest increasingly looking like a scrap to see who will join him in the final run-off.

His decision to quit as chancellor last week was one of the first in a wave of ministerial resignations that forced Mr Johnson to stand down as Tory leader.

Allies of Mr Johnson have accused Mr Sunak of orchestrating the prime minister's downfall, and have been fiercely critical of tax hikes he introduced

Rishi Sunak and Penny Mordaunt were set to join the three other candidates in a debate on Friday as chancellor.

A member of Mr Sunak's team said the former chancellor would "keep going with solid messaging on the economic agenda", claiming other candidates had backed away from their pledges.

The leadership contest became increasingly fractious on Thursday, as allies of the candidates launched personal attacks on their rivals.

Ms Mordaunt batted away criticism from former Brexit negotiator David Frost, who questioned her competence to be prime minister.

He said Ms Mordaunt - a support of Brexit - "wouldn't always deliver tough messages to the European Union" when he worked with her during negotiations last year.

Allies of Ms Mordaunt said she had "nothing but respect" for Lord Frost and would "always fight for Brexit".

In a tweet, Mr Tugendhat said he would stay in the race and would take part in the upcoming TV debates to put his "vision for Britain forward to the public".

The backbencher, who won five fewer votes in the second round, said his campaign for "a clean start" continued, adding: "We need trust back in our politics."

Ms Truss's team said Thursday's result showed the foreign secretary was "attracting a wide range of supporters from across the Conservative Party".

A spokesperson for Ms Truss said: "Now is the time for MPs to unite behind the candidate who will cut taxes, deliver the real economic change we need, continue to deliver the benefits of Brexit and ensure Putin loses in Ukraine".

Launching her campaign earlier, Mr Truss pledged to boost the economy through tax cuts and said she was "ready to be prime minister from day one".

Earlier, a senior member of the Ms Truss's campaign urged backers of Ms Badenoch and Ms Braverman to "recognise the reality of the situation" and unite behind the foreign secretary.

Culture Secretary Nadine Dorries, a Truss supporter, said: "Now is the time for us all to unite behind a candidate who actually has the ability to lead the country as PM."

Transgender Tory guilty of traffic offences

■ Court hears Bridgend MP was wearing a mini skirt and high heels as he fled from scene of car crash

An MP has been found guilty of failing to stop and report an accident after crashing his car in the early hours of 28 November last year.

Bridgend's Conservative MP, Jamie Wallis was also found guilty of leaving his car in a dangerous position, but cleared of driving without due care and attention.

He was fined £2,500 and disqualified from driving for six months.

District Judge Tan Ikram said he "didn't find the defendant credible".

He added that the case had not been proven that the MP was driving without due care and attention and dismissed that one charge against Wallis.

Convicting him of the other charges, Judge Ikram said: "When I watched him give evidence it seemed to me he [was] fitting his own behaviour around the behaviour of PTSD, and his actions on that night does not suggest he was overwhelmed and acting out of fear that night."

"I am going to be upfront, I didn't find the defendant credible in the evidence he gave"

On Monday, Cardiff Magistrates' Court heard how witnesses said Wallis left the scene after crashing his Mercedes into a lamppost on 28 November.

He was wearing a black leather mini-skirt and high heels and told the court he feared he was going to be attacked.

Wallis had denied the traffic offences, which took place in Llanblethian, Vale of Glamorgan in the early hours of the morning.

PTSD

He also told the court he had been raped a month before the crash and feared he would be "raped, killed or kidnapped" following the crash.

The MP said his car hit a lamppost to avoid a cat.

The Conservative MP, who was elected in 2019, became the first MP to come out as transgender in March. He identifies as he/him.

He told the court he had been diagnosed with post traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) after being raped. Judge Ikram added that having PTSD was not a defence.

He said the prosecution had proved that Wallis was able to make decisions that night, but he made bad decisions.

"I am sure he was not prevented through PTSD to giving details or particulars and report the accident soon after, he made a decision he didn't want to be there, and made a decision to ring his father.

"Through all of that period he could have rang 999 or 101, he didn't.

"I am sure he didn't through a conscious choice, not through being overwhelmed or acting irrationally."

