ANDREW SHOULD 'LEAVE PUBLIC LIFE FOREVER'

"The public are sick of Prince Andrew and the damage that he's done to the reputation of our royal family and this country."

A SENIOR Tory MP has said Prince Andrew "has behaved disgracefully" and should "leave public life forever" following the latest damaging allegations against him.

Speaking on BBC Breakfast, Robert Jenrick said "the public are sick of Prince Andrew and the damage that he's done to the reputation of our royal family and this country." The shadow justice secretary added: "The victims of this terrible scandal deserve to have answers. And if Prince Andrew can contribute to that, then he should do."

The heat on Andrew turned up dramatically in the wake of Tuesday's publication of Virginia Giuffre's memoir "Nobody's Girl, in which she claimed the Prince had sex with her when she was 17 years old, and that his "team" hired "internet trolls" to undermine her after a photograph was published purportedly showing her with the prince around her waist.

Ms Giuffre - who took her own life earlier this year - says in her book that she had sex with Prince Andrew on three separate occasions, which he denies. She says the third occasion was on Epstein's island as part of what Ms Giuffre called "an orgy" with Epstein and approximately eight other young women.

Andrew has always denied the allegations.

financial settlement

Ahead of the release, co-author Amy Wallace told BBC Newsnight there was a period when Prince Andrew "indicated he was willing to help investigators in the US" but he was "never available, for some reason".

"That's something he could still do," Ms Wallace - who spent four years writing the book with Ms Giuffre - added.

Ms Wallace said: "He could say, as he has repeatedly, 'I still deny that I was involved... however, I was in these houses and I was on that island and I was on the jet and I saw things, and I know how much these women have suffered and I would like to share what I saw'."

Other senior politicians - including government minister Peter Kyle - also said on Tuesday that Prince Andrew should speak to US authorities about Epstein's crimes.

Prince Andrew, who reached a financial settlement with Ms Giuffre in 2022, announced on Friday that he was voluntarily deciding not to use his titles including the Duke of York, an honour received from his mother, the late Queen Elizabeth II.

He is also giving up membership of the Order of the Garter - the oldest and most senior order of chivalry in Britain.

But there are still calls for them to be formally removed.

DENIAL: the Prince has consistently denied Ms. Giuffre's allegations

Ms Wallace said: "I can speak for Virginia; I know that she would view it as a victory that he was forced, by whatever means, to voluntarily give them up."

'pain and anguish'

The U.S. government is also taking a strong interest in the case, with opinion divided mainly down partisan lines, given the known ties of President Donald Trump to the disgraced financier.

Representative Stephen Lynch of the House's Oversight Committee said that the committee "would be extremely interested in hearing from Prince Andrew regarding his involvement in all this, yes."

Lynch said that the committee has already spoken to several Epstein survivors and is continuing to look into the matter. "I think for those on our committee, both Democrat and Republican, who have seen the pain and anguish that has been experienced by these women, it will only increase our interest in speaking to everyone who was involved here," he said.

In addition to possibly being called to testify before Congress, Andrew is also being investigated for allegedly asking his security detail for information on Giuffre as far back as 2011, allegations which will be "examined in the appropriate way" according to Buckingham Palace, which said it is treating all claims against Andrew with "very great concern."

“Russia behind flow of migrants into UK”

■ Bulgarian politician claims Putin is providing financial and logistical assistance to trafficking gangs in bid to destabilize Western Europe

THE SHADOWY hand of Russia is the real force behind the migrant crisis besetting Britain and wider Europe, a Bulgarian politician claimed this week, confirming a conclusion that British military intelligence have suspected for several months.

Daniel Mitov, Bulgaria's equivalent of the Home Secretary, said his government have direct evidence of Russian agents providing financial and logistical assistance to people-smuggling gangs trafficking asylum seekers into Europe. His claim comes as ministers from across the continent prepared to meet Sir Keir Starmer in London this week to discuss plans for stemming illegal migration through the Western Balkans.

‘hostile regimes’

“Illegal migration inflows are an instrument for hostile regimes to destabilise the European Union and the United Kingdom,” Mr Mitov told The Times.

“They are aiming to destabilise the welfare systems [in European countries]. Plus, of course ... through smuggling radicalised individuals, they create security issues for us. Now is the time to build a home and preserve our internal freedoms ... Every house needs walls. Those walls need to be solid and there are gates through which every guest can enter

‘gateway to Europe’

Mitov also said Bulgaria was on the frontlines of the crisis after it joined the EU's free movement Schengen area in January, making it the bloc's south-eastern border with Turkey and essentially “the gateway to Europe”.

Foreign Secretary Yvette Cooper echoed the warning, adding: “It is clear that illegal migration into Europe and beyond is being driven not just by organised crime networks seeking to make a profit, but by hostile state actors seeking to destabilise Europe.”

