FAREWELL, PARKY

■ Tributes flow for the BBC's iconic broadcaster and chat show host Veteran broadcaster Sir Michael Parkinson has died at the age of 88.

His TV career spanned seven decades, and he interviewed the world's biggest stars on his long-running chat show.

Sir Elton John was among the former guests paying tribute to the “TV legend”, who was a “real icon who brought out the very best” in guests.

Sir Michael Caine agreed he “brought the best of everyone he met”, while Sir David Attenborough said he “always wanted the interviewee to shine”.

Sir David, who was a guest on Parkinson a number of times, told

BBC Radio 4's The World At One:

“With Michael, it was always friendly, always thorough, always intelligent, always a pleasure to do it, and I think that came over no matter who his interviewee was.

‘he was the best’

“He always did his homework, he always knew what the interesting bits were, and he steered you through.”

He added: “As a viewer, you knew if Michael was asking the questions there were going to be good questions, they would elicit good answers.”

Comedian and broadcaster Stephen Fry described being interviewed by Sir Michael as “impossibly thrilling”.

“The genius of Parky was that unlike most people (and most of his guests, me included) he was always 100% himself. On camera and off. ‘Authentic’ is the word I suppose.”

Former cricket umpire Dickie Bird, a friend since childhood, told the PA news agency: “His friendship meant more to me than anything else.

“The genius of Parky was that unlike most people he was always 100% himself.”

TV GOLD: Parkinson with his favorite guest, Muhammad Ali

If I wanted any advice, I would ring Parky up. He helped me in so many, many ways.”

He added: “There will never be a chat show host like Michael Parkinson. He was the best. There will never be anyone better than him in your lifetime, my lifetime or anyone else's lifetime.”

prostate cancer

Sir Michael introduced the first Parkinson show in 1971 on BBC television. The show ran initially for 11 years and spanned hundreds of episodes in which Sir Michael combined an avuncular style with a journalistic background.

He returned to the BBC in 1998 for another run of the show. Sir Michael estimated he had interviewed more than 2,000 guests in total.

Sir Michael's high-profile guests included Sir Billy Connolly, Muhammad Ali, Sir Elton John, Madonna and Dame Helen Mirren. Of the many celebrities he interviewed, Sir Michael said Ali was his favourite.

Born in 1935 in the south Yorkshire village of Cudworth, Sir Michael was the son of a miner who instilled in his son a love of cricket.

He achieved two O-Levels and got a job collating sports results on a local newspaper.

After two years in the British army, he worked as a journalist for the Manchester Guardian (later renamed the Guardian) before joining the Daily Express in London.

He moved into television as a current affairs presenter and reporter for both Granada and the BBC before he was recruited to present his self-titled show on BBC One.

Malkinson case to be reviewed

■ Criminal Cases Review Commission had turned down multiple appeals from the Salford man, who spent 17 years in prison after being wrongly convicted of rape

The body responsible for investigating miscarriages of justice has opened a review into its handling of the Andrew Malkinson case after it twice refused to refer it to the court of appeal.

The Criminal Cases Review Commission (CCRC) said its chair, Helen Pitcher, met the lord chancellor on Wednesday to discuss the case.

Malkinson, 57, spent 17 years in prison for a 2003 stranger rape in Greater Manchester that he did not commit. He was cleared by the court of appeal last month having spent years trying to convince the authorities that he was innocent after fresh DNA testing had linked another man to the crime.

The CCRC made the announcement after it was revealed on Wednesday that another man's DNA was discovered on the victim's clothing in 2007.

Despite this, the CCRC twice declined to order further forensic scientific testing or refer the case for appeal, meaning he stayed in prison for another 13 years.

The CCRC said the review would look at the decisions and actions taken in relation to Malkinson's applications to the body and will be led by a king's counsel from outside the organisation, with experience of prosecution and defence.

