BY GEORGE! Prince given leading role in Coronation

■ The eldest son of the Prince and Princess of Wales named pageboy for May 6 event

Prince George has been given a starring role at the Coronation – as the King’s youngest pageboy.

He will be one of eight to attend his grandad King Charles and Queen Camilla.

A source said: “Even though he is only nine years old, George is very mature – and he already has a deep understanding of the roles of his grand-father and father, as well as his future role.”

The eldest son of the Prince and Princess of Wales will feature on May 6 alongside seven boys who are family friends or near relatives.

His role has traditionally gone to boys aged 12 to 15 – but George was chosen after showing “deep interest and understanding”.

A well-placed insider said: “The King is very keen to show those in the line of succession, his natural heirs, at the centre of his Coronation.

“By giving him this task it is a wonderful sign of the future being laid out by the King.”

George will be joined by Lord Oliver Cholmondeley and Nicholas Barclay, both 13, plus Ralph Tollemache, 12, who together make up the King’s Pages of Honour.

Four of Camilla’s relatives will attend to her: grandson twins Gus and Louis Lopes, 13, and grandson Freddy Parker Bowles, 12, plus her great-nephew, Arthur Elliot, 11.

Queen Consort

They will be expected to carry the robes of prominent figures during the day and will join the Westminster Abbey procession.

Royal aides released the names of the Pages as well as a copy of the Coronation invitation, which uses the title Queen Camilla officially for the first time.

King Charles’s wife had been referred to as Queen Consort since the death of Queen Elizabeth II.

A royal source said: “‘Queen Camilla’ is the appropriate title to set against ‘King Charles’. The Coronation is an appropriate time to start using ‘Queen Camilla’ in an official capacity. All former Queen Consorts have been known as ‘Queen’ plus their first name.”

Green Man

The invite (pictured, right) was decorated by heraldic artist Andrew Jamieson, a Brother of the Art Workers’ Guild – the King is an honorary member.

Originally painted in watercolour and gouache, it will be printed on recycled card with gold foil detail. Central to the design is a motif of the Green Man, a folklore figure representing rebirth, to celebrate the new reign.

Nine-year-old George was described as being ‘very mature’ this week

Sturgeon's husband briefly arrested in SNP money probe

■ Peter Murrell was party's chief executive for more than 20 years, and loaned the SNP more than £100,000 last year

THE HUSBAND of former Scotland First Minister Nicola Sturgeon was arrested this week by police as part of an investigation into finances of the Scottish National Party

SNP chief executive Peter Murrell was subsequently released without charge by the police, pending further investigation into party finances, but the incident remains a huge embarrassment for Sturgeon, who last month stepped down from her position at Holyrood.

Murrell was questioned while police searched their Glasgow home and SNP headquarters as part of their investigation.

Ms Sturgeon said she had "no prior knowledge" of Police Scotland's plans. The force said inquiries were ongoing.

In a statement, Police Scotland said Mr Murrell was arrested at 07:45 and released shortly before 19:00.

"Officers also carried out searches today at a number of addresses as part of the investigation," the statement added.

"A report will be sent to the Crown Office and Procurator Fiscal Service."

Mr Murrell resigned as SNP chief executive last month, after holding the post since 1999.

He has been married to Ms Sturgeon since 2010.

A spokesperson for the former first minister said she was not warned about Police Scotland's "action or intentions" before the arrest.

'difficult day'

They added: "Ms Sturgeon will fully cooperate with Police Scotland if required, however at this time no such request has been made."

Ms Sturgeon was succeeded last week as Scotland's first minister by Humza Yousaf.

Following Mr Murrell's arrest Mr Yousaf said that it was "a difficult day" for the SNP. He said his party had "fully cooperated" with police and would continue to do so.

Police activity continued at the Glasgow home of Mr Murrell and Ms Sturgeon on Wednesday evening.

Ms Sturgeon had been inside the house when officers arrived to make the arrest.

The house was sealed off with blue and white tape. A tent was erected on the driveway with a van parked inside.

