

Harry and Meghan - film producers?

THE Duke and Duchess of Sussex hope to revive their media careers by making a romantic Hollywood blockbuster, after buying the film rights to a bestselling book for up to £3million.

Their lucrative Spotify deal fell away but Harry and Meghan plan a shot at big screen big time with Carley Fortune's novel Meet Me At The Lake.

The plot includes a parent who dies in a crash and is littered with sex scenes. A story about a couple who meet in their 30s, like the Sussexes, it also deals with child trauma, mental health and post-natal depression.

It is based near Toronto, Canada, where Meghan was living when the pair's relationship began. An insider said: "The themes of the book gripped the couple and it was chosen for their first adaptation with Netflix."

'most significant'

The deal is their first big move since losing the £16million Spotify deal.

If the film is made it will be the first time Archewell Productions, set up by the Duke and Duchess to make programmes that "inform, elevate and inspire", has paid to turn a novel into a drama as part of their Netflix deal.

That tie-up is reported to be worth around £80million.

Meet Me At The Lake, which topped the New York Times Best Sellers List for a fortnight, will be their biggest and "most significant" work yet as producers, a source has revealed.

Last year's bombshell six-part series Harry & Meghan proved to be a small-screen ratings phenomenon.

Millions of viewers watched the breakaway couple turn against the Royal Family, with barbed comments and stinging accusations.

Millions of viewers watched the breakaway couple turn against the Royal Family, with barbed comments and stinging accusations. Meghan, 42, did an over-elaborate curtsy which seemed to mock her first meeting with the late Queen. The documentary was followed a month later by Harry's memoir Spare.

In the book he claimed that his brother William had "screamed" at him – and also that their father Charles had "lied" during talks over the Sussexes' exit from royal duties.

Harry, 38, also admitted to drug use and described in searing detail his "incredibly painful" childhood.

He quit royal life in 2020 and left the UK to break the "cycle of pain", taking a "freedom flight" to California. He now lives there with his former Suits actress wife and their children Archie Harrison, aged four, and Lilibet Diana, two. Harry claimed that his family had been portrayed as "villains" and added about senior royals: "They've shown absolutely no willingness to reconcile."

Swift outing

Spare became the fastest-selling non-fiction book on record.

Its incendiary claims included an allegation that an irate William had physically attacked his younger brother during an explosive row. Despite the damage that it caused his father, Harry and the King are understood to have remained in close contact throughout the furore that erupted as a result.

They were reconciled at Charles' Coronation in May, although Harry did not have a formal role during the ceremony and did not appear on the Buckingham Palace balcony alongside other members of the family.

On Tuesday Meghan enjoyed an enchanted night out at Taylor Swift's Eras Tour while Prince Harry was in Japan.

The Duchess danced along with the packed SoFi Stadium of fans in Los Angeles for the Red singer's sold-out show, a source told People. Meghan reportedly attended the concert with her friend Lucy Fraser.

Meanwhile, the Duke of Sussex is in Tokyo, Japan, where he attended the International Sports Promotion Society (ISPS) event, which connects sports and philanthropy, on Wednesday alongside his friend Ignacio Figueras.

Prince Harry then plans to travel from Japan to Singapore for the Sentebale ISPS Handa Polo Cup on 12 August.

The royal couple was spotted out together on 4 August for the duchess' 42nd birthday in Montecito, California, where they live with their two children, Prince Archie, four, and Princess Lilibet, two.

Royal expert Katie Nicholl further confirmed with the outlet that the Sussexes are sticking together amid false narratives circulating about the status of their relationship. According to Nicholl, Harry and Meghan have been showing signs of a "united front".

Get on the barge...or else, migrants told

■ Government gets tough with the message: 'take what you're given or be homeless'

Asylum seekers who refuse to move onto the government's controversial new asylum barge are being threatened with eviction and potential homelessness, as resistance hampers ministers' ambitions to pack 500 people on board.

On Monday only 15 migrants were put on the Bibby Stockholm, located in Portland harbour, Dorset, far below the Home Office's initial estimate of 50 in the first group – and officials said more people had arrived on Tuesday but would not confirm how many.

The Home Office has already abandoned attempts to transfer at least 20 men selected for the barge, after receiving legal letters warning that some had disabilities, serious medical conditions and other issues and that placing them on board would break the government's own rules.