Reacting to the announcement, Malkinson called on Alex Chalk, the lord chancellor and justice minister, to open a broader public inquiry into his case.

"In addition to standalone investigations by separate bodies, there is need for a statutory public inquiry into the role of all state agencies in my case," he said.

"This inquiry needs the power to compel disclosure, so that I can finally understand what went so wrong.

"I call on Alex Chalk to establish a public inquiry into the Criminal Cases Review Commission, Greater Manchester police and the Crown Prosecution Service, and their respective roles in my wrongful conviction as well as why it took so many years to overturn it."

Malkinson has called on Pitcher to resign and apologise over the commission's handling of his case but she has so far issued no apology nor spoken in public about it.

A petition calling for an apology and an independent review of the CCRC's handling of the case gained more than 140,000 signatures.

A CCRC spokesperson said: "A review into the decisions taken in Mr Malkinson's case couldn't be started until we had the judgment from the court of appeal, but we have long recognised that it would be important to have one.

"We will be as open as we can be within our statutory constraints with the findings of the completed review and the lessons to be learned.

"This is a complex case in which many elements have informed the decisions taken. We recognise that Mr Malkinson has had a very long journey to clear his name, and it is plainly wrong that he spent 17 years in prison for a crime he did not commit."

The case log for Malkinson's first application to the CCRC in 2009 showed that concerns about costs were raised multiple times when considering whether or not to undertake further forensic scientific testing following the discovery of another man's DNA in a "crime specific" location on the victim's vest top.

Sir Michael brought down the curtain on more than 30 years of his chat show in 2007 with a special two-hour final episode featuring David Beckham, Sir Michael Caine, Sir David Attenborough, Dame Judi Dench, Dame Edna Everage, Sir Billy Connolly, Peter Kay and Jamie Cullum.

Elsewhere, his TV career also included ITV's TV-am breakfast show, Give Us a Clue and BBC One's Going

For a Song, while he had a three-year stint hosting Desert Island Discs on BBC Radio 4 in the 1980s.

Sir Michael also hosted a Sky Arts series called Michael Parkinson: Masterclass from 2012 to 2014.

He was made a CBE in 2000 and was knighted in 2008.

The presenter revealed he was receiving radiotherapy treatment for prostate cancer in 2013, and said he got the all-clear from doctors two years later.

A statement from Sir Michael's family on Thursday said: "After a brief illness Sir Michael Parkinson passed away peacefully at home last night in the company of his family.

"The family request that they are given privacy and time to grieve."

Yorkshire County Cricket Club said it would hold a minute's silence before play in York on Thursday "to show our respects" for Sir Michael.

Barnsley Football Club said it had "lost one of its favourite sons", adding the club was "deeply saddened" to hear of Sir Michael's death.

Final Dunkirk hero passes

A FORMER sailor believed to be the last Royal Navy veteran from Dunkirk has died at the age of 102.

Lawrence Churcher, who was born in Portsmouth, Hants, passed away at a care home in nearby Fareham, just days short of his 103rd birthday, according to Project 71 that supports Second World War veterans.

The charity, which said Mr Churcher was thought to be the last known naval veteran of the evacuation, posted on Facebook: "A truly remarkable man, loved and respected by all who knew him."

Mr Churcher, who was awarded the Legion d'Honneur, was posted to HMS Eagle at the start of the war and landed in France in May 1940 to help supply ammunition to the front lines from a railhead outside Dunkirk.

The charity said: "When he, together with thousands of others of the British Expeditionary Force, was ordered to pull back to the beaches, he began looking for the Hampshire Regiment in the hope of locating his brothers, Edward and George. Amazingly they met each other and sailed back to the UK on the same ship."

Mr Churcher is reported to have said: "When my brothers found me, I just felt relief.

"There were so many soldiers there and continuous aircraft dropping bombs and strafing us. I had so many things on my mind until I got on board our ship.

