

HUW DIRTY DOG!

Wife outs 'deeply sorry' veteran BBC presenter in scandal which gripped the nation

IN A CASE which has gripped Britain for much of the past week, veteran BBC presenter Huw Edwards has been revealed as the mystery man behind an alleged cash-for-pictures scandal with a minor.

For almost a week before Thursday's reveal, speculation was rife after The Sun newspaper broke a story claiming an unidentified presenter for the BBC had been accused of paying thousands of pounds to a young person, now 20, over a number of years, for explicit photographs.

In an interview, the mother of the young person involved expressed her concern at the payments and her worry they were funding her child's crack cocaine habit.

Over subsequent days, a drip-feed of further allegations were published by the Sun, and then by BBC News, which reports independently on the BBC as if it were any other organisation. But due to stringent privacy and defamation laws governing how the UK media report stories and identify subjects of allegations, Edwards was not named until his wife went public.

Vicky Flind, in a prepared statement said her husband was "deeply sorry" for the problems he had caused colleague and that he was "suffering serious mental health issues".

She also revealed that he is currently being treated in hospital after suffering a "serious episode".

Ms Flind added that the BBC's star newsreader, who is 61 and has five children, will "respond to the stories that have been published" when he is well enough.

She revealed that Mr Edwards, who is known as the "Face of the BBC" after four decades working for the corporation, was first told of the allegations being made against him on Thursday July 6.

Her statement came as the Metropolitan Police said that no criminal offence had been committed by the presenter.

Meanwhile, the BBC confirmed that he has not resigned from his job.

'mental health issues'

Ms Flind said: "I am doing this primarily out of concern for his mental well-being and to protect our children."

She added: "Huw is suffering from serious mental health issues. As is well documented, he has been treated for severe depression in recent years.

"The events of the last few days have greatly worsened matters. He has suffered another serious episode and is now receiving in-patient hospital care where he'll stay for the foreseeable future.

"I know that Huw is deeply sorry that so many colleagues have been impacted by the recent media speculation."

The statement came after the Metropolitan Police confirmed they had completed an assessment of the case and would be taking no further action.

A spokesman said: "Detectives from the Met's specialist crime command have now concluded their assessment and have determined there is no information to indicate that a criminal offence has been committed."

Welsh-born Mr Edwards has presented the flagship News At Ten bulletin for more than 20 years and is one of the highest-paid stars at the BBC, on a salary of around £430,000.

The award-winning broadcaster has also led coverage of the highest-profile royal events, including the King's Coronation this year, the funerals of the late Queen and Prince Philip and the weddings of Princes William and Harry.

The anchorman broke the news of the Queen's death last September.

'duty of care'

A spokesman for the BBC said: "We have seen the statement from the police confirming they have completed their assessment and are not taking further action.

"The police had previously asked us to pause our fact-finding investigations and we will now move forward with that work, ensuring due process and a thorough assessment of the facts, while continuing to be mindful of our duty of care to all involved."

The announcements bring to an end a fraught five-day period for the presenter, who was suspended last weekend after allegations of impropriety were made public.

Amid a growing furore over how the BBC failed to act on the complaint from the first young person's family, corporation bosses held an online meeting with the Metropolitan Police on Monday.

Three other young people came forward in the ensuing days to describe contact they also allegedly had with Mr Edwards.

A second young person claimed they had met the presenter on a dating app and alleged that he sent them abusive and "expletive-filled" messages.

Mr Edwards, who is a devout Christian, allegedly broke Covid lockdown rules to visit a third person aged 23 at their flat in February 2021.

The person claimed that the alleged meeting came after they met on a dating site in November 2020. The said: "He came round for an hour - we just chatted."

The new baby is Carrie and Boris Johnson's third child together

Homer is where the heart is for Boris

■ Former PM's wife gives birth to Frank Alfred Odysseus Johnson

Carrie and Boris Johnson have announced the birth of their third child, a second son.

Carrie Johnson, in the caption of an Instagram post with a picture of her holding the newborn, joked: "Welcome to the world Frank Alfred Odysseus Johnson born 5th July at 9.15am. (Can you guess which name my husband chose?!)"

The former prime minister Boris Johnson is keen to be thought of as a scholar of the classics. In Greek mythology, Odysseus leaves behind his wife and child to seek adventure, encountering many other women along the way.