“We will continue to support Bulgaria and other NATO allies in securing Europe's external frontiers and tackling every different type of threat we face from the Putin regime, including providing the specialist equipment, intelligence and training that will help our Bulgarian counterparts to defend their borders and disrupt these criminal operations,” Ms Cooper said.

A senior British Army intelligence officer, speaking on background, briefed several news organizations about the threat during the summer, saying: “Make no mistake, this migrant crisis has Russian fingerprints all over it...from the expensive RIBS (dinghies) to the powerful outboards, to the communications network, to the trans-continental coordination of migrant flows, this is far more than a few well organized gangs. Without doubt these are the actions of a hostile state actor.”

GREAT EXPECTATIONS: the flow of migrants on small boats across the English Channel is a dickens of a problem for British politicians

Met to end non-crime hate probes after huge Linehan case controversy

■ Father Ted co-creator to sue force for wrongful arrest after CPS drops proceedings over social media posts about trans issues

The Met police have said they will no longer investigate non-crime hate incidents as the Father Ted co-creator Graham Linehan was informed that no further action would be taken after his arrest over social media posts.

Five armed officers detained the 57-year-old comedy writer at Heathrow in September on suspicion of inciting violence in relation to three posts about trans issues.

Linehan said on Monday that the Crown Prosecution Service had dropped the case against him, but that he intended to sue the Met over a claim of wrongful arrest and breach of his human rights.

“The police have informed my lawyers that I face no further action in respect of the arrest at Heathrow in September,” he said in a social media post.

“After a successful hearing to get my bail conditions lifted (one which the police officer in charge of the case didn't even bother to attend) the Crown Prosecution Service has dropped the case.

LINEHAN: “I aim to hold the police accountable”

“With the aid of the Free Speech Union, I still aim to hold the police accountable for what is only the latest attempt to silence and suppress gender-critical voices on behalf of dangerous and disturbed men.”

The Met police said in a statement that they understood the public concern over the controversial case and that it had led to a decision to stop investigating non-crime hate incidents – those perceived by a complainant to be motivated by hostility towards a particular characteristic, such as transgender identity, race or religion.

They are not criminal offences but have until now been investigated by the Met, which is the country's largest police force.

Linehan was arrested over a potential criminal offence, but it was later downgraded to an investigation into a non-crime hate incident, it is understood.

The Met will continue to record non-crime hate incidents to assess potential community tensions.

A spokesperson said: “We understand the concern around this case. The commissioner has been clear he doesn't believe officers should be policing toxic culture war debates”

The long Bloody Sunday Saga: an explainer

Sunday 30 January 1972 remains one of the darkest days of the Northern Ireland conflict.

A peaceful civil rights march in Londonderry, protesting against internment without trial, ended in tragedy when British paratroopers opened fire in the Bogside, killing 13 unarmed civilians.

One image came to define the day — Catholic priest Fr Edward Daly waving a blood-stained handkerchief as he tried to lead the fatally wounded teenager Jackie Duddy to safety.

An initial inquiry, the Widgery Tribunal, accepted Army claims that soldiers had been fired upon first — a conclusion rejected by eyewitnesses and victims' families. More than two decades later, following sustained campaigning, a new investigation was launched by the Blair government. The 2010 Saville Report found that the soldiers had fired first and that none of the dead or injured posed any threat. Then-Prime Minister David Cameron formally apologised, describing the shootings as "unjustified and unjustifiable".

One former soldier, known as Soldier F, was later charged with two murders and several attempted murders. His trial, held without a jury, relied largely on conflicting accounts from other paratroopers and civilians. Soldier F did not testify, citing unreliable memory.

After more than 50 years of grief and controversy, the case has concluded without conviction, hopefully drawing a close to one of the most painful episodes of the Troubles.

Soldier F found not guilty of Bloody Sunday murder

But Judge said members of the Parachute Regiment "totally lost all sense of military discipline" adding: "Those responsible should hang their heads in shame."

A former member of the Parachute Regiment has been found not guilty of murder and attempted murder in Londonderry on Bloody Sunday more than 50 years ago.

Soldier F, whose anonymity is protected by a court order, faced charges of murdering James Wray, 22, and William McKinney, 26, as well as five charges of attempted murder.

13 people were shot dead and at least 15 others injured on 30 January 1972 at a civil rights demonstration in the Bogside area of Derry.

The judge said members of the Parachute Regiment had shot unarmed civilians as they ran away, but the evidence against Soldier F had fallen well short of what is required for conviction.

Judge Patrick Lynch told Belfast Crown Court that the members of the Parachute Regiment who had entered Glenfada Park North had "totally lost all sense of military discipline".