Residents Adrian Watson and Natalie Webb were at a birthday party, when they heard a "very loud bang, significantly louder than a domestic firework" on the street at about 01:00 GMT.

'pain and shock'

Mr Watson said he looked inside the car and saw "a white male wearing a white long-sleeve top which was tight to the body, a black leather PVC mini-skirt, tights, dark shoes with a high heel and a pearl necklace".

When he asked Wallis if he was okay, he was told: "I'm sorting it. I'm sorting it."

He said he followed Wallis and saw him make two phone calls, during one he claimed he was being "accosted".

Jamie Wallis has been fined £2,500 and disqualified from driving for traffic offences

The MP was then picked up by his father in a Land Rover Discovery.

In a prepared statement to police, the MP said he left the scene because he was in "pain and shock" after the crash, and fled because he feared he would be attacked.

"I noticed a group of people approaching and felt anxious," he said.

The prosecution challenged Wallis saying there was no cat, and that he was driving without due care and attention.

Ms Hughes said: "You hit it with such force that the pole snapped."

"The reason you hit the pole, isn't because there was a cat, you were driving without due care and attention and resulted in you losing control and driving into the wall and telegraph pole."

Wallis replied: "That's not true, there was a cat, I swerved to avoid it."

He was challenged on his failure to inform police of the accident.

He said he had taken medication after arriving home and had fallen asleep soon afterwards.

"I was still in a traumatised state.

"I was still concussed, still feeling the effects of what had happened," he said.

Spacey pleads not guilty

Actor Kevin Spacey has pleaded not guilty to four charges of sexually assaulting three men, in his first appearance at London's Old Bailey.

The 62-year-old (pictured, right) also pleaded not guilty to a fifth charge of causing a person to engage in penetrative sexual activity without consent.

Mr Spacey, wearing a light blue suit, replied "not guilty" when each of the charges were read out to him.

A three to four week trial has been set to start from 6 June next year.

A further hearing will take place earlier in 2023 and the judge granted Mr Spacey unconditional bail. The charges follow a review of evidence gathered by the Metropolitan Police.

Mr Spacey has been charged with two counts of sexual assault on a man, now in his 40s, in London in March 2005.

He has also been charged with one count of sexual assault and one count of causing a person to engage in penetrative sexual activity without consent on a man, now in his 30s, in August 2008 in London.

The fourth charge of sexual assault is on another man, who is also now in his 30s, in April 2013 in Gloucestershire.

The charges were authorised by the Crown Prosecution Service in May, but he could only be charged once he had travelled to the UK.

Ava White: Teenage boy sentenced to minimum of 13 years for murdering 12-year-old girl

"My beloved Ava dies all over again every morning that I wake up." mother tells court

A teenage boy has been sentenced to a minimum of 13 years for the murder of a 12-year-old girl after a row over a Snapchat video.

Ava White was killed after a "chance encounter" with the boy, then 14, in Liverpool city centre on the night the Christmas lights were switched on last year.

The teenager, who cannot be named for legal reasons, stabbed Ava in the neck with a knife after she asked a group of boys to stop filming her and her friends, on 25 November.

The boy, who has attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, attended the sentencing via video link.

Sentencing him at Liverpool Crown Court, Mrs Justice Yip said: "There is only one reason why Ava is dead and that is because you chose to carry a knife and you chose to get it out and use it.

"You enjoyed carrying a knife. You were showing it off to your friends earlier that evening.

"It was a nasty weapon and you should not have had it."

The teenager was visibly upset while statements were read out by members of Ava's family, including her mother Leanne White who said, "My beloved Ava dies all over again every morning that I wake up."

'my heart is broken'

She told the court how Ava had been given special permission to stay out late to attend the Christmas lights event.

"I remember how excited she was for Christmas," Ms White said, describing her daughter as the "life and soul of the party" who dreamt of becoming a flight attendant and "travelling the world".

"My heart is broken," she said. "I just want to go to bed and not wake up."

Ava's older sister, Mia, said tearfully: "I am a shadow of my former big, loving sister to Ava."

The 18-year-old said she felt anxious walking past groups of youths in the street, fearing they could be carrying knives.

She said she now hoped to change other young people's minds about using the weapons.