Officers could also be seen searching a small shed and storage box in the back garden.

In Edinburgh at least six marked police vehicles were parked outside SNP HQ and officers carrying green crates and other equipment were seen going inside.

In July 2021 Police Scotland launched a formal investigation into the SNP's finances after receiving complaints about how donations were used.

'not concerned'

Questions had been raised about funds given to the party for use in a fresh independence referendum campaign.

Seven people made complaints and a probe was set up following talks with prosecutors.

Ms Sturgeon had insisted at the time that she was "not concerned" about the party's finances.

She said "every penny" of cash raised in online crowdfunding campaigns would be spent on the independence drive.

According to a statement, the SNP raised a total of £666,953 through referendum-related appeals between 2017 and

UNDER SUSPICION: Murrell was questioned while police searched the Sturgeons' Glasgow home and SNP headquarters as part of their investigation.

2020. The party pledged to spend these funds on the independence campaign.

Questions were raised after its accounts showed it had just under £97,000 in the bank at the end of 2019, and total net assets of about £272,000.

Last year it emerged Mr Murrell gave a loan of more than £100,000 to the SNP to help it out with a "cash flow" issue after the last election.

The then SNP's chief executive loaned the party

£107,620 in June 2021. The SNP had repaid about half of the money by October of that year.

At the time an SNP spokesman said the loan was a "personal contribution made by the chief executive to assist with cash flow after the Holyrood election".

He said it had been reported in the party's 2021 accounts, which were published by the Electoral Commission in August last year.

Weeks earlier, MP Douglas Chapman had resigned as party treasurer saying he had not been given the "financial information" to do the job.

Mr Murrell resigned last month after taking responsibility for misleading statements about a fall in party membership.

The number of members had fallen from the 104,000 it had two years ago to just over 72,000.

Murdoch calls off engagement

Rupert Murdoch has reportedly called off his engagement to his prospective fifth wife Ann Lesley Smith two weeks after announcing it.

Vanity Fair magazine this week said they "abruptly" cancelled the ceremony after he became "increasingly uncomfortable" with his radio host fiancée's evangelical views.

The executive-chairman of News Corporation, 92, forked out £2million for an 11-carat diamond engagement ring, which Ms Smith, 66, had been seen wearing just last week.

Their romance generated headlines around the world after they were photographed holidaying together in Barbados in January.

In February, the billionaire's Wall Street Journal reported he was set to buy a £24million flat in New York.

In March, he announced his engagement in another of his papers, the New York Post, saying: "I was very nervous. I dreaded falling in love – but I knew this would be my last. It better be. I'm happy."

Mr Murdoch added: "We're both looking forward to spending the second half of our lives together".

Ms Smith had called their relationship a "gift from God," adding that the pair shared the same beliefs.

The wedding ceremony was planned for the summer.

But the fairy tale appears to have ended as quickly as it started.

Ms Smith's first husband was railway heir John B Huntingdon and after they divorced she became a Christian and started preaching in the street in California.

Speaking later, she said that, after a "bitter" split, she found meaning in her life through religion.

Mr Murdoch's first marriage was in 1956 to air hostess Patricia Booker, mother of his eldest child Prudence.

His other children are daughter Elisabeth and sons Lachlan and James with his second spouse, Glasgow-born Anna Mann.

His daughters Chloe and Grace were with his third wife Wendi Deng.

Wendi was 38 years his junior when they married in 1999. She had worked for his Star TV in Hong Kong.

Mr Murdoch filed for divorce from her in 2013, and in 2016 he married American model Jerry Hall, who was 25 years younger than him.

They divorced in August 2022.

Nigel Lawson dies at 91

■ Tributes flow for former Chancellor, who was a key member of Mrs. Thatcher's Cabinet

TRIBUTES flowed this week after former Chancellor Nigel Lawson died at the age of 91.

The Tory champion of free market economics served in Mrs Thatcher's Cabinet from 1981 to 1989 and was the MP for Blaby in Leicestershire from 1974 to 1992.

