NO WAY KANYE!

■ Antisemitic comments get controversial rapper banned from entering the UK

KANYE West has been blocked from entering Britain after a backlash over his planned headline performance at Wireless Festival – which has now been cancelled.

The controversial US rapper made an Electronic Travel Authorisation application to visit for this summer's London show but the Home Office said his presence would "not be conducive to the public good".

Gold Digger singer West, also known as Ye, had faced growing calls to be banned from Britain over past antisemitic comments and a track named Heil Hitler that he released last year.

West, 48, had offered to meet leaders of the British Jewish community ahead of his appearance following the backlash.

He said before the government's ban was revealed: "I've been following the conversation around Wireless and want to address it directly. My only goal is to come to London and present a show of change, bringing unity, peace and love through my music.

"I would be grateful for the opportunity to meet with members of the Jewish community in the UK in person, to listen.

"I know words aren't enough – I'll have to show change through my actions. If you're open, I'm here."

West earlier apologized for his behaviour and blamed it on bipolar disorder.

Refunds

A spokesperson for the London festival confirmed it would no longer go ahead in July and said refunds would be issued to customers who had already bought tickets.

The statement issued on Tuesday said: "The Home Office has withdrawn Ye's ETA, denying him entry into the United Kingdom. As a result, Wireless festival is cancelled and refunds will be issued to all ticket holders.

"As with every Wireless festival, multiple stakeholders were consulted in advance of booking Ye and no concerns were highlighted at the time. Antisemitism in all its forms is abhorrent, and we recognise the real and personal impact these issues have had.

"As Ye said today, he acknowledges that words alone are not enough, and in spite of this still hopes to be given the opportunity to begin a conversation with the Jewish community in the UK."

Swastika T Shirt

It is understood that the application was initially granted online but was rescinded by Home Office ministers after review on the grounds that his presence in the UK would not be conducive to the public good.

The rapper has been criticised for making antisemitic remarks including voicing admiration for Adolf Hitler. Last year he released a song called Heil Hitler, a few months after advertising a swastika T-shirt for sale on his website.

Campaign Against Antisemitism activists said of the government: "For once, when it said that antisemitism has no place in the UK it backed up its words with action.

"Someone who has boasted of making tens of millions of dollars from selling swastika T-shirts and who released a song called Heil Hitler just months ago clearly would not be conducive to the public good."

RAP ON THE KNUCKLES: The rapper has blamed some of his offensive comments on bipolar disorder

Big sponsors such as Pepsi, Diageo and PayPal had earlier pulled out of the festival.

Melvin Benn, managing director at Festival Republic, which promotes Wireless, had defended the decision to invite West, describing himself as a "deeply committed anti-fascist" and "person of forgiveness".

Sir Keir Starmer said West "should never have been invited. This government stands firmly with the Jewish community, and we will not stop in our fight to confront and defeat the poison of antisemitism."

Shadow Home Secretary Chris Philp backed the ban and urged ministers to also block "extremists such as hate preachers".

But Joey Kennedy, who is 18 and bought tickets for the festival, criticized the decision:

"Obviously, I completely condemn anti-Semitism," said. "You know, some of the comments he made in the past were vile, but I don't think the government should be deciding which artists the public are allowed to hear. You know, people can criticise him, boycott him, disagree with him.

But, you know, once the state decides, starts deciding who we can and can't listen to, you know, that becomes a much bigger issue."

This isn't the first time the rapper has caused controversy. The mayor of Marseille said the rapper was not welcome there for a gig in June.

West was also barred from Australia last July.

Navy foiled Russian submarines surveying undersea cables, defence minister says

■ John Healey says warship and aircraft forced Russia to abandon activity in North Sea in month-long operation

A British warship and aircraft tracked and monitored Russian submarines trying to survey vital undersea infrastructure in the North Atlantic, ensuring they fled the area, the defence secretary, John Healey, has said.

Speaking at a Downing Street press conference on Thursday, Healey said the UK operation lasted more than a month and saw a Royal Navy warship and P8 marine patrol aircraft "track and deter any malign activity" by three Russian submarines.

Declining to reveal precisely where the operation took place, Healey said it did not happen in UK territorial waters but in the exclusive economic zone that extends up to 200 nautical miles from the UK coastline, or where it meets the boundary of other nations' zones.