"Accommodation is offered to individuals on a no-choice basis," said Cheryl Avery, director for asylum accommodation at the UK Home Office, noting that there have been legal challenges to the plan.

political nerve

Plans announced by the government in April to house around 500 single adult men on the vessel struck a political nerve in Britain, where the Home Office has ramped up hostile policies towards refugees in a bid to reduce the number of small boat crossings in the face of the European migrant crisis.

"We have had a few challenges, but this is part of an ongoing structured process to bring a cohort of up to 500 people on board. There are some challenges - some minor legal challenges - and I can't go into the detail of those, but accommodation is offered to individuals on a no-choice basis," Avery told reporters Monday.

The Home Office cited part of a 1999 law that creates a duty for it to provide accommodation and financial support for asylum seekers who are "destitute", meaning they "do not have adequate accommodation or any means of obtaining it", or "cannot meet essential living needs".

'right to challenge'

But the government is facing significant pushback not just from the migrants themselves, but from several local charities,, the most prominent of which, Care4Calais, said anyone receiving a transfer notice for the Bibby Stockholm "has the right to challenge it, and there are multiple reasons for them to do so".

Chief executive Steve Smith added: "We have serious concerns that the letters portray a strong element of compulsion when in fact asylum seekers are entitled to say no.

"It's becoming clear that the government

FLOATING THE IDEA: the Bibby Stockholm barge in Dorset is now trying to target those asylum seekers who have been unable to secure legal representation, by threatening to make them homeless if they don't move."

The charity said no asylum seekers who have obtained legal representation had received the "latest Home Office threat", and that it would be seeking advice from lawyers on the government's process.

Asked whether it was legal to withdraw state accommodation for refusing to board the Bibby Stockholm, justice secretary Alex Chalk said it was "not unreasonable" to expect people to live on the "perfectly safe and decent" barge.

Pressed on whether it would be illegal for the Home Office to remove accommodation, he told BBC Radio 4's Today programme: "That is something the courts would have to consider but I think it would be unlikely that it would be illegal ... I suspect it's unlikely to be unlawful."

Leaked documents show Sturgeon's team blew fortune on luxuries

NICOLA Sturgeon's government ran up more than £14million on official credit cards in three years including for luxury purchases such as yoga classes.

Leaked documents show senior staff billed for nail polish and £4,182 for hospitality and rooms at the five-star Gleneagles Hotel in Perthshire in September 2019 for a women-in-sports event.

The 58,751 purchases on procurement cards, obtained by Scottish Labour, also covered a staff member's driving theory test, china crockery for a meeting room and a £27 home disco from eBay.

Taxpayers in Scotland forked out almost £10,000 on VIP treatment for Nicola Sturgeon when she flew on official business between 2019 and 2022.

Scottish Labour finance spokesman Michael Marra said: "These are the spending habits of an arrogant and entitled government with no regard for taxpayers."

New inquests ordered into five 30-year-old Ulster murders

■ Relatives of deceased Catholic victims hail decision
 ■ Attorney General cites 'deficiencies' in original investigations

New inquests are to be held into the Ulster Volunteer Force (UVF) murders of five Catholic men in Mid-Ulster more than 30 years ago.

The move was ordered by Attorney General Dame Brenda King, who took account of "deficiencies" in the original investigations and inquests.

Sean Anderson, Thomas Armstrong, Dwayne O'Donnell, Thomas Casey and Phelim McNally died in four separate attacks.

Their families suspect soldiers were involved in the killings.

In a letter to their solicitor, the attorney general's office stated there was new information not considered at the first inquests.

That included intelligence "as to whether state agents/bodies played a role in the deaths" and "wider evidence suggestive of collusion".

Gavin Booth, the solicitor acting for the men's families, said the cases were linked "through suspects, geography and ballistics".

Under the government's Troubles legacy bill which is going through Parliament, inquests linked to the conflict must reach a conclusion by May of next year.

Those which have not reached that stage will be ended.

'better outcomes'

Mr Booth said the cases had to be listed for hearing "urgently" and he called for Northern Ireland Secretary Chris Heaton-Harris to ensure the inquests can go ahead.

"We are under the pressure of the legacy bill - that bill is pending, we believe it's going to come into law," he said.