Ava's grandfather Robert, 72, was diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder following her death, the court heard.

In a statement read to the court, Ava's father Robert Martin said: "Ava was the reason I got out of bed, my reason for living.

"When Ava was taken away it destroyed everything I stood for and worked towards."

'conscious cover-up'

The boy, who said he acted in self-defence and denied murder, claimed at trial that he was "scared" Ava was going to "jump him" after she came towards him.

He said he had

TRAGIC CASE: Ava White was killed after a "chance encounter" with a 14-year-old boy, who cannot be named for legal reasons, in Liverpool city centre on the night the Christmas lights were switched on wanted to "frighten her away" and did not intend to cause any injury.

But the prosecution argued that, after the stabbing, the boy "began a conscious cover-up" of the crime, discarding the knife, his phone and coat.

During the trial, held earlier this year, the court was told the defendant was in possession of a flick knife with a 7.5cm blade and he had previously pleaded guilty to having an offensive weapon.

After his arrest, the court heard the boy told a "series of lies" about his whereabouts that day, including that he was playing Call of Duty at a friend's house at the time of the killing.

He also said that another boy had stabbed Ava.

'Whilst it's a young person, they must face the consequences'

During his trial, a series of text messages sent between the boy and his mother were shown in court, including one in which he said: "I'm not coming home. Not going to the cells."

During his evidence, the teenager was asked why he had not agreed to give his phone to the police, to which he replied: "Because they always take my phone.

"I have had a few phones taken when I was in the police station."

Detective Superintendent Sue Coombs from Merseyside Police said the case "shocked everybody" that worked on it.

"It's tragic," she said. "It's a 12-year-old girl and a 14-year-old boy that's been convicted, so it's massively shocking."

"And whilst it's a very young person that's perpetrated this crime, they must face the consequences of what they've done."

Andrew's disastrous interview to be turned into a movie

The story behind the BBC's explosive 2019 interview with Prince Andrew is being turned into a feature film.

The Newsnight interview, in which the prince talked about his friendship with convicted sex offender Jeffrey Epstein, made headlines around the world.

The movie, called Scoop, will dramatise how the show secured the interview, as well as the filming of it.

The behind-the-scenes negotiations will make "very thrilling drama", its writer Peter Moffat told film site Deadline.

"How was it that he decided it was a good idea to do a great big long interview with Emily Maitlis on the BBC?" added Moffat, who worked on BBC drama Criminal Justice and its US remake The Night Of, plus Silk, Your Honor, Undercover and 61st Street.

Scoop will be based on the book Scoops: Behind the Scenes of the BBC's Most Shocking Interviews by former Newsnight producer Sam McAlister.

In the interview with host Emily Maitlis, the prince also discussed his friendship with Ghislaine Maxwell, who has since has been sentenced to 20 years in jail for helping Epstein abuse young girls.

The Duke of York also denied having sex with a then 17-year-old girl - Virginia Giuffre - saying he was in Pizza Express in Woking on the day the encounter was meant to have taken place.

NHS braces for record UK heatwave

Ministers are preparing for a surge in demand on the NHS and other essential services ahead of a heatwave that could result in record-breaking temperatures in Britain.

The Met Office has issued an amber extreme heat warning across much of England and Wales from Sunday to Tuesday, with temperatures expected to exceed 35C at their peak in southern, central and eastern areas of England.

After chairing a meeting of the Cobra emergency civil contingencies committee in Whitehall, Kit Malthouse, the Cabinet Office minister, admitted that health services could come under increased pressure and warned that temperatures could hit 40C.

"The key thing we can do is prepare the government services for what may be a surge in demand – not least the health service and elsewhere – but also, critically, communicate that the first line of defence is actually individual behavioural change," he told BBC Radio 4's The World at One.

"People need to take care, do all the stuff they would do when it is very hot – wear a hat, drink water – but critically also the most vulnerable groups – the elderly, those with cardiovascular problems and the very young – that people look out for them and take care."

He urged members of the public to be alert to vulnerable people, to check on neighbours and to take precautions.

"We are asking people if they have an elderly neighbour, particularly if they live alone, it would be a neighbourly thing to check up on them and make sure they are looking after themselves and have access to water."