The submarines were a Russian Akula class nuclear-powered vessel and two deep-sea submarines from Russia's directorate for deep sea research (Gugi), he added.

The Russian action took place "while the eyes of many were trained on the Middle East" because of the US-Israeli attack on Iran, Healey said.

'We see you'

He added: "I'm making this statement to call out this Russian activity, and to President Putin, I say: 'We see you. We see your activity over our cables and our pipelines, and you should know that any attempt to damage them will not be tolerated and will have serious consequences.'"

Healey said there was no evidence any pipelines or cables had been damaged, but that UK forces and allies would verify this.

Describing the operation, Healey said: "A Royal Navy warship and Royal Air Force P-8 aircraft alongside allies ensured that the Russian submarines were monitored 24/7.

"The Akula submarine subsequently retreated home, having been closely tracked throughout and we continued to monitor the two Gugi submarines in and around wider UK waters.

"Our armed forces left them in no doubt that they were being monitored, that their movements were not covert, as President Putin planned, and that their attempted secret operation had been exposed. Those Gugi submarines have now left UK waters and headed back north."

The operation involved 500 UK personnel, he added.

'covert operation'

Asked for specifics about how the submarines were tracked and deterred, Healey said sonar buoys were dropped regularly "to demonstrate to them that we were monitoring every hour of their operation".

He added: "And because we were watching them, we wanted to ensure that we could warn them that their covert operation had been exposed and reduce the risk that they may attempt any action that could damage our pipelines or our cables."

The Russian operation, Healey explained, demonstrated why the government saw Moscow "as the primary threat to the UK and to Nato", adding: "We will not take our eyes off Putin, whilst at the same time we act to protect our British interests and our British allies in the Middle East."

The Ministry of Defence said Gugi had specialist surface ships and submarines that were used to survey underwater infrastructure during peacetime, but had the capability to damage or destroy vital links during a conflict.

The UK and its Nato allies have become increasingly concerned about the risk Moscow poses to underwater cables and pipelines, amid heightened tensions after the invasion of Ukraine.

While saying there was a need for increased defence spending, Healey said the operation showed that the UK was capable of deterring Russia.

"I think the nature of the operation that I've set out today demonstrates that we have UK armed forces capable of detecting, capable of responding if required in order to protect Britain, protect our vital undersea infrastructure," he added.

Asked about Donald Trump's disparaging remarks about European countries' contribution to Nato, Healey said: "I'm not going to comment on social media posts. What I can reflect on is the conversations that I've had with his secretary of war, Pete Hegseth, both one to one, and when I sit next to him at Nato defence minister meetings.

"He is clear about the US, that they remain totally, totally committed to Nato and to article 5, but equally strong in requiring European Nato nations like the UK to step up."

Asked if the US president's decision to attack Iran had made Putin's job easier by sowing confusion, Healey avoided answering the question.

OpenAI hits pause on UK project

OpenAI has paused its planned Stargate artificial intelligence infrastructure project in the UK citing high energy costs and regulatory uncertainty.

The ChatGPT giant first announced the Stargate UK infrastructure project in mid-September 2025, in partnership with chipmaker Nvidia and infrastructure provider Nscale. The plan called for deploying up to 8,000 GPUs beginning in the first quarter of 2026, with the potential to scale to about 31,000 GPUs over time.

The project was planned for the North East of England, primarily centered around Cobalt Park in North Tyneside and Blyth. It was designed as part of the UK government's designated "AI Growth Zone".

Everything starts with compute," OpenAI CEO Sam Altman said in a statement at the time.

"Compute infrastructure will be the basis for the economy of the

Fergie vows never to return to the United States

■ Ex-Duchess increasingly fearful of returning after damaging revelations in Epstein Files

DISGRACED Sarah Ferguson fears scrutiny from Jeffrey Epstein's victims and being made to testify about him if she returns to America, an insider claims.

The ex-duchess had spent a lot of time in America promoting her business interests but she is now said to be increasingly fearful of returning there amid damaging revelations from the Epstein files.

Only two weeks ago, a US lawmaker wrote to the mother of two, urging her to testify to Congress about the late paedophile. Lawmaker Suhas Subramanyam requested that Ferguson give evidence in a government investigation into Epstein's sex trafficking operations.

