

HARRY: I want my kids to feel at home in UK

■ Prince's legal challenge to the downgrading of his security detail opens at the High Court

Prince Harry wants his children to "feel at home" in the UK but they cannot if "it's not possible to keep them safe", the High Court has heard.

Calling the UK his home, the Duke of Sussex said it was "with great sadness" that he and his wife Meghan "felt forced" to leave the country in 2020.

He is challenging the Home Office over a decision to downgrade his security protection when visiting.

The government says his claim should be dismissed.

The court is considering the changes to publicly-funded protection when Prince Harry stopped being a "working royal" in early 2020. After stepping back he moved to the US, where he lives with his wife and their two children, Archie and Lilibet.

The committee that arranges security for members of the Royal Family and other VIPs - known as Ravec - decided in 2020 that Prince Harry would no longer have the automatic level of security for senior royals. Instead the level of security would be arranged depending on the perceived risk, as is the case with other high-profile visiting dignitaries.

Prince Harry's lawyers say the decision was "unlawful and unfair".

"UK is my home"

At a hearing on Thursday his barrister, Shaheed Fatima KC, said references by the Home Office's lawyers to the prince no longer being a full-time working royal were "often said in a way that emphasised choice".

But she said he did not accept this.

She read out an excerpt of a statement written by Harry as part of his case, in which he said: "It was with great sadness for both of us that my wife and I felt forced to step back from this role and leave the country in 2020.

"The UK is my home. The UK is central to the heritage of my children and a place I want them to feel at home as much as where they live at the moment in the US. That cannot happen if it's not possible to keep them safe when they are on UK soil.

"I cannot put my wife in danger like that and, given my experiences in life, I am reluctant to unnecessarily put myself in harm's way too."

Thursday marks the end of the two-and-a-half day hearing - much of which concerned security arrangements for senior figures and took place in private.

Prince Harry, who did not attend in person, now waits for a ruling from Mr Justice Lane at a later date.

Earlier this week, Prince Harry's lawyers argued there had been a lack of transparency about the decision and the prince had been not been treated the same way as others.

There was "no good reason for singling out the claimant [Prince Harry] this way," said his legal team.

Prince Harry is challenging the fairness of how decisions over his security were made

Harry and his family at home in California (PA/Archewell)

Ms Fatima KC told the court: "Ravec should have considered the 'impact' a successful attack on the claimant would have, bearing in mind his status, background and profile within the royal family - which he was born into and which he will have for the rest of his life - and his ongoing charity work and service to the public." But the Home Office's case argued that as the prince was no longer a working royal and lived overseas, "his position has materially changed".

New resignation signals Rwanda plan chaos

■ Immigration Minister quits over watered-down plan to transport asylum seekers to African nation

RISHI SUNAK suffered a further blow to his embattled government this week as Robert Jenrick resigned as immigration minister, saying the government's emergency Rwanda legislation, outlined to much criticism this week. "does not go far enough".

He said "stronger protections" were needed to end "the merry-go-round of legal challenges which risk paralysing the scheme".

The government said the bill, unveiled just hours earlier, made clear in UK law Rwanda was a safe country for asylum seekers.

But it stops short of what some on the Tory right were demanding.

In his resignation letter to the prime minister, Mr Jenrick said: "In our discussions on the proposed emergency legislation you have moved towards my position, for which I am grateful.

"last opportunity"

"Nevertheless, I am unable to take the currently proposed legislation through the Commons as I do not believe it provides us with the best possible chance of success."

He added that the bill was "a triumph of hope over experience".

The plans to send some asylum seekers to Rwanda aim to deter people from crossing the English Channel in small boats.

But the scheme has been repeatedly delayed by legal challenges and no asylum seekers have been sent to Rwanda from the UK so far.

Mr Jenrick said the emergency legislation was the "last opportunity" to prove the government would do "whatever it takes" to stop small boat crossings.

"But in its current drafting it does not go far enough," he said.

He added: "I refuse to be yet another politician who makes promises on immigration to the British public but does not keep them."

Mr Jenrick, who had supported Rishi Sunak's leadership campaign, did not criticise the prime minister personally and praised him for stabilising the country "against strong headwinds".

He added that the PM "will retain my full support on the backbenches".

Labour's shadow

Robert Jenrick described the government's emergency Rwanda legislation as "a triumph of hope over experience".

home secretary Yvette Cooper said: "It is a sign of the total chaos in the Tory party and the complete collapse of Rishi Sunak's leadership that even while he is sitting in the Commons for the announcement of his new Rwanda plan, his own immigration minister is resigning because he doesn't think it will work."

Reports of Mr Jenrick's resignation started swirling after the government published the draft bill.

The legislation aims to address the concerns of the Supreme Court, which last month ruled plans to send some asylum seekers to Rwanda were unlawful.