Mo Farah: Police investigate trafficking revelations

The Metropolitan Police say they have opened an investigation into Sir Mo Farah's revelation that he was trafficked to the UK as a child.

The force says specialist officers will assess information the former Olympic athlete gave in a BBC documentary.

Sir Mo said he arrived under a false name after escaping war in Somalia.

The runner, 39, said he was taken by a woman he did not know and forced into domestic servitude. He previously said he was a refugee with his parents.

In a statement, the Metropolitan Police said: "We are aware of reports in the media concerning Sir Mo Farah. No reports have been made to the MPS [Metropolitan Police Service] at this time.

"Specialist officers have opened an investigation and are currently assessing the available information."

In the documentary, The Real Mo Farah, which aired on Wednesday, the athlete expressed concern that speaking out could cause him to lose the British citizenship he was granted in 2000. But the Home Office has said that no action will be taken as it is assumed children are not complicit when their citizenship is gained by deception.

civil violence

Speaking in the film, Sir Mo said his real name is Hussein Abdi Kahin and that he was born in Somaliland, a breakaway state in Somalia.

His father, Abdi, was killed by stray gunfire during civil violence when Sir Mo was four years old.

Sir Mo said he arrived under a false name after escaping war in Somalia

Sir Mo said that, when he was eight or nine, he was taken to stay with family in Djibouti. He was then flown to the UK by a woman he had never met and was not related to, but who told him he was going to live with relatives in Europe.

When they arrived in the UK, the woman took Sir Mo to her flat in Hounslow, west London, and took from him a piece of paper with his relatives' contact details on it.

social services

Mohamed Farah was the name given to him by the people who brought him into the UK.

Sir Mo said he had to do housework and childcare "if I wanted food in my mouth".

He said the woman told him: "If you ever want to see your family again, don't say anything."

"Often I would just lock myself in the bathroom and cry," he said.

After taking up athletics, Sir Mo confided what had happened to him to a PE teacher at his school, who then contacted social services and helped arrange for him to be fostered by another Somali family.

Former F1 supremo facing charges for £400m in undeclared assets

Former Formula One boss Bernie Ecclestone will face charges of fraud by false representation after an investigation by UK tax authorities that allegedly found undeclared assets worth more than £400m overseas.

The UK's Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) said on Monday it had "authorised the charging of Bernard Charles Ecclestone with fraud by false representation, following a [HM Revenue and Customs] investigation". The investigation was dubbed Operation Gallic by the authorities.

Ecclestone, 91, ran Formula One, the world's most lucrative motorsports tournament, almost single-handedly for 40 years until it was taken over by Liberty Media in 2017. During his time overseeing the sport Ecclestone's built up a vast fortune, estimated at £2.5bn in May by the Sunday Times.

The first hearing in the tax case is scheduled to take place on 22 August at Westminster magistrates court.

'honest taxpayers'

Andrew Penhale, the chief crown prosecutor, said: "The CPS has reviewed a file of evidence from HMRC and has authorised a charge against Bernard Ecclestone of fraud by false representation in respect of his failure to declare to HMRC the existence of assets held overseas believed to be worth in excess of £400m.

"The Crown Prosecution Service reminds all concerned that criminal proceedings against this defendant are now active and that they have a right to a fair trial. It is extremely important that there should be no reporting, commentary or sharing of information online which could in any way prejudice these proceedings."

Ecclestone is married to Brazilian-born

Fabiana Ecclestone, who is a vice-president of the International Automobile Federation (FIA), a motor-sport governing body, and a member of the World Motor Sport Council.

Simon York, the director of HMRC's fraud investigation service, said the tax authority had carried out a "complex and worldwide criminal investigation".

"HMRC is on the side of honest taxpayers and we will take tough action wherever we suspect tax fraud," York said. "Our message is clear – no one is beyond our reach."

Composer behind the classic James Bond theme tune dies at 94

Monty Norman, the prolific composer and lyricist whose works include the famous James Bond theme tune, has died at the age of 94, his family have confirmed.

The child of Latvian immigrants, Norman grew up in the East End of London, where his mother bought him his first guitar at the age of 16.