Lord Lawson had six children including TV chef Nigella, journalist Dominic and Tom, the headmaster of Eastbourne College.

He served in the House of Lords from 1992 until he retired from politics last December 31, having backed Brexit and worked as president of Conservatives for Britain.

Rishi Sunak tweeted an image of himself when he was Chancellor which showed a picture of Lord Lawson in the background.

The Prime Minister said: "One of the first things I did as Chancellor was hang a picture of Nigel Lawson above my desk.

"He was a transformational Chancellor and an inspiration to me and many others.

"My thoughts are with his family and friends."

'economic radical'

Before moving into No 11 Downing Street, Lord Lawson had been Financial Secretary to the Treasury and also Energy Secretary.

He was Chancellor from June 1983 until he resigned in October 1989 following a row over one of Mrs Thatcher's advisors.

Former PM Boris Johnson wrote online: "Nigel Lawson was a fearless and original flame of free-market Conservatism.

"He was a tax-cutter and simplifier who helped transform the economic landscape and helped millions of British people achieve their dreams.

"He was a prophet of Brexit and a lover of continental Europe.

"He was a giant. My thoughts and prayers are with his family."

Brexit negotiator Lord Frost also paid tribute last night, saying: "Very sorry to hear this evening of the sad death of Nigel Lawson.

"A true economic radical, a supporter of Brexit, an early advocate of a more reasoned approach to climate change and the author of simply one of the best political memoirs ever."

Foreign Secretary James Cleverly also

joined in the praise, posting on Twitter last night: "Sad news that Nigel Lawson has died.

"A true statesman. His contributions to this nation will not be forgotten." While Deputy Prime Minister Dominic Raab posted: "Saddened to learn of the passing of Nigel Lawson.

"He was a giant who changed the political weather, a lodestar for Conservatives and a kind man always generous with his wisdom. My thoughts and prayers are with his family."

Greg Hands, the chairman of the Conservative Party, wrote online: "Am sad to learn of the passing of Nigel Lawson.

"He was active in @Conservatives politics until very recently, and will be remembered for his clarity of thinking, commitment to free market economics & willingness to challenge orthodoxies.

"Rest in peace, Nigel."

REVEALED: Animal rights radicals' plot to disrupt Grand National

MILITANT animal rights campaigners planned to storm the Grand National and glue themselves across the course, it was revealed this week.

Police and organisers of the iconic race promised a "robust" security operation for the tens of thousands of spectators due to enjoy the Aintree spectacle on April 15.

More than 100 protesters from Animal Rebellion – an offshoot of Extinction Rebellion – plotted to breach security fences using ladders and boltcutters.

They were then to form a human barricade straddling the four mile, two and half furlong course.

The conspiracy was exposed by an undercover reporter who infiltrated Animal Rebellion. Activists were filmed boasting about how they would "ruin" the event – which is expected to be viewed by 600 million people on TV across more than 140 countries.

One of the plot organisers bragged it would be the group's "biggest stunt ever".

Another ringleader claimed it would have worldwide impact.

She told militants at a "training day" the ambush would unfold to a soundtrack of rowdy spectators.

The woman said: "You feel nerves in your stomach and butterflies and feel anxious and sick. You start climbing that fence and you see security on the other side.

"You don't care. You know you are doing the right thing."

Yesterday Merseyside Police had been handed documents relating to the reporter's investigation.

It said: "We have a robust policing plan in place for Aintree, to ensure the safety and well being of everyone involved.

"We have been working with our partners, including The Jockey Club, for a number of months to ensure that plans and processes are in place to deal with any incidents that may arise.

"We respect the right to peaceful protest and expression of views, but public order or criminal offences will not be tolerated and will be dealt with robustly."

Fergie's 'are you in or out?' blast at Sussexes

THE Duchess of York has said Harry and Meghan need to stop "crying" and decide whether they are "in or out" of the Royal Family.

Sarah Ferguson's broadside over unfair treatment claims by the Duke and Duchess of Sussex comes a month before Harry's father Charles is crowned King.