Carrie Johnson added: "Am loving every minute of the sleepy baby bubble. Seeing my older two embrace their new brother with such joy and excitement has been the most wonderful thing to see. We are all very smitten.

'immense gratitude'

"Thank you so much to the incredible NHS maternity team at UCLH. They really are the most amazing, caring people. I feel such immense gratitude. Now, can anyone recommend any good series/box sets to binge while breastfeeding? Time for a drink."

Ever controversial, the Eton-educated Johnson has always refused to say how many children he has in total. He is known to have fathered at least eight so far, by at least three different women. He had four children with his ex-wife Marina Wheeler, and another in 2009 with the arts consultant Helen Macintyre, with whom he had an affair.

The Johnsons' first child, a son named Wilfred, was born in April 2020. In May 2021 the couple married in secret at Westminster Cathedral, and in December that year it was announced they had had a baby girl, whom they named Romy Iris Charlotte.

Frank is their first child born since Boris Johnson left Downing Street last year, having losing the confidence of the Conservative party over his handling of several scandals.

The Huw Edwards Scandal: an explainer

For twenty years, Huw Edwards anchored the BBC's flagship News at Ten programme, watched by millions each weeknight.

But now he has been identified as the presenter at the centre of allegations about inappropriate conduct, following five days of speculation and mounting claims published across Britain's media, including by colleagues at BBC News.

As the BBC's most senior news anchor, Edwards has been a fixture of some of the UK's most historic national moments.

The 61-year-old was the person who informed millions of television viewers across the world that Queen Elizabeth II had died. His voice has narrated royal funerals, weddings and the coronation of King Charles III. And he has announced general election results.

mental health episode

In a statement on his behalf on Wednesday, Edwards' wife Vicky Flind revealed that he was the presenter involved and said he was in hospital after a serious mental health episode.

He would respond to the stories published about him when well enough to do so, she said. "It is a reminder that the last few days have seen personal lives played out in public," BBC director general Tim Davie wrote to staff. "At the heart of this are people and their families."

Unlike the United States, the UK does not have a sweeping First Amendment to protect free speech and therefore most news reporting.

A combination of privacy and defamation laws govern how the UK media report stories and identify subjects of allegations.

Since a major UK Supreme Court ruling last year, the right to privacy includes people who are under investigation by a law enforcement agency - meaning the stage before they have been formally charged with a crime and sent to the courts.

Edwards was never under formal investigation by police.

Meanwhile, UK defamation law protects any individual's reputation from the massive harm caused by lies.

It was famously invoked in the UK by Johnny Depp in his case against a UK tabloid, which was forced to defend its description of him as a "wife beater". The tabloid's defence relied on testimony from Depp's ex-wife Amber Heard, and Depp lost his libel case in London.

As if to demonstrate the differences in the UK's legal landscape, Depp later won an almost identical case in the US, prompting a settlement from Heard.

So the decision not to name Edwards for so long rested on the high legal risk of a case being brought under privacy or defamation laws - or even a combination of these.

The denial of the initial allegations by the young person involved further raised the bar in terms of naming the presenter.

This latest scandal follows several high-profile crises at the BBC.

In recent years, it has faced major questions over how it handled false allegations against the singer Sir Cliff Richard in 2018, what it knew about prolific paedophile Jimmy Savile at the BBC, and even how it secured its controversial interview with Diana, Princess of Wales in the 1990s.

Outside the UK, the BBC is largely funded through advertising. But in Britain, it is paid for by a publicly funded licence fee - a mandatory charge levied on every household with a television.

It supplies households with television content, including news, live sport, dramas and current affairs programmes. It broadcasts across dozens of local and national radio stations. It offers a streaming platform, news and sport websites, and even an app for weather forecasts.

The BBC's public funding model in the UK rightly leads to scrutiny of the BBC and those who work for it. It also raises criticism, of the licence fee, its output, and of the BBC's dominant position in the UK media landscape.

Tourists love when it's pouring....pints

FORGET Stonehenge and the Tower of London, all tourists want to do in Britain, apart from shelter from the rain, is go on a pub crawl.

A walking tour of London's best boozers has the highest rating for overseas visitors on travel site Tripadvisor, and was named "top overall experience".

Other popular activities include a cruise on the River Thames, a Harry Potter tour and a walk around Oxford University.