He went on to compose for West End shows like Expresso Bongo and Irma La Douce, before moving into film.

His Bond theme, commissioned for 1962's Dr No, was used throughout the series.

Bond producer Cubby Broccoli had asked Norman to compose the first movie's score, having been impressed with his stage musical CV.

For the main theme, the composer dusted off one of his previous compositions - Bad Sign Good Sign, from an abandoned production of VS Naipaul's A House For Mr Biswas - and re-wrote it with the suave spy in mind.

After switching the main riff from a sitar to an electric guitar, Norman knew he had captured the essence of 007.

varied career

"His sexiness, his mystery, his ruthlessness - it's all there in a few notes," he later recalled.

Norman also wrote Underneath the Mango Tree that accompanies the famous Dr No beach scene featuring Ursula Andress and Sean Connery.

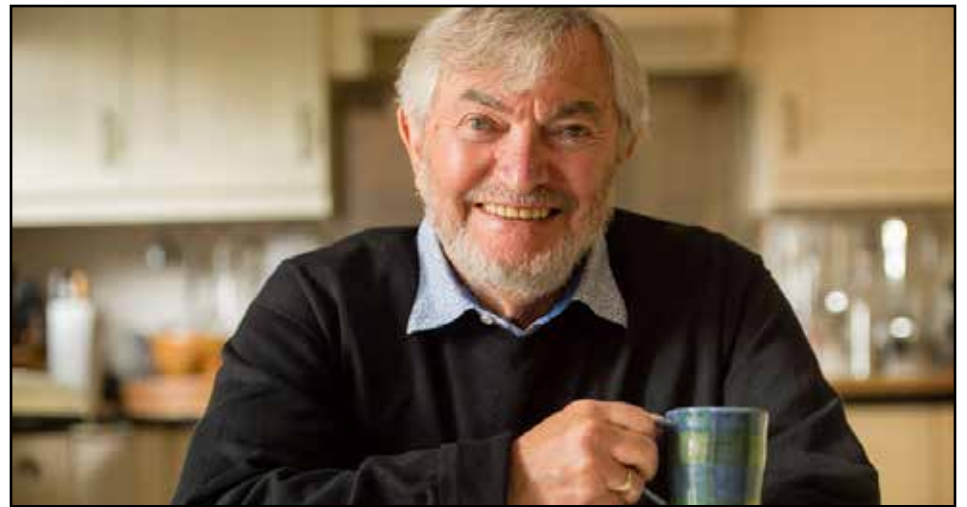

John Barry famously arranged the Bond theme, leading some people to assume he had written it, much to Norman's displeasure. In 2001, he took The Sunday Times to court over an article that stated he had not composed the famous guitar line, and was awarded £30,000 libel damages.

In a varied career, Norman also sang with big bands and also appeared in variety shows alongside the likes of Harry Secombe, Peter Sellers, Spike Milligan and Tommy Cooper.

He also wrote the music for the Hammer movie The Two Faces of Dr. Jekyll (1960), The Day the Earth Caught Fire (1961), the Bob Hope Eon Productions movie Call Me Bwana (1963), and the TV miniseries Dickens of London (1976).

Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care.¹
As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. If you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.
The best way to avoid large dental bills is preventive care. Experts recommend checkups twice a year.

Previous dental work can wear out.
Your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.²

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.
Unexpected bills, like $189 for a filling, or $1,219 for a crown³ can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits.

Simply put — without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DUANE HAROLD HODNETT, SR.

Case No. 22STPB06259
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of DUANE HAROLD HODNETT, SR.
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Duane H. Hodnett, II in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.
THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Duane H. Hodnett, II be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on July 29, 2022 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Brits in LA

High anxiety over Heathrow's luggage problem

Our Facebook forums have been a constant stream of stressed-out members in a panic about traveling. It started with the reports of 'Baggage Mountain' at Heathrow Airport back in June and since got progressively worse.

Just this past week members are reporting that they've had to wait over four hours for their suitcases to show up on the carousel at baggage claim. There are staff shortages across the world but it sounds like Heathrow Airport has been hit the hardest.