The bill, which must be voted on by Parliament, orders the courts to ignore key sections of the Human Rights Act in an attempt to sidestep the Supreme Court's existing judgment.

It also orders the courts to ignore other British laws or international rules - such as the international Refugee Convention - that stand in the way of deportations to Rwanda.

"Fan Boy" Starmer mocked for glowing Thatcher praise

Sir Keir Starmer was branded a Margaret Thatcher "fan boy" and Rishi Sunak welcomed him as the latest "Thatcherite" backer during Prime Minister's Questions.

The Labour leader was mocked by Tories after praising the Iron Lady for having to "drag Britain out of its stupor by setting loose our natural entrepreneurialism".

He named her alongside former Labour leaders Tony Blair and Clement Attlee as the leaders in modern British politics who sought to deliver "meaningful change" by acting "in service of the British people, rather than dictating to them".

Speaking at PMQs, Tory MP Sir Michael Fabricant said it was thanks to Baroness Thatcher that "iconic names like Jaguar and Land Rover still exist".

He continued: "So does the Prime Minister share my boundless joy that on the road to Damascus and in recognition of her great heritage and all that she achieved, another fan boy has joined her great beliefs - the Leader of the Opposition."

Mr Sunak replied: "I am always happy to welcome new Thatcherites from all sides of this House. But it does say something about the Leader of the Opposition that the main female strong leader he could praise is Margaret Thatcher and not his own fantastic deputy [Angela Rayner]."

Sir Keir used an article at the weekend to praise the former Tory prime minister for dragging Britain "out of its stupor" by unleashing "entrepreneurialism", in a bid to bolster Labour's credentials as fiscally responsible to Briton's struggling with cost of living and inflation crisis.

The Resolution Foundation released a

Tributes flow for Glenys Kinnock

TRIBUTES have poured in from top politicians after Baroness Glenys Kinnock died at the age of 79.

Her husband, former Labour leader Lord Kinnock, 81, was by her side. They had been married for 56 years.

Lady Kinnock's heartbroken family said she passed away peacefully early Monday at home in London after a six-year battle with dementia.

Labour leader Sir Keir Starmer said she had been a "passionate lifelong campaigner for social justice at home and abroad" who had an "impressive political career".

He added: "Neil and Glenys had the most wonderful partnership - there for each other through thick and thin, with a love and commitment instantly obvious when you saw them."

Lady Kinnock, a minister in the New Labour Government, represented Wales in the European Parliament.

Former Labour PM Gordon Brown, who appointed Lady Kinnock as minister for Europe in 2009, said:

"All who met Glenys admired her generosity, her warmth and her passionate support for the best of causes.

"Glenys will be mourned across the world and remembered as a great ambassador for Britain whilst so ably representing South Wales in the European Union for 15 years."

Her family, who include her son Labour MP Stephen Kinnock and daughter Rachel, were "devastated" by her death.

Edinburgh Zoo bids fond farewell to Tian Tian and Yang Guang

■ UK's only giant pandas head back to China after repeated failure to breed

The UK's only giant pandas left Edinburgh for China on Monday after spending 12 cubless years in the Scottish capital.

It was hoped that female Tian Tian ("Sweetie") and male Yang Guang ("Sunshine") would produce a cub during their stay at Edinburgh Zoo.

But the bears, who even had a special black, white, grey and red tartan created in their honour, never succeeded in conceiving.

"It's sad that Tian Tian hasn't bred here, we would obviously really have liked her to have done so, but this is not unusual with giant pandas," said Simon Girling, head of veterinary services at the Royal Zoological Society of Scotland (RZSS).

"I think we're all quite sad to see them go, they are two lovely individuals, lovely characters, and we've got to know them really well."

The pandas were transported to the airport in metal crates and loaded into a cargo plane with a pallet of bamboo ahead of their flight back to China.

They will spend time in quarantine on arrival in China before being rehomed at a sanctuary in Chengdu, the capital of southwestern China's Sichuan province.

The pandas arrived at Edinburgh Zoo in December 2011 as part of a 10-year agreement between the RZSS and the China Wildlife Conservation Association, which was later extended by two years.

During their stay in Edinburgh, the popular pair even had a special tartan created in their honour, in black, white and grey representing their fur, and red to symbolise China.

But it was soon clear the two were not eager to breed.

The zoo and veterinary surgeons from China made eight attempts at artificial insemination between the pair.

Sadly, the giant pandas just couldn't make the romance happen

There was also a failed attempt to artificially inseminate Tian Tian in 2013.

The giant panda breeding programme was stopped in 2021 after Yang Guang was castrated after being treated for testicular cancer.

Giant pandas are notoriously difficult to breed in captivity, with bears losing interest in mating the natural way – or simply not knowing how.

A female panda has a single oestrous cycle in the spring in which she is fertile for only 24 to 36 hours, according to the Pandas International conservation organisation.