It came as her Freedom of the City of York title was revoked in a further humiliation after losing her royal title and being booted out of her Royal Lodge home near Windsor last year.

also about Andrew.

"It has not been a difficult decision despite how deeply entrenched in America she once was."

As a non-US citizen, Ferguson, 66, is not compelled to appear before Congress or respond to the request.

Subramanyam's letter to her read: "The committee is seeking information from anyone who has knowledge of Mr Epstein's criminal operations, and reports and released Department of Justice files reveal your close personal and business ties with him.

"As the committee seeks justice for the survivors of Mr Epstein's criminal enterprise, and transparency for the American public, I respectfully request your co-operation with the committee's investigation."

After her divorce from the then Prince, Ferguson turned to the States as both a commercial base

As a non-US citizen, Ferguson, 66, is not compelled to appear before Congress and a platform to rebuild her public image.

She carved out a lucrative career through media and branding, becoming a high-profile ambassador for Weight Watchers and making regular appearances on US television, including The Oprah Winfrey Show.

Her work extended into publishing, with children's books and lifestyle projects marketed heavily to American audiences, as well as paid speaking engagements and work for children's and family charities.

For a period, she was based in New York City and her well-documented financial difficulties were partly bailed out by Epstein.

But any plans to return have been quashed after she appeared in the recently released files, which painted a troubling picture of apparent warmth and familiarity with Epstein, even after his conviction for soliciting sex from underage girls.

In one 2009 exchange, after a failed business venture, Ferguson sent a plea for money, writing: "I urgently need £20,000 for rent today. The landlord has threatened to go to the newspapers if I don't pay. Any brainwaves?"

In another email dated August 3, 2009, she told Epstein "Thank you Jeffrey for being the brother I have always wished for." She later messaged: "I am at your service. Just marry me."

The paedophile died by suicide in August 2019 as he awaited trial for child sex trafficking offences.

future, and we will utilize what we're building with Nvidia to both create new AI breakthroughs and empower people and businesses with them at scale."

A critical factor in the decision to halt the project stems from industrial electricity cost in the U.K., which averages about 24 pence per kilowatt-hour for medium-sized businesses—and AI data centers require far more power than typical industrial sites. Often, data centers run at 50–100 megawatts continuously, and more than 140 projects are already waiting for grid connections totaling over 50 gigawatts.

At current prices, operating a 100-megawatt data center could cost roughly $125 million to $250 million a year, highlighting the growing energy demands of AI infrastructure.

The Stargate U.K. project followed OpenAI's July 2025 memorandum of understanding with the U.K. government, focused on adopting frontier AI systems in public services.

'difficult decision'

An insider said: "Sarah has made it clear to those around her she will never set foot in America again.

"She is deeply worried about the reaction she would face, whether from Epstein's victims or scrutiny from Congress. She feels it would be unbearable and does not want to be put in a position under oath where she would be asked not only about Epstein but

UK to give £380m grant to Somerset battery factory

■ EV investment ramps up for plant due to supply batteries to Jaguar Land Rover

IN A FURTHER bid to attract next-generation auto manufacturers to the UK, the government has announced a £380m grant to Indian conglomerate Tata to build a battery factory in Somerset.

The plant is expected to supply Jaguar Land Rover (JLR) products as they accelerate their move towards renewable energy vehicles.

JLR is Britain's largest automotive employer and needs the batteries for the electric versions of its Range Rover and Jaguar models.

Business secretary, Peter Kyle, announced the grant on Thursday during a visit to the construction site in Bridgwater. The government said the battery plant – also known as a gigafactory – would employ 4,200 people in the long term.

Tata said in 2023 that the project would require as much as £4bn in investment, with a previously undisclosed portion funded by the UK government. However, progress has been slower than expected.

EV manufacturers around the world have delayed or in some cases cancelled plans to produce new battery models after previously overestimating how quickly consumers would switch away from petrol.

But Donald Trump's war in Iran has pushed up petrol prices significantly in recent weeks. The increase could make EVs more attractive to consumers and help justify the large investments needed from carmakers to switch to electric production.

The plant will be only the second high-volume battery facility in the UK. It will eventually be able to make batteries with 40 gigawatt hours of capacity a year, enough to provide for hundreds of thousands of cars. The other UK gigafactory is run by AESC, a Chinese-owned battery manufacturer in Sunderland.