"One fella leaned on my shoulder, gave a sigh of relief and said, 'Thank God we've got a navy' and that sort of churned it up inside of me."

Mr Churcher went on to serve in the Mediterranean, at D-Day and ended the war in the Far East. He later became a football referee and was Portsmouth FC's oldest fan.

Controversial Saudi prince invited to visit UK

■ Man dubbed 'Mohammed Bone Saw' believed to be behind grisly killing of Jamal Khashoggi

Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman has been invited to visit the UK, the Saudi Arabian embassy has revealed.

No 10 said it would confirm the prime minister's engagements in the usual way, with nothing in the diary yet.

A spokesperson said the prime minister looked forward to meeting the crown prince "at the earliest opportunity".

It would be the prince's first UK visit since the murder of the journalist Jamal Khashoggi at the Saudi consulate in Istanbul in 2018.

The invitation was first reported by the Financial Times and the Times newspapers.

"appalling brutality"

The murder of Mr Khashoggi, a critic of Saudi Arabia's government, was condemned by the West at the time.

UK ministers said it involved "appalling brutality" and later sanctioned 20 Saudi nationals involved in the killing.

US intelligence agencies concluded that the prince must have authorised the killing, despite him denying any involvement.

A Downing Street spokesperson said Prime Minister Rishi Sunak spoke to the crown prince earlier, with the leaders discussing their commitment to developing the trade and investment relationship between the two countries, as well as to strengthening cooperation on defence and security.

It was reported the Saudis were already making plans for a visit at least a month ago.

It is not clear whether the prince has formally accepted the invitation yet but it is known that he does want to come to the UK.

Dates currently being considered are in the first half of October.

The invitation was criticised by the Liberal Democrats, who said it sent a signal that the crown prince "can continue acting with impunity and we and our allies will do nothing about it".

The party's foreign affairs spokeswoman Layla Moran said: "It beggars belief that Rishi Sunak is rolling out the carpet for Mohammed bin Salman.

"This man - who authorised the brutal murder of Jamal Khashoggi and presides over a dismal human rights record - should not be receiving a warm welcome from the UK government."

Polly Truscott, from human rights campaign group Amnesty International, said: "There must be no question of the UK rolling out the red carpet for Mohammed bin Salman or of the Saudi ruler being able to use this visit to rehabilitate himself on the world stage."

However, Labour said the UK also had to have a "dialogue" with Saudi Arabia.

'sportswashing'

The party's deputy leader Angela Rayner said: "It's important as part of that visit that the prime minister speaks to him about human rights."

She added: "Part of our role internationally is to challenge other nations... and to try and influence in that way. If you don't then you don't have any influence whatsoever."

Saudi Arabia has also spent billions of pounds through its Public Investment Fund on international sports deals, including a takeover of Premier League club Newcastle United and the negotiation of a dominant

"It beggars belief that Rishi Sunak is rolling out the carpet for Mohammed bin Salman," said Labour's foreign affairs spokeswoman stake in professional golf.

Critics have described this as an attempt to "sportswash" - or distract from - the country's human rights record.

Earlier this year, when he was business secretary, Grant Shapps held talks with Saudi Arabia over collaborating more in sectors like space, tech, and critical minerals.

The government has also been exploring support for a trade deal with the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC), of which Saudi Arabia is a key member.

A spokesman said the government's view was that "when it comes to trade deals and relationships you are in a stronger position to talk about what they are doing if working with them not lecturing from the outside".

Stephen Fry: “rappers use language better than any other musicians in the last 100 years”

Rappers use language better than any other musicians in the last 100 years, according to Stephen Fry.

Over the past century, music lovers have been blessed with inspiring songwriters like Lennon and McCartney, Rodgers and Hammerstein, Bob Dylan and Bruce Springsteen.

But Stephen, 65, himself a renowned wordsmith, believes rapper Kendrick Lamar and his peers from the hip-hop world are better lyricists.