"We have made a significant contribution to our understanding around giant panda fertility, husbandry and veterinary care – which has been of real benefit to efforts to protect this amazing species in China," said RZSS chief executive David Field.

Attempts to breed pandas in captivity first began in China in 1955. In 1963, Ming Ming, the first giant panda bred in captivity, was born at the Beijing zoo.

Pandas are found in the wild in southwest China, along the Tibetan Plateau.

Government unveils new plan to slash immigration by 300,000

■ Home Secretary introduces five point plan, saying "enough is enough"

JAMES Cleverly has unveiled a tough new crackdown to slash UK immigration by a record 300,000.

The Home Secretary insisted "enough is enough" as he set out bold plans to make it significantly harder to employ foreign workers, with stricter rules on bringing family members to Britain. The salary threshold for skilled workers will be hiked to £38,700.

Mr Cleverly stressed the new five-point plan was made possible because Brexit means the UK can now control its borders properly.

Downing Street said the move represents the "biggest clampdown on legal migration ever".

Mr Cleverly's hardline approach comes amid

Tory anger about the Rwanda deportation scheme being blocked in the courts, and net migration hitting 745,000 last year.

'far too high'

The measures, which will be introduced in 2024, include changes to health and care visas, skilled worker visas, family visas, the shortage occupation list and student visas.

Announcing the plan in the Commons, the Home Secretary said net migration is "far too high" and the latest announcements underline that the Tories are doing more than "any other Government" to cut it.

The issue is set to be a clear dividing line in the next General Election amid warnings that Sir Keir Starmer's Labour Party could drive up immigration by 100,000 a year.

Mr Cleverly told MPs: "When our country voted to leave the European Union, we voted to take back control of our borders.

'skills and talent'

"Thanks to this Conservative Government, we now have a points-based immigration system through which we control who comes to the UK.

"We prioritise the skills and talent we need to grow our economy and support our NHS. And we have a competitive visa system for globally mobile talent."

He added: "Immigration policy must be fair, consistent, legal cont. on page 4, col. 2 and the winner Rizz....

■ Slang for charisma is word of the year

ARE you good at chatting people up and attracting romantic partners? If so, you've got rizz – even if you have no idea what it means.

The slang term, which became popular online, has been named Word of the Year for 2023 by the Oxford University Press.

Rizz is essentially short for “charisma” and means to have style, charm or attractiveness and the ability to attract romantic interest.

It was reportedly first recorded in 2022 but went viral in June when Spider-Man actor Tom Holland, right, told a news site: “I have no rizz whatsoever. I have limited rizz.”

Online usage of the term then surged, culminating in it winning the Oxford prize.

Other 2023 contenders included “Swiftie” – a fan of singer Taylor Swift – “deinfluencing” and “situationship”.

It was one of eight words on the final shortlist, all chosen to reflect the mood and preoccupations of 2023.

The list was narrowed down in a public vote before Oxford lexicographers made the final decision. Casper Grathwohl, the president of Oxford Languages, said: “The spike in usage data for rizz goes to prove that words and phrases that evolve from internet culture are increasingly becoming part of day-to-day vernacular and will continue to shape language trends in the future.”

Hillsborough families blast new code of ethics

■ Charter following 1989 disaster ‘is not only a joke, it’s just an absolute insult’

FAMILIES of those killed in the UK’s biggest sporting disaster have blasted the Government for deciding not to introduce their longed-for “Hillsborough Law”.

And, after a six-year wait for a decision, they branded the Charter it has created, which was announced on Wednesday, an “insult”.

Margaret Aspinall, whose 18-year-old son James died in the 1989 football crowd crush, said it was “like giving a child a packet of crisps but when you open it, there’s nothing in it”.

Campaigners wanted a “legal duty of candour”, compelling all public servants to tell the truth about what happens at events that go wrong. They said the Hillsborough Charter or “code of ethics” did not do that.

Margaret said: “To me it definitely does not go far enough. We will be arguing for a Hillsborough Law, that’s the most important thing.”

She added: “We don’t want to be here campaigning still after 34 years.”

“I want to...get on with my life and I’m sure the rest of the families do. We are here because we are concerned for the good of other people.”

Louise Brooks, who lost her brother Andrew, 26, said the Charter was “not worth the paper it’s written on”.