US-based Harry, 38, and Meghan, 41, quit royal life in 2020. But they have aired grievances in public and in a fly-on-the-wall Netflix series and the Duke's memoir, Spare.

Sarah, 63, who was married to Prince Andrew for a decade until 1996 and still shares a home with him, said: "You can't have it both ways."

"You can't sit on the fence and keep one foot in and one foot out. You're either in or out."

"But then don't cry about not being invited to weddings. You chose to leave, now go and live it – and be it."

However, gran-of-two Sarah, who spent 12 years in America writing children's books and starring in reality TV shows, expressed some sympathy for the Sussexes' plight.

She admitted she felt "the pressures of being in the public eye" when she wed Andrew.

Sarah added: "I think social media probably makes it even more difficult today."

It is still not known whether Harry will attend his father's Coronation on May 6 at Westminster Abbey.

Grounded...Branson's space satellite launch company files for bankruptcy

Sir Richard Branson's Virgin Orbit has filed for bankruptcy in the US after failing to secure funding.

It comes after a company rocket failed to complete the first satellite launch into space from UK soil in January. Yesterday the firm lodged a filing with the US Bankruptcy Court in Delaware as it seeks to sell what is left of the business.

Last week the group said it would cut 675 jobs – 85 per cent of its workforce – as it searched for funding.

Virgin Orbit, which is based in California and is 75 per cent-owned by Virgin Group, suspended operations last month.

The investment business of Sir Richard has injected around £35million in recent weeks.

Boss Dan Hart called Virgin Orbit's launch tech "cutting-edge". He said the bankruptcy process "represents the best path forward to...a value-maximising sale".

13 members of Midlands gang jailed after 'shocking', decade-long abuse of children

CHILDREN as young as 12 were abused by a 21-strong gang in the largest child sex abuse case investigated by West Midlands Police.

The crimes against seven victims over nearly a decade in Walsall and Wolverhampton came to light after a hospital visit by one of them.

Thirteen offenders were jailed, while four await sentences. Eight women were convicted and the jail terms total more than 135 years.

The offences were described as "some of the most shocking abuse that I've seen" by DCS Paul Drover, head of investigations. The mammoth police probe, Operation Satchel, led to three trials which took place in the last 15 months.

They can now be reported, after the third court case resulted in four convictions this week.

It is believed all the victims were known to social services. A review into service failings is expected.

DCS Paul Drover added: "This has been a challenging and complex investigation. But at the heart of it has been seven children who suffered the most abhorrent and cruel abuse, not just physically but psychologically, leaving them in extreme trauma.

"Their welfare has been at the heart of this investigation and support for them will continue for many years. I commend their bravery."

Senior investigating officer Joanne Floyd who spent six years on the case said: "Our hearts go out to the victims.

"I want to stress how difficult this journey has been and how much courage these young people have shown."

Joanne Jakymec,

chief prosecutor at Wolverhampton Crown Court, said: "With the exception of one of the offenders who admitted what they had done, none of the rest have shown the slightest remorse."

The jailed are: David Baker, 41, of Willenhall – 20 years; from Walsall, James Evans, 38 – 18; Mark Smith, 34 – 19; Natalie Wellington, 44 – 16; Tracy Baker, 41 – 15;

Kirsty Webb, 36 – 10; Phillip Wellington, 50 – eight; Ann Clare, 43 – eight; Pamela Howells, 58 – seven; Lee Webb, 40 – six; Jason Evans, 25 – two years and six months.

David Evans, 72, of Redcar, was jailed for three-and-a-half years; Luke Baker, 22, of Willenhall, for two years, four months. Stephen Webb, 65, got an absolute discharge due to health conditions; Dean Webb, 35, and Jane Evans, 71 had two-year supervision and sexual harm prevention orders; Ryan Evans, 23, got a three-year community and 15-year sexual harm order.

Natasha Webb, 37, Matthew Evans, 32, John Griffiths, 66, and Violet Griffiths, 66, await sentence.