They had, the judge said, shot "unarmed civilians fleeing from them on the streets of a British city".

"Those responsible should hang their heads in shame," he said.

'sense of pride'

The public gallery was filled with the friends and families of those who were killed and injured on Bloody Sunday, with many travelling from Derry early in the morning, for Thursday's verdict, as well as supporters of Soldier F.

Speaking outside court Mickey McKinney, whose brother William was shot dead, said the families are filled "with incredible sense of pride", despite the verdict.

Liam Wray, whose brother Jim was also killed, said it was a "tough, sad and emotional" day, adding that, while "justice had not been achieved", he "appreciated the difficulties the judge faced in the case".

'serial killer'

"It takes you back to the horror of [Bloody Sunday]" he said. "[To] The wounds Jim had, the situation, the fear, the terror."

A solicitor representing some of the Bloody Sunday families, Ciarán Shiels, said Soldier F was "the most protected serial killer in British legal history".

"He has enjoyed every comfort that a victim should enjoy," he added.

The Bloody Sunday relatives who travelled to Belfast for the verdict arrived back to Derry's Bogside on Thursday afternoon.

They held a short silence at the memorial near the spot where many of the victims were killed 53 years ago.

Northern Ireland's veterans' commissioner David Johnstone said the trial had brought into focus the "deep pain" events of 50 years ago still cause.

He said the Bloody Sunday families and all families who lost relatives in the Troubles, "continue to experience pain", adding "we should not forget that today".

NOT FORGOTTEN: relatives of the deceased men carried their images to the court

January 30 1972: Thirteen demonstrators were shot dead on Bloody Sunday

Speaking outside court, Paul Young, of the Northern Ireland Veterans' Movement, said soldiers who served in Northern Ireland with "honour and courage" had been "hounded", but added they would be "heartened" by the verdicts.

'deeply disappointing'

The case had presented "complex legal and evidential issues", according to the director of public prosecutions in Northern Ireland.

Stephen Herron said those "difficulties have been recognised by the courts" previously in regards to decisions over who to prosecute in regards Bloody Sunday.

He added: "Our thoughts today are foremost with the Wray and McKinney families, those who were wounded, and the loved ones of all killed and injured on Bloody Sunday."

First Minister Michelle O'Neill said it was "deeply disappointing" that the Bloody Sunday families faced a "continued denial of justice".

"For more than five decades, they have campaigned with dignity and resilience for justice for their loved ones, their deeply cherished sons and fathers, uncles and brothers," the Sinn Féin deputy leader said.

Foyle Social Democratic and Labour Party (SDLP) MP Colum Eastwood said it was a "difficult day" for the Bloody Sunday families, but said they could "hold their heads up high".

"It is absolutely clear that those soldiers, including Soldier F, shot and killed people on Bloody Sunday," Eastwood said.

"These were innocent people, no weapons, just on a civil rights march, mowed down by the Parachute Regiment of the British Army. That's what happened and that's absolutely clear."

500 years on: King and Pope pray side by side

King Charles and Pope Leo made history in the Sistine Chapel on Thursday by praying side by side - a first for the leaders of the Church of England and Catholic Church.

Under the scrutinizing eyes of Michelangelo's Last Judgment, when Pope Leo said "let us pray", it meant everyone, including the King, closing a gap that stretched back to the Reformation in the 16th Century.

With music and prayers about nature that would bridge any theological divide, the service offered the King and Queen some calm amid scrutiny over Prince Andrew during their Vatican visit, which marks the closing ties between the Catholic Church and Anglican Communion, five centuries after their turbulent separation.

"There is a strong sense that this moment in the extraordinary setting of the Sistine Chapel offers a kind of healing of history," Anglican Rev. James Hawkey, canon theologian of Westminster Abbey, said.

"This would have been impossible just a generation ago," he said. "It represents how far our churches have come over the last 60 years of dialogue."

In the Sistine Chapel the Catholic and Anglican choirs literally sang from the same hymn sheet. The images of harmony and unity were there in abundance. Once hostile churches were now the closest friends.

Surrounded by Renaissance masterpieces, this was a meeting in one of the great cradles of Western civilisation. A lover of art, music and religion, this must have been a big occasion for King Charles.

Grandchildren seek pardon for last woman to be hanged in Britain

■ The Ruth Ellis case proved pivotal in campaign to abolish the death penalty in Britain

The grandchildren of the last woman to be hanged in Britain are seeking a posthumous pardon, saying she was physically and emotionally abused by her partner before she killed him.

Nightclub hostess Ruth Ellis, from Rhyl, Denbighshire, was executed on 13 July 1955 after being convicted of murdering her lover David Blakely.

She was hanged at London's Holloway Prison.