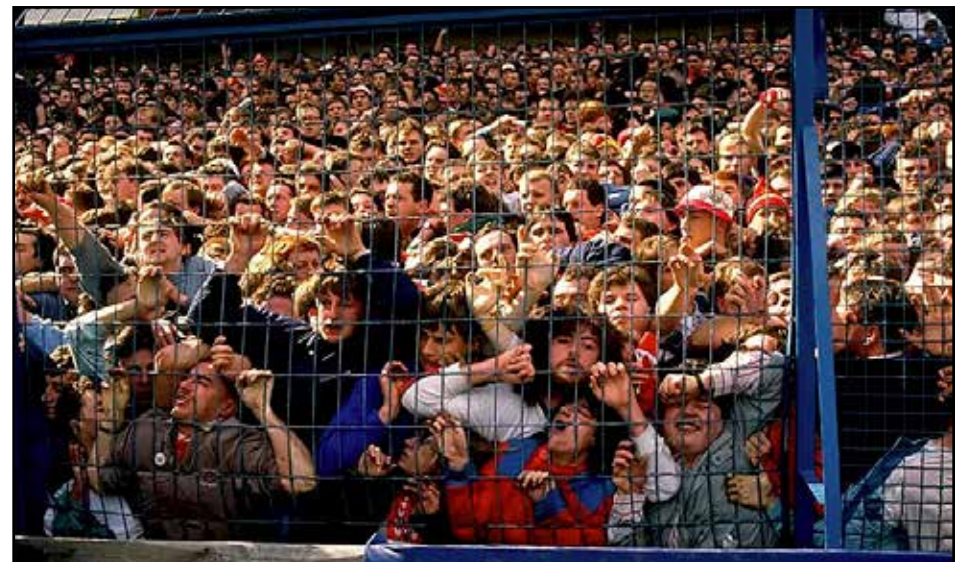

She added: “It’s not only a joke, it’s just an absolute insult.”

The outcry came after the Government finally responded to a 2017 report, by former Bishop of Liverpool James Jones, into the experiences of Hillsborough’s families.

In the Government’s foreword, Home Secretary James Cleverly and Justice Secretary Alex Chalk said its response had taken “too long, compounding the agony of the Hillsborough families and survivors”. That was partly explained by not wanting to prejudice related criminal trials.

But the Government said the statutory duty of candour was only necessary for police forces and it was “not aware” of any gaps in legislation that would further encourage a culture of candour among public servants in law.

However, it did pledge to appoint an independent public advocate to act for bereaved families after public disasters and consult on expanding legal aid for inquests. The Hillsborough tragedy – during an FA Cup semi-final in Sheffield – resulted in the deaths of 97 Liverpool fans.

In the days that followed, police officers were told to blame “drunken, ticketless Liverpool supporters”.

But inquests concluded in 2016, found the victims were unlawfully killed – with errors by the police and ambulance service causing or contributing to their deaths.

The Hillsborough Charter was recommended in Bishop Jones’ report. Those who sign up to it commit to place public interest above their reputations, approach forms of public scrutiny – including public inquiries and inquests – with candour, and avoid seeking to defend the indefensible.

Organisations already registered include the National Police Chiefs’ Council, College of Policing, and the Crown Prosecution Service.

Mr Chalk told the Commons the changes brought about by the Hillsborough families will help ensure that “never again can our people be so betrayed by the...organisations and institutions...meant to protect them”.

PM Rishi Sunak said: “The Hillsborough families have suffered multiple injustices”. He added: “There can never be too many apologies for what they have been through.”

Bishop Jones, who read the Government response to victims’ relatives in Liverpool, acknowledged it fell short for the families but said: “It is a serious and substantial response.”

and sustainable.” The announcement comes just weeks after Mr Cleverly replaced controversial Suella Braverman in the job.

Under the plans, the Home Secretary said overseas care workers will be barred from bringing family dependants, and the salary threshold for skilled workers will be hiked to £38,700.

He also vowed to scrap “cut-price” labour by stopping shortage occupations being able to pay 20% less than the going rate. He also pledged to reform the shortage occupation list.

He said the minimum income for family visas would be raised to £38,700 from £26,200 next spring.

Mr Cleverly added the Migration Advisory Committee would review the graduate immigration route to prevent abuse.

‘curbing abuses’

He also said the Government would increase the health surcharge this year by 66% from £624 to £1,035. The Home Secretary told the Commons: “Enough is enough.”

“We are curbing abuses

to the health care visa.”

He also said around 120,000 dependants accompanied 100,000 care workers in the year up to September as he battles to bring down overall levels.

Mr Cleverly said the plan, along with changes for international students, “will deliver the biggest ever reduction in net migration”. In total, he said it would mean around 300,000 fewer people will come to Britain in future years than last year.

The Prime Minister’s official spokesman said later: “This is the biggest clampdown on legal migration ever.”

“It doesn’t prevent us going further should we chose to do so in the future.”

The new plans were broadly welcomed by a range of Tory MPs. Jonathan Gullis said his constituents in Stoke-on-Trent North would back the announcements.

Tory backbencher Tom Hunt described the plan as a “significant step forward”.

But Unison general secretary Christina McAnea said the “cruel plans spell total disaster for the NHS and social care”.

She added: “Migrant workers were encouraged to come here because both sectors are critically short of staff.”