19 years on, DNA puts rapist in jail

A RAPIST who attacked a woman in a park two decades ago has been jailed after a DNA breakthrough.

Adrian Satchwell, 60, and another unidentified man pounced on the woman in Acton Park, west London, in 2004.

Police had his DNA but no match on their database. Their breakthrough came in 2017 when Satchwell was held over a sexual assault investigation and his DNA taken.

He was found guilty of rape and has now been sentenced to 10 years and six months at Isleworth Crown Court.

Detective Sergeant

Susan Phillips said despite the 19 years until the conviction "the Met has not given up and remained dedicated to putting the man responsible for this horrifying attack behind bars".

The victim thanked the police for their "tenacity". She called Satchwell "disgusting" and said: "To this day I suffer from panic attacks, chest pains and shaking."

Being 'cancelled' almost ruined my life, says Michael Vaughan

■ After being cleared of making racist remarks, former England captain blasts culture of being 'guilty until proven innocent'

Michael Vaughan has told of a two-year nightmare for him and his family before he was cleared of making racist remarks.

The former England captain said his life was almost destroyed after being "cancelled" – including by the BBC – as he was assumed to be "guilty until proven innocent".

On Friday, Vaughan was cleared of using racist language towards Azeem Rafiq, his ex-Yorkshire teammate, and three others at Trent Bridge in June 2009.

A disciplinary inquiry ruled he did not say to the players of South Asian heritage: "There's too many of you lot, we need to do something about that."

Vaughan, 48, burst into tears on hearing he had been cleared.

His wife, Nichola, had been taking beta-blockers for stress and waking up at night "crying her eyes out".

'cricket is my life'

Vaughan, awarded an OBE for leading England to Ashes glory in 2005, said: "She knows how hard I have worked for 32 years and she could see that it was falling apart. I got a sense people wanted to see the back of me.

"I've been telling people that I've not been watching cricket, putting this screen up to suggest that I could do without it. But cricket is my life. It's all I really know."

The dad of three attempted to protect his family. He said: "I've tried to stay strong. I said to Nichola, 'Even if it goes against us, it'll be fine,' knowing full well that it would not.

"She has struggled more than anybody. She's better today, but it's going to take time.

"My kids were getting direct messages, saying 'Your dad's a racist.' That's when I knew I was in a very difficult situation."

He worried about his parents Graham and Dee. He said: "In their last years they're going to be seeing their lad...

VAUGHAN: "My kids were getting direct messages, saying 'Your dad's a racist.'"

That hit me hard."

He said being "cancelled" is "so dangerous", adding: "You're now guilty until proven innocent. Whatever the accusation thrown at you, people on social media just will not allow you to carry on with your life while it's over your head.

"I hope that in time people realise that it's not a fair process when accusations hit somebody's doorstep and they're not allowed a proper process to clear their name before they get cancelled."

The BBC, who pulled Vaughan's Radio 5 show over the allegations, want him back as a commentator on Test Match Special for this summer's Ashes. He has still to make a decision on his return.

Easter trouble ahead, warns NI's top cop

The police have warned of the potential of public disorder linked to dissident republicans over the Easter period.

Chief Constable Simon Byrne has told a meeting of the Policing Board that the trouble could be an attempt to draw officers into gun or bomb attacks.

MI5 recently raised

Northern Ireland's terrorism threat level to severe, meaning an attack is highly likely.

Events are being held to mark the 25th anniversary of the signing of the Good Friday Agreement in 1998.

The deal ended 30 years of violent conflict in Northern Ireland, known as the Troubles, which cost the lives of more than 3,500 people.

In February senior detective John Caldwell suffered life-changing injuries when he was shot multiple times at a sports complex in Omagh, County Tyrone.

Police believe the dissident republican group the New IRA was behind the attack on the off-duty officer.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.STOXPOSTING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 106650-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. ## Merrie Olde England: new beer study reveals just how much we used to drink

- 16th century workers downed 6-10 pints of ale a day, says expert from Trinity College
- Beer guzzled in gallons in Tudor times, recreated by historians, was as strong as today lagers

IN A FASCINATING study which combines two of mankind's greatest pursuits—history and beer—a professor at Trinity College in Dublin has revealed that 16th century workers were probably drunk for most of the day.