A visit to Celtic's football ground Celtic Park in Glasgow, a trip to The Chocolarium in Edinburgh and the Jack the Ripper tour in London's East End also made it into the top 10 of most popular tourist experiences. But a pub crawl, with a guide to explain the significance of the buildings and reveal where famous Londoners from history liked to down a pint, came top overall, winning a Travellers' Choice Award.

A Tripadvisor spokesman said: "We award Travellers' Choice Best of the Best to experiences and attractions with a high volume of above and beyond reviews and opinions from our community over a 12-month period."

The website described the pub tours as a way to "experience London's traditional drinking scene on an afternoon pub crawl".

It added: "Accompany your guide on a fun and educational tour in and around the city, where you'll visit at least four historic pubs and taste different brews [own expense].

"Pop into centuries-old ale houses, see literary haunts favoured by writers like Charles Dickens, and learn about local drinking culture through the ages."

Charles laughs off a touching experience with Joe Biden

■ King 'entirely comfortable' with President patting him on the back, says Palace source

King Charles was entirely comfortable with being touched by President Biden at their friendly Windsor Castle summit on Monday.

The US President, 80, technically broke protocol by repeatedly placing his hand on the monarch as they met inside the quadrangle at Windsor ahead of a discussion about climate change.

As the two men prepared to listen to a rendition of the US National Anthem, played by the Welsh Guards, Mr Biden put his hand on the King's back.

The two men also laughed as they chatted together, signaling that they get on well.

'warmth and affection'

Responding to the contact, a source inside Buckingham Palace said: "His Majesty the King is entirely comfortable with that kind of contact — and what a wonderful symbol of warmth and affection it was between both the individuals and their nations."

Mr Biden met the King after spending just 42 minutes meeting Prime Minister Rishi Sunak at Number 10 Downing Street in London.

As Charles's guest, the President walked in front of the King as he inspected the Welsh Guards in the quadrangle at the castle.

The President's meeting with the King came after a phone conversation earlier this year that Biden's national security adviser, Jake Sullivan, described as 'incredibly warm'.

But despite the upbeat assessment of the Palace to observers it did seem as though the King briefly lost his patience when he tried to Biden to move along during their meeting.

Mr Biden appeared reluctant to end his conversation when Charles tried to get him to stop talking during their inspection of the Welsh Guards in the middle of a welcome ceremony.

'anti-British'

At one point, the monarch tried to get Mr Biden to keep walking while he spoke to one of the guards. The president stood and kept chatting while the King tried, and failed, to get him to keep moving.

Charles then appeared to direct his anger at the guard before walking away with the president.

In right wing British circles allegations have long circulated that Biden, a proud Irish-American, is anti-British.

The director of the Heritage Foundation's Margaret Thatcher Center for Freedom suggested that much of the commander-in-chief's 'disdain' for Britain stems from its recent decision to leave the European Union.

'Biden hates Brexit. His top advisers intensely dislike Brexit. They are pro-German, pro-French and pro-Brussels. It's a reflection of the misguided mindset in this White House,' he said.

Earlier during his British trip, Mr Biden tried to quash claims he is anti-British by sipping tea with Mr Sunak in the garden of 10 Downing Street.

'BREACH OF PROTOCOL'? some British media outlets were not happy...

The president said US-British relations are 'rock solid' and hammered home that he and Mr Sunak had held talks multiple times in recent months.

It follows a trip to Northern Ireland and Ireland where he was accused of snubs and anti-British jibes.

'It's good to be back,' he said, joking, 'We've only been meeting once a month.'

Sex sleaze rumours were 'usual for Spacey'

Young actors were "always" hearing rumours about Kevin Spacey's alleged sexual advances on men in the UK, a court heard.

The Oscar winner, 63, is accused of a string of sex attacks on four men between 2001 and 2013.

Friends of one alleged victim this week said he told them how he drank with Spacey before he fell asleep, then woke to find the actor performing a sex act on him. One told jurors there was "always chatter" about The Usual Suspects star "chatting younger lads up", so it was "a bit of a thing [we young men] would joke about".

When Spacey rang the aspiring actor to invite him out for a drink, his friends did not think "it would turn into anything more serious" despite "a lot of rumours going round", Southwark Crown Court heard.

But the first time friends saw him after the alleged attack by Spacey, another friend recalled: "He was not himself. He was [normally] very confident, always cracking jokes...

"He just looked grey... We were all very excited because he had come back from this, we were asking questions...

"He gave one-word answers saying they had some drinks and went back to Spacey's flat, that was about it."