JLR had planned to launch the electric Range Rover in 2025, but repeated delays mean the vehicle is not yet on sale, although prototypes have been finished for months. The need to rush the car to market was reduced after the UK government watered down electric car sales targets.

The business secretary said: "In an unstable world, our modern industrial strategy is providing investors the stability and confidence they need to plan not just for the next year, but for the next 10 years and beyond. That is what sets us apart from the rest, and will help ensure advanced manufacturing remains a thriving sector in the UK for decades to come."

A SUNNY spring in Britain has powered powered the grid to new solar energy records on two consecutive days this week.

Solar farms in England, Wales and Scotland generated 14.1GW of low-carbon electricity at lunchtime on Monday, surpassing the previous high of 14GW in July last year.

And that record was toppled a day later when power generation from the sun's energy climbed to another new high of 14.4GW on Tuesday afternoon.

The electricity system operator confirmed the new high as the government approved plans for the UK's biggest solar farm to go ahead in Lincolnshire.

Ministers said the decision to support the Springwell solar farm in Lincolnshire built on their plan to "bring stability and lower bills in an uncertain world" by increasing homegrown low-carbon energy.

The project is expected to provide enough electricity to power the equivalent of 180,000 homes a year when generating at its maximum capacity.

The approval for Springwell comes six months after the government backed the Tillbridge solar farm, another super-sized facility in Lincolnshire, an area where Reform UK's anti-renewables agenda has won rising support.

'energy independence'

It is the 25th large-scale clean energy project approved by the Labour government since it came to power in 2024. Together, these could generate enough electricity to power the equivalent of up to 12.5m homes.

The solar record was confirmed less than a fortnight after Britain's wind-farms drove gas-fired power generation to a two-year low by reaching a record high.

Towards the end of last month, wind power climbed to a new high of 23.9GW, beating the previous record of 23.8GW set on 5 December, to generate the equivalent of enough electricity to power 23m homes.

At the time, gas-fired power was used to provide just 2.3% of the grid's electricity, in a test of the government's plan to run a virtually carbon-free grid by 2030. The electricity system operator is understood to be preparing to run the grid without any gas for short periods as soon as this summer, in a first for the UK energy system.

Michael Shanks, the energy minister, said: "We are driving further and faster for clean homegrown power that we control to protect the British people and bring down bills for good. It is crucial we learn the lessons of the conflict in the Middle East – solar is one of the cheapest forms of power available and is how we get off the rollercoaster of international fossil fuel markets and secure our own energy independence."

Waitrose worker fired for tackling shoplifter 'should be reinstated'

A worker sacked from Waitrose for tackling a shoplifter should be reinstated and given a bonus, the Shadow Home Secretary has told supermarket chiefs.

Walker Smith, 54, confronted a thief walking out with a bag full of Lindt Gold Bunny Easter eggs worth £13 each.

The conscientious staffer reportedly grabbed the bag but the shoplifter pulled it back and it split open, sending the chocolate eggs falling to the floor.

As the thief fled, Mr

Smith threw a piece of egg at some trolleys in frustration.

He was then dismissed from the store where he had worked for 17 years.

In an interview he said he acted after seeing thefts at the store "every hour of every day for the last five years" and not being allowed to do anything about it.

Walker said he had been diagnosed with anxiety and that bosses were aware of it.

He told the Guardian newspaper: "They led me out the back door by the

Two years bird for thief of priceless Fabergé egg

An "opportunistic" thief who stole a handbag containing an emerald-encrusted Fabergé egg and watch set worth up to £2.2m from a central London pub has been jailed for more than two years.

Enzo Conticello, 29, took Rosie Dawson's handbag which she had placed between her legs on the ground as she stood outside the Dog and Duck in Soho on 7 November 2024.

The Fabergé items were in her handbag after she had taken them for display at a work event earlier that evening. They have not been recovered.

"easy money"

Conticello - also known as Hakin Boudjenounne - was sentenced at Southwark Crown Court after he pleaded guilty to three charges of fraud by false representation and one count of theft at an earlier hearing.

CCTV footage captured Conticello inside the pub, attempting to steal another customer's bag, before he moved outside. He was then filmed removing the victim's bag.

The court heard Conticello was after "easy money" and that he had handed over the bag, which also contained a laptop and credit cards, to buy drugs.