Kendrick, 36, a Pulitzer prize-winner, has produced boundary-pushing records with philosophical and political themes and has even been described as Shakespearean by music magazine Billboard.

Stephen says he is among the best lyricists since American singer Cole Porter, who achieved huge success in the 1920s and 1930s.

He reckons Kendrick and other rappers understand that language is “a gift”.

Speaking to This Cultural Life podcast, Stephen says: “Language is such an important feature of being human and it is so overlooked.

“We use it to order pizza on the phone or whatever and to ask where the nearest toilet is.

“Yet, the beauty of it in its ordinary form in speech is as great as its form in poetry, when people delight in it.

“I’m aware that someone of my age and background, even mentioning his name is absurd, but Kendrick Lamar and some of the hip-hop artists understand that about language.

“They use language in a way that is more delightful, more filled with texture, complexity, patterning and real sort of joy than has been used in popular music since Cole Porter, probably.

“I know I’m not alone.”

His comments come as hip-hop celebrates its 50th anniversary.

World Cup Final: ‘Last minute winner for pubs’ rejected despite calls for alcohol law change ahead of England v Spain clash

AS WOMEN’S World Cup fever gripped the nation, there have been calls to relax alcohol legislation for Sunday’s final between England and Spain – a suggestion ministers are resisting.

The Liberal Democrats have called on the government to recall parliament to pass the legislation required for pubs to serve alcohol from 10am – but ministers are calling on councils to do “everything they can” to help local pubs.

Pubs can choose when they open on Sundays, but the time from which they can start selling alcohol varies depending on each pub’s individual licence.

The British Beer and Pub Association (BBPA) said most pubs can start serving alcohol from 11am – which is when the final kicks off – but it is calling for the law to be relaxed so football fans can enjoy a drink from 10am.

Emma McClarkin, the organisation’s chief

INTO THE FINAL: delirious fans celebrate England’s 3-1 victory on Wednesday executive, said: “As England enter their first World Cup final since 1966 we need the government to step in and allow the necessary regulatory easement to allow pubs to serve the public from 10am on final day, so fan and communities can come together and cheer the Lionesses to victory at the best place to watch live sport, the pub.”

“Where there’s a will, there has to be a way,” she added.

Conservative MP Alun

Cairns, the chair of the All-Party Parliamentary Beer Group, echoed the call, saying: “Early opening and serving would be a fitting tribute to the Lionesses and a welcome boost to the industry. I have raised the issue with the home secretary directly who is looking in to see what is possible.

“We need to do all we can to support the team, whilst at the same time backing our great British pubs.”

Temporary changes to licensing laws in England and Wales have been made for special events in the past, such as the Euro 2020 final and the late Queen Elizabeth II’s Platinum Jubilee.

Under the Licensing Act 2003, tweaks to licensing laws have to be approved by both the House of Commons and the House of Lords – both of which are currently in recess.

Pubs can still open from 10am, even if they cannot serve booze before kick-off at 11am.

Only on RyanAir: £110 charge to print out airline tickets

A RETIRED couple have hit out at Ryanair after the budget airline charged them £110 to print their flight tickets at the airport.

Ruth and Peter Jaffe said they were “horrified” at the huge bill slapped on them when they tried to check in at London’s Stansted Airport.

The pair thought they had downloaded their outward bound tickets to Bergerac, France, where they were meeting friends for a break.

However, Ryanair staff pointed out they had printed the return tickets by mistake.

They told Ruth, 79, and Peter, 80, that they needed a boarding card from the airline sales desk at a cost of £55 per person.

Their daughter’s outraged social media post about her parents’ ordeal last Friday was viewed more than 13 million times.

Ruth told BBC Radio 4’s the Today Programme: “I was quite flustered and upset.”

She said the Ryanair website was confusing and her husband has a disability which made it difficult for him to walk further than planned.

“People hate Ryanair, I think. If you’re elderly and haven’t been brought up using computers from day one, it can be very difficult.”