She insisted: “Hospitals and care homes simply couldn’t function without them.”

The salary threshold increase is lower than the £40,000 in the deal the Prime Minister allegedly agreed with his since-sacked Home Secretary Mrs Braverman to win her support for the Tory leadership.

Two Whitehall sources said that privately Mrs Braverman and Immigration Minister Robert Jenrick had pushed for the cap to go higher, to £45,000.

Denny Laine dead at 79

■ Guitarist and songwriter was a founding member of The Moody Blues and Wings

Denny Laine, the British musician who co-founded the Moody Blues and Wings, has died. Laine's wife Elizabeth Hines announced her husband's death on his official social media pages, sharing that he had been living with interstitial lung disease. Laine was 79 years old.

Born Brian Hines in 1944, Laine cut his teeth with teenage rock bands in his home city of Birmingham, England, one of which was with future Electric Light Orchestra drummer Bev Bevan. He formed the Moody Blues with Ray Thomas, Mike Pinder, Graeme Edge, and Clint Warwick in the spring of 1964. The group had a No. 1 hit in the United Kingdom with the late-1964 single "Go Now!," which Laine sang. The Moody Blues were on a track to become one of England's biggest rock bands - even opening for the Beatles during Laine's tenure - but Laine ultimately departed two years later.

Solo album

In 1971, Laine joined Paul and Linda McCartney for the new band Wings, and the group issued Wild Life together later that year. Laine co-wrote the ensemble's 1977 single "Mull of Kintyre," which became one of the best-selling singles in UK chart history upon its release. Wings dissolved after Laine left the band in 1981, which he attributed to Paul McCartney's disinterest in touring after the December 1980 murder of John Lennon.

Laine continued making music in the decades after Wings, working with Paul McCartney again on McCartney II, Tug of War, and Pipes of Peace, in addition to releasing several LPs of his own. Laine last issued a solo album in 2008 with The Blue Musician.

In a statement posted to social media, McCartney remembered his late bandmate, noting a mutual respect between the Beatles and the Moody Blues. "We had drifted apart but in recent years managed to reestablish our friendship and share memories of our times together," he wrote. "Denny was a great talent with a fine sense of humour and was always ready to help other people."

report yesterday that claimed the average household in the UK is more than £8,000 worse off than those in countries such as France and Germany.

Prime Minister Rishi Sunak has already made economic growth one of his key pledges and, speaking at the conference launching the Resolution Foundation's report, Chancellor Jeremy Hunt said his tax cuts were designed to boost the UK economy as he defended his Autumn Statement.

Mr Hunt told the gathering in London his decision to make tax cuts for business investment aimed to improve the UK's productivity, saying: "The only way in the long run that you can raise living standards is by raising productivity."

Sir Keir, in a speech, argued that decisions taken by the government and previous Conservative administrations over the past 13 years "will constrain what a future Labour government can do".

He added: "We are in a hole. Taxes are higher than at any time since the war, none of which was true in 2010. Never before has a British government asked its people to pay so much, for so little."

Sir Keir claimed economic growth "will have to become Labour's obsession if we are to turn around the economy."

Fairytale 'was meant for Chrissie'

THE Pogues wanted Chrissie Hynde to sing on Fairytale Of New York, the song's producer has revealed.

The 1987 hit was made famous as a duet with Kirsty MacColl. Legendary producer Steve Lillywhite, 68, was married to Kirsty at the time. He told The Rockonteurs podcast: "They had some lofty ideals and wanted Chrissie Hynde to sing.

"So I said, let Kirsty do a guide vocal...see what you think." The single, never a Christmas No1, is currently battling with Mariah Carey for the honour following the death of lead singer Shane MacGowan.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this internet website http://www.qualityloan.com, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-13-547768-VF. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 916-939-0772, or visit this internet website http://www.qualityloan.com, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-13-547768-VF to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE

"NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid on a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of the outstanding lien that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 844-477-7869, or visit this internet Web site www.stoxposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case T.S.# 86675. For sales conducted after January 1, 2021: NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (844) 477-7869, or visit this internet website www.STOXPOSTING.com, using the file number assigned to this case 86675 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid; by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code; so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.

Plan to put asylum seekers in former RAF bases gets green light

A CONTROVERSIAL plan to use two former RAF stations to house thousands of asylum seekers can progress, despite strong local opposition the High Court has ruled.

At a recent London hearing, West Lindsey District Council argued the use of land at RAF Scampton in Lincolnshire should be stopped.

Braintree District Council in Essex also challenged changes to ex-RAF Wethersfield, along with a resident.

However, Mrs Justice Thornton dismissed the claims for a judicial review.

The Home Office is expected to apply for a Special Development Order to use MDP Wethersfield and RAF Scampton as asylum centres for three years until 2027.