Dr Susan Flavin and her team recently completed a project to recreate a historic beer by bringing together 16 historians, archaeologists, agronomists, microbiologists, brewing scientists, craftworkers, farmers and malt-makers to recreate a Tudor brewhouse...even going so far as to cultivate heritage crops for the project.

Beer provided to Tudor-era soldiers, servants and manual laborers in such large quantities, was comparable in strength and calorie content to modern lagers, a study reveals.

The recipe the team used is from the household accounts of Dublin Castle—an administrative and military centre of English rule in Ireland—for 1574. In that year, the household of the lord deputy, Sir William FitzWilliam, including officials, soldiers, servants, labourers and guests, consumed 479.25 hogsheads or 207,684 pints of beer altogether—equivalent to six to ten pints a day per head.

Remarkably, people doing hard labour drank even more. Contemporary Dublin records indicate that skilled masons working at the city's Christ Church cathedral consumed 10-12 pints daily and over 15 pints while engaged in the most onerous tasks.

Flavin explained that beer was seen as nutritious and strength-giving, and therefore a fitting part of a worker's diet. "Interestingly, employers spent the same amount on providing beer as bread, which shows how much of a staple it was. Labourers would also have had things like salt beef when it was not a fasting day, fish when it was a fasting day, cheese and butter, and some vegetables."

traditional techniques

In keeping with 16th-century beer brewing, the team used "bere" barley, which has been replaced by other types of barley in modern beers but preserved as a landrace in Orkney, Scotland. In the absence of historical and archaeological evidence about the oats that would have been used, they opted for oat malt of a type employed in modern craft brewing. The barley was malted at Warminster Maltings in Wiltshire using traditional techniques. The team also used a historic hop called Tolhurst that experts believe to be the closest surviving relative of the Flemish hops sent to the Elizabethan Dublin Castle brewhouse.

For their yeast, meanwhile, the team chose the strain closest genetically to the ancestral yeast, "Beer 1", to which all modern brewing strains can be traced. And as for water, one of their main reasons for choosing the Weald & Downland Museum in Sussex as their brewing site was that the local supply was alike in composition to that of Dublin.

Curators at the museum of historic buildings, near Chichester, allowed the researchers to borrow a Tudor farmhouse

GETTING THEM IN: "beer was seen as nutritious and strength-giving, and therefore a fitting part of a worker's diet."

TOTALLY AUTHENTIC: the brewhouse in Sussex was stocked with custom-made equipment reproduced exactly from historical texts kitchen and convert it into a brewhouse, with equipment made from scratch by specialist craftspeople based on Meltonville's research. The brewing was carried out over two weeks following 16th-century guides including the writings of Plat and English physician John Caius

slightly bitter

The process included grinding the malted grains and washing them in hot water to produce liquid wort. Hops in linen bags were added to the boiling wort and yeast was subsequently added to the cooled mixture, which was left for five to seven days before decanting.

Altogether, they produced three batches of Dublin Castle beer. The first batch was inconsistent with the second and third and the team put this down to learning from experience. Their analysis found that the final batches had 5-5.3 per cent ABV and energy contents of 260-272 calories per pint. These characteristics made the beer highly comparable to modern pub beverages.

So, how did it taste? According to the researchers, it was slightly bitter with a gentle flavour from the hops. It had a light honey colour and was hazy, probably due to the oats.

One misconception that Flavin is keen to scotch is that early modern people drank beer because water was considered dangerous. She said: "People didn't think about drinks or the body in the same way we do now. There are references to water being bad in the 16th century but when they said bad they meant bad because it was a 'cold' drink that could upset your constitution. It wasn't because it had microbes in it—they couldn't understand that. Beer was seen as good because it was a 'warm' drink and good for various medical reasons.