The couple from Ealing, West London, complained to the airline but do not expect to get compensation.

Ed Sheeran cannot Lego of love for his childhood toy

ED Sheeran fans were in pieces as they came face to face with the star behind a till – as he worked at a Lego store.

The singer loves the toy so much he wrote the 2011 song Lego House – which he performed for customers in the store. Wearing a staff apron and Lego T-shirt, Ed posed with families buying sets of the Danish-made building blocks.

Asked to name his favourite product, he pointed to a castle, saying: “Me and my brother had a tiny wizard set.”

The Shape Of You

SHEER DELIGHT: the hitmaker surprises a young fan at the Minnesota store

hitmaker’s official title for the day at the Mall of America in Minnesota was “brick specialist”.

The dad-of-two, 32, helped to sell toys while he got ready for a sell-out stadium gig in the city.

The surprise appearance came after he stunned shoppers last year in Ipswich, close to his sprawling Suffolk home.

The former busker turned up with a guitar, microphone and small amp for an impromptu gig.

The Ipswich Town supporter told the crowd: “I’ve had a week off and I was really, really itching to do another gig. I’m so happy to be back in Ipswich.

“I’ve played so many shows here and have such love for this place.”

Coleen opens up for first time on 'horrible' Wagatha Christie trial

Coleen Rooney has branded the "Wagatha Christie" trial "horrible", in her first public comments since the case.

In an interview with British Vogue, she suggested she could not forgive Rebekah Vardy for her libel claim, but said "the relief was everything" to win.

Rooney, the wife of ex-England captain Wayne Rooney, had accused Vardy of leaking stories about her.

The High Court decision which found the comments "substantially true" was criticised by Vardy.

In the interview for Vogue's September edition, Rooney opened up about "dreading" going to court - and said she "sticks to" the original claims.

Asked if she could forgive Vardy, who is married to her husband's former team-mate Jamie Vardy, she added: "I'm a forgive-and-forget person, I can't be bothered with things going on and on..."

"But this is obviously totally different."

Rooney, 37, continued: "You see social media people calling people out in such nasty ways and I was thinking I wasn't that nasty.

"I've never been in a legal case before, so for me it was scary.

"What a horrible experience."

She also criticised Vardy, 41, for taking the case to court, but did voice sympathy for her "obviously going through it".

"I just thought, 'Why have you put yourself in this position?' It was not nice to watch," Rooney said.

The July 2022 trial came after Rooney conducted

Coleen Rooney won her High Court case last year a sting operation in 2019, accusing Mrs Vardy of leaking private information to The Sun.

The sleuthing caused a social media sensation and led to the case being dubbed "Wagatha Christie" - in reference to Wags (footballers' wives and girlfriends) and the writer Agatha Christie.

Vardy has always denied the allegations but was expected to pay an estimated £1.5m towards Rooney's legal costs following the ruling.

Rooney told Vogue

that she took her son Kai indoor skydiving after initially posting the infamous "It's..... Rebekah Vardy's account" accusation.

And then "her phone exploded".

"All these messages of support [were] coming in... Then I thought, 'Oh, my God, this has gone extreme.'"

And she said "the relief was everything" after the judgement.

Asked about her previous relationship with Vardy, Rooney said the pair would "associate" but were not friends and did not socialise. She says she now wonders if invitations to events might have been part of a "plan to get closer to me".

Responding to comments about Rooney's interview, Vardy wrote on Instagram: "I don't get why you would want to keep bringing it up. It's boring now!"

"The public doesn't care and neither do I. She won that's the end of it!"

"Be happy move on... because I know I have."

Is this really the face of Bonnie Prince Charlie?

Researchers say they have created the "most lifelike" reconstruction of the face of Bonnie Prince Charlie.

A team at the University of Dundee's Centre for Anatomy and Human Identification used death masks to recreate the Scottish prince's looks.