So much so that a cap has now been placed on how many passengers can travel through the airport. It was announced earlier this week that Heatherow will only allow 100,000 travelers a day and this won't be lifted until September 11th. In 'normal times' Heathrow can handle over 200,000 passengers a day.

THAT'S A LOT OF BAGGAGE: Thanks to Annie McQueen for this image, taken at Heathrow this week

Several Brits in LA members who had already booked to travel this summer have received emails from airlines encouraging them to rethink their plans and consider delaying their trips until later in the year. I suspect this is a veiled threat of sorts – i.e. "if some of you don't cancel we will be canceling your ticket." Many of you have suggested that the way around this is to travel with hand luggage only - which isn't a bad idea - or if you really can't travel light it might be worth checking out companies like Send My Bag - they collect your luggage from your starting point and deliver it to your destination. Loads of you have recommended it to us in the past and it also gets fantastic reviews on TrustPilot. Craig and I are traveling to the UK later in the year and I am considering trying it out myself, so will report back and let you know if it really does what it says on the tin. My only apprehension would be is what happened if your flight gets cancelled but your luggage is already on its way? I'm sure there must be procedures put in place for this but is definitely something I need to investigate.

Quite a few of you who have traveled recently have also contradicted all of the negative reports and said that the airports ( including LHR) have been a breeze - short lines at passport control and bags in hand in under 30 minutes. So perhaps you will be one of the lucky ones too. Although I tend to agree with the airlines' advice of delaying travel if it's not really necessary - as why burden them anymore when it already sounds like they are close to breaking point.

I still lament the loss of Air New Zealand flying this busy route and United still haven't reinstated their LAX to LHR flight, so the last thing we need is British Airways and Virgin shutting up shop as then tickets will be even more expensive than they are now.

It all seems so ridiculous, but is obviously a domino effect caused by Brexit and then the pandemic. This could have possibly been avoided by better planning. Although, I do think a small percentage of people have changed their outlook on life and decided life really is too short and low-paid back-breaking jobs are just not worth it. Perhaps once the invisible workers who make all the things we take for granted are paid a decent wage we can actually go back to the normal lives we all crave. It's only fair right?

Taking care of Quiziness!

Tuesday is the best night of the week for trivia players who pack out the Market Tavern for all the fun of Brits in LA Pub Quiz.

Emerging victorious at the latest contest were The Hecklers (pictured) who triumphed by just half a point.

See if you can take away their title next time by joining quizmaster Sandro Monetti for another great night on July 19 at 7.30pm.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Time to make way for a more settled reality for a while. Mars is now in your money house. He is your boss so listen to your inner voice, which will guide you.

TAURUS: You may have procrastinated a lot since the beginning of this month. You have to make some decision now. Uranus just started going backwards in your life soon will slow life down.

GEMINI: Being able to move about your life and do what you want when you want is the goal of most folks. Mercury your boss is in a good mood and life is easier. Just do make time to have fun.

CANCER: The full moon this week has likely brought up anything from the past you may have not wanted to deal with. Well you have to bite the bullet now! But: Happy Birthday.

LEO: You are probably planning ahead and already know what you will and will not do after this week ahead. While this is good patience is needed.

VIRGO: Hopefully you have taken time out to think about things to do for you. If that is the case make it a priority, life is getting good again.

LIBRA: Now that Venus your boss is in a friendly place you can expect to see some plans moving in to place. Find your second wind and do not procrastinate on anything.

SCORPIO: Best way to make decisions is to surrender them to your higher power and ask to be shown the right way. Life is more friendly for you of late so keep a positive attitude in all areas.

SAGITTARIUS: Make the most of your life again. It's been good to get rid of stuff mentally or physically recently. Now your boss Jupiter is looking to help you, show him what you need currently.

CAPRICORN: The trying times are over and especially for you keeping busy is important. However life is kinder to you now, so relax.

AQUARIUS: Fear of the unknown is rare with you folk. You are usually living in your head and can think of an innovative way to get through. Jupiter is heading into your financial area so good news.