"We are determined to do what we can to right this historic injustice and honour not only Ruth but all victims of domestic abuse who have been let down by the criminal justice system," said her granddaughter Laura Enston.

Ellis shot Blakely outside The Magdala pub in Hampstead, London, following a tumultuous relationship involving infidelity on both sides.

Ellis had an abortion, which was illegal in the UK at the time, and was physically abused by the racing driver - including being punched in the stomach during an argument that led to her miscarriage.

The British public was already questioning whether capital punishment had a place in 20th Century society and, two years after Ellis' hanging, legal changes saw diminished responsibility introduced as a defence.

The judge told the jury in her case to disregard the fact that the mother-of-two had been "badly treated by her lover" as a defence.

Ellis's grandchildren have now applied to justice secretary David Lammy seeking a conditional pardon.

Her family have spent decades fighting for her case to be reconsidered.

"She is a murderer but she didn't deserve to be taken from the world in the way that she was,"

KILLER AND VICTIM: Nightclub hostess Ruth Ellis was executed for the murder of her abusive lover David Blakely in July 1955 said grandson Stephen Beard.

He has taken part in a new Welsh-language S4C documentary, Ruth Ellis: Y Cariad a'r Crogi [The Lover and the Hanging] which re-examines her case with legal experts.

Thinking about Ellis's final moments, granddaughter Ms Enston said: "I can't begin to imagine what was going on in her head."

She told the programme her grandmother's "execution has had a devastating impact on our family".

"My mother and uncle suffered from trauma from which neither of them were able to recover, and as grandchildren we have felt these ripple effects," she said.

"The evidence shared with the justice secretary makes clear that the punishment did not fit the crime."

Under cross-examination, Ellis admitted that she intended to kill Blakely, and the jury took just 20 minutes to convict her of murder - a charge that carried a mandatory death sentence.

Unlike court appeals, pardons can consider broader factors, such as social developments, that may render a conviction or its resulting punishment inappropriate or unfair.

Alex Bailin KC, representing Ellis's family, added: "Thankfully, 70 years after Ruth was hanged, there is now a much better understanding of the impact of domestic abuse on the emotional wellbeing and behaviour of victims."

Parton turns patron for Belfast's young readers

She's one of the world's biggest music stars, best known for a decades-long run of hits and a storied career on screen and stage - but, for dozens of babies in Belfast, Dolly Parton is about to become a major figure in their reading life.

Belfast City Council has teamed up with the star's Dollywood Foundation to give free books to 75 babies registered at Belfast City Hall.

Each child will receive 60 books in total, one free book per month until they turn five.

Mark McBride's baby daughter Maria is one of the 75 children receiving books from the programme.

He attended a special event at Belfast City Hall on Thursday morning to mark its start.

'great opportunity'

He said his wife found out about the scheme online.

"We thought it would be a great opportunity for kids to get a head start," he said.

"We got the application in as soon as possible."

Mark said reading to their kids is normal for his family.

"We have an older child too, we've been reading with him all the time, he loves it and I'm sure she will too."

The Imagination Library is a reading scheme first launched in Tennessee where Parton grew up and is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year.

Belfast's Lord Mayor Tracy Kelly, who hosted the event, said she was delighted that the scheme had come to Belfast.

"There's nothing more important than reading and bonding with your child," Kelly said.

The DUP councillor said she would like to Parton will provide 60 books each for 75 babies see the pilot "expanded right across Northern Ireland".

Kelly added she cannot imagine that "any rate payer in Northern Ireland would be unhappy with children getting books when they're getting registered in Belfast City Council".

"I'm sure many parents in Northern Ireland have read to their children and do see the benefit of it."

Soft Cell's Dave Ball dead at 66

■ Keyboardist paired with Marc Almond to create definitive 1980s pop hit

DAVE BALL, one half of the iconic 1980s synth-pop duo Soft Cell, has died at the age of 66.

In a statement, the musician's family said he had died peacefully in his sleep at his home in London on Wednesday 22 October.

Ball had paired up with the flamboyant front man Marc Almond in 1977 to explore then-embryonic British electronic music scene, and four years later the Leeds pair hit pay dirt with their number one smash Tainted Love, an icy cover version of an obscure 60s soul hit.

Ball was the band's musical force, creating ominous, polyphonic soundscapes to match Almond's lyrics about

X-rated movies and sa-do-masochism.

Tainted Love sold more than 21 million copies across the world and was followed by hits such as Say Hello, Wave Goodbye and Torch, before the band split in 1984. Reunited in the 2000s, they had completed a new album in the days before Ball's death.

It comes less than two months after Soft Cell played a headline show to 20,000 fans at the Re-wind Festival in Henley-on-Thames.

During that concert, Ball performed in a wheelchair, as he had for the last two years, following a spate of ill-health.