Certainly the Elizabethan lord chancellor of Ireland and churchman Archbishop Adam Loftus believed wholeheartedly in the benefits of beer. He wrote to Sir Robert Cecil in 1597 asking for malt to be sent to the English garrisons in Ireland, as beer would "greatly comfort the soldiers and prevent a lamentable weakness they fall into daily for want of drink, being driven only to live upon water, which in reason cannot be but one principal cause of so great a diminution of the army, as happeneth daily by sickness, death, and running away".

The undersigned or its predecessor caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.STOXPOSTING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 107065-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 313-3319, or visit this internet website www.clearreconcorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 107065-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by SHARON OURIAN in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that SHARON OURIAN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 05/04/23 at 8:30AM in Dept. 4 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Rodgers tipped to take over at Spurs

Brendan Rodgers is the current bookies' favourite to take over from Antonio Conte at Tottenham.

Spurs are looking for their fourth permanent manager in four years, following the reigns of Jose Mourinho, Nuno Espirito Santo and Conte since Mauricio Pochettino's exit. Rodgers is available after being sacked by Leicester City on Sunday, with the Foxes currently sitting in 19th position in the Premier League.

"I am obviously disappointed to depart so close to the end of the season and had every confidence that we would have delivered the results needed to preserve the Club's Premier League status," Rodgers said in a statement published by the League Managers Association.

"I would like to wish everybody at the club the very best of luck as they seek to continue to deliver on this objective.

Rodgers was replaced by interim manager Adam Sadler, who has called on the fans to help them in their battle to avoid the drop.

Tuesday's defeat by Aston Villa meant Leicester have the division's second-worst home record, with just three wins and eight defeats from 14 games this season.

RODGERS: 'obviously disappointed' at Foxes exit and Sadler wants the crowd to help the Foxes get a positive result.

"We want the players to get the full backing of the fans," he said. "We'd love and appreciate that.

"I thought the spirit was clear to see on Tuesday, even though the result didn't go our way.

"That was backed up by the fans. The King Power was really loud and fantastic. They really got behind the team [against Aston Villa] and we want the same on Saturday."

Another trophy for rampant Lionesses

England continued their remarkable unbeaten run to beat Brazil in a dramatic penalty shootout to win the first Women's Finalissima on Wednesday night.

Chloe Kelly, who scored the winning goal in the Euro 2022 final at Wembley last year, netted the deciding spot-kick and immediately ran over to celebrate with fans in the stands.

Brazilian substitute Andressa Alves had equalised in stoppage time to force the shootout after Ella Toone had given England a first-half lead.

It was a historic night at Wembley Stadium that saw the European champions sternly tested by Copa America winners Brazil, but ended with the familiar sight of captain Leah Williamson lifting a trophy.

The Lionesses were given their biggest test of the year by a talented, albeit injury-hit, Brazilian side but delivered more silverware as their momentum continues to gather pace before this summer's World Cup in Australia and New Zealand.

The shootout was a test of nerve and England came through it in another statement of their intent to deliver on the world stage in four months' time.

Coach Sarina Weigman, who has masterminded the team's 29 game unbeaten run, had expected England to be tested defensively at Wembley and they certainly were as the young Brazilian side created numerous chances in the second half, seeking an equaliser.

But England had controlled play from the first minute in front of 83,132 fans and they deserved their half-time lead and looked fully in control until Brazil made changes at the break and began to show their credentials in attack.

Barcelona forward Geyse caused all sorts of problems and came close to scoring for the visitors when goalkeeper Mary Earps tipped her long-range effort on to the crossbar.

England were hanging on in stoppage time until Earps, who was formidable throughout their Euro 2022 victory, made a rare error, fumbling a cross which fell at the feet of substitute Alves and she fired it into the roof of the net.

Lampard:

at Stamford Bridge when interim boss Roberto di Matteo led the club to Champions League glory as a caretaker before earning the job on a full-time basis.

Asked if he could follow a similar path, the former midfielder said: "It won't be my decision so again I don't want to jump forward to that.

"I understand I will get asked that question a lot. I have my eyes wide open. The important thing for me is to park that and focus on the job in hand."