He was linked to the handbag theft after trying to use Dawson's bank cards in a nearby shop within minutes of committing the crime.

Fabergé is a world-renowned luxury jeweller founded in Russia in 1842, famous for its eggs made of gems and precious metals.

Insurers paid out £106,700 for the loss to Dawson's employers at the Craft Irish Whiskey Company, but Prosecutor Julian Winship said there were only seven Fabergé sets - containing a jewelled egg, watch, whisky bottle, cigars and humidor - in existence.

The egg is made from 18carat yellow gold and took more than 100 hours to create.

cocaine addiction

It is set with 104 diamonds and contains an uncut emerald from Zambia. The accompanying watch, inspired by one of the "Seven Wonders of Ireland", weighs 22 carats and is encased in rose gold.

Conticello's barrister, Katie Porter-Windley, said he previously worked as a chef but lost his job in the Covid pan-dem and slipped into cocaine addiction.

"On the night in question, it was a moment of opportunity which he took, and he is genuinely remorseful for his behaviour," she said.

Conticello was arrested for separate theft offences in Belfast in November 2025, more than a year after the handbag theft, and was then linked to the 2024 crime.

Porter-Windley told the court Conticello did not realise how valuable the items were that he had stolen.

98 years later, Patum Peperium is toast....

Anchovy-based paste 'no longer commercially viable,' say makers of the famed relish

ICONIC Gentleman's Relish will disappear after its maker said the spiced potted anchovies were too niche for modern palates.

The spread, also called Patum Peperium, is a favourite of Nigella Lawson and food writer Mrs Beeton, and was mentioned by Evelyn Waugh and Ian Fleming in their novels.

Expat John Osborn created the breakfast relish in Paris in 1828 and it got its name after finding a home on London's Pall Mall.

It was said to have "graced the exclusive gentlemen's clubs, deemed too robust for the fairer sex and too refined for the common populace".

But now maker AB World Foods has revealed: "As custodian of the Gentleman's Relish brand, we are no longer making Patum Peperium.

"While we recognise that this Victorian relish has a niche and loyal following, it sadly does not have wider commercial appeal and, despite our best efforts, retailer distribution has dwindled.

"With Gentleman's Relish no longer commercially viable and unable to secure a buyer for the brand, we regrettably stopped production."

Royals out in force for Easter Sunday

THE ROYAL Family turned out in force for Easter Sunday church service in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, with King Charles and Queen Camilla leading the way.

They were joined by other members of the Royal Family, including the Prince of Wales and Catherine, Princess of Wales, who has not been at the traditional event for the past two years.

Andrew Mountbatten-Windsor, his ex-wife Sarah Ferguson, and daughters Princesses Beatrix and Eugenie were absent, after attending last year.

It is understood the princesses have made "alternative plans" for Easter.

Cheers were heard from onlookers as Prince William and Catherine led their children, Prince George, 12, Princess Charlotte, 10, and Prince Louis, 7, into the chapel.

As they walked, Princess Charlotte waved to the crowds of people watching on from behind barriers.

The Wales' missed the service last year as they decided to go on a family holiday to Norfolk, and skipped the year before as it came shortly after Catherine's cancer diagnosis.

Princess Anne joined, accompanied by husband Sir Tim Laurence, as well as Prince Edward and his family.

The King and Queen arrived last and one onlooker was heard shouting "God bless the King".

As they left the chapel, the King and Queen shook the hands of the public, wishing them a happy Easter.

The Queen remarked that the service was "good" when asked how it was.

The service is seen as a traditional family event as opposed to an official engagement.

The King did not issue an Easter message this year.

On Thursday, the King and Queen attended the traditional Maundy service at Denbighshire in That event commemorates the Last Supper and the importance of humility and service to others.

The King presented gifts to 77 men and 77 women from the UK in recognition of outstanding Christian service and for helping people in their communities.

Meanwhile, Sunday marked the first time Dame Sarah Mullally, the new Archbishop of Canterbury, delivered an Easter sermon as leader of the Church of England.

In it, she called for an end to "violence and destruction" in the Middle East.

TAURUS: You should likely be feeling more positive, and this is due to your lovely boss, Venus, being ready to show you some good times in your overall life. Time to start your plan for a happy new year starting next week.