"I managed to damage myself quite a bit," he told the Yorkshire

Post in 2023, "I fractured lower vertebrae in my spine and cracked about five ribs and broke my wrist".

After catching pneumonia and developing sepsis, he was placed in an induced coma and remained in hospital for seven months.

However, he had been in "a great place emotionally" over the summer, as he worked on Soft Cell's new album, Danceteria, which is scheduled for release next year.

"He was focused and so happy with the new album that we literally completed only a few days ago," said Almond in a tribute.

"It's so sad as 2026 was all set to be such an uplifting year for him, and I take some solace from the fact that he heard the finished record and felt that it was a great piece of work."

Almond has thanked his handmate for "being an immense part of my life and for the music you gave me", adding: "I wouldn't be where I am without you."

DAVE BALL: "I managed to damage myself quite a bit."

Parkinson's patient plays clarinet during brain op

A woman with Parkinson's disease who played a clarinet while undergoing brain stimulation this week said she was "delighted" with how it went.

Denise Bacon, 65, from Crowborough in East Sussex, experienced instant improvement in her finger movements as the electrical current was delivered to her brain, doctors at King's College Hospital said.

The retired speech and language therapist underwent deep brain stimulation (DBS) after suffering symptoms of Parkinson's. She was diagnosed with the disease in 2014 and it has affected her ability to walk, swim, dance and play her beloved instrument.

During a four-hour operation at King's College Hospital in London,

Denise Bacon was diagnosed with the disease in 2014

Keyoumars Ashkan, a professor of neurosurgery, performed DBS to help relieve symptoms while Ms Bacon stayed awake.

DBS is a surgical procedure using electrodes implanted in the brain and is suitable for some patients with disorders such as Parkinson's.

Ms Bacon was given a local anaesthetic to numb her scalp and skull and had immediate improvement in her fingers on the operating table, allowing her to play the clarinet easily.

She previously played clarinet in the East Grinstead Concert Band until she had to stop five years ago due to her Parkinson's symptoms.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid on a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of the outstanding lien that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. The trustee relies solely on the trustee's sale guaranty and/ or Information provided by the lender regarding the lien priority and title condition and does not independently verify such Information. All bidders are solely responsible for conducting their own independent due diligence regarding the loan, the Property, its value, the lien priority of the deed of trust being foreclosed, and the condition of the title to the Property. The trustee assumes no liability for the accuracy or completeness of any information provided by third parties, including the lender. The valuation used to determine the minimum opening bid applies only to the Initially scheduled sale date. Diplomatic Baggage: The ladies go rogue in Season Three

Pass the sausage rolls and pour yourself a large G&T: The Diplomat is back, and this new Netflix season has dumped the diplomacy and gone full-on bonkers.

Forget calm chats over canapés: this is political chaos at 30,000 feet, and it's an absolute treat.

Right from the off, the tension's cranked to eleven. Keri Russell's Kate Wyler isn't just buttering up world leaders anymore - she's trying to save the actual White House. In storms Allison Janney as President Grace Penn, neatly summed up in the show as "a terribly flawed woman... now the president." You couldn't make it up.

Creator Debora Cahn clearly told her writers to floor it. The pace is frantic, the dialogue zings, and while the plot occasionally disappears up its own diplomatic pouch, it never once feels tired. No lazy filler here — just rapid-fire rows, corridor sprints and the kind of steely side-eye that could trigger sanctions. One critic called it "an old-fashioned network drama inspired by Aaron Sorkin," and that's bang on — except this time the suits are sharper and the stakes sexier.

But don't expect dusty policy chat. This season leans into the soap — big time. Kate's marriage to Rufus Sewell's Hal remains the show's emotional circus. Their chemistry? Off the charts. One minute they're sniping over nuclear treaties, the next they're arguing about who left the ketchup out. It's Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? meets Yes, Minister, with a hangover.

Episode One kicks off with a dead president, a panicking Cabinet and enough double-crossing to fill a Bond film. Allegiances twist faster than a Downing Street press line, and the real message rings loud and clear: the fiercest wars aren't fought on battlefields, but in bedrooms.

That said, the tone sometimes lurches like a government in free fall. One scene we're dissecting satellite intel, the next we're mid-lover's tiff under candlelight. And yes, you'll need to swallow the idea that a top ambassador can juggle terrorism, scandal and an affair before Sunday brunch.

Still, that's half the fun. This isn't a civics lecture — it's House of Cards with a blow-dry and better lighting. Russell gives her sharpest performance yet, equal parts steel and meltdown, while Janney's new president steals every frame with that mix of chaos, cunning and charm only she can deliver. Their on-screen duels are pure gold — handbags at dawn in high heels and higher office.

By now the series has fully embraced its identity: part political thriller, part glossy soap, with enough witty bite to keep it from collapsing into camp. And thank heavens for that — we've got plenty of grim reality elsewhere.