Chelsea are 11th in the Premier League, 14 points behind fourth-placed Manchester United, despite having spent more than £550m on new players this season.

Announcing Lampard's appointment, co-owners Todd Boehly and Behdad Eghbali said: "We want to provide the club and our fans with a clear and stable plan for the remainder of the season.

"We want to give ourselves every chance of success and Frank has all of the characteristics and qualities we need to drive us to the finish line."

Lampard, who scored 211 goals in 648 games at Chelsea, said it was an "easy decision" to return. "This is my club," he said. "[I have] a lot of emotional feelings towards the club.

In his previous managerial spell, Lampard took over with the Blues under a transfer embargo but guided them to a fourth-place finish and the FA Cup final in his first season in charge.

After spending £200m the following summer on seven major signings, including current players Ben Chilwell and Kai Havertz, he could not replicate the early promise and was sacked by previous owner Roman Abramovich with the club ninth in the Premier League, having won only two of their previous eight games.

■ Toon tighten grip on top four as West Ham's relegation woes worsen

Champions League-chasing Newcastle capitalised on poor West Ham defending to rout David Moyes's men, 5-1 and pile more relegation worries onto the London side.

Callum Wilson and Joelinton put the visitors two ahead inside 15 minutes in Wednesday night's clash, before Kurt Zouma pulled one back.

But blunders by Nayef Aguerd and Lukasz Fabianski allowed Wilson to double his tally and Alexander Isak to add a fourth, with Joelinton making it five in stoppage time.

Defeat leaves West Ham outside of the relegation zone on goal difference.

Moyes' side are one of four teams on 27 points, alongside Everton, Nottingham Forest and 18th-place Bournemouth.

Newcastle remain

third and are now three points clear of fifth-placed Tottenham with a game in hand, following a fourth successive win for Eddie Howe's side.

While there have been a remarkable 13 managerial changes in the Premier League this season, Moyes has managed to remain in the West Ham dugout - however the Hammers' abysmal defending here has made his position even more tenuous.

After starting well - a low cross from Jarrod Bowen forcing Bruno Guimaraes to turn the ball onto his own post inside the first minute - the hosts were responsible for their own downfall.

For the opener, Thilo Kehrer headed a deep cross behind under no pressure. The resulting corner was half-cleared and Allan Saint-Maximin's cross found Wilson unmarked 12 yards out to head in - and the lapses steadily got worse for the home defence.

The second saw a single Fabian Schar long ball beat the whole backline, with Zouma failing to track the run of Joelinton while Emerson did not step up with his fellow defenders to play the Brazilian offside.

Joelinton rounded Fabianski to score and though the goal was

West Ham briefly woke up and pulled one back when Nick Pope was caught under a Bowen corner, allowing Zouma to powerfully head in and give some hope to the home fans.

But seconds into the second half Aguerd dawdled on a rolled ball from Fabianski, allowing Jacob Murphy to steal the ball and square for a Wilson tap-in.

The defensive shambles coup de grace was saved for the fourth as the Polish keeper rushed out of his goal and miscontrolled a long ball, allowing Isak to lob into an empty net.

By the final whistle London Stadium was half-empty, with Moyes left looking nervously over his shoulder.

Lamps back in at Chelsea.... for now

Frank Lampard says he will "focus on the job in hand" after being named Chelsea's caretaker manager, rather than trying to land the role full-time.

Lampard (pictured) has completed a surprise return to Chelsea for the rest of the season, replacing the sacked Graham Potter.

The club say Lampard will take charge while they carry out an "exhaustive process" to find a permanent boss.

"I want to do the best possible role I can and after that we will see what happens," the 44-year-old said.

"I am not getting anywhere ahead of myself."

Lampard, who has been out of a job since he was dismissed by Everton in January, previously managed Chelsea from July 2019 until he was sacked in January 2021.

His first game will be away to Wolves in the Premier League on Saturday before a Champions League quarter-final first leg against Real Madrid on Wednesday.