After his death in 1788, a cast of the prince's face was taken, which was common for notable figures at the time.

This was painstakingly photographed and mapped along with software allowing the experts to "de-age" the prince.

Charles Edward Stuart was renowned

By 18th century standards Charlie was a looker...

for his good looks and has captivated a new generation of audiences through the TV show Outlander.

The resulting images show the prince with blond ringlets, wearing a white shirt, and with blotchy patches on his skin.

It recreates how he could have looked at the time of the Jacobite rising, where he was unsuccessful in his attempt to restore his father, James Francis Edward Stuart, to the British throne.

Despite some initial successes on the battlefield, his army was defeated at the Battle of Culloden, near Inverness, in April 1746.

Bonnie Prince Charlie spent the next five months as a fugitive before fleeing to France and living on the continent for the rest of his life.

He died in Palazzo Muti in Rome, at the age of 67, after suffering a stroke.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call or (888) 902-3989 or visit these internet websites or www.nestortrustee.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-05537-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANTS: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call or (888) 902-3989 or visit these internet websites or www.nestortrustee.com, using the file number assigned to this case

2023-05537-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF PAULINE JOAN CREEL
Case No. 23STPB07873

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of PAULINE JOAN CREEL

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Bonnie Zillmann in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Bonnie Zillmann be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 25, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 2D located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Musing on our vibrant arts scene

LA is not short on entertainment - that we know, but honestly our city doesn't get enough credit for its magnificent art scene and museums.

Personally, I love going to the museums, and I cannot recommend the Getty Center highly enough. This weekend sees the last day of "Tim Walker: Wonderful Things", a fascinating journey into the fantastical worlds created by internationally acclaimed British fashion photographer Tim Walker. The exhibition (pictured, top right) pays tribute to Walker's distinctive contribution to image-making while also highlighting the work of his creative collaborators: set designers, stylists, makeup artists, models, and muses. At the heart of the show is a new series of photographs inspired by his research into the collections of the Getty Museum and the Victoria and Albert Museum (V&A), London.

LACMA is always worth a day's detour and I recently enjoyed their exhibit of light and music from acclaimed international DJ Carl Craig. Also worth a mention is The Hammer museum in Westwood. Let's put side Arnie Hammer and his messy cannibalism drama or the Hulu documentary on the dark history of the Hammer family and focus instead on their innovative and thought provoking exhibits. One of my favorites recently is the exhibition of the work of Kara Walker (now through September 3rd), focusing on this remarkable artist's poignant body of work that addresses the very heart of human experience. Drawing inspiration from depictions of the antebellum South - testimonials of the formerly enslaved, historical novels, and minstrel shows - Walker has invented a repertoire of powerful narratives in which she explores notions of racial supremacy and historical accuracy, conflating fact and fiction to uncover the living roots of racial and gender bias.

MOCA's locations in both downtown LA and Santa Monica are excellent for contemporary artwork and conveniently located, depending on your Eastside/Westside location. But I particularly love The Broad museum in downtown - Eli and Edi Broad's personal collection of modern art is eye candy personified, from Warhol to Jeff Koons, Jenny Saville to Murakami - it's a visual delight that doesn't manage to overload. I love sometimes going alone and people watching - how they take in the art or how I think they relate to it - I sometimes take photos of the people in the museums as they are equally as fascinating to me and create new art myself (here's an example, right) - and feel free to call me a lurker or an artist savant - although I, am sure both are correct or are up for interpretation.

After all, as Keith Haring famously said "Art is For Everybody" - which just happens to be title of a retrospective of his work at The Broad. The show offers a captivating journey into the vibrant and socially conscious world of the iconic artist. Haring's distinct use of bold lines and vivid colors comes to life as visitors are immersed in his thought-provoking creations. The exhibit brilliantly showcases Haring's commitment to making art accessible to all, as his works tackle significant societal issues with a touch of whimsy.