"We believe that all these inquests should take place and should take place before April.

"For too long these families have sought answers as to what happened.

"New evidence raises serious questions, not only about the 8th Battalion of the Ulster Defence Regiment, but also the failure of the police to prosecute these individuals."

The UK government said its plan to end Troubles-era inquests next year would provide "better outcomes for families" and allow police and the judicial system could "focus on contemporary issues".

Seventeen-year-old Mr O'Donnell, a member of the IRA, was killed at Boyle's Bar in Cappagh, County Tyrone, in 1991.

Mr Armstrong, who was 52, died in the same incident.

Relatives of the five men held photographs of them outside a court in Belfast this week after the announcement of the new inquests

Mr McNally, 28, was murdered in a gun attack on the home of his brother, a Sinn Féin councillor, near Coagh, County Tyrone, in 1988.

Mr Casey, 57, was shot at a friend's house in Cookstown, County Tyrone, in 1990.

Mr Anderson, who was 32 and had served a prison sentence for IRA offences, was killed behind the wheel of his car in Pomeroy, County Tyrone, in 1991.

Phelim McNally's daughter Davina Bolton said it was an important day for the families as they were finally getting closer to the truth.

"We've been waiting a long time for this - 35 years is a long time - and we just need the truth and justice," she said.

She said it was "heart-breaking" trying to explain to her children why their grandfather had died.

"They only go to a grave, that's all they know," she said.

"For us as a family, we were robbed of a father; our mother was robbed of a husband; our children were robbed of a grandfather.

"It's about closure for us and the truth and justice for Daddy."

The ridge in Glen Coe is popular with climbers

Three dead in Glen Coe tragedy

Three climbers have been found dead after failing to return from a trip into Glen Coe.

Police Scotland said the bodies of two men and a woman were discovered during a search of Aonach Eagach, a ridge popular with climbers.

A spokeswoman confirmed the alarm was raised shortly after 21:05 on Saturday.

An initial search involving Inverness coastguard helicopter was made in mist and fog in difficult terrain, before the bodies were found on Sunday.

Police said Glencoe and RAF mountain rescue teams also assisted with the search and recovery operation.

The police spokeswoman added: "There do not appear to be any suspicious circumstances. A report will be submitted to the procurator fiscal."

The coastguard said it was alerted at 22:50 on Saturday, and its Inverness search and rescue helicopter assisted cont. on page 5, col. 1

Northern Ireland police officers' details exposed in 'monumental' breach

■ All officers' names and ranks erroneously published online for up to three hours, but private addresses thought to be safe

A "monumental" data breach has exposed the names and rank of every serving police officer in Northern Ireland.

A spreadsheet was mistakenly published online detailing the surname, initial, rank or grade, location and the departments of all current Police Service of Northern Ireland officers and civilian staff members. It is understood that the breach does not involve private addresses.

The data was published in response to a freedom of information request at about 2.30pm, the PSNI said.

Its assistant chief constable, Chris Todd, has apologised to officers and said the severe terrorist threat facing officers has made news of the extensive data breach the "last thing that anybody in the organisation wants to be hearing".

Todd added: "Regrettably, this evening, I've had to inform the Information Commissioner's Office of a significant data breach that we're responsible for. What's happened is we've received a freedom of information request, that's quite a routine inquiry, nothing untoward in that.

"We've responded to that request, which was seeking to understand the total numbers of officers and staff at all ranks and grade across the organisation, and in the response, unfortunately, one of our colleagues has embedded the source data, which informed that request.

'monumental proportions'

"So, what was within that data was the surname, initial, the rank or grade, the location and the departments for each of our current employees across the police service."

When asked if the chief constable, Simon Byrne, would be coming back from his summer break, Todd added: "I can't speak on behalf of the chief constable, but he is certainly aware of this situation as it's developed today."

The data was available to the public for between two and a half to three hours, Todd said.

"We believe it was uploaded about 2.30 this afternoon," he said. "It came to my attention as the senior information risk owner at about 4pm, with the cooperation of the host provider it was taken down within the hour."

'rigorous safeguards'

The chair of the Police Federation for Northern Ireland has called for an urgent inquiry. Liam Kelly said: "This is a breach of monumental proportions.