Almost a decade later, the man explained in full what he claims occurred and was "deeply upset", with a friend saying: "He said it destroyed him.

"It was quite hyperbolic. He mentioned he was still affected by the incident.

"He said 'It has destroyed me, it has messed me up' or something like that."

The US star denies charges including indecent assault and sexual assault.

The trial continues.

Charlie Watts' book collection set to drum up a fortune

■ Late Rolling Stone was avid collector of modern literature and jazz memorabilia

He was best known as the drummer for the Rolling Stones, but away from the stage Charlie Watts was an avid collector of modern literature.

His library contained dozens of rare first editions, including signed first editions of F Scott Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby and Arthur Conan Doyle's The Hound Of The Baskervilles.

Now, two years after his death, some of those gems will be put up for auction.

The drummer's collection of jazz memorabilia is also being sold.

Christie's, which is hosting the auction, will display the highlights in New York, Los Angeles and London ahead of the sale on 28-29 September.

The signed copy of Gatsby leads the auction, with an estimated price of £200,000-300,000.

Fitzgerald dedicated the book to MGM Screenwriter Harold Goldman, with whom he worked on the 1938

Robert Taylor and Vivien Leigh comedy A Yank In Oxford.

The inscription reads: "For Harold Goldman, the original 'Gatsby' of this story, with thanks for letting me reveal these secrets of his past".

Also for sale is a proof copy of Evelyn Waugh's Brideshead Revisited, which the author sent to friends for their comments in 1944. Waugh later made several changes to the novel, including rewriting the ending and changing some names.

The first edition of the Sherlock Holmes' adventure Hound Of The Baskervilles is signed with the comment: "I perambulated Dartmoor before I wrote this book," a reference to the book's setting.

Other highlights include rare and first editions of books by Agatha Christie, PG Wodehouse and James Joyce.

"He took great pleasure in owning these things," says Paul Sexton, who wrote Watts' authorized biography, Charlie's Good Tonight.

ROCK N' ROLL DANDY: "If somebody was wearing a particular shirt on one of their classic album covers, then he had to have that shirt."

"He valued his time at home and he would read on the road, so literature was a very important part of his make-up."

He added: "I don't think he acquired them because he knew they would become valuable, he just took a huge satisfaction in owning these great works and tracking down, with the help of experts, original first editions."

But his life's biggest obsession was jazz.

He started collecting jazz recordings and related ephemera in his teens, and that only accelerated once the Rolling Stones started making money.

"He was hugely influenced not just by the sound of jazz, but the look of jazz, as well," says

Sexton.

"If somebody was wearing a particular shirt on one of their classic album covers, then he had to have that shirt. It was completely informed by his almost hero worship of these musicians... because he just didn't think of himself as their equal."

"His love of jazz never left him," adds Green, who called Watts' collection "truly astonishing".

Spider-man star Tom Holland: getting sober "the best thing I've ever done"

Spider-man star Tom Holland has said getting sober is "the best thing I've ever done" after admitting he had become "enslaved" to alcohol.

The British actor, 27, (right) said his journey to quit alcohol began with "a very, very boozy" Christmas last year.

But after deciding to do dry January, he said, "All I could think about was having a drink. It really scared me.

"I just was like 'Wow, maybe I have a little bit of an alcohol thing?'"

He said the realisation prompted him to extend his no-drinking rule for another month, but he found it hard to resist Britain's booze culture.

"I felt like I couldn't be social," he said. "I felt like I couldn't go to the pub and have a lime soda. I couldn't go out for dinner. I was really struggling.

"I just sort of said to myself... 'Why? Why am I enslaved to this drink? Why am I so obsessed by the idea of having this drink?'"

He set himself a target of going six months without drinking, and achieved it on his 27th birthday on June 1. He said he was "the happiest I've ever been in my life", adding: "I could sleep better. I could handle problems better. Things that would go wrong on set, that would normally set me off, I could take in my stride. I had such better mental clarity. I felt healthier, fitter.

"I was definitely addicted to alcohol. I'm not shying away from that at all," he told the On Purpose with Jay Shetty podcast.

Epstein's plan to hire Prince

PAEDOPHILE Jeffrey Epstein proposed Prince Andrew for a lucrative role as his "star adviser", bombshell emails suggest.

The late billionaire mooted the outcast royal, 63, alongside ex-New Labour mastermind Peter Mandelson. It came after US financier Epstein was freed in 2009 from an 18-month jail sentence for child prostitution offences.