Up to 2,000 male asylum seekers could be housed at RAF Scampton, where the Dambusters were based during World War Two, when operational.

There are currently about 600 asylum seekers living in refurbished barracks and portable buildings at MDP Wethersfield.

Plans are in place to house up to 1,700 single men at the Essex site.

At the two-day hearing on 31 October and 1 November, lawyers representing the councils made complaints about ministers' use of emergency planning rules and also raised concerns about migrants being housed for longer than an initially envisaged 12 months.

Gabriel Clarke-Holland, a resident of Braintree in Essex, also challenged the plans for Wethersfield after crowdfunding his legal action.

Ministers from the Home Office and Department for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities fought the claims.

In her ruling, Mrs Justice Thornton wrote: "The Secretary of State for the Home Department has statutory responsibility to provide accommodation and other support to asylum seekers and their dependants who would otherwise be destitute.

"Since the Covid-19 pandemic, the number of asylum seekers requiring accommodation has reached unprecedented levels."

Royals put on show of unity

THE Royal Family put on a show of unity this week, appearing together for the first time since they were subjected to fresh controversy with Omid Scobie's book.

Beaming King Charles, Queen Camilla and the Prince and Princess of Wales took center stage at a gala reception at Buckingham Palace on Monday night

The glittering annual white-tie function was staged to honour 500 top British and foreign mandarins.

'pliable'

The Palace has kept a dignified silence since allegations were made last week after the publication of Omid Scobie's book Endgame.

It was billed as a look "inside the royal family and the monarchy's fight for survival".

But Endgame's relentlessly critical tone, attacks on the Princess of Wales – whom the author describes as a "pliable" Stepford wife and a part-time royal because of her devotion to her children – has seen it roundly denounced and it attracted a brutal reviews.

The royals kept a stiff upper lip and showed no outward sign of the hurt as the annual reception, enthusiastically supported by the late Queen Elizabeth II, was held in the State Rooms of Buckingham Palace.

The King welcomed more than 500 members of the Diplomatic Corps in a show of support for the tireless work that goes on to further UK diplomacy. On Friday the Prince and Princess of Wales were set to host their annual carol concert, Together at Christmas.

The couple's children, Prince George, 10, Princess Charlotte, eight, and Prince Louis, five, were scheduled to attend. The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh and the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester were also expected to join the spectacular at Westminster Abbey.

Euro 2024: Scotland have it hard, England not so much Scotland will play Germany in the opening match of Euro 2024 after being drawn in the same group as the hosts. Hungary and Switzerland complete Group A, while England are in Group C alongside Denmark, Slovenia and Serbia.

Wales would be in Group D with France, the Netherlands and Austria at next summer's tournament should they qualify via March's play-offs.

Germany will face Steve Clarke's Scotland in the opener at the Allianz Arena in Munich on Friday, 14 June.

Euro 2020 finalists England will begin their campaign on 16 June against Serbia.

THE GROUP C DRAW

Slovenia	Serbia
Denmark	England

FIXTURES: June 16: Slovenia vs Denmark (Stuttgart) - 5pm; Serbia vs England (Gelsenkirchen) - 8pm.

June 20: Denmark vs England (Frankfurt) - 5pm; Slovenia vs Serbia (Munich) - 2pm.

June 25: England vs Slovenia (Cologne) - 8pm; Denmark vs Serbia (Munich) - 8pm.

three-time winners Germany.

"It's a tough group, I'm not going to lie and say I'm delighted with the group," he said.

"The opening game against Germany will be a great occasion and all the pressure will be on Germany to go and get a result, and that should suit Scotland because against the better sides they tend to do OK."

Scotland finished bottom of their group at Euro 2020, losing to Croatia and the Czech Republic, while they played out a goalless draw with England.

McFadden added: "I think Scotland will give a good account of themselves and be a very good side because they have had the experience of playing in the Euros before this group and the disappointment of those games. They will want to put it right."

"The players will be supremely confident going into this group stage."

Southgate led England to the final of Euro 2020 at Wembley, which Italy won 3-2 on penalties after a 1-1 draw.

Former England striker Alan Shearer said Southgate will be "extremely happy" with the draw, with Serbia and Slovenia outside the world's top 30, while 1992 champions Denmark are ranked 19th.

"I don't think England can complain with that group," Shearer said.

"I think it's pretty favourable when you look at some of the teams that have been drawn out against each other."

Chris Sutton, who was capped for the Three Lions in 1997, added that it was a "pretty soft" group for England.

Despite it not appearing the toughest group, Southgate says all the teams in Group C are "more than capable".

"You can look at it on paper, but the games aren't played on paper," Southgate said.

Why you need dental insurance in retirement.

Medicare doesn't pay for dental care.
As good as Medicare is, it was never meant to cover everything. If you want protection, you need to purchase individual insurance.