"Even if it was done accidentally, it still represents a data and security breach that should never have happened. Rigorous safeguards ought to have been in place to protect this valuable information which, if in the wrong hands, could do incalculable damage.

"Inadequate or poor oversight of FOI

PSNI officers on patrol in Belfast. The PSNI's assistant chief constable has apologized to officers for the data breach procedures must be addressed and addressed urgently. New safeguards are obviously required to prevent this from ever happening again."

During the Troubles, police officers in Northern Ireland were regularly attacked by republican paramilitary groups. Members of the PSNI have also been targeted in gun and bomb attacks in the years after the Good Friday agreement.

In February, senior PSNI officer DCI John Caldwell suffered life-changing injuries when he was shot after coaching a youth football team in Omagh in County Tyrone.

Asked how useful the information released in the data breach would be to terrorist organisations, Todd said it would be of a "significant concern" to PSNI officers and staff.

"It is limited to surname and initial only, so there's no other personal identifiable information contained within the information that was published," he said. "That will be, still, a significant concern to many of my colleagues, I know that, and we will ensure that we do everything we can to mitigate any security risks that are identified."

He added: "I've written to all my colleagues across the whole of the service this evening and explained to them the actions that we're taking, giving them information to help them further protect their own personal security and those around them.

"We will listen to the concerns of all of our colleagues individually and address any concerns that are raised."

The Northern Ireland secretary, Chris Heaton-Harris, said he was "deeply concerned" about the data breach. The Alliance leader Naomi Long MLA said the scale of the PSNI data breach was of "profound concern", adding: "Immediate action must be taken to offer ... proper information, support, guidance and necessary reassurances regarding their and their families' security.

"Whilst the personal data has now been removed, once such information has been published online, it leaves an indelible footprint."

TikTok tumult: police scramble to quash social media-sparked disorder

■ Viral posts creates mob chaos in Oxford Street

Police in the UK are moving quickly to quell the so-called TikTok tumult, after social media-led mini-riots on Oxford Street and Southend on Sea.

Officers made dozens of arrests on Wednesday as officers clashed with youths on Oxford Street following social media rumours of planned disorder in the West End.

Footage showed officers with batons scuffling with young men in the shopping district after the shoplifting call went viral.

At least nine people were arrested by Wednesday evening amid chaotic scenes along what is one of Europe's busiest shopping streets.

It came after a previous incident in which a mob rampaged through a candy shop in the area, looting stock and then posting footage.

Nearby shops including an optician and pharmacy closed their shutters briefly shortly after 3pm and crowds gathered on the busy street to watch the scene.

Police said by 8.15pm on Wednesday, nine people had been arrested, and 34 issued with dispersal orders.

The force said: "Throughout Wednesday, officers maintained a high-visibility presence within the Oxford Street area."

The Mayor of London Sadiq Khan earlier urged people not to go to Oxford Street to take part in "nonsense" spread on social media.

But less than 24 hours later police were forced to Arson probe as famed Crooked House pub goes up in flames

■ Locals smell a rat as the famed Midlands pub is demolished by new owner two days after the blaze

MIDLANDS POLICE are treating as arson a fire which gutted a historic pub – just days after its ownership changed hands.

A blaze caused extensive damage at The Crooked House near Dudley, an 18th-century building, on Saturday evening, two weeks after it was sold by brewer Marston's to a private firm.

Up to 30 firefighters were needed to tackle the blaze at the pub in Himley, but their efforts were hindered by a man-made obstruction on the pub's only access road.

The pub became widely regarded as Britain's "wonkiest" due to one side being significantly lower than the other, caused by the effects of nearby mining.

The remainder of the building was demolished by a mechanical digger on Monday, despite South Staffordshire Council saying it had permitted only the top floor to be demolished for safety reasons.

Its total demolition prompted Dudley North MP Marco Longhi to question why police did not intervene.

The council said it also was exploring whether the total demolition constituted a breach of the law.

Staffordshire Police said in a statement: "Our investigation into

SOMETHING'S CROOKED HERE: Locals have vowed to get to the bottom of the mysterious fire at the famed Crooked House a fire at The Crooked House on Himley Road last Saturday, 5 August, continues as we try to understand the circumstances, which we are now treating as arson.

He warned against "unhelpful" misinformation "circulating within communities and online" and said police are "trying to provide accurate and timely updates, but this takes time".