Twenty-two pages of emails between Epstein and his private banker, Jes Staley, emerged during a sex trafficking case filed against bank JP Morgan, where Epstein was a client, by the US Virgin Islands.

One from Epstein to Mr Staley said: "I need to decide how to gear up my advisory business... Hire 5-10 stars? Larry? Peter? Andrew?" It is understood "Larry" was ex-US treasury secretary Larry Summers.

It is not thought any took up the role with Epstein, 66, who killed himself in jail in 2019. A spokesman for Lord Mandelson, 69, said the peer "had no knowledge" of the emails. Andrew did not respond to a request for comment.

A 2019 report by JP Morgan also suggests Andrew, who insisted on TV his last contact with Epstein was in December 2010, could have been in touch later.

It says in February 2011, Epstein told Mr Staley: "Andrew asked for your London schedule." Andrew and Lord Mandelson were introduced to Epstein by UK socialite Ghislaine Maxwell, 61. She is now serving 20 years in the US for helping Epstein procure girls.

An emotional Sir Elton waves goodbye, telling fans they will stay in his 'head, heart and soul'

■ 4,000 gigs and 53 years later, rock legend calls it day

AN emotional Sir Elton John waved goodbye to touring on Sunday, telling fans they will stay in his "head, heart and soul" on the final night of his spectacular farewell tour.

Saturday's gig in Stockholm, Sweden, brought the curtain down on the icon's 330-date Farewell Yellow Brick Road run, which kicked off in 2018.

And the 76-year-old said: "Well, this is it...so we better make it a good show."

Elton wore four dazzling costumes during the two-and-a-half hour set, which featured 23 of his hits.

And he was watched by partner David Furnish and their sons Elijah, 10, and Zachary, 12.

David, 60, later tweeted a touching clip of the boys waving him off as he left the stage, writing: "And off he goes... Finally off the road and into the sunset."

But while Elton confirmed he will "never be touring again", he said he may do a "one-off thing". And signing off with Goodbye Yellow Brick Road, he told fans: "I've had the most wonderful career, 52 years of pure joy. It's been my lifeblood to play for you guys. I will never forget you. You're in my head, and my heart and my soul."

Elton has donemore than 4,000 shows in over 80 countries since his first tour in 1970. And his farewell is thought to be the first tour to hit £700million in ticket sales.

"I've had the most wonderful career....it's been my lifeblood to play for you guys"

Wimbledon prices a bit of racket, say disgruntled fans

TENNIS fans have branded Wimbledon a bit of a racket due to its "extortionate" prices.

Some complained about the "overpriced" champagne, with half-bottles £42 and full ones more than £87 – while two coffees set one visitor back £9.60.

Programmes were £12, while a large Pimm's was £8.50, a knitwear teddy £24 and a women's Varsity shirt £89.

Visitor Dean Clark said: "It's extortionate sometimes but people pay the prices.

"While they're paying it, they're going to charge it."

Susie Edmondson, 59, of Surrey, said: "It's what you expect from a corporation as slick as this. You are not going to find a bargain."

Brother Alan Hyde, 62, from Somerset, added: "It is a prestige sporting event. Our focus is on the ticket price and being as self-sufficient as possible."

'increased costs'

The siblings took their own picnic and bottle of champagne. Many fans on Henman Hill also brought their own bubbly to make the trip to SW19 cheaper during the cost-of-living crisis.

First-time visitor Sarah Furey, 36, from Preston, said: "We managed to bring in a bottle of cava each. The champagne is overpriced here. Coffee was £9.60 for two. Two sandwiches and a packet of crisps is £11, which is reasonable. You are able to bring a bottle of wine in here as well. We didn't expect that."

Mother Wendy, 65, who first visited in 1981, said: "The strawberries and cream were £2.50 and the best I've had. We brought our own picnic, a lot of events do not have that option."

They were bound for Centre Court to see Elina Svitolina beat Iga Swiatek and the defending champion, Novak Djokovic, overcome Andrey Rublev.

Elsewhere, Kim Deadman, 42, from London, said: "The strawberries are the same price but we brought our own prosecco.

"It's good you can bring in wine or canned drinks, unlike at Wembley. The merchandise is expensive and there are some expensive restaurants. Tickets are quite expensive but you can get in on a ground pass [for £27] – they try to make it accessible."

The All England Club said some prices had risen due to inflation. It added: "The price of strawberries has remained fixed at £2.50 since 2010.