Few artists have managed to make political statements through their work without it seeming trite or "too on the nose" Haring with his street background and a first-hand experience with the AIDS crisis allowed him to flourish and of course when AIDS took his life his work lived on and became posthumously revered. He not only left an indelible mark on the art world but also used his creative prowess to raise awareness and ignite conversations about the AIDS epidemic. His artistic legacy is intricately woven with his commitment to social change, making him an enduring symbol of hope, courage, and defiance in the face of a harrowing crisis.

Haring's "Ignorance = Fear / Silence = Death" image became an iconic emblem of the fight against AIDS. The bold, typographic design featured these simple yet profound words, encapsulating the dire consequences of ignorance and silence surrounding the epidemic. This image, often displayed on posters, banners, and even clothing, served as a rallying cry for action.

Haring believed that art could bridge gaps and shatter stigma, and he leveraged his public platform to generate conversations about a disease that many were afraid to acknowledge.

Haring's untimely death in 1990 marked a profound loss for the art world and the broader fight against AIDS. Yet, his legacy endures as a testament to the power of art to transcend boundaries, challenge societal norms, and drive meaningful change. Haring's artistic vision and unwavering activism not only raised awareness about the AIDS crisis but also paved the way for a more inclusive and compassionate understanding of the disease and the communities it affected.

Go check out his exhibit while you can – it closes October 8th. Tickets can be purchased at ticketing.thebroad.org

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF GREGORIO GUILLERMO STIUOSO

Case No. 23STPB08389

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of GREGORIO GUILLERMO STIUOSO A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Victorio Stiuoso in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Victorio Stiuoso be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Sept. 7, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 4 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site www.stoxposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case CR22-1023. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective 1/1/2021. You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer" you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (844) 477-7869, or visit this internet website www.stoxposting.com, assigned to this case CR22-1023 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT if the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. Further, if the foreclosure sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid and shall have no further recourse or remedy against the Mortgagee, Mortgagee, or Trustee herein. If you have previously been discharged in bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this notice is intended to exercise the note holders rights against the real property only. As required by law, you are notified that a negative credit reporting may be submitted to a credit report agency if you fail to fulfill the terms of your credit obligation. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address or other common designation, if any, shown above. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. United: no decision yet on Mason Greenwood

Manchester United say no decision has been made about Mason Greenwood's future, which is still the "subject of intensive internal deliberation".

Charges against forward Greenwood, 21, including attempted rape and assault, were dropped on 2 February.

An announcement was expected before Monday's Premier League opener against Wolves but was delayed.

In a statement on Wednesday, United said the "fact-finding phase" of their investigation was now complete.

They added a decision about Greenwood's future - which "ultimately rests" with chief executive officer Richard Arnold - was in the final stages.

It is thought United's direction of travel was for Greenwood to return in some form, but the fierceness of debate around his future, among other things, has made them pause.

Mason Greenwood has not played for United since his arrest in January

United said they had gathered "extensive evidence and context not in the public domain" and spoke to

"numerous people with direct involvement or knowledge of the case". "Throughout this process, the welfare and perspective of the alleged victim has been central to the club's inquiries, and we respect her right to lifelong anonymity," the statement said.

header from Rodri's cross. It set up the tense finale that resulted in another piece of silverware being added to Guardiola's vast collection.

The talented Palmer has already made an impact this season with a spectacular goal in the Community Shield against Arsenal.

The 21-year-old's performance here in Athens not only made a case for further first-team action but also drew praise from a predecessor.

Riyad Mahrez, now with Al-Ahli in Saudi Arabia, tweeted appreciation of Palmer's performance when he was substituted - and the youngster could be pleased with his work in stifling conditions.

He had already tested Bono and shown nice touches in the first half before guiding in the header for City's equaliser. Palmer's languid left-footed style on City's right flank posed a real threat, with several inviting deliveries not getting the reward they deserved.