Police said following an examination by a specialist fire investigator, into the cause of the incident they "believe the fire may have been started deliberately".

Officers and specialist accelerant detection dogs visited the site on Wednesday to investigate the grounds.

In a letter written by Mr Longhi, he questioned who was responsible for the demolition of the building and asked whether the police were notified before it took place, adding that the "public is extremely angry".

In their response on Wednesday, DCS Chisholm said: "There are certain things that police and fire do not have the powers to deal with, the decision around partial demolition of the building, for example, when the scene was handed back to the owner".

Since its demolition, Andy Street, the mayor of the West Midlands, said that local authorities will "get to the truth" and that he will continue to "keep the pressure on for a rebuild".

It follows an online petition, set up by long-time regular Paul Turner, titled 'Save The Crooked House'. The petition has attracted more than 13,000 signatures so far.

in a search of the ridge.

A spokeswoman said a coastguard helicopter from Prestwick provided further support to police and mountain rescue teams on Sunday morning.

Kate Forbes, SNP MSP for MSP for Skye, Lochaber and Badenoch, described the deaths as "horrendous news".

She said: "My thoughts are with the families. My sincere appreciation to mountain rescue, as always, and the emergency services."

Angus MacDonald, a local Highland councillor who grew up in the Clachaig Inn below the ridge, said: "This is a tragedy for those who died and their families.

"I know everyone in the area will feel for them."

The high, narrow, exposed ridge runs almost the length of Glen Coe and links two summits - 953m (3,127ft) Meall Dearg and 967m (3,172ft) Sgòrr nam Fiannaidh.

Its name means "notched ridge", a reference to its jagged, rocky terrain.

Traversing - crossing - Aonach Eagach involves about six miles (9km) and can take up to nine hours to complete, according to mountaineering guides.

Much of the route involves scrambling - a mountaineering term meaning climbers using their hands to help keep their balance on steep, difficult terrain.

The ridge is popular with keen and experienced climbers and dozens traverse Aonach Eagach safely every year.

David Whalley, a veteran mountaineer and former RAF mountain rescue team leader, said conditions could change quickly on Aonach Eagach.

He told BBC radio's Good Morning Scotland programme: "It is one of the best ridges in Scotland. It's a wonderful thing and I have done it quite a few times, and done quite a few rescues on it.

"Mountaineering is wonderful but it is a risky sport and we all live with that when we are out in the mountains."

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: LAURA MARY NUDD CASE NO. 23STPB07703

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of LAURA MARY NUDD. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by MARGARET SHAW in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that MARGARET SHAW be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 08/25/23 at 8:30AM in Dept. 4 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Thousands gather to say goodbye to 'phenomenal' Sinéad

Thousands of people gathered on the seafront outside Sinéad O'Connor's Bray home on Tuesday to see the cortege makes its way to a private burial.

O'Connor died aged 56 after being found unresponsive in her London home a fortnight ago.

Her death led to an outpouring of tributes from Ireland and across the world.

Many mourners laid flowers outside her home in Bray, County Wicklow, where the singer lived for 15 years.

There were also handwritten notes, thanking O'Connor for sharing her voice and her music.

Thousands of people walked behind the hearse, some throwing flowers, some with their heads bowed.

Choruses of her iconic hit Nothing Compares 2 U could be heard all around.

Fellow Irish rock singer Sir Bob Geldof (top right) was part of the funeral cortege travelling behind the hearse in a taxi.

Geldof and O'Connor were long-time friends, the Boomtown Rats singer said recently while speaking at a gig in Ireland.

He said O'Connor had experienced moments of extreme sadness.

"Some of her texts were laden with desperation and despair and some were ecstatically happy. She was like that."

According to the singer's family, O'Connor "loved living in Bray and the people in it".

Tom Dalton, a Bray-based musician who ran acoustic sessions in a local pub, recalled a new face joining his group Celtic Grace for an impromptu performance in 2019.

"People knew who she was but we didn't make any fuss, nobody asked her for photographs or said anything to her. It was amazing."

He added that she was a regularly seen in the town, walking along the seafront or attending a nearby college where she was training to assist people with mental health issues.

"She was just a phenomenal, phenomenal lady, and such a talent."

Irish President Michael D Higgins was among the guests attending the private funeral service for O'Connor.