"We also remain one of the few events to allow guests to bring their own food and drink.

"We are very conscious of the economic climate and have made every effort to absorb most of the increased costs of staging the event."

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: PERRY ROY RUBENSTEIN CASE NO. 23STPB06839

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of PERRY ROY RUBENSTEIN. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by CARL HESSEL in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that IRA BIBBERO be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act with limited authority. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 08/02/23 at 8:30AM in Dept. 67 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

"NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid on a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of the outstanding lien that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one

Wimbledon nets some love from Sir Cliff, Camilla and Tom

SIR Cliff Richard and Marvel star Tom Hiddleston were among celebrities cheering SW19's sporting superheroes this week, as organisers vowed to beef-up security against eco-protests.

Sir Cliff, 82, and actor Tom, 42, joined other famous names enjoying the Centre Court thrills on Sunday, including Queen Camilla.

Top matches included Serbian star Novak Djokovic, 36, who was roared on by wife Jelena, 37, as he beat Poland's Hubert Hurkacz.

American Vogue editor-in-chief Dame Anna Wintour, 73, was in the Royal Box with broadcaster Sir Trevor Phillips, 69, actor David Harewood, 57, and his wife, Kirsty Handy.

Later, Djokovic, bidding to win his eighth Wimbledon title, backed fans' criticism of late-starting top matches being halted overnight – despite them notching up higher viewing figures.

He joined calls for earlier starts on show courts.

BRAD Pitt enjoyed role position at the British Grand Prix as he called in to shoot his new Formula One film at the British Grand Prix at Silverstone last weekend.

The Hollywood icon, 59, declared "I'm having the time of my life" as he mingled with drivers on the grid and stood for the national anthem.

The as-yet untitled film is co-produced by seven-time F1 champion Lewis Hamilton with Top Gun: Maverick's Joe Kosinski directing.

Brad and Joe joined the drivers' briefing, introducing themselves and thanking the F1 stars for accepting any inconvenience they caused.

Hamilton called it "probably the best drivers' briefing we've ever had". Fellow Mercedes driver George Russell said Brad was "one of the boys. adding: "So excited to see what the movie does."

But world champion Max Verstappen, who went on to win the race, dismissed it as a "little bit of a show", adding: "I can't be bothered with this!"

The film's converted F2 cars drove part of the formation lap with former racers-turned-stuntmen Craig Dolby and Luciano Bacheta at the wheel.

Pitt, whose character is called Sonny Hayes, was also driving during the quiet slots in the Silverstone schedule.

He joked: "Any spinouts, or something that looks like a stall – it's by design!"

it was joy unlimited for the winners of the latest Brits in LA Pub Quiz, Huge Edwards, as they saw off a packed pub of rivals to take home the garden gnome trophy and free drinks.

Among the chasing pack at O'Briens on Wilshire were Barbenheimer (above) who were ecstatic with their consolation prize of a potato.

Join the quest for trivia glory next Tuesday, July 18, where Sandro Monetti again hosts and the winning smile could be yours.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF PHILIP BAILEY HARRINGTON aka PHILIP B. HARRINGTON

Case No. 23STPB06921

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of PHILIP BAILEY HARRINGTON aka PHILIP B. HARRINGTON

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Anne Rabeuf in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Anne Rabeuf be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on July 28, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 44 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF DAVID W. PASCHEN aka DAVID PASCHEN

Case No. 23STPB07121

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of DAVID W. PASCHEN aka DAVID PASCHEN

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Dorothy J. Nowack in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Dorothy J. Nowack be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the amended petition will be held on August 10, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 79 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

England's young guns lift Euro U21 trophy

England won the European Under-21 Championship for the first time in nearly 40 years on Sunday night after a dramatic last-minute penalty save by James Trafford ensured the Young Lions held on to beat Spain.

Spain soon came into the match, with Alex Baena curling an effort past Trafford's post before scuffing another effort wide after he had picked up a loose pass by Gibbs-White.

Chelsea defender Levi Colwill headed against the crossbar from an excellent delivery from Palmer, before the Manchester City man gave England the lead when his free-kick was deflected in by Liverpool's Jones.

The half ended with bad blood as Palmer's celebration led to a melee between both benches, which resulted in England coach Ashley Cole and Spanish fitness coach Carlos Rivera being sent to the stands.