PISCES: Your money area is currently lit up and ready to work for you. Neptune is also visiting you and it's making you more intuitive. Just keep your feet on the ground.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF STEPHEN EUGENE BEATTIE

Case No. 22STPB06484

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of STEPHEN EUGENE BEATTIE

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Monica L. Williams in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Monica L. Williams be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 19, 2022 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 5 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Chelsea go cool on Ronaldo signing

Chelsea have indicated they are no longer interested in signing Cristiano Ronaldo from Manchester United after holding talks with the Portugal forward's representatives.

It is understood Chelsea were offered the opportunity to sign the 37-year-old by Jorge Mendes after Ronaldo told United he wanted to leave Old Trafford because of what he perceives as a lack of ambition in their summer transfer dealings. Mendes held talks with Todd Boehly over a potential transfer in recent weeks, with Chelsea's American co-owner understood to have been intrigued by the idea of buying the five-times Ballon d'Or winner.

However, it is believed that Chelsea – who completed the signing of Raheem Sterling on Wednesday from Manchester City for £50m – have rejected the opportunity after discussions with Thomas Tuchel. The manager plans to mould a versatile, fluid attack and, having allowed Romelu Lukaku to join Internazionale on loan, has Kai Havertz, Timo Werner, Sterling and Armanda Broja as his main striking options. Broja, who spent last season on loan at Southampton, has attracted strong interest from West Ham.

Chelsea are unlikely to add any more attacking reinforcements as Tuchel concentrates on strengthening his defence, although Chelsea are understood to still be in the market for a versatile forward who can also provide cover for Reece James at right wing-back.

Ronaldo has also been offered to Bayern Munich, Napoli and Paris Saint-Germain, although the German champions have said they will not

RONALDO: THE Portuguese forward has not joined United on pre-season tour pursue a player who scored 24 goals in 38 appearances for United last season. Ronaldo cited family reasons after not returning to training at United last week and has not joined up with the squad for the pre-season tour.

According to reports in Portugal on Wednesday, an unnamed club in Saudi Arabia have offered Ronaldo a contract worth about £100m a season, but his preference is believed to be to stay in Europe and play in the Champions League.

MARTINEZ: the centre-back is set for United move after three years at Ajax

Manchester United to sign £42m Martínez and work on De Jong deal

■ Club reach agreement for Dutchman but not personal terms

Manchester United are hopeful of completing the signing of the Ajax centre-back Lisandro Martínez this week after "successful" talks with the Dutch club in Amsterdam on Wednesday.

The two clubs were locked in negotiations for several hours before reaching an agreement in principle for the 24-year-old centre-back, who is an Argentina international.

Discussions will continue on Thursday, with the structure of the payment one issue to still iron out.

The fee will be €50m (£42m) plus add-ons for a player who has spent the past three seasons at Ajax under Erik ten Hag, Manchester United's new manager. Martínez has won two league titles and a Dutch Cup with Ajax since joining from Defensa y Justicia in Argentina in

United are, meanwhile, refusing to give up on their pursuit of Frenkie de Jong and have agreed a deal with Barcelona for the Dutch midfielder after further talks. The overall package would cost United €85m with a guaranteed €75m plus the rest in add-ons.

Personal terms have not been agreed yet with De Jong still keen to stay at Barcelona.

£49m Raphinha gone from Leeds - but unlikely to be soon forgotten

Leeds United will enter the new season without their star player Raphinha after they agreed a £49m deal with Barcelona.

But despite his decision to leave after only two seasons at the club, the Brazil winger retains iconic status at Elland Road.

With skills galore and plenty of end product, he is bound to be a huge loss to Jesse Marsch's side, who have moved to replace him by recruiting Feyenoord winger Luis Sinisterra.

So just how important has Raphinha been to Leeds - and what will be add to his new team?

Leeds will need another source of goals now that Raphinha has left.

He cost United £17m from Rennes following their promotion to the Premier League in 2020. He was involved in 28% of Leeds' league goals during his two seasons, more than any of his team-mates.

Raphinha scored 17 goals - a total bettered at the club only by Patrick Bamford's 19 - and created 12, more than any of his team-mates.

"The guy was 'out-of-your-seat' box-office," said Adam Pope, who covers the club for BBC Radio Leeds.

"If he was not ending Gary Cahill's career with a spinning backheeled nutmeg, then he was dropping his shoulder, leaving defenders in his wake or goalkeepers transfixed as the ice coursed through his veins on a stuttering run-up before inevitably converting a penalty.