If you're the sort who loves realism and muted tones, stick to Newsnight. But if you fancy your global politics served with a wink, a martini and a minor nervous breakdown — this is your box-set heaven.

Verdict: 8/10 — gloriously mad, wildly entertaining and impossible to switch off.

Ride Along for Some West Side Gory!

Just in time for Halloween comes a grisly but great new guided crime tour of Los Angeles that's perfect for locals or visitors and is boosted by some British flavour.

Westside Gory takes you to all the key locations in the Menendez murders and OJ Simpson case – in a chauffeur driven limousine.

The British element comes in the form of your driver and guide, witty and wonderfully informed true crime expert Blaze Powers (pictured).

For three hours she whisks you between the Menendez murder mansion and OJ's old neighbourhood while sharing surprising links between the two families.

This newest offering from Graveline Tours

WITTY AND WONDERFUL: Blaze Powers

– the company which put LA deaths on the map – is a trip back in time to West Los Angeles of the 1990s.

Fans of the Netflix series Monsters will get more detail about the double murders of José and Kitty Menendez than even that superb series offered. The slayings of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ron Goldman are covered in equally thorough and thought-provoking detail.

Westside Gory is available to book on the Graveline Tours website along with a series of other themed tours include the Black Dahlia and the Manson Family.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 800-280-2832 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this internet website <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-25-1013863-BF. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 619-645-7711, or visit this internet website <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-25-1013863-BF to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE OWNER-OCCUPANT: Any prospective owner-occupant as defined in Section 2924m of the California Civil Code who is the last and highest bidder at the trustee's sale shall provide the required affidavit or declaration of eligibility to the auctioneer at the trustee's sale or shall have it delivered to QUALITY LOAN SERVICE CORPORATION by 5 p.m. on the next business day following the trustee's sale at the address set forth in the below signature block. NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE POST-SALE OVER BIDDERS: For post-sale information in accordance with Section 2924m(e) of the California Civil Code, use file number CA-25-1013863-BF and call (866) 645-7711 or login to: <http://www.qualityloan.com>. The above statutorily mandated notices to Tenant, Prospective Owner-Occupant, and Prospective Post-Sale Over Bidders are brief summaries of what may be required under Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. Compliance with all relevant provisions will be required. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916)939-0772 or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2500292267 Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916)939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2500292267 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Jacqueline Kosnett be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act with full authority. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. Cypriot minnows shake the Palace

Crystal Palace's first home match in a major European competition proper ended in disappointment with a shock 1-0 Conference League loss to AEK Larnaca at Selhurst Park.

The Cypriot Cup winners struck in the 51st minute when Eagles defender Jaydee Canvot gave the ball straight to Marcus Rohden who teed up Riad Bajic to find the net with a powerful finish.

In front of an expectant crowd, Palace had been dominating up to that point and striker Jean-Philippe Mateta hit the crossbar with a bouncing hooked volley from close range in the first half.

The Frenchman also narrowly headed a free-kick wide just before the break and was denied by keeper Zlatan Alomerovic's stunning save from point-blank range in the 70th minute.

Substitute Eddie Nketiah should have levelled in a late rally from the hosts, but completely missed a loose ball from five yards out.

Palace, who had a strong starting XI, finished on top but were unable to break down Larnaca's resilient defence as they suffered a first home defeat in all competitions since February.

While Oliver Glasner's side are 16th in the table on three points, a second win in the competition for the visitors moved them joint top with Fiorentina.

Celtic staged an admirable second-half comeback to earn their first Europa League win of the campaign to see off 10-man Sturm Graz Thursday night.

Liam Scales and Benjamin Nygren struck within three minutes of each other as Brendan Rodgers' side clicked into gear in front of an appreciative Celtic Park crowd.

The defending Scottish champions came into this under pressure, having taken just one point from their opening two fixtures in this competition and on the back of a league defeat to Dundee on Sunday.

With challenging away ties to follow next month against Midtjylland and Feyenoord, three points seemed vital to get a foothold in the group phase table.

Within a couple of minutes of kick off, Celtic suffered another blow as they lost lost Kelechi Iheanacho to injury. It seemed that might set the tone.

Desire and intent was evident throughout but execution was, initially, repeatedly missing despite creating a number of glaring opportunities.

In complete contrast, Sturm seized on their first real chance when Tomi Horvat struck a quite stunning long-range strike straight into the top corner.

The response was strong but again derailed when Alistair Johnston - on his return from injury - had to be replaced. Another big blow.

Then some luck arrived when Kasper Schmeichel's goal came to the rescue as an Otar Kiteishvili shot was diverted away.

Celtic generated an incredible number of chances from there. It took centre-back Scales to show the way with a composed finish that hauled them level.