"The outpouring of grief and appreciation of the life and work of Sinéad O'Connor demonstrates the profound impact which she had on the Irish people," Higgins said in a statement.

Shaykh Dr Umar Al-Qadri, the Islamic scholar and Chief Imam at the Islamic Centre of Ireland, delivered the eulogy at O'Connor's funeral.

"Gifted with a voice that moved a generation of young people, she could reduce listeners to tears by her otherworldly resonance," he said.

Stargazing with Annie Shaw

ARIES: Be extra careful while out and about these next few days as it is a bit wobbly for you in general. This period is over by early next week ahead, so lay low until then.

TAURUS: You are in a good time frame for interactive family times and events. However be careful with overspending, as you may be feeling over generous.

GEMINI: Whatever you are planning that is important be sure to complete it soonest. Your plans may be changed at short notice .

CANCER: This next week stay away from any drama or negative vibes. You are sensitive enough without the planets in fire that are powerful now LEO: You may be feeling like you are ready to just get away from it all. This is just the beginning of your new year. You can be sure it's a temporary feeling. Happy Birthday!

VIRGO: Life is good if you look at what matters most to you. The sun in Leo is pushing you to get a move on. You are getting ready for your new year soon. Clear out some space to prepare.

LIBRA: Your boss planet Venus is moving slowly backwards This can be very good for your career or work area as things on hold might be opening up.

SCORPIO: Trust that the easier time overall you are (or will be) experiencing soon is well deserved.

Do not be concerned about your future financial outlook.

SAGITTARIUS: Your boss Jupiter is keeping busy in your well-being area. Whatever you need to take care of be sure you complete soonest and it's looking positive by the end of next week.

CAPRICORN: You are very involved in the lives of family or friends currently. Some of it you can help with and most is not your problem. Just know the difference and act accordingly.

AQUARIUS: The ups and downs of these past few weeks have left you a little weary. Be sure to let go of past worries. The recent full moon in your sign will help you.

PISCES: Time to make decisions that you have put off or thought were not possible. All kind of things can get accomplished in this next couple of weeks.

If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call or (888) 902-3989 or visit these internet websites or www.nestortrustee.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-05537-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANTS: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call or (888) 902-3989 or visit these internet websites or www.nestortrustee.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-05537-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF PAULINE JOAN CREEL

Case No. 23STPB07873
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of PAULINE JOAN CREEL

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Bonnie Zillmann in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Bonnie Zillmann be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 25, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 2D located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Wolves have confirmed the appointment of Gary O'Neil as their new head coach.

He succeeds Julen Lopetegui, who left Molineux on Tuesday, and has agreed a three-year contract.

The 40-year-old guided Bournemouth to survival last season before being sacked by the Cherries in June.

This is his second full-time managerial role and his first game in charge will be Wolves' Premier League opener against Manchester United at Old Trafford on Monday.

Sporting director Matt Hobbs said: "He's a highly motivated young coach with strong principles and very well thought of by everyone he has worked with, and we're excited to see what we can achieve together at Wolves.

"Our players have shown their quality during pre-season, and I believe Gary and his team will continue to coach and improve them and will have success working with this group.

"Everyone at Wolves is looking forward to welcoming Gary, offering him their full support and working collaboratively to help the club to keep pushing forward together."

Arsenal draw first blood with Community Shield win

Arsenal gave their hopes of beating Manchester City to the Premier League title a psychological boost as they defeated Pep Guardiola's side on penalties to win the Community Shield on Sunday.

After a largely forgettable 70 minutes in the season curtain-raiser, Cole Palmer looked to have won it for City when the substitute curled home a stunning strike.

But Leandro Trossard equalised in the 101st minute when his shot deflected into the back of the net.

That took the game to spot-kicks, where substitute Kevin de Bruyne struck the crossbar before Rodri saw his effort saved and then Fabio Vieira converted to secure the silverware for Arsenal.

Arsenal led the Premier League for 248 days last season but their challenge fell apart in the closing stages as City overtook them to claim the title as part of a Treble, along with the Champions League and FA Cup.

Gunners boss Mikel Arteta admitted in the build-up to this game that the end of last season still hurt, and was clearly desperate to get one over City, who beat his side home and away last season.