Early detection can prevent small problems from becoming expensive ones.
The best way to avoid large dental bills is preventive care. Experts recommend checkups twice a year.

Previous dental work can wear out.
Your odds of having a dental problem only go up as you age.²

Treatment is expensive — especially the services people over 50 often need.
Unexpected bills, like $189 for a filling, or $1,219 for a crown³ can be a real burden, especially if you're on a fixed income.

When you're comparing plans ...

- ▶ Look for coverage that helps pay for major services.
- ▶ Look for coverage with no deductibles.
- ▶ Shop for coverage with no annual maximum on cash benefits.

Simply put — without dental insurance, there may be an important gap in your healthcare coverage.

kick and Miguel Almiron's scuffed effort after darting through were both kept out by Jordan Pickford.

In the second half the returning Anthony Gordon, who was jeered by the home supporters throughout the game following his January transfer to Newcastle, should have silenced the Goodison crowd when he picked off James Tarkowski's loose touch on the edge of the area but only stuck a low shot straight at Pickford.

The Toffees clawed themselves out of the drop zone by leapfrogging Luton into 17th place, while Newcastle remain seventh behind Manchester United.

Everton would have moved into 10th place with this result had they not been sanctioned by the Premier League, latching on to a loose ball in the penalty area and firing in a 52nd-minute equaliser.

Spurs:

And, after a poor backpass from Spurs defender Destiny Udogie, James Ward-Prowse side-footed an effort against the post before knocking in the rebound to complete West Ham's turnaround in the 74th minute.

"I think it is a huge win to come here and win against this side," Moyes told BBC Radio 5 Live.

"I'm pleased with how we were resilient and diligent in our work, organised, defensively structured and we were always a threat as well."

West Ham have won five of their past six fixtures across all competitions while Tottenham suffered their fourth defeat in five and have dropped points from a winning position for a fifth consecutive game.

which would have meant fans were dreaming of European qualification rather than worrying about a relegation battle.

The Toffees' form at Goodison Park this season had been woeful before the Magpies' arrival on Merseyside, with Sean Dyche's men having won just one of their seven previous home games.

But they put that record right in emphatic fashion on Thursday.

Calvert-Lewin was wasteful in front of goal in the first half, seeing a header and low shot saved by Martin Dubravka before a glorious chance was smashed high into the Park End.

But the hosts kept plugging away, hitting three goals late on to secure their fourth win in their last six games.

McNeil's thumper and Doucoure's calm finish brought much-needed joy to the home faithful, and the atmosphere had become raucous before Betó's composed finish added gloss to a well-earned victory.

There will be some concern for Seamus Coleman, though, as the Everton skipper hobbled off during the second half on the occasion of his first start since May.

Newcastle came into this fixture on the back of an energetic victory over Manchester United on Saturday, but their wretched away form continued at Goodison.

Eddie Howe's men were without 11 first-team players through injury and have now won only one away game this season, which came in the 8-0 thrashing of Sheffield United.

The Magpies could have gone ahead but Tarkowski made a superb block to deny Bruno Guimaraes, while Alexander Isak sent a header from eight yards out wide of goal.

In the end, the visitors ran out of energy and suffered a further injury concern when captain Jamaal Lascelles limped off late on.

Villa's amazing run continues

Manchester City were the latest team to fall to Unai Emery's high-flying team

ASTON VILLA carved out a magnificent victory over Manchester City in midweek to move above the defending Premier League champions, and moments before the final whistle, a roar swept around the club's famous old stadium. It was the sound of something special stirring under manager Unai Emery.

Emery has produced an outstanding body of work since succeeding Steven Gerrard in October 2022 but this was a masterpiece, the biggest statement he has made since arriving at Villa Park.

And how those Aston Villa fans loved every moment.

The scoreline, a 1-0 Villa victory, is almost laughably misleading when set against the sheer dominance Emery's team exerted over last season's Treble winners, giving him his first triumph over City manager Pep Guardiola at the 14th attempt.

Leon Bailey's winner 16 minutes from time had a touch of fortune, with a crucial deflection off Ruben Dias beating Ederson, but there was nothing lucky about this result. The only injustice was that Villa did not win more convincingly.

Villa's supporters were in dreamland, justifiably so, when the final whistle sounded. They sit third in the Premier League, ahead of City and only four points behind leaders Arsenal, who they host on Saturday.

When Emery walked into Villa, they were 14th, only three points above the relegation places. He guided them into Europe at the end of last season; they have moved on to a different level this season. This was a prime example.

Villa's win was their first over City since September 2013. A 14th successive home league win equals club record runs of 1903 and 1931. It has given them their best start to a league season since 1980-81, when they won the title.

Experienced observers were struggling to remember a Villa performance of such quality, intensity and organisation against opposition on City's level, all a rich tribute to Emery's work and the way his players have bought in.