GEMINI: This is a good time to catch up with unfinished business of any kind. Make a schedule and follow it as much as possible. You have your boss, Mercury, moving in a positive direction, so it is time to go for it.

CANCER: Your moods change quickly as a rule, and so it is good that the recent eclipse is giving you a boost for a change. You have some stuff to finish up, so make it soon while Jupiter is assisting you.

LEO: You should be starting to feel more positive and ready to move forward in your life. However, be sure you do not overindulge; you should know by now to do everything in moderation.

VIRGO: Do not push too hard to move forward right now. Although life is getting easier, it is time to show your organized side to those who need help. Do not overdo anything; keep some boundaries.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ELIZABETH SHERWOOD

Case No. 26STPB03262

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ELIZABETH SHERWOOD

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Chelsea Barr in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Chelsea Barr be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on April 24, 2026 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either

(1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Kai Havertz scored a stoppage-time winner as Arsenal beat Sporting 1-0 in the first leg of their Champions League quarter-final in Lisbon in midweek.

Extra EPL spot in UCL confirmed

The Premier League will have at least five teams in the Champions League next season after securing a European Performance Spot for the second straight year.

The extra place was confirmed on Tuesday as Arsenal beat Sporting 1-0 in the first leg of their Champions League quarter-final tie.

Uefa awards an additional place to the two leagues with the best overall performance across the three European competitions.

The race for fifth place in the Premier League, currently held by Liverpool on 49 points, is exceptionally tight.

Just seven points separate Arne Slot's side from 13th-placed Bournemouth.

If Aston Villa, who are fourth on 54 points, win the Europa League and finish outside the top four, the Premier League would have six teams in the Champions League.

The same logic applies to Liverpool, who face Paris St-Germain in the first leg of the Champions League quarter-finals on Wednesday.

If either win a European trophy and finish fifth, then sixth would qualify for the Champions League via the EPS place.

If both win European trophies and finish fifth and sixth, that would put seventh into the Champions League.

give the Premier League leaders a narrow advantage going into next week's second leg at Emirates Stadium.

The pressure was on Arsenal coming into this match after they suffered back-to-back defeats for the first time this season.

And that tension was nearly increased further when Sporting left-back Maxi Araujo crashed a shot against the Arsenal crossbar early on after a superb through ball from Ousmane Diomande.

The Gunners had plenty of possession in the first half but could not translate that into clear-cut chances. The closest they came to scoring was when Noni Madueke hit the crossbar direct from a corner.

Sporting continually threatened with fast counter-attacks and almost punished the Gunners when Araujo made another burst forward and cut the ball back to Francisco Trincao, who pulled his shot wide.

Martin Zubimendi thought he had given Arsenal a second-half lead when he curled in from the edge of the box, but the strike was ruled out as former Sporting striker Viktor Gyokeres was offside in the build-up.

The hosts piled on the pressure in the latter stages and David Raya made three good saves to keep the scores level, before Havertz snatched the win for the Gunners.

The victory is Arsenal's first in three matches and gives Mikel Arteta's side a boost as they return to Premier League action against

Kai Havertz was the difference maker for Arsenal Tuesday night

Bournemouth at the weekend.

This win was not a vintage Arsenal performance but beating Sporting could prove to be a pivotal moment in the Gunners' season.

Arsenal had been criticised after two successive defeats and looked like they would be frustrated again before Havertz scored the dramatic winner.

Arteta's side struggled to create chances despite having more of the ball throughout - and currently do not have a forward player in top form as they look to win a major trophy for the first time in six years.

But by producing a resilient display in Lisbon against a quality Sporting side and grabbing the victory, Arsenal's players have received a welcome boost of confidence heading into the business end of the season.

Feeble Reds get off lightly

Liverpool's Champions League hopes are hanging in the balance after a demoralizing defeat by reigning European champions Paris St-Germain - their 16th loss of the season.

Desire Doue's deflected strike looped over the head of Giorgi Mamardashvili to give the Ligue 1 leaders the lead, before Khvicha Kvaratskhelia doubled their advantage with a moment of brilliance.

It means the Reds, who failed to register an attempt on target, have it all to do to stay in the competition in the quarter-final second leg at Anfield next Tuesday.

After suffering a four-goal mauling by Manchester City in their previous game, Liverpool appeared to be on a damage limitation exercise and started with a five-man defence in the French capital.