Nygren, after missing chance after chance, then converted a header moments later to earn victory, one made slightly smoother by Sturm being reduced to 10 men in the 70th minute after Tochi Chukwuani's rash studs-up challenge on Callum McGregor.

Rodgers wanted a kick-start after a less than convincing start to the campaign. This win, and the manner of it, might just do that, although injuries will be of concern ahead of the visit to league leaders Hearts on Sunday.

Rohl with the punches! New Rangers coach sees feeble display

Danny Rohl's first game as Rangers head coach ended in a 3-0 defeat on Thursday as clinical Brann cruised past the meek Scots to leave them bottom of the Europa League table.

Strikes either side of half time by Emil Kornvig and Jacob Sorensen punished a Rangers team that missed chances of their own, before a late strike from the impressive Noah Holm piled more misery on the beleaguered visitors in Bergen.

Rohl was appointed as the Scottish Premiership strugglers' head coach just three days ago, so little in the way of tangible change was expected so soon, and the Ibrox struggles this season continued to plague them in Norway.

There were early signs of hope as Rangers started with intensity and a clear plan off the ball, before the much-maligned Youssef Chermiti failed to connect well with a clipped Joe Rothwell pass.

A string of Jack Butland saves kept his side in the game as they reverted to type, with a Bard Finne shot falling fortuitously for Kornvig to thump into an empty net from inside the six-yard box.

Rangers laboured to keep the deficit to one at the interval, but the hosts soon doubled their lead after the restart.

Finne's free-kick was glanced in by the unmarked Sorensen, who faced no challenge at all inside the congested area as he leapt to make it more comfortable for the home side.

Rangers huffed and puffed but failed to show any signs of attacking efficiency in the final third as Brann's comfort levels only increased.

The game was put beyond any doubt when Holm, who had been particularly impressive in the second half, rifled in a late third for the efficient hosts.

New Rangers head coach Danny Rohl has split fan opinions as many wait on tenterhooks to see if he is in fact the right match for the Ibrox club.

The former Sheffield Wednesday manager was appointed as Russell Martin's replacement on Monday, but many worry that he lacks the experience required to take on a club with the history and expectation at Ibrox.

But German football commentator Kevin Hatchard is confident Rohl has all the attributes of a Rangers manager and could turn around what has been a disappointing start to the league.

"From the get-go, he was really taking a lot of responsibility at both Leipzig and Southamp-

DESPONDENT: Rangers' heads went down after the second Brann goal ton, where he worked really closely with Ralph Hasenhuttl," he said.

"Charlie Austin, Southampton's former striker, talked about how he took the lead in terms of team talks and he created a lot of content. It was only because Hasenhuttl's English was better that he would deliver it.

"Tactically, he is very aware, very astute and somebody who's worked in high-pressure environments, because Leipzig at the time were very ambitious and chasing trophies.

"He's dealt with high-pressure situations at the World Cup and he'll know the scale of the task he's walking into. He won't be naive about that.

"Rohl has that grounding. Whether it's enough to succeed at Ibrox, we'll see, but he is an exciting young coach.

"He's different to Russell Martin. I hope Rangers fans give him a chance because I think, if they do, there is an opportunity to start something quite special."

the half-hour mark but he allowed De Busser to spread himself and save at close range.

When the Belgian goalkeeper made another fine stop to prevent a low drive from Jadon Sancho finding the bottom corner it seemed only a matter of time before Villa's dominance was rewarded by a second goal.

Instead the visitors' high defensive line was exposed as Suray's effort looped off Tyrone Mings into the top left corner.

A second error cost them the game when Deijl was given the freedom to run on to a long pass forward by a sleeping back four.

Ruben Amorim has decided to move on from Manchester United forward Joshua Zirkzee after he asked to leave Old Trafford.

United spent £36.5m to sign Zirkzee from Bologna in the summer of 2024 after the Dutchman enjoyed a productive season in Serie A.

Zirkzee hit double figures in his first full season in the Italian top-flight but got nowhere near that number in his first campaign in the Premier League, contributing just three goals.

The 24-year-old did fare better in Europe, helping United reach the Europa League final, but it was still a hugely underwhelming season for the Netherlands international.

Zirkzee attracted much criticism during a difficult campaign, with some pundits instant-

Zirkzee impressed for Bologna in Serie A before his 2024 move to United ly writing him off as a transfer flop and SportsTalk host Jamie O'Hara claiming he is 'one of the worst players to ever play' for Manchester United.

Erik ten Hag's signing missed the end of last season through injury and has struggled for minutes since his return to fitness, with Zirkzee yet to start a game this season and all four of his appearances coming off the bench.