Arsenal's big summer signings Declan Rice, Kai Havertz and Jurrien Timber were all handed their competitive debuts at Wembley, but it looked like it was going to be a familiar story as Havertz failed to convert two big opportunities in the first half, before Palmer's stunner put City ahead.

But Arteta's side showed impressive spirit to battle to the end and got their reward when substitute Trossard struck before keeping their cool to come out on top in the shootout.

Few people put great stock in a Community Shield win and history tells us that it does not often lead to a Premier League title win - only once since 2011 has the winning side gone on to secure the league title.

While the pressure of a title race is nowhere near the same of a Community Shield match, it will still have been encouraging for Arteta to see his side battle back after going behind, particularly after the manner of their capitulation towards the end of last season.

permanent replacement with just hours until the start of their next Premier League campaign.

Maguire has been earmarked for a move away from Old Trafford after failing to find his footing in Erik ten Hag's starting XI.

The former club captain made just 35 starts across all competitions for the Dutch manager's side during the 2022-23 season.

But United will have to offer Maguire a sweetener to cement the move, as West Ham are not prepared to pay the defender's full £190,000-a-week salary.

Instead the 30-year-old will have his wages slashed to £120,000 per week.

The centre-back's time in Manchester will end with a whimper four years after his record transfer from Leicester City.

Maguire struggled to live up to his £80m price tag, which is still yet to be topped by a Premier League defender - although new Man City signing Josko Gvardiol's for £78m came close to matching the stratospheric fee.

The player will hope that a move to West Ham represents a fresh start for his form, and allows him to build-up his playing time to ensure he remains top of international manager Gareth Southgate's list to feature in the Three Lions' backline.

After a quiet start to the window - save for the loss of their star player - West Ham are starting to draft in new recruits.

The club have agreed a £30m fee for Southampton's James Ward-Prowse, and signed Edson Alvarez from Ajax for £35m.

Harry on the brink!

■ £100m deal agreed...but will he stay?

HARRY KANE'S future employer remains tantalizingly uncertain this week, despised Bayern Munich agreeing a deal worth close to £100m to sign the England captain.

At press time Kane was weighing up whether to join Bayern and end his 19-year stay at Tottenham.

Bayern are willing to pay £86m up front for Kane, with add-ons taking the deal close to £100m - a record for the club.

But reports late on Thursday suggested the striker was leaning towards staying with Tottenham.

There are also issues to resolve between the England captain and Spurs if he is to join Bayern, and the German champions are now aware that the move is not as straightforward as they previously believed. But as of Thursday evening, Bayern were not giving up hope of another twist.

Kane has one year left on his contract and, with no indication he will renew his deal, Spurs felt agreeing a move was the best worst-case scenario.

Kane wants his future resolved before Tottenham's season-opening Premier League game at Brentford on Sunday August 13, live on Sky Sports.

Kane, 30, has one year left on his contract with Spurs and must now make a decision about whether or not to leave.

The forward is Tottenham's all-time top scorer with 280 goals in 435 appearances.

Kane was linked with Manchester United earlier this summer before Bayern made him their main target.

The striker's future in London has been uncertain for several seasons while a number of Bayern bids were rejected earlier this summer.

Most recently, Spurs turned down an offer on Monday and the Bundesliga champions suggested on that occasion an unsuccessful bid would force them to move on to other targets.

Tottenham chairman Daniel Levy has repelled interest in Kane numerous times over the years, including in 2021 when Premier League champions Manchester City tried to sign the striker.

It was also unclear whether Levy would have been willing to sell

Kane to another Premier League team, suggesting earlier this year he would not do business with either of the Manchester clubs.

But with Kane

unwilling to sign a new deal with Spurs, it seems Levy has decided selling now is the best option for the club rather than losing him for free next year.

...but Slabhead will be a Hammer

Harry Maguire will be given a £10million payout to leave Manchester United ahead of a planned move to West Ham, according to reports.

The Red Devils have agreed the £30m move with the east

London club, and personal terms are currently being discussed between Maguire and the Hammers.

West Ham remain optimistic about the move going ahead, with David Moyes preparing to offer the England star the captain's armband in the wake of Declan Rice's departure earlier in the summer window.

The former Hammers captain joined Arsenal for a British record £105m fee in July and West Ham are yet to announce his cont. on page 19, col. 4