But PSG took the lead in the 11th minute - and dominated throughout - amid another muddled performance by Arne Slot's side that raised more questions than answers.

Mamardashvili, standing in for injured first-choice Alisson, was beaten by 20-year-old Doue's finish from inside just the box which took a wicked deflection off Virgil van Dijk and flew over the keeper into the net.

Mamardashvili recovered to make some key saves and keep Liverpool in the tie, including a fine one-handed stop to deny Georgia teammate Kvaratskhelia before repelling Doue after the Reds were carved open.

But Liverpool did fall

PASSIVE, NOT AGGRESSIVE: Liverpool endured a torrid night in Paris

further behind when Kvaratskhelia added PSG's second with a lovely piece of skill after rounding the keeper from Joao Neves' defence-splitting pass.

It could have been worse for Liverpool when Warren Zaire-Emery went down after a challenge by Ibrahima Konate - but the penalty decision was overturned after the official watched the incident again on the pitchside monitor.

Konate was then fortunate not to be penalised for shoving Nuno Mendes in the area in stoppage time.

Ousmane Dembele also missed three glorious chances, the first when he shot straight at Mamardashvili, the second when he blazed over the bar and then when he hit the woodwork after a mistake by Jeremie Frimpong late on.

Liverpool sent on Alexander Isak for his first taste of action since December after injury but face an almighty challenge to overturn PSG's advantage at Anfield.

Europa League: Villa look at home in Italy

Aston Villa will take a 3-1 advantage into the second leg of their Europa League quarter-final tie against Bologna following a hard-fought victory in Italy Thursday night.

After surviving a string of Bologna attacks, Villa led through a header from Ezri Konsa, which came against the run of play in the dying seconds of the first half, before Ollie Watkins doubled their advantage six minutes into the second.

Bologna's English attacker Jonathan Rowe struck with a brilliant curling effort past Emiliano Martinez in the 90th minute before Watkins scored from a corner in injury time to restore their two-goal advantage before the return fixture.

But Unai Emery's side were handed two huge reprieves in the first half as they struggled to find a foothold at Stadio Renato Dall'Ara.

Rowe was a lively presence on the left wing for the home side and fed Santiago Castro, who saw his effort take a deflection off Konsa on its way into the goal - despite an attempt from Matty Cash to clear it off the line.

Two minutes later, Scotland's Lewis Ferguson's shot hit the crossbar after Rowe's cross.

But the Premier League side struck in the 44th minute from a rare corner kick as defender Konsa headed in at the far post with Bologna goalkeeper Federico Ravaglia failing to collect Youri Tielemans' delivery after coming off the line.

Watkins then pounced on a mistake by Torbjorn Heggem and finished through the legs of Ravaglia to pull his side further ahead in the 51st minute.

Rowe reduced the deficit in the closing stages to give Bologna hope, which was dashed immediately by Watkins' second in the 95th minute as the 1982 European champions took a big step towards a place in the semi-finals.

Robertson set for Reds exit

Andy Robertson will leave Liverpool at the end of the season when his contract expires in the summer, the club has announced.

Robertson, 32, joined the Reds from Hull City in 2017 for £8m and has won two Premier League titles and the Champions League during his time on Merseyside.

In a video announcing his decision, the Scotland captain said: "I think now's the time for me to move on". The defender added: "The nine years I'll look back on with a big smile on my face."

Robertson was a target for Tottenham during the January transfer window, with a deal agreed in principle between the clubs.

However, Liverpool decided they were not able to proceed with the move because the club was unable to recall Kostas Tsimikas from his loan at Roma.

Robertson has found his first-team opportunities limited this season under head coach Arne Slot with the arrival of Hungary left-back Milos Kerkez, who joined from Bournemouth on a long-term contract last year for £40m.

While he has spent more time on the bench during this campaign - he has started just six top-flight games - Robertson said he hoped the supporters are "proud of the left-back they're seeing perform week in, week out".

He has made 373 appearances for Liverpool and has won a total of nine trophies while playing at Anfield.

"This club means everything to me, the fans mean everything to me, the people connected to the club mean everything to me," said Robertson.

"I think I owe it to them still to, until my very last day, I'll give everything to this football club, which I've done over the last nine years and I'm very proud of that.