Zirkzee's prospects at Old Trafford already looked bleak but United bolstered Amorim's attacking options with the signings of Benjamin Sesko, Matheus Cunha and Bryan Mbeumo over the summer.

It was reported last week that Zirkzee was ready to push for a move away from United and had attracted interest from multiple Italian clubs.

Roma and Napoli were said to be admirers of the Dutch forward despite his difficult spell in Manchester, while Premier League rivals West Ham have also been linked with a move.

According to the Daily Mirror, Zirkzee is preparing to hand in a transfer request ahead of the January transfer window as he believes a move would be in the best interest of all parties.

Zirkzee is keen to get more regular minutes as he still has aspirations of making the Netherlands' World Cup squad.

Amorim recently dismissed speculation over Zirkzee and Kobbie Mainoo's future but the Mirror say he has privately decided to offload the former.

It is also claimed that Amorim's bosses at Manchester United are ready to listen to offers for Zirkzee, with a permanent or loan move both possible.

Dyche off to a flyer!

Europa League: great start for new Forest boss as Prem strugglers down Porto Sean Dyche earned the perfect start as Nottingham Forest manager as penalties from Morgan Gibbs-White and Igor Jesus downed Porto in the Europa League.

The spot-kicks earned Forest their first win since their Premier League opener in August, a first clean sheet since April and Dyche a debut victory following his appointment on Tuesday.

It has been a chaotic opening few months of the season for Forest after Ange Postecoglou was sacked on Saturday, just 39 days after replacing Nuno Espirito Santo.

While it was not instant calm amid the chaos at a boisterous City Ground, Dyche had restored belief and organisation before Gibbs-White scored from the spot on 19 minutes following Jan Bednarek's handball.

The hosts looked far more comfortable and compact than during Postecoglou's brief reign and Callum Hudson-Odoi tested goalkeeper Diogo Costa, while Matz Sels also saved Alan Varela's 25-yard drive.

Jesus added a second from the spot with 13 minutes left, referee Radu Petrescu awarding the penalty after consulting his monitor having initially booked Nicolo Savona for diving under Martim Fernandes' challenge.

It meant Porto slipped to their first defeat of the season - the visitors had previously won 10 of their opening 11 games - not helped by having Bednarek's second-half effort ruled out by VAR for offside.

Of the Nottingham Forest squad, only Sels and Willy Boly had been born the last time the club won a European game.

Their last European victory game in November 1995 when they beat Lyon 1-0 in the Uefa Cup third round first leg, en route to a quarter-final loss to Bayern Munich.

Three days before the Lyon win, Chesterfield - where Dyche was playing - were on the other side of the Trent losing 4-1 at Notts County in the old Division Three.

Those games were a long time ago and Saturday's 3-0 defeat by Chelsea - which ended Postecoglou's brief reign - also feels like a different time.

Forest's first win since the opening day came from grit, determination and hard work rather than any free-flowing football, with the City Ground rocking - instead of resigned and restless.

SPOT ON: Morgan Gibbs-White opened the scoring for Forest Thursday night

But as Dyche himself put it in his opening news conference on Wednesday "the bit I like is when you win", citing style does not necessarily matter in a results business.

Penalties from Gibbs-White and Jesus ensured the new manager got that feeling against the Primeira Liga leaders, who struggled to break down Forest's stubborn defence, as the hosts look to stabilise after their tumultuous few weeks.

Dyche takes his new team to Bournemouth on Sunday before a first Premier League home game against Manchester United on 1 November.

Villa stunned as Eagles go ahead, stay ahead

Emiliano Buendia missed a second-half penalty as Aston Villa fell to a shock 2-1 Europa League defeat against a plucky Go Ahead Eagles side in Deventer, Holland.

Evann Guessand's early prodded finish had looked like being the precursor to Unai Emery's side maintaining their 100% record in the competition.

But the hosts drew level from Mathis Suray's deflected shot just before the interval and went ahead when Mats Deijl stole in just after the hour mark to lift the ball over Villa goalkeep-er Emiliano Martinez.

And when Buendia sent his spot-kick over in the closing stages after home defender Dean James had been penalised for handball the tight De Adelaarshorst stadium erupted with joy.

It ensured a famous victory for the Eredivisie side, who qualified for the competition by winning the Dutch Cup last term for their first major honour in 92 years.

However, it will be a galling defeat for Villa and Emery, who initially appeared to be vindicated for making wholesale changes from their Premier League win at Tottenham last Sunday.

The result leaves Villa seventh in the table while the Dutch club move up to 10th, also on six points, prior to Thursday evening's later kick-offs.

There appeared to be a significant gulf in class between the teams for most of the first period, with home goalkeeper Jari de Busser at fault as Guessand helped the visitors take charge.

The Ivory Coast forward could and should have extended Villa's advantage after running through on goal just on