Villa hunted down City fearlessly and ruthlessly from the first whistle - then when they caught them, shook them until they rattled. It was a fearsome going over, one the champions have rarely been subjected to in recent years, reflected in the statistic of 22 Villa shots to City's two. That tally did not flatter Villa.

It is a long time since City were knocked out of their usually composed stride so emphatically. Villa scented vulnerability and responded accordingly.

Erling Haaland had two early efforts brilliantly dealt with by Villa keeper Emiliano Martinez but other than that it was one-way traffic. The home fans loved it. They offered deafening backing throughout and exploded with elation at the final whistle.

The architect of it all, Emery beamed broadly as he marched down the touchline high-fiving Villa fans who have come to worship him.

Emery's reputation may have taken a hit during his time as Arsene Wenger's successor at Arsenal, although he did finish fifth and reach the Europa League final in his one full season, but his record elsewhere proves he is a high-class operator.

He has won the Europa League four times - three with Sevilla, one with Villarreal - and some smart money will be on him winning the Europa Conference League with Villa this season.

Sucker punch hits sloppy Spurs

■ Irons pour on the agony for Ange

Tottenham's mini revival came to juddering halt on Thursday night as a West Ham fightback left them shellshocked.

Ange Postecoglou's men seemed to have turned the corner following their thrilling 3-3 draw at the Etihad on Sunday, but all their recent failings reappeared in midweek, as the Hammers turned around a 1-0 halftime deficit to grab all three points with goals from Jarrod Bowen and James Ward-Prowse.

Spurs captain Son Heung-min called the latest defeat "unacceptable" and said his fellow players "need to take responsibility" after they dropped points from a winning position for a fifth consecutive game.

No team has dropped more points from winning positions in the Premier League this season than Tottenham, who have relinquished 16.

And Spurs' run of five matches without a win has caused the Lilywhites to drop from first, with a five-point lead at the top of the table, to fifth.

"[Whether we] deserved better or not means nothing - we lost the game. It is unacceptable," Son told Amazon Prime.

"As players [we] should take responsibility.

Attacking players should [especially] feel responsibility because we had chances to kill the game."

Tottenham hit the post through Giovanni Lo Celso's deflected cross in the first half, while Richarlison had a fine chance to restore the hosts' lead in the second period but nodded a close-ranger header wide.

Ultimately, though, West Ham were clinical and Tottenham lacked a ruthless touch despite racking up 23 shots.

"If you dominate a game of football you have to turn it into something meaningful and we didn't," Postecoglou added on BBC Match of the Day.

"We let ourselves down when we should have won the games [we have taken the lead in] comfortably."

first 10 matches.

But they last tasted victory in October and have now lost three consecutive league home fixtures for the first time since September 2008, when they were managed by Juande Ramos.

After defeats by Chelsea, Wolves, Aston Villa and West Ham - all having taken the lead - talk of a title push is turning into worries of another finish outside the top four.

"The challenges are there. It is no good feeling sorry for ourselves," said Postecoglou. "We still have a long way to go as a team and today shows that."

"In a game of football if you don't put those chances away teams are always going to have the opportunity to punish you. In both boxes we were nowhere near where we need to be."

match on Sunday.

West Ham manager David Moyes called his side's comeback "one of the biggest wins I've had in football" as they continued their fine run of form.

Cristian Romero's early header had given Spurs a deserved opener in the 11th minute as the defender nodded in Pedro Porro's corner with a looping effort.

Toffees late show stuns Toon

Everton scored three times in the final 11 minutes of a hectic encounter to beat Newcastle and move out of the Premier League's relegation zone.

The Toffees were sent tumbling into the bottom three by their 10-point deduction for breaking the top flight's financial rules, but moved back into safety thanks to late goals from Dwight McNeil, Abdoulaye Doucoure and summer signing Beto.

The hosts punished a pair of mistakes from Kieran Trippier, the first coming as McNeil pounced on a poor touch, drove forward and thumped a deflected effort into the net, before Doucoure coolly slotted home seven minutes later.

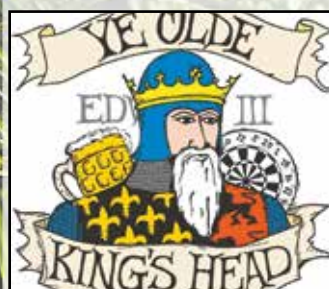

Beto then ran clear during 10 minutes of stoppage time and slid home his first league goal to make sure of the points as the home supporters wildly celebrated a deserved victory.

Before the late flurry, the Blues looked to be heading for a miserable night in front of goal having spurned a number of good chances in the opening period.

The returning Dominic Calvert-Lewin was unable to convert the best of those, controlling Jarrad Branthwaite's flick on onto his chest and volleying over from four yards out.

Newcastle had openings in the first half too but Trippier's free- cont. on page 19, col. 1