"I think he has been one of the greatest additions to the Premier League, let alone Leeds United, this century."

Seven of Raphinha's Premier League goals came from outside the box. Only Southampton's James Ward-Prowse - with nine - managed more in those two seasons.

Only three players

- Newcastle's Allan Saint-Maximin, Wolves' Adama Traore and Crystal Palace's Wilfried Zaha - went on more runs than Raphinha's 286 - although seven players had more successful dribbles than his 118.

Raphinha created 129 league chances for his team-mates in those two years.

"His desire to win was insatiable but he was prone to bouts of petulance which at times angered fans," Pope said.

"What is undeniable is that he was essential to the club's survival last season because in the absence of the injured Bamford he was relied upon to be the top scorer with 11 goals. Seven of them contributed to earning 15 points in a campaign which saw the Whites' survival go to the wire.

"The best any fan could realistically hope for was that Raphinha would stay until after the World Cup."

Rooney in at DC United

■ England's record goalscorer speaks of 'exciting challenge' of helming MLS club

Wayne Rooney has been appointed head coach of Major League Soccer side DC United.

It is Rooney's second job in management after he left Derby County last month and he rejected criticism at his return to the American club.

"I've seen a few articles, certainly back in England, on this being a possible backward step in my managerial career," said the 36-year-old.

"I really find that a bit disrespectful to this league."

Rooney said he had spoken to his wife first after DC United came in for him and events leading to him taking up the role progressed quickly.

"Any major decisions I make like this are discussed with my wife," he said. "My family will, for the time being, stay in England and come over and visit.

"There were a few other clubs - both in England and in Europe - who got in touch. My plan really was to, after Derby County, take a bit of a break and then see what comes up.

"Once my agent called and said DC had come in, it was quite quick really - probably within 24 hours."

England and Manchester United's record goalscorer spent 18 months at DC United and captained the side before joining Derby as a player-coach in January 2020.

Rooney went on to manage the club through a period when they were in administration and was in charge as they were relegated to League One last season.

"I feel the experience I've gained at Derby County over the past 18 months has been great for my development as a coach, as a manager," added Rooney.

"To come here back to the MLS, back to DC United, was an exciting challenge for me - something which I feel can develop me as a coach.

"The team need to improve, I think that's obvious for everyone to see, and I really think with my capabilities of developing young players - of course we're working hard to get a few new players in - we can really get this club to successful ways again.

ROONEY: "The team need to improve, I think that's obvious for everyone to see."

"It's going to take a lot of hard work, but that's what I'm here to do and really improve the team."

DC United said Rooney is "one of the most exciting and dynamic up-and-coming managers in our sport".

Co-chairmen Jason Levien and Steve Kaplan added in a statement: "He's already proven in his young coaching career that he knows how to lead a group through adversity.

"He has an understanding of our league and what it takes to be successful in Major League Soccer thanks to his two-year stay with us as a player."

Four stars for Ten Hag's debut

Erik ten Hag's reign as Manchester United manager got off to the perfect start with a 4-0 thrashing over Liverpool in Bangkok.

The Dutchman said he was "satisfied" after the friendly win but warned not to "overestimate" the result against their fierce rivals saying Jurgen Klopp played "three teams" during the match.

Klopp, who used more than 30 players in the game, gave debuts to summer signings Fabio Carvalho and Darwin Nunez but said it made "makes no sense" to analyse their performances and the "game came too early" in his pre-season plans.

It has been an awful few months for United and they are not clear of trouble by any means just yet.

TEN HAG: "I have seen some really good things"

However, they need some positives to cling to during Ten Hag's bedding-in period and this result is priceless in that regard. The former Ajax boss said there were "a lot of mistakes".

He will also acknowledge Liverpool struck the post on three occasions and goalkeeper David de Gea kept them out at least three more times. But, as Klopp said: "The result is there".

"I have seen some really good things and I think what you see is we have a lot of creativity and speed up front, so we have potential," added Ten Hag, who also praised his team's "spirit".

It's a good start for Ten Hag as United now head to Australia for three games.