The match ended in dramatic style when Colwill - so highly rated by England's staff following his week training with the senior team - was judged to have fouled Ruiz in the box.

Trafford got down well to save the resulting penalty and an immediate follow-up to give England victory and spark scenes of jubilation.

The bad blood continued, however, with nine yellow and four red cards handed out by the final whistle, as Gibbs-White and Antonio Blanco were both sent off in the final throes.

They are also the first team to record six successive clean sheets in the tournament's history. The Young Lions have played an exciting brand of football in Georgia, with a side packed with attacking talent.

England started the final positively, with Newcastle's Anthony Gordon having the first meaningful chance when his shot was pushed wide by Spain keeper Tenas.

Gordon was then involved again as he looked to tee up Morgan Gibbs-White before an interception from Jon Pacheco prevented the Nottingham Forest player from having a tap in.

England were under immense pressure during the second period, and it looked to have paid off for Spain when Ruiz headed in from a Baena cross, only for the offside flag to go up. Ruiz had another chance to equalise, but headed wide from inside the six-yard box.

Villa confirm Torres signing

Aston Villa have announced the signing of Spain centre-back Pau Torres from Villarreal for a reported £31.5m.

Torres, 26, played under Villa boss Unai Emery with the Spanish club between 2020 and 2023.

The defender, who joined Villarreal's youth academy in 2003, played a pivotal role as the Yellow Submarine finished fifth in La Liga last season.

He made 173 appearances for his boyhood team, scoring 12 times, and has played 23 times for Spain.

Torres made his first Villarreal appearance in 2016, becoming the first player born in the small Valencian town to debut for the club in 13 years.

He quickly established

Pau Torres: reunited with former boss Unai Emery at Villa Park himself as a key player in the squad, winning the 2021 Europa League under Emery when he was among the scorers in the penalty shootout victory over Manchester United.

Torres made his debut for Spain in 2019 and has played both at Euro 2020 and the 2022 World Cup. He is Aston Villa's second summer signing, after Belgium midfielder Youri Tielemans arrived on a free transfer from relegated Leicester City.

Villa finished seventh in the Premier League last season, securing qualification for the Europa Conference League.

Dunk signs new Brighton deal

Brighton captain Lewis Dunk has signed a new three-year contract at the Amex Stadium.

Dunk went past the 400-appearance mark for the Seagulls last season and helped them qualify for the Europa League. Dunk's previous terms weren't due to expire for two more years, but he has flourished under manager Roberto De Zerbi and will now be contracted to the club until 2026.

De Zerbi said: "Long live the captain! I'm happy he has signed. Good news for Lewis and the club."

Centre-back Dunk received praise from the Italian for 'playing through the pain' during the final weeks of the last campaign, but he had to pull out of the England squad for their June qualifiers.

Dunk, 31, made his debut for Brighton in 2010 and has been a key figure in their journey from League One to the Premier League.

He has stated his desire to finish his career as a one-club man.

Mount debut leaves ten Hag purring

Mason Mount will bring "dynamism" to Manchester United's midfield, according to manager Erik ten Hag.

The 24-year-old midfielder impressed on his first 45 minutes for the club, as they opened their pre-season with a 2-0 win over Leeds United in Oslo.

Mount, who signed from Chelsea for £55m, played the first half before 11 changes were made at the break.

"He will bring dynamism into our game and that was one of our conclusions last season," Ten Hag told MUTV.

"His vision is to play the offensive. But also he wants to be multi-functional, he wants to be complete.

"When you're playing in midfield, you have to attack, but you also you have to defend. We need to be more dynamic in the midfield department.

"I'm sure he will contribute to the success of United because he is a quality player."

Ten Hag's starting XI was a combination of youth and experience, with Lisandro Martinez, Raphael Varane and Jadon Sancho joined by young prospects such as Kobbie Mainoo and Omari Forson.

German manager Daniel Farke took charge of his first game in charge of Leeds, who are preparing for life back in the Championship following relegation last season.

But the breakthrough came on 67 minutes as 18-year-old Norwegian Isak Hansen-Aaroen played in Frenchman Noam Emeran who slid the opener past Dani van den Heuvel.

Emeran then turned provider for Joe Hugill to seal the win 10 minutes from time.

Mount created a big opening in the 10th minute, passing in behind for Amad Diallo to tee up Hannibal Mejbri but the Tunisian was denied by a smart save from Leeds goalkeeper Kristoffer Klaesson.