He was deservedly announced as the game's best performer on a night when City had to cope with fierce humidity and heat which were physically taxing for both sides.

Guardiola was able to give expensive summer signing Josko Gvardiol his first start in defence and when it came to penalties City were flawless.

Erling Haaland, Julian Alvarez, Mateo Kovacic, Jack Grealish and Kyle Walker were successful, before Sevilla blinked first to start the celebrations for the English side that also won the Premier League and FA Cup last season.

Although this trophy is nowhere near the top of City's list of priorities, Guardiola made it clear how desperately he wanted to win the trophy - and his joy when the shootout was over was a clear illustration of that.

Hibs heroics set up Villa date

Hibernian put in a gutsy display Thursday night to claim a draw away in Luzern and set up a mouth-watering Europa Conference League play-off meeting with Aston Villa.

Leading 3-1 from the first leg at Easter Road, Lee Johnson's side increased their lead early when Elie Youan drove forward and looped a shot into the net.

But, backed on by a raucous home crowd which aggressively roared them on, Luzern levelled six minutes later after Lars Villiger tucked away a cutback amid some confusion in the Hibs defence.

The Swiss side took firm control from that moment on, finally reducing the aggregate deficit to one goal after substitute Kemal Ademi headed in from a corner.

It seemed inevitable that the hosts would find at least the goal they needed to force extra time, before some brilliance from Youan effectively ensured Hibs' safe passage through.

The forward got to a long ball before defender Marco Burch, and surged into the box, before teeing up Martin Boyle to finish from close range and level the match with 17 minutes left.

Hands off Sarina!

■ As Lionesses roar into World Cup final, FA vow to fight off any bid to lure away their highly-regarded coach

Any approaches for England manager Sarina Wiegman would be "100% rejected", says Football Association chief executive Mark Bullingham.

Wiegman, appointed in 2021, has led England to the Women's World Cup final a year after they won Euro 2022.

She is the first coach to take two countries to a World Cup final, having led the Netherlands there in 2019.

"It is not about money. We are very happy with her and feel she is happy," Bullingham said.

USA manager Vlatko Andonovski is set to step down following their last-16 exit from the World Cup, with Wiegman listed as a potential candidate to replace him.

"We've seen lots of rumours, and she is a special talent - we know that. From our side, she's contracted through until 2025," said Bullingham.

"She's doing a great job. We're obviously huge supporters of her and hopefully she feels the same way. She's someone we'd like to have with us for a very long time."

England meet Spain in the final at Stadium Australia in Sydney on Sunday at 11:00 BST, a match which will be shown live on the BBC.

Asked whether there had been discussions with Wiegman over a new contract, Bullingham said: "We've always said we'd get to it after a tournament. We had good conversations after the Euros."

"There will be an appropriate time to do it. We've got a bit of time. She'll want to have a decent holiday after this."

FA women's technical director Kay Cossington said Wiegman and assistant coach Arjan Veurink have had "a fantastic impact" and have "embraced the England DNA across all of our teams".

Plans to build a statue of Wiegman outside Wembley Stadium have been looked at by the FA and Brent Council since England's European triumph.

Bullingham went on to say Wiegman "could do anything she wants in football" when pressed if she could potentially take over from men's boss Gareth Southgate.

WIEGMAN: She's someone we'd like to have with us for a very long time."

JUST SUPER: City needed penalties to get past a stubborn Sevilla team

Another trophy for Pep's City

Manchester City added the Uefa Super Cup to the Treble they claimed last season with victory over Sevilla on penalties in Athens in midweek.

Pep Guardiola's Champions League winners lost the Community Shield to Arsenal in a shootout, but saw their fortunes transformed when Sevilla's Nemanja Gudelj hit the bar after nine successful penalties.

City had to come from behind in an entertaining encounter to force penalties after a towering header from Youssef En-Nesyri put the Europa League holders ahead on 25 minutes.