Moments later the England midfielder was involved again, winning the ball back before attempting a delicate chip over Klaesson from 25 yards which landed on the roof of the net.

"It felt great to be on the pitch," said Mount. "We have had that time in training and we have been working so hard, so it is great to show that in matches now. We have been working on a few different tactics," he said.

"I really liked the role I was in today. Being able to drop in and build up the play from a bit deeper, but with that license to go forwards and make runs into the box and be involved in more attacks.

"I like to start off the press, to give the opposition something to think about and then to combine that with an attacking threat and rhythm of our own."

Manchester United's pre-season continues with a match against Lyon in Edinburgh on Wednesday before they head to the United States for games against Arsenal, Wrexham, Real Madrid and Borussia Dortmund.

England unchanged for fourth Test

Stokes's men in buoyant mood after Headingley heroics brings Ashes series back to 2-1

England have named an unchanged 14-player squad for the fourth Ashes Test at Old Trafford.

It means there is no place for Surrey wicketkeeper Ben Foakes, with Jonny Bairstow set to retain the gloves.

Ollie Pope is absent after suffering a shoulder injury during the second Test at Lord's that has ruled him out for the rest of the summer.

England won the third Test by three wickets in thrilling fashion on Sunday to leave the series 2-1 to Australia with two Tests to play.

The fourth Test starts on Wednesday, 19 July.

Seam bowler James Anderson was rested for the third Test but could be recalled for the match at his home ground.

The 40-year-old could come in for Ollie Robinson, who suffered a back spasm during Australia's first innings and did not bowl for the rest of the match.

Josh Tongue is also pushing for a recall after impressing during the second Test at Lord's, though Mark Wood and Chris Woakes both made match-winning contributions at Headingley on their first Test appearances of the summer.

Wood was named player-of-the-match after taking seven wickets and is confident he will be fit for the remainder for the series, while Woakes took six wickets and scored a crucial unbeaten 32 in England's second innings to see them over the line.

Headingley has seen its share of nerve-shredding finales in Test Match cricket but this was one of the most memorable.

Harry Brook hit a superb 75 after England seemed to have faltered but it was left to bowlers Chris Woakes and Mark Wood to drag the hosts over the line in pursuit of 251.

Brook's mature knock took them to within 21 of victory, after talisman Ben Stokes fell for 13

England are bidding to become the first side to come from 2-0 down to win a five Test Ashes series since Australia in 1936-37 following lunch on day four with 90 still needed.

Brook put on 59 with Woakes before top-edging a cut off Mitchell Starc, who almost won the series for Australia with a vicious 5-78.

That wicket brought Wood to the crease amid gripping tension and he hit Pat Cummins for six and thrashed Starc for four to spark jubilation in the stands.

With four needed, Wood was dropped by Australia wicketkeeper Alex Carey before Woakes, who finished unbeaten on 32, slashed the winning runs.

England's win makes the series 2-1 to Australia with two Tests to play, setting up a grandstand finale that could yet match the iconic contest in 2005.

They have to do what they have never done before - come from 2-0 down to win the Ashes - but, after three gripping Test matches, they have ensured the show rumbles on with the series getting the ending it deserves.

Levy rolls the dice in bid to keep Kane

TOTTENHAM will intensify their efforts to persuade Harry Kane to commit his long-term future to the club.

Chairman Daniel Levy is adamant they will not sell Kane to Bayern Munich, with the German giants also ready to wait until the England star becomes a free agent next summer.

Kane, who turns 30 later this month, returned to pre-season training this week before flying out with the squad on Wednesday for their summer tour to Australia and the Far East.

New Spurs manager Ange Postecoglou has already insisted that he will try to sell his vision for success to Kane, but the club will also look to persuade him to sign a fresh deal.

LEVY: giving no quarter

The striker is currently on £200,000-a-week, but a new offer is on the table with Spurs determined to persuade him to stay. Kane could earn in excess of £300,000-a-week by remaining at Tottenham.

Along with Bayern, Manchester United would be ready to make a move for the Three Lions captain if he becomes a free agent this time next year.

Levy is taking a huge gamble by allowing Kane to run his deal into the final year, but Spurs are banking on his loyalty - and his determination to help the club win major trophies.

They are pushing for Kane to sign, but any final decision on that is unlikely while the transfer window is open. And the player himself is keeping his cards close to his chest, although sources close to him suggest Bayern is his preferred destination next season.
